NORRIS WITHOLDS BINGHAM CENSURE RESOLUTION

Friends of Connecticut Senator Seek to Bring About Understanding to Prevent Presentation of Proposed Resolution in the Senate—Senator Norris Indicates Willingness to Give Senator Bingham Opportunity to Make a Statement of Explanation to the Senate.

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 31.—Appreciating the spirit behind the effort of some of his friends in intervening with Senator Norris, republican, of Nebraska, in an effort to bring about an agreement under which the proposed resolution of censure for Senator Bingham would not be presented to the senate, the Connecticut senator said tonight that he is giving this matter "serious consideration."

Friends of the senator today persuaded Senator Norris to withhold, temporarily at least, the resolution which he was about to offer in the senate in censure of Senator Bingham for employing an officer of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association to assist him in tariff legislation and securing that official admission to the private sessions of the senate finance committee, when it was drafting the tariff bill. It was understood that some of Senator Bingham's friends are endeavoring to persuade him to offer the senate some semblance of what might be construed as an apology for his vigorous speech the other day in which he condemned the investigating committee as being stacked against him. It was thought that if Senator Bingham would agree to do this that an arrangement might be made with Senator Norris to permanently withhold the proposed resolution of censure.

Close friends of Senator Bingham said tonight that they doubt seriously whether the Connecticut senator will agree to any such arrangement.

FEELS SENATOR BINGHAM SHOULD OFFER EXPLANATION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP)— An overnight truce was in effect tonight as mutual friends of Senators Bingham, of Connecticut and Norris, of Nebraska, sought to bring about an understanding between the two which would prevent presentation of the Norris resolution proposing censure of Bingham.

Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, voluntarily intervened today when the Nebraska senator came into the senate chamber with his resolution asking condemnation of Bingham for his relations with the Connecticut Manufacturers' association on the tariff legislation.

Neither of the principals would discuss the proposal tonight pending further conferences with friends, but the Nebraskan by withholding his resolution showed his intent to give the Connecticut senator an opportunity to make a statement of explanation to the senate. Norris indicated he would prefer not to present the resolution if Senator Bingham would explain.

Despite the day of conferences, there was no indication that Bingham would recede from his position. He would say only that out of respect for his friends in the senate he had the matter under consideration.

Senator Norris drafted the resolution as chairman of the judiciary committee. He named the lobby committee which investigated Bingham and which committee, the Connecticut Senator contended in the senate was "framed against any friends of the administration."

It was understood that Norris felt Bingham should explain to the senate both his views over the use of a salaried employee of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association to help him in framing the tariff bill, and also clarify his statement to the senate that Norris had "framed" the lobby committee against him.

SOUTHERN TARIFF ASS'N HEAD APPROVES BINGHAM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—(AP)—John Henry Kirby, president of the Southern Tariff association, testified before the senate lobby committee today, he thought Representative Garner, Texas, the house democratic leader should be defeated for congress because of his attitude toward fiscal legislation.

Chairman Caraway asked the witness if he knew that J. A. Arnold, secretary of the association, and R. B. Creager, republican national committ-

DENIES HE ADVOCATED LOWER LUMBER TARIFF

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Expenditure of $40,000 to $80,000 annually by the Southern Tariff association was revealed to the senate committee investigating lobbies today by its president, John Henry Kirby, of Houston, Texas.

After saying he had about $30,000,000 invested in lumber, Kirby denied that he or the association had advocated a lower tariff on lumber. He said association funds were used to promote the interests of farmers and stockraisers in 13 southern states.

Kirby was not questioned about activities of the association in Washington, but its vice-president and general manager, J. A. Narold, testified its members agreed upon what rates they needed in the pending tariff legislation and representatives appeared before the house and senate committees in charge of the bill.

Meanwhile a new field for possible investigation by the committee was opened through a letter to Chairman Caraway from Thomas L. Hill, president of the American Society for Promotion of Aviation. It charged that a "pernicious and super-lobby representing the 'air trust' existed in Washington and that Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, was its 'mouthpiece.'"

Hill's letter said he was convinced an "honest preliminary investigation" by the committee would "open up leads that not only will involve Senator Bingham and cohorts in the house of representatives but will reach the White House itself."

Caraway said he had instructed John Holland, special investigator for the committee, to go over "documentary evidence" filed by Hill, after which the committee would decide whether it should investigate. Senator Bingham declined to comment on Hill's charges.

SEN. BINGHAM RECEIVES MESSAGE FROM BYRD

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 31—Senator Bingham today received from Commander Byrd dated Little America, in the Antarctic regions, a radiogram expressed his appreciation of the commendation expressed by Senator Bingham in his radio congratulations with Admiral Moffett, on Commander Byrd's fortieth birthday.

"We heard every word," the radiogram said, and in tribute to Senator Bingham, gave him credit for having "done far more for the progress of radio and aviation" than he himself ever hoped to achieve.

DENIES HE KILLED RIVAL AND GIRL

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Oct. 31—(AP)—Luther Berwick, 23, was formally charged with the fatal shooting of Miss Bella Crow, 18, and William Byrd, 21, in front of the girl's home last night.

Steadfastly maintaining his innocence, Berwick was taken to Beaumont and lodged in the county jail.

Miss Crow and Byrd were killed from ambush as they walked arm in arm toward the front door of the rooming house where the girl lived. They fell with hands tightly clasped. Berwick wept when he first viewed the girl's body at the morgue. Admitting he loved her, the youth denied he knew anything about the slaying.

MYSTIC WOMAN KILLED AT GREENWICH VILLAGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 31—(AP)—Gerda Chapman, 45, of Mystic, Conn., was fatally injured by a motor bus in Greenwich Village today. Frank Mizert, 25, of Bloomfield, N. J., the driver, was held in $1,000 bail for examination November 1?

MICHIGAN BANK EMPLOYES MISAPPROPRIATE $800,000

FLINT, Mich., Oct. 31—(AP)—Charles S. Mott, vice president of the General Motors corporation and chairman of the board of directors of the Union Industrial bank of Flint, and Grant J. Brown, president of the bank, announced this afternoon that approximately $800,000 of the bank's money had been misappropriated by several employes.

They said the amount of money misused was "small" in comparison with the resources of the bank and its affiliations and that Mr. Mott and the board of directors had guaranteed the amount taken. The Union Industrial bank is part of the Guardian Detroit Union Group, Inc., with capital of $75,000,000 and total resources of over $500,000,000.

Names of employes who misappropriated the bank's money were not disclosed.

MARSHAL PILSUDSKI HALTS POLISH DIET SESSION

WARSAW, Oct. 31—(AP)—Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, ex-dictator of Poland, today climaxed his long standing feud with the Polish diet by invading the parliamentary building with 80 army officers and stopping the opening session of the national legislature.

The upshot of this strange maneuver was postponement of parliament until after the marshal and Ignace Daszinski, speaker of the diet, have had opportunity to confer with President Moscicki.

Members of the diet were nonplussed by the happenings of the day but could only speculate as to what might happen next. Newspapers of the capital issued extra editions describing the affair, but most of them were confiscated as quickly as they appeared on the streets.

Physicians Held On Liquor Charges

Seven Are Indicted of Conspiracy to Violate "Dry" Law Through Illegal Use of Whiskey Prescriptions.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Seven Brooklyn physicians and a druggist were indicted today by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy in violating the prohibition law through illegal use of medicinal whiskey prescriptions.

The indictments are the result of a raid by federal dry agents last July on the drug store owned by Aaron Kozan. Kozan was arrested on an illegal possession of liquor charge at the time but the complaint was dropped because the druggist had a medicinal liquor permit. However, the agents seized more than 100 liquor prescriptions which after an investigation they declared had been illegally issued by the seven physicians.

The doctors indicted were H. S. Cross, William Garfield Rommell, William J. Haller, William L. O'Connell, Joseph Friedman, Hyman Sporn and G. Boccardi.

ACTIVE ISSUES WHIRLED UPWARD $5 TO $30 A SHARE

NEW YORK, Oct. 31—(AP)—Prices of securities in all of the leading exchanges of the country rallied sharply again today in response to a tremendous investment and speculative demand created by a long succession of bullish financial developments.

When the New York Stock exchange opened at noon, two hours later than usual, there was such a huge accumulation of buying orders that prices of active issues were whirled up $5 to $30 a share as blocks of 5,000 to 50,000 shares changed hands.

These gains were cut down in the subsequent waves of selling representing profit taking by traders who had bought for supporting purposes, but final quotations disclosed a long list of net gains of $2 to $20 in the leading stocks.

Total sales in the three hour trading period on the New York Stock exchange were 7,149,300 shares, or well above the average five hour session.

Long before the New York markets opened London cables carried the report that the Bank of England had reduced its discount rate from 6 1-2 to 6 per cent, signalizing the passing of the world credit stringency created by the wild securities speculation earlier in the year. This was followed by a long series of increased and extra dividends by industrial and public utility companies, and the announcement of the purchase by the United States Steel Corp. of the Columbia Steel company of California.

After the market closed, the New York Federal Reserve bank reduced its discount rate from 6 to 5 per cent, and reported a record-breaking decrease of $1,096,000,000 in brokers' loans as a result of the huge liquidation of securities during the past week. Loans for the account of others dropped more than two billion dollars, indicating the wholesale withdrawal of funds from the call loan market by corporations and financial institutions, presumably to take advantage of the bargain prices prevailing, for a time, in the securities markets, whereas New York bankers increased their loans more than one billion dollars during the stock market crisis.

The New York banking group, which was formed a week ago today to effect an orderly market in securities when a wave of hysterical selling threatened to bring about a complete collapse in prices, held no meetings today and contemplated none over the week end because of the improvement in the general situation. Thomas W. Lamont, senior partner of J. P. Morgan and Company, spokesman for the group, said he regarded today's market as normal after the events of the past week.

NEW YORK CONTRACTOR CHARGED WITH PERJURY

NEW YORK, Oct. 31—(AP)—A second indictment was returned by a Bronx grand jury today in its investigation of alleged racketeering in the building trade in the Bronx, where fires of alleged incendiary origin have damaged several uncompleted apartment houses.

Joseph Sindona, 48, a plastering contractor, was indicted on a charge of perjury.

Sindona, who appeared several times before the grand jury, was said to have been an organizer of the Plasterers' Information bureau, which has been investigated by the grand jury in connection with the racketeering charges.

Two weeks ago Frank F. Scelzi, a plastering contractor, was indicted on a charge of perjury.

FOUR MEN INDICTED FOR SMUGGLING WATCHES

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted three Americans and a Swiss on charges of smuggling Swiss watches and watch cases into the United States by labeling them "chocolates," and shipping them to Boston, Philadelphia, Detroit, Chicago, and other cities.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Alvin McK. Sylvester, who presented the case to the jury, quoted witnesses as saying the defendants had contrived to get many shipments of watches through the customs at a duty of $5 a case by labeling them "chocolates." He said the duty on watches runs as high as $2,500 a case. Those indicted were: Joseph Feinstein, Richard Bieshuns and Louis Poller, all of New York; and Henry Bernard, of Switzerland.

Freighter Goes Down With Loss Of Seven

Ore Carrier Rammed Broadside Into Steamer During Heavy Fog on Lake Michigan.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Ploughing through a heavy fog, two big lake freighters collided 20 miles off Port Washington today, sending one of them, the Senator, down with the probable loss of seven lives. It was the third major lake tragedy near here within the last ten days and only heroic rescues kept the casualty list from including the entire crew of 28 on the Senator.

The ore carrier, Marquette, headed for Indiana Harbor, Ind., rammed broadside into the Senator, crushing open its port side, laden with a cargo of 241 autos. The Senator rolled quickly over and sank before its crew had a chance to man the lifeboats.

Fifteen of them managed to cling to life rafts and were picked up 45 minutes later by the fishing tug Delos H. Smith, of Port Washington. Three others were saved by the Marquette which stood by for a time, although badly damaged itself and in grave danger. Three more were saved by the Thomas Walters, another freighter. One body was recovered, but the six others on board have not been accounted for.

With its prow split, the Marquette quickly began drawing water but was able to keep afloat until tugs, answering SOS calls, came to its rescue and towed it into port at Milwaukee.

Members of the crews of both freighters were agreed that the crash occurred so quickly and without warning that it was difficult to say just how it happened. Captain W. F. Amsbary, skipper of the Marquette, declined to talk much and Captain George Finch, commander of the Senator, is believed to have gone down with his ship.

M. D. McCloud, Nova Scotia seaman, who was on watch on the Marquette when the crash occured, said the fog was so thick he did not even see the Senator until it poked its nose before the prow of his boat, less than 100 yards ahead. There was no time to act, he said, and an instant later the Senator was rammed port side and was lost.

Two of the Senator's crew, Leonard Ross and William Filbeck, leaped down on the Marquette and saved themselves. The third brought in by the freighter was Ralph Ellis, of South Bend, radio operator of the Senator, who was taken from the water. He had succeeded in fastening a lifebelt around himself.

R. H. Edgerton, of Seattle, first mate of the Marquette, said he was off duty and asleep when the crash woke him up. He said almost before he could get out on deck the Senator rolled over.

The Senator was headed for Detroit and points east with its cargo of automobiles. She left Milwaukee this morning. The Marquette set out from Escanaba last night with a load of ore from the steel mills at Indiana Harbor. It was due ton this afternoon. The time of the collision was fixed at 10:40 a. m. but the disabled Marquette did not make port here until dark.

REVISED LIST OF DEAD AND MISSING

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 31—(AP)—The revised dead and missing list of the freighter Senator follows:

The known dead:

Peter Smith, Wheelsman, Fredonia, N. Y., body at Port Washington, Wis.

Six other persons, including Captain George Kinch, and Mrs. Minnie Gormley, the cook, and wife of the steward, Matthew Gormley, are unaccounted for.

HAMILTON WEEPS AS FORMER TEACHER TESTIFIES

WEATHERFORD, Tex., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Dry-eyed as two defense witnesses testified today of the scuffle in which he killed his unwelcomed son-in-law, Judge R. H. Hamilton wept when his former teacher, Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor university, stated on the stand that the defendant's reputation was good while he was a student and later a professor at the university.

The austere attorney is charged with having shot to death Tom Walton, Jr., who secretly married his daughter, Theresa, while the couple was attending the University of Texas together.

Tom and Theresa were married last winter and the shooting occurred in the spring when the son-in-law went to Hamilton's office in Amarillo to break the news, knowing that the father-in-law had been opposed to the courtship. He decided to bare the truth, however, upon the advice of his mother, Mrs. Grace Walton. Hamilton formerly was a judge on the Texas supreme court bench.

Hamilton's stenographer, Miss Florence Hendricks, daughter of the defendant's partner, Harry Hendricks, and J. W. Burks, Amarillo real estate dealer, were the persons who described the scuffle and shooting.

NATIONALIST TROOPS SUFFER HEAVY DAMAGE

HANKOW, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Kinhan railway dispatches today stated that nationalist government troops had suffered heavy reverses from the Kuominchun "peoples army" and that the situation of the government troops was unfavorable. The dispatches could not be confirmed from other sources.

The Kuominchun forces were said to be advancing southeastward from the Western Lunghai railway in Honan province, having broken through the nationalist lines west of Hsuchow. The nationalist communications along the Kinhan railway was reported endangered by the movement threatening the isolation of all nationalist forces north of Hsuchow which are centralized at Chengchow, a railroad junction city.

ANDREWS GIVEN SENTENCE OF 35 TO 50 YEARS

DETROIT, Oct. 31—(AP)—Henry Andrews, 32, convicted of participating in the kidnaping last April of Fred Begeman, retired Wyandotte bootlegger, and said by police to have been involved in the kidnaping and killing of David Cass, 23, last July, was today sentenced to from 35 to 50 years in the Michigan branch prison at Marquette by Judge Arthur Webster.

The only statement Andrews would make after sentence was passed was that he had been "framed."

BRITISH VESSEL SUNK BY COAST GUARD PATROL

"James B" Goes to Bottom of Long Island Sound After Stern Was Cut Off By Coast Guard Patrol Boat—No Action to Be Taken Against Crew of Suspected Rum Runner Because of Lack of Evidence—Vessel Running Without Lights Crossed Bow of Patrol Boat Off Shinnecock Bay.

NEW LONDON, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Customs and coast guard officials tonight said that they would take no action against the crew of the British vessel James B., which sank off the Long Island coast last night after her stern had been cut off by the coast guard patrol boat, Cahoone.

The crew of eight aboard the vessel, picked up in James B. dories soon after the ship sank, are being held here, however, pending the arrival of immigration officials tomorrow. Coast guard officials refused to reveal the names of the crew.

A conference between customs and coast guard officials preceded the announcement that neither group of officials would take action against the crew. Coast guard officials said that, although the James B. had been on their suspect list for several months, the sinking of the vessel left them without any evidence upon which to base action.

Running without lights 30 miles off the coast, the James B., according to Boatswain A. M. Haynes, commander of the Cahoone, crossed the bow of the patrol boat, which was on patrol duty off Shinnecock bay at the time. The crew of the British vessel had barely enough time to get into dories before the ship sank.

Because of the international aspects of the case, officials were proceeding cautiously in their investigation. An attempt is being made to determine why the vessel was running without lights and whether there is sufficient ground to hold its captain.

The James B., coast guard officials said, was seized off the New Jersey coast a year ago and that for several months she had been on the coast guard's suspect list. She is believed to be registered at Halifax, N. S.

THRONGS ATTEND BURIAL OF SENATOR BURTON

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 31.—(AP)—The body of Senator Theodore Elijah Burton, lay at final rest today in beautiful Lakeview cemetery a few yards from the grave of another of Cleveland's distinguished sons, Myron T. Herrick.

Thousands of Cleveland's humbler folk missed their lunch hour to pass with state and national officers before the flag drapped bier of the senator as his body lay in state in the huge auditorium of Public hall.

Thousands thronged Euclid avenue as the cortege wended its way down the street under a dark and dismal, cloud mantled sky to the Euclid Avenue Congregational church where pews were backed to overflowing by close friends of the senator.

From the rostrum, banked high with floral offerings from persons in all walks of life, Bishop William McDowell, of the Methodist Episcopal church of the Washington area paid high tribute to the statesmanship and honest purposefulness of the man who represented his county and state in Washington for 40 years.

Senator Burton's now famous speech in congress for reduction of armaments looking toward world peace was cast by Bishop McDowell as the high spot of a remarkable career in national and international affairs.

Asserting that Burton would have succeeded in any profession which he might have chosen, the bishop added:

"He might readily have accepted proferred secretaryship of the treasury and he would have adorned the secretaryship of state, or shone as two other Clevelanders, John Hay and Myron Herrick, have done, as ambassadors to friendly nations."

Outside the huge church the streets were dense with humanity awaiting a last chance to offer homage to the man who held his place in their hearts in death even as he had in life.

At the grave the throngs again witnessed the solemn burial ceremony of the Knights Templar as the silver gray casket was lowered from sight into a valley of flowers.

COAST GUARD FIRES ON RUM RUNNER

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 31—(AP)—One member of the crew of the alleged rum running craft Butterfly, formerly the Uncas, captured this morning by a coast guard patrol boat in Lake Erie, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Newell Timmerman on a charge of failing to halt for search when ordered to do so by a government vessel.

Two other members of the crew, wounded in the engagement, were under guard at City hospital here and will face the same charge upon their recovery. They were said tonight not to be seriously injured.

Captain Hubert F. Wilbur of Coast Guard boat No. 9011 in his report said he sighted the Butterfly in Lake Erie early today off Cattaraugus Creek.

He said that as the boat failed to stop when he ordered it to do so, he directed a volley of rifle fire at it. No shots were fired in return.

Two men, who gave their names as Jack Smith, Detroit, Mich., and William Moore, Laurel, Mont., were wounded. The third, Lloyd Delino, of Lockport, signified that they would surrender.

No firearms, ammunition or liquor were found on board, but the hull of the craft was protected by 3-16 inch steel plates.

PROPOSES SENATE INQUIRY OF MARKET SPECULATIONS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—(AP)—Senate investigation of speculative operations on the stock exchanges was proposed today by Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota, but with the tariff measure holding sway there seemed some doubt tonight of early action on his resolution.

Senator Nye announced he would seek consideration of the resolution at tomorrow's session. He proposed that a committee of five be appointed by Vice President Curtis, to include the chairmen and ranking democrats of the committees on banking and judiciary.

The resolution would direct the committee "to investigate the facts and the practices concerning or relative to speculative operations connected with stock exchanges and to report their findings, together with such recommendations as they deem necessary, to the senate not later than February 1, 1930."

LOANS TO BROKERS SHOW HUGE DECREASE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—(AP)—Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve Member banks for the week ending October 30, were announced today by the federal reserve board as $5,538,000,000 representing a decrease of $1,096,000,000, as compared with the preceding week and setting a record for decreases.

PRES. HOOVER CALLS FOR TARIF ACTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—(AP)—A public appeal by President Hoover that senate republican leaders agree to pass the tariff bill in two weeks blew up another storm in the senate today, as factional leaders denied any delay and characterized the executive proposal as "preposterous" and "improbable" of execution.

The white house statement was issued shortly after Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, had made a final stand in the senate for conciliation of differences and a speeding up of action. He leaves for Florida tomorrow to rest.

This plea along brought quick and emphatic replies from democrats and republican independents that there would be no compromise, that the coalition was in control of the situation and intended to write the type of bill it wanted.

As the storm over the president's statement subsided the senate was plugging along in its customary slow pace, with hardly any hope of completing even a quarter of its work in two weeks' time. There were no indications tonight that the president's suggestion for the republican "to get together," on the question had materialized.

The white house statement, the second to be issued from that high quarter since the senate tackled the tariff, referred to conferences between the president and Senators Watson and McNary, of Oregon and Reed, of Pennsylvania, all republicans, at which the senators pointed to the "grave situation that has arisen by delay in tariff legislation."

"They called attention to the fact," the Hoover statement said, "that the senate has had the tariff bill since June, with 15 schedules to work out and has not yet completed schedule one. It was pointed out that a large amount of important legislation must be undertaken at the regular session which would be prevented by carrying the debate into the next session."

While some senators considered progress "hopeless," because it appeared to them that the "coalition intended to delay or defeat legislation or did not intend to give adequate protection to industry," the statement said others felt that "some understanding" should be attempted to send the measure to conference at an early date.

"The president said as he has uniformly stated his position," it continued, "that campaign promises should be carried out by which adequate protection should be given to agriculture and to the industries where the changes in economic situations demand their assistance.

"He stated that he could not believe and therefore would not admit that the United States senate was unable to legislate and that the interests of the country required that legislation should be completed during the special session."

PREMIER MACDONALD TO VISIT SOUTH AFRICA

ABOARD S. S. DUCHESS OF YORK, AT SEA, Oct. 31—(AP)—Ramsay MacDonald, having plumbed American thought on naval disarmament and established close contact with the Dominion of Canada, now wishes to visit South Africa, Australia and New Zealand.

"In these times of change and evolution," he said today, "I feel the need of closer contact with all the dominions in the British empire. I wish to go next to South Africa, New Zealand and Australia in order to complete the round."

Mr. MacDonald added that he had no definite plan and could not say at present just when he would be able to make the trip.

For the first time since embarking at Quebec, Mr. MacDonald changed from his comfortable old brown tweeds tonight into dinner clothes and joined the merrymaking at the captain's banquet.

Before dawn the Duchess of York will anchor off Liverpool and the voyage, which the premier hoped would afford him a much needed rest, will have ended. He had, however, little opportunity for recuperating from the exertions of his activities in the United States and Canada as the passage across the North Atlantic was rough.

WANTED IN SPRINGFIELD FOR SWINDLING MERCHANTS

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 31—(AP)—Max Krulik and Charles Greenberg under arrest in Stamford, Conn., are wanted here, the police announced today, for swindling local wholesale merchants of goods worth about $1,000 last September. Similar operations are said to have led to their arrest in Stamford. They came here from Brooklyn, N. Y., and opened a store, giving checks that turned out to be worthless for large bills of goods. When discovery seemed imminent they decamped with the goods.

ESCAPE INJURY WHEN THEIR CAR IS WRECKED

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 31—Two local young men, Leon Gustin of 812 Main street and Peter Lucas of Spruce street, hotel employes, escaped with minor injuries about 3.30 o'clock this afternoon when the coupe in which they were riding and which was driven by Gustin trashed into a tree on lower Main street, after skidding on the wet road. The machine was headed west and was approaching the junction of Brook street near the O'Bara store when it skidded, careened across the street and ran almost head-on into a tree. The young men were badly dazed by the shock. Gustin received treatment at St. Joseph's hospital for lacerations on his left ear, left hand and left arm. Lucas was treated by a physician for bruises on the left side of the face and temple. The car was practically demolished. Officer Arthur Hurley is conducting an investigation of the accident.

MANSFIELD TO CALL MEETING TO RECONSIDER VOTE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 31—The possibility of there being a special meeting called soon for the town of Mansfield as indicated in an article Thursday morning, materialized during the day with the issue of a call by First Selectman Daniel C. Flaherty, acting on a petition bearing 35 signatures. The meeting will be held at Hawley Armory in Storrs, Saturday morning, November 9, at 10:30 o'clock to reconsider the vote taken earlier this week for the erection of a six-room school building in Storrs. Should the meeting reject last Monday's vote, it will automatically undoe the work of some three years of agitation for securing a new school of the type provided for in the plans, at Storrs. The signers of the petition indicate a desire for a school in Storrs, but one of more conservative layout and eliminating some of the rooms proposed, including an auditorium. It is generally felt by the petitioners, most of whom are of the so-called farming element, that the people of Storrs, many of them connected with the Connecticut Agricultural college, are trying to force the issue of a pretentious school. It is expected that complete explanation of the purposes and need of the school as originally proposed, will be made at the next special meeting.

Struck and knocked to the Main street pavement by a machine driven by William Podbersky of Village Hill, about 10 o'clock this morning, E. H. Cook, 71, of Andover, sustained a painful injury to his left shoulder and a scalp wound. Mr. Cook had parked his car on the street and was crossing the thoroughfare, carrying a bag of chickens. Podbersky applied his brakes but the right rear of his car struck the Andover man. The pavement was wet at the time. Officer William Hurley investigated the accident.

Three charges of violating the hunting laws were brought against Ernest Breault, 18, of Babcock Hill, at a session of the Coventry town court Wednesday night. The charges were: Possession of live fur bearing animals out of season, not having a hunting license and not having a fur breeding animal license. The youth pleaded guilty. On the charge of not having a hunting license, Justice of the Peace Gilman imposed a fine of two dollars and costs and ten dollars for possessing fur bearing animals out of season. A nolle was entered in the third count. The total fines and costs amounted to $21.50 which Breault was unable to pay and he was taken to the county jail in Tolland by Game Warden Edward G. Wraight who with Deputy Warden Henry Meyer of Rockville made the arrest. An investigation of the young man's actions disclosed that he had five live skunks in his possession.

Max Kassman, 30, of Columbia, is a patient in St. Joseph's hospital suffering from a scalp wound sustained in an automobile collision on Post Hill, Columbia, this forenoon. Kassman was descending the hill in a small truck when another car proceeding in the same direction attempted to pass him. As the machines were about side by side the other machine skidded on the wet highway and the truck was turned completely over and badly damaged. State Policeman Terrill Cousens of the Stafford Springs barracks is making an investigation.

The funeral of Charles A. Le Clair was held Wednesday morning with a solemn requiem mass in St. Ann's church, Hartford. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery in this city. Rev. J. J. Papillon of St. Mary's church conducting a committal prayer.

Miss Antoinette Gatek was tendered a shower at her home, 21 Brook street, Wednesday evening, by her sister, Miss Mary Gagatek and the members of the St. Cecelia Polish choir of St. Joseph's church. Miss Gagatek, who is to be married soon, received many gifts. Present were the Misses Helen Kansek, Jennie Wilk, Mary Sydeski, Helen Curol, Steffa Chichon, Helen Cholac, Mary Ridyowski, Leona Grabowski, Katie Kogut, Mary and Wanda Sroka, Josephine and Jennie Seretny, Anna and Jennie Tabor, Helen Olsefki, Vivian Souf, Freida Krause, Helen Phillips, and Nellie Phillips, Mrs. George LeClair, Mrs. Fred LeClair and Mrs. Carrie Muraty.

Unable to bring his two-ton truck to a stop while descending Manning Hill in South Coventry Wednesday, Abraham Mathman, 36, of New Haven, was arrested on a charge of speeding by State Policeman Castigna of the Stafford Springs barracks. The truck, which Mathman tried to slow down on command of the officer, rocked crazily from one side of the road to the other for a distance of about 300 feet when it finally collided with the trailer of a state highway truck parked by the side of the road. Mathman's truck was badly damaged. The driver was arraigned in the town court on a charge of speeding and was fined $10 and costs, amounting to $21.15, which was paid. The case was prosecuted by Grand Juror Robert Brook.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin E. Greene of Columbia were host and hostess at a halloween party Wednesday evening when a program of music, refreshments and entertainment was enjoyed. R. U. WOLMER BUYS UNION BLOCK ON MAIN STREET

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 31—A real estate transaction of considerable importance was made known today in an announcement by Ralph U. Wolmer that he had purchased the Union block property at 688 Main street from Ex-mayor John C. Tracy. The property consists of a spacious store, about 20 by 80 feet, with an optical department in the rear. Mr. Tracy, who is leaving soon to make his home in California, disposed of his interest in the former Tracy & Wolmer jewelry business some years ago. A jewelry business was established at 688 Main street in 1863, being then known as Freeman's jewelry store. The firm name later became Freeman & Tracy, then Tracy & Wolmer. It is now owned and conducted solely by Ralph U. Wolmer who will also continue to conduct the optical department. This department continued to be operated by Mr. Tracy upon his retirement from the jewelry business. The store is considered one of the best of its kind in this section.

COLCHESTER

STATE'S BRIDGE OFFER ACCEPTED BY TOWN MEETING

(Special to The Bulletin)

COLCHESTER, Oct. 31—There was a fair attendance at the special town meeting held in Grange hall Thursday afternoon for the purpose of hearing and acting on the report of the selectmen regarding the question of repairing or rebuilding three bridges on the so-called "river road," in the Westchester section of town. Charles F. Brown was chairman and John Condren was clerk of the meeting.

In submitting his report, Selectman Charles A. Kramer explained that he in company with Selectman C. G. Markham and bridge superintendent of the state highway department, A. R. Collier recently inspected the three bridges and found them in a very bad condition. After conferring with the state highway commission, Superintendent Collier informed the local selectmen that his department would be willing to rebuild the two wooden bridges located not far from Brownville and to repair the large iron bridge over Blackledge river, the state to furnish all material and labor at a price not to exceed $1,275. Mr. Collier has his headquarters at the East Haddam landing where the state has on hand a large quantity of lumber for bridge construction and is also equipped with large motor trucks and motor-driven derricks, a necessity in rebuilding a large bridge.

It was the sense of the meeting that the state highway department is better equipped to rebuild the bridges than is the town of Colchester. A vote was passed authorizing the selectmen to accept Superintendent Collier's offer. The sum of $1,275 to cover the expense of the project was voted added to the town budget.

I. Cohen, Samuel Berman and Irving Strick of Colchester and Nelson Polski of Yantic are to leave early this (Friday) morning on a two week's motor trip through points of interest along the Atlantic coast, stopping for a visit with friends and relatives in Savannah, Georgia, Miami and Key West, Florida. They also expect to make a sight-seeing tour of Cuba returning home about November 11. The trip is being made in Mr. Cohen's new car.

During Mr. Cohen's absence, the Cohen Bros. dress factory on Norwich avenue is to be in charge of the assistant manager, Miss Slavkin.

D. W. Burnham of Moodus and David S. Bigelow of Westchester center, called on friends in the village Thursday.

JEWETT CITY

FRIENDS HEAR OF WEDDING OF VIVIAN M. DAWLEY

The marriage of Miss Vivian M. Dawley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Dawley of Hawthorne street, Hartford, and Oliver A. Case, of Kingston, N. Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin H. Case took place Saturday, Oct. 25, in South Congregational church, Hartford. Burdette Hawley, organist of the church, played the wedding march. Mrs. Jane Chapman, cousin of the bride, sang "O Promise Me" and "At Dawning." Rev. Warren S. Archibald performed the ceremony. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white transparent velvet. Her veil of tulle was fastened to a cap of pearls, and caught with orange blossoms. She carried Easter lilies.

Miss Mary Spillane, the maid of honor, wore a gown of American beauty moire with a bandeau to match and carried yellow roses. Miss Arline Ellison of Farmington avenue, cousin of the bride, and Miss Marion Case of Simsbury were the bridesmaids. Miss Ellison wore a period gown of green taffeta, wore a bandeau to match and carried pink roses. Miss Case wore a gown of similar style made of yellow taffeta with a bandeau to match and also carried pink roses.

Herman Case, of Bloomfield, was his brother's best man. The ushers were Elmer Dawley, of Putnam Heights, brother of the bride, and Stanley Tuller of Windsor.

The reception was at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Case left for a wedding trip, the bride wearing a dress of royal blue transparent velvet with hat to match. When they return they will live at 231 Clinton avenue, Kingston, N. Y.

Mr. Dawley, a former postmaster at Pachaug, was a Griswold boy, and a former owner of the present Bitgood property.

Pearl Morgan, of Hartford, a long-time resident of Jewett City, and a native of Pachaug, and his wife, were guests at the wedding and reception.

Winchester Trainmen Recalled

John E. Phillips, on a recent visit to Gales Ferry and while looking over the N. A. Gibbs estate, met a man at work there, whom he found to be Otis Winchester. Several people in Jewett City, especially the one-time railroaders, remember the Winchester brothers, both locomotive engineers, and both of Norwich.

Their names, once familiar back in the passenger traffic days, were Charlie and Otis, commonly called "Oat." It was pleasing to hear from the latter's son. Fifty years ago, when the railroad's right of way through Tadpole pond was raised, Oat Winchester and the late Thomas O'Neil, then a young fireman, did the engine shifting work for the gravel gang. The work train was obliged to make 20 or more trips each day from the pond, down to the local siding.

Mr. Winchester, one of the finest engine drivers that ever pulled a throttle, possessed a pleasing store of good nature in his make-up. More than one local man, boy then, recalls what a wonderful thrill was his, when Oat allowed them to ride to Tadpole on the old Pequot, and actually pull the bell line at the lower pond crossing. Once, indeed, one boy more fortunate than the rest, was allowed to open the whistle valve. Hardly any experience on the rail in later years ever could compare with that one great moment, when the boy pulled down the handle, and he caught the responding shriek from the old Pequot's wheezy whistle.

Fur Coats

Season 1929-1930

WE ARE in a better position than ever to offer you a line of fur garments that give you the most for your money. This is due to improved manufacturing capacity, the fine selection of furs now displayed and the large volume of business that we have been enjoying.

We believe that in selecting fur garments of any kind the question of quality should be paramount in the mind of the buyer. A well made garment, such as is the product of our own manufacturing plant, is far less expensive in the long run than a cheaply made one. Every coat sold by us is tailored to give more than expected service. The pelts have been carefully selected and our reputation which extends over a period of years is back of each coat.

We are now showing a wide variety of styles which we believe will be the most popular during the coming season. Your early selection is to your benefit. A small deposit will hold any of these garments for you until you are ready to wear it.

Remodeling and repairing of fur coats is done by us at very reasonable cost and all workmanship is guaranteed.

DANIELSON TO BE BASE FOR SOCONY DISTRIBUTION

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 31.— Beginning tomorrow, Nov. 1, the Standard Oil company of New York will centralize its distribution activities for eastern Windham county in Danielson. Today, stations in Putnam and Moosup were closed at least temporarily and dealers served from them have been notified to that effect.

In this centralization arrangement of distribution is seen the effect of the motor age on this phase of the company's business. When Socony first began something approximating its present system of supplying dealers horse-drawn tank wagons were used and their daily range of travel was far less than is possible with the motor trucks now exclusively used in this part of the state. The powerful trucks with tanks of large capacity can easily range from Danielson through all the territory heretofore served from the distributing stations in Moosup and in Putnam, and they will begin to do this Friday morning.

Storage capacity at the company's plant on Mechanic street, close to the tracks of the New Haven road, has been increased during the present year in degree sufficient to serve the territory to be covered. It is said that the centralization of distribution will effect some economies for the company.

Everett A. Davis, who has been manager of the Putnam branch, will come to Danielson as manager. Additional trucks also will be based here.

In Brooklyn, at a noon session of the court today Albert Hopkins, about 20 years of age and a resident of that town, was given a sentence of 30 days in jail for stealing bees and beehives from the Baker place. The hives and bees were recovered from a place where Hopkins hid them in the woods. Execution of the jail sentence was suspended.

Inclement weather operated in very small degree toward curtailing the activities of the young people who sallied forth tonight to celebrate hallowe'en in time-honored manner. It was barely dusk when the junior brigade appeared in their gowns of white and with their masks and pumpkin moonshines. The children were to be found in many sections of the borough, apparently having a glorious and glamourous time. Later in the evening youth joined the paraders and the merriment went on into the night. About town there were many home functions at which traditional diversions served to supply plenty of amusement.

For the first time in weeks an alarm for fire came in this afternoon, at 3:20, and was followed, 55 minutes later, by an alarm for a second fire. Neither proved of a serious nature. On the first alarm the firemen were called to the Eagle lunch cart, just below the Main street railroad crossing. A high pressure cooker, fed by gas, blew up because of an improper adjustment by an attendant unfamiliar with its working, it was said. The top of the cooker crashed through the hood that collects smoke from the various gas plates in the cart and lets it pass out of doors. Escaping gas that was aflame set fire to the cart, but the blaze was quickly extinguished. Pea soup from the wrecked cooker bespattered attendants, customers and the interior of the cart, but no one was injured.

The second alarm was for a fire at Frank Maihot's tailoring shop on Center street. Rags beneath a presser blazed from some undetermined cause. This fire also was extinguished without doing any great degree of damage.

Attorney Harry E. Back, warden for several years, is again in that office, replacing Richard D. Banigan, who became disqualified for the place when he recently moved to his new home on Peckham Heights, just outside the northerly limits of the borough. This year, Attorney Back has been serving as a member of the court of burgesses, and his fellow members of the board named him to fill the office of warden until the next annual borough election, in April of next year. Two new burgesses also are named, one of them to succeed Warden Back, the other to succeed Burgess Pierre Boulaine, who, like Warden Banigan, is no longer a resident of the borough, having recently purchased and occupied with his family, a home on Hawkins street, just outside the easterly boundary of the borough. A. Van Woodworth and Frederick O. Armstrong have been named by the burgesses to fill the place on the board made vacant by the aforementioned changes.

Beatrice Daignault, of Wauregan, was winner of the first prize for costume at the masquerade dance at Kum-Along-Inn last evening, and second prize went to Miss Stella Zambroski, of Goodyear. Leo Joy and P. Lasingo, both of Thornton, R. I., were given the awards for the men. A large crowd was in attendance at the dance.

The assessors were handling a rush of business today, as belated taxpayers came before them to file lists of taxable property. At the close of business today there were still numbers of lists unfiled, but many of these are expected to come in on Friday.

Harold B. Atwood has an invitation to attend the laying of the master ring of the giant Goodyear-Zeppelin ZRS-4 at Akron on Friday. The invitation states that the grandstand that has been erected for the ceremony is built of duralumin, the material that is to enter into the frame of the great ship of the air, being built for the United States navy. Mention is made of the fact that in the gigantic hangar where construction will proceed there is room for 10 football teams to play and that 40,000 people can find standing room in one section of the structure.

An interesting program has been arranged for the meeting of the Westfield Men's club scheduled for Friday evening.

About 40 members, their wives and guests of members attended a hallowe'en supper and dance at the Snake Meadow club this evening. The decorations were in keeping with the hallowe'en season.

Henry C. Bissonette, of New Bedford, is visiting with relatives and friends in Danielson for a few days.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

HAT-MAKING CLASS OF 25 INSTRUCTED WEDNESDAY

At the class in felt hat-making conducted by Miss Ruth T. Russell, home demonstration agent for the County Farm bureau Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham, leader of the Gales Ferry group, about 25 were present. This included visitors from other groups, seventeen remaining for the noontime lunch. Twenty-five hats were made and three remodeled.

Mrs. Delphine Fish, Mrs. Henry W. Hurlbutt, Mrs. Lucy A. Hurlbutt and Mrs. R. Irving Hurlbutt, of the village, with Mrs. Ernest Wadham and Mrs. Edna Moses, of Groton, were guests of Mrs. Fish's daughter, Mrs. Coleby Morgan, in Mystic, for the day, Tuesday.

Returning To Detroit

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Greer, of Detroit, who motored here with Mr. Greer's brother and sister-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. Jerome Greeer, on their return from their vacation in the west, left Tuesday for their return journey following a week's visit here.

Renovating Yale Quarters

H. F. Woodcock, general manager of the Yale Athletic association, with Mrs. Woodcock, motored here from New Haven Tuesday, to look over the work at the Yale quarters. The buildings are being repainted and the roof of the varsity house reshingled.

Mrs. Barbara Holdridge, of Ledyard, is substituting for Mrs. Evelyn Lawson, teacher of the upper grades in the Gales Ferry school, who is ill with quinsy.

Leonard and Richard Smith and their sister, Mary, of New London, visited their grandmother, Mrs. Latham E. Smith, for the week end.

Mrs. Charles F. Bartlett has been entertaining her cousin Mrs. George Handy, of Killingly, for a few days.

Walter Hill, of Norwich, is at the home of Mrs. Latham E. Smith and family, for a time.

LEDYARD

CONG. CHURCH VOTES TO CALL SAXONVILLE PASTOR

Edwin Hill, of Norwich, preached an eloquent sermon in the Congregational church Sunday morning. There was a good-sized attendance. At the close of the morning service, Miss Nellie W. Geer, clerk of the church, read the call to Rev. L. W. Bosworth, of Saxonville, Mass., to become pastor of the church. Billings T. Avery was chosen moderator and the church unanimously voted to call Rev. Mr. Bosworth as the pastor. Rev. Mr. Bosworth preached in the church Sunday morning, Oct. 20 and created a favorable impression.

Mrs. Everett Gallup and Miss Nellie W. Geer, as delegates, attended the meeting of Congregational Churches and Ministers which was held in the United church of Norwich on Tuesday.

Mrs. Isaac G. Geer is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Florence Smith, of Franklin, for a few days.

Rev. Arthur Adams, of Norwich, will preach in the Congregational church on Sunday morning. Holy communion will be observed at this time.

Mrs. C. D. Geer, who has been with her son, David Geer, in New Haven, has been visiting at her home here for a few days and will soon return to New Haven.

Miss Lulu Selzer, of Wakefield, is visiting her father, Albert Selzer, for a few days.

Mrs. Barbara Holdridge has been substituting as teacher the past week for Mrs. Evelyn Lawson at the Gales Ferry grammar school.

Asa J. Sheldon has been critically ill at his home for the past two weeks.

PUTNAM

VADNAIS DEFEATS BEAUSOLIEL FOR COUNCIL NOMINATION

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 31.—The common council democratic ticket got one step nearer completion Wednesday evening when Alderman Francis E. Vadnais of Smith street overwhelmingly defeated his party opponent, A. D. Beausoliel of Van Den Noort street for the democratic aldermanic nomination, at the caucus held in St. John's hall on Providence street.

Alderman Vadnais for the past administration has been known as the boy councilor. He is the youngest representative in the governing body and is a strong favorite of the democratic voters of the north end of the city. It was not known to the party city committee that opposition would be pitted against Vadnais until last Tuesday evening, when the word "leaked out" that A. D. Beausoliel, a north end merchant, had silently entered the race.

Before the caucus opened, over 250 men and women crowded into the polling place to take part in the ward meeting. Thomas P. Ryan, city clerk, was named for moderator and Louis A. Vadnais officiated as clerk. The names of the office seekers were proposed almost simultaneously and necessitated that balloting be by check list. After the counting of votes it was disclosed that 164 residents of the ward had taken part. With the aid of the woman vote, Alderman Vadnais scored a decisive victory over his opponent, he securing 111 and Mr. Beausoliel receiving only 53 votes.

Following his election, Mr. Vadnais in a statement promised the voters of Ward Three that he will do his best to afford them capable and efficient representation in the council.

Lizotte Not a Candidate

Armand J. Lizotte, a local business man, for the past month has been mentioned as seeking the republican nomination for tax collector. When interviewed this morning, Mr. Lizotte emphatically stated that he will not be a candidate for that office. He intimated that several republican politicians in the city had approached him, urging that he enter the race. He said today for publication purposes, "After a careful and thorough deliberation, I have decided not to enter the race for the republican nomination for city tax collector."

Mr. Lizotte's decision tonight left a clear field for Harvey Grinsell, north end merchant, who declared himself a candidate yesterday. It was said this afternoon in republican committee circles, if no other member of the party comes forth to seek the nomination, Mr. Grinsell will be unopposed at the general caucus to be held on Nov. 7.

Dean to Run Again

John M. Dean of Mechanics street, republican alderman in the common council from Ward Two, authorized the press to state that he will seek the aldermanic nomination at the ward caucus to be held Tuesday evening. As far as could be learned today, Mr. Dean will be unopposed. Ward Two is one of the ranking republican sections of the city. Two years ago when the city water controversy was at its height Mr. Dean was selected by the supporters of the concrete reservoir plan to represent the ward in republican row.

Following his election and taking the oath of office, Mr. Dean joined the cause of those fighting to secure the steel standpipe plan of reconstruction of the city water system. Alderman Dean intimated that he had carefully studied both plans and found the latter to be one which he believed best for the city, considering present conditions in Putnam.

Dean's attitude on this delicate subject has won for him many supporters and likewise was an important factor in the victory last fall of the supporters of the steel standpipe plan over the forces of opposition—which incidentally put an end to the long-lived water controversy.

Subbo Nickoloff, president of the Putnam Rotary club, was the speaker at the social session of the organization held yesterday following the regular weekly executive meeting. Mr. Nickoloff recently returned from a northern cruise and the far-off countries at the top of the world which he visited were topics he discussed. President Nickoloff's talk was presented in the form of a travelogue and was accompanied by stereopticon photographs made by him and by post card views of the various cities and towns in the countries of Greenland, Iceland and the Scandinavian peninsula. His memories of the snow countries proved to be delightfully interesting to his brother Rotarians.

Francis Ledoux of this city died Thursday at the Day Kimball hospital following a brief illness. Mr. Ledoux was 47 years of age. He has been a resident of the city for a number of years, working on various construction enterprises as a laborer. He is survived by a sister in this city and a brother who makes his home in Danielson.

A meeting of the A. Wilder Merriam camp of United Spanish War Veterans was held last evening at the state armory on Harris street. Major A. D. McIntyre, U. S. A., retired, commander of the post, presided at the session. The featured topic of discussion was that relating to the anticipated participation of the post in the Armistice day celebration on Nov. 11. It was voted to leave this matter in care of the two delegates representing the post on the general committee in charge of the Armistice day observance.

In superior court today the case of Peter Stahecki of Goodyear, administrator of the estate of his 18-months-old son, Frederick, against Rene St. Savior of this city, whom the Goodyear man alleges negligently caused the death of his son, went to trial before Judge Edward M. Yeomans of Danbury, presiding magistrate. Stahecki, in complaint action is seeking damages of $10,000. The defendant elected to have the case tried by a jury. Several witnesses for both sides were called to testify and at 4 o'clock this afternoon Judge Yeomans adjourned the session until 2 o'clock Friday afternoon when the same case now before the jury will be resumed. From evidence presented this morning, the Stahecki boy was fatally injured on the night of July 30 in Goodyear when he attempted to steal a ride on the rear bumper of the St. Savior car.

Preceding the opening of the Stahecki-St. Savior case in superior court today, Judge Yeomans conducted a short criminal session for the purpose of hearing the case of the state versus Arthur Paradis, Willimantic youth, who was arraigned on a charge of breaking and entering several stores in Willimantic. Fingerprints obtained by Willimantic police officers in various places where it is alleged by the state that Paradis forced his entrance, failed to match the impressions made by Paradis' fingers. In view of this fact, Judge Yeomans held that the state had failed to introduce a sufficiently strong enough case to warrant a conviction, and consequently nolled the charge against the defendant.

John J. Whitehead, Jr., president of the Patriot, Inc., was married yesterday in New York city to Mrs. Eleanor Dennistoun Hoppin of the "Courtlands" in Pomfret and New York city, at the Church of the Resurrection. The ceremony was performed by the rector of the church, Rev. Edward R. Bourne, assisted by Rev. Cranston Brenton. Mrs. Hoppin was given in marriage by her brother, William Wood, of Islip, L. I. Only relatives and a few intimate friends attended. Mr. Whitehead had for his best man G. Lawrence Perkins. The bride was unattended.

PLESSIS TO SEEK TAX COLLECTOR'S JOB

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 31.—Late this afternoon, Arthur Plessis of the insurance firm of Plessis & Co., authorized newspapers to state that he will seek the republican nomination for the office of tax collector at the party general caucus to be held on Nov. 7.

Mr. Plessis' aspirations for this office are warranted as those of his opponent, Harvey Grinsell, who declared himself a candidate yesterday. Mr. Plessis is a native of this city, a graduate of Putnam high school and of Boston university law school. He also received a B.A. degree from Assumption college at Worcester, Mass.

Mr. Plessis surprised his republican associates today when he admitted that he will enter the race for tax collectorship nomination next week. His name has been mentioned as a possible candidate for several weeks, but he remained non-committal until this afternoon.

Work on the installation of machinery in the Mill No. 3 of the former Manhansett manufacturing plant on Canal street, for the M. Salsberg & Son concern, silk manufacturers of Paterson, N. J., is well under way. This work is under the direction of Alfred Pigeon, former resident of this city, employed by the Salsberg company at their Central Falls, R. I., plant. About 50 people will be given employment, it was said today.

A sermon preached in Woodstock Hill in 1767 by Abiel Leonard, A. M., pastor of the church in Woodstock Hill 162 years ago, has been sent to the Howard Backen Memorial library in Woodstock by Guy Wilson, town clerk of Bethel, Vt. Rev. Dr. Leonard was a graduate of Harvard university and was a chaplain in the colonial army in the war of the Revolution. Both Generals George Washington and Israel Putnam wrote letters to the Woodstock church, commending Rev. Mr. Leonard for his invaluable spiritual services rendered the Revolutionary soldiers.

Dr. George T. LaMarche of Sabin street, who has been a patient at the Day Kimball hospital for the past week, has made a satisfactory recovery and is now back at his home. Dr. LaMarche is retained by the town of Putnam as school physician.

UNION

WEBSTER FAMILY MOVES BACK TO ENFIELD FARM

G. Henry Webster and family have moved from the Anson Corbin farm in the East district to Enfield, Mass. They sold this farm, which they purchased only a few years ago, to Mr. and Mrs. Julian Carrion, of Southbridge, and are returning to their former home and Mr. Webster's birthplace, Enfield. His home in Enfield was one of many places in that town that passed into the possession of the Metropolitan Water company of Boston, a few years ago. The family came to Union partly for that reason. They then expected their old home would soon be flooded by the water company. It has not been yet and they have arranged to occupied it, in the neighborhood, with relatives and friends. As Mr. Webster is over eighty this seems better for him and his family, although the friends the family has made here feel sorry to have them leave Union.

Sunday, a beautiful, warm, summer like day, brought heavy traffic on the Buckley highway through the town, from early morning till late into the night. Since the section of road between the Union-Sturbridge town line and Chariton, Mass., was finished, the through traffic from Boston and Worcester to Hartford has increased greatly.

Miss Mary E. Agard, who is teaching in Stratford was here for the week end, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Agard.

Miss Grace Robinson and Miss Helen Hutchins, attended the teachers' convention in Hartford.

Randolph C. Barrows, student at Suffield school came home for the week end after attending the football game on Saturday between Suffield school and Pomfret school at Pomfret.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bragg and their daughter, Mary, were guests of Rev. and Mrs. William Bragg last Sunday.

Charles R. Webster and family recently had guests from Longmeadow, Mass., West Stafford, Stafford Springs and Manchester.

WITH NUTS SCARCE, BEARS GOBBLE CORN

BLOOMSBURG, Pa.—(AP)—Scarcity of beechnuts and acorns on the Alleghany mountains has caused heavy damage to many cornfields.

Bears, eating heavily in preparation for winter hibernation, have been eating corn when they cannot find the forest nuts, which are particularly fattening.

G. M. Smith, of Lakewood, O., took his first lesson as a student pilot in a runaway plane. Accidently the throttle was left open when Smith's instructor cranked the engine. The plane roared down the field with a very much frightened student aboard. "I pressed the right rubber to avoid a house," Smith said, "and crashed into a tree. I scrambled out as quick as I could." He was unhurt and soon was ready to continue the lesson.

Miguel Baelle, thirty-two, arrested on disorderly conduct in Alicate, Spain, refused all information when brought before the bar, confining himself to remarking on the advantages of prison life, where one was freed from worry about getting the next meal. To insure an even longer stay in jail than the original offense called for, Baello assaulted his guards as they conveyed him to his cell.

When BABIES are upset

Baby ills and ailments seem twice as serious at night. A sudden cry may mean colic. Or a sudden attack of diarrhea—a condition it is always important to check quickly. How would you meet this emergency—tonight? Have you a bottle of Castoria ready? There is nothing that can take the place of this harmless but effective remedy for children; nothing that acts quite the same, or has quite the same comforting effect on them.

For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old, reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an everyday aid. Its gentle influence will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. Its mild regulation will help an older child whose tongue is coated because of sluggish bowels. All druggists have Castoria; the genuine bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

THE TARIFF SITUATION

Various reactions have been noted to the tariff situation in Washington, and the possibility that there will be no tariff legislation because of the evident intention of the democrats and insurgents in the senate to hamstring anything that doesn't aid or concern them. Whether the plan suggested by Senator Watson of getting together in a real effort to meet requirements and then accomplish something without sectional feeling will amount to anything is a question, but something of the sort is necessary if any progress is to be made.

It cannot be overlooked that farm officials assembled in Washington at the convention of the Association of State Agricultural Commissioners have gone on record as deploring the apparent impending failure of tariff legislation relative to farm products.

It was for the purpose of providing legislation that would give relief to agriculture that the special session of congress was called. Getting the farm bill through was attended with no small difficulties because of the opposition that was offered by those who pretended to represent agriculture, or the demands which they insisted upon of a dangerous economic nature, and now it is part of that same group that is throwing obstacles in the way of a tariff bill that was urged by the president for the benefit of the farmer and industries of the country which needed it.

Part of the plan that is being followed is to pit the agricultural west against the industrial east and to indicate that each opposes the demands of the other. The east, as well as other parts of the country, is desirous that the agricultural relief that is needed through tariff changes should be provided, but it doesn't believe that it should be done in an uneconomic manner, but there are representatives from the west in the senate who insist that all tariff revision should be confined to agriculture.

The methods that have been employed plainly indicate a deadlock and it is not surprising that the state agricultural commissioners should deplore such a possibility. Well do they know that farm relief was unnecessarily delayed because of just such unjustified demands and they cannot fail to appreciate the fact that those who are doing the most to produce further delay are those who are pretending to be greater friends of the farmers than others who would legislate for other deserving ones along with the farmers.

CARELESS WITH SECURITIES

Over in New Bedford $150,000 in securities were found under the rear seat of an automobile that had been traded in for a new car early in September. How much longer it might have remained there had not the new owner of the car started to give it an overhauling is problematic.

One wouldn't suppose that the possessor of securities to that amount, whether it was the owner transferring them from one point to another, or someone acting for the owner, would have been so careless with them as to permit them slipping, sliding, or in any way getting under a seat of an automobile. How such a thing might happen with papers left loose on an automobile seat or tucked in back of one, can be readily understood, but what baffles comprehension is why any securities, especially in such large amount, should have been left where they could be crowded under a seat, or, in fact, get out of the grasp of the person possessing them.

It appears from the report to have been a piece of gross carelessness that is certain to be criticized by many. It was a case where the owner was particularly fortunate to have been able to recover the securities, and yet it is not so different from the practice that is being followed by great numbers almost every day. Some have the good fortune to avoid losses, but there is an ever-increasing number who do not.

It is the experience of the treasury department of this country that holders of millions of dollars worth of securities have never presented them for payment. Some may have intentionally given Uncle Sam the money they represent and others have lost their bonds through no direct fault of their own. But there are plenty who have been so careless in the safeguarding of their securities that they have gone where no one can find them. Perhaps they may have disappeared under automobile seats or equally unfit places for such certificates. The unfortunate part of the holders of government bonds which are never redeemed seems to be, however, that they do not lose them where there is much chance of finding them.

BADLY ADDRESSED MAIL

At various times during the year postal authorities call attention to the importance of properly addressing mail. It is advice that some people do need, for they have listened to it on previous occasions and are carefully complying therewith, but it applies to a large number of people and business houses where haste and the idea that the postoffice will attend to any deficiencies result in much undeliverable mail and much that requires more time than ought to be expected from the postal service.

It requires millions of dollars each year to look after the mail that has to be sent to the dead letter office and there is no telling what expense is involved in trying to act as mind readers for the illegible and incomplete letter addresser.

There are unquestionably many letters put into the mail where the complete address is not known. There are others which are addressed properly so far as the sender knows, but which have to be redirected because of change of address. In the latter instance the postal service expects to do its duty insofar as it is informed, and in the former case the situation would be greatly relieved, if the postoffice department cannot find the right address, by having the writer place his own address in the left hand corner that it may be returned to him.

These appeals for more careful addressing of letters are fully justified. It is in the interest of better mail service. It affords an opportunity for the individual to contribute his cooperation to the successful operation of a great and complicated public service.

The postoffice department certainly does wonders in interpreting the intentions of those who use the mail. It does so much that more and more is expected of it, but this only means that more matter has to be sent to the dead letter office every year and bigger burdens are placed upon postal employes whose duties should be of a different character. The cost of trying to make up the deficiencies of the senders is huge each year and the worst of it is that it could so easily be obviated, for the most part.

PROTECTING OUR CROSSINGS

In the decision of the public utilities commission to permit the installation of lights and bell at the Eighth street crossing it considers that the protection that will be afforded thereby, together with the services of a brakeman when cars are standing within the circuit of the signal system, will be as good during the hours that flagmen are now maintained and better than that which has existed during the unguarded hours. It has come to this conclusion in spite of the protests that were made against the change by both the town and city authorities.

The Eighth street crossing is a bad one because of the sharp grade immediately to the west of the railroad track and the fact that highway users are shut off from a view of the track by buildings, and it is to be hoped that the change in the method of protection there will not prove detrimental.

The fact that it will render service 24 hours in the day means that there will be an advantage which is not now possessed. Those who use the street during the night will get warnings which are not now possible, and it is to be remembered that care on the part of all grade crossings users is one of the greatest protections that can be provided. Those who use that crossing must realize that they must depend on the lights and bell instead of a flagman and that ought not to be difficult if one is giving dus consideration to a place of danger.

While this new system is being established at the Eighth street crossing it would be a fine thing if each and every one of the smaller crossings through the Greeneville section, private as well as public, could be provided with similar devices for the warning of users.

FRENCH POLITICS

Getting a new French cabinet under present conditions isn't the easiest thing that might be accomplished in France and it may yet work around to the point where Briand will be asked to do the job.

When Daladier failed to get support for the plan that he had in mind in bringing enough of the parties together to form a coalition government, hopes were placed in Clementel. He was confident that he could succeed and he further believed that he would experience no great delay in accomplishing his task. How well laid plans fade and disappear is revealed by his quick disclosure that what he thought would be easy is impossible. He failed to get the support that he had expected and his responsibilities were soon ended, though there were hopes that he would be given a chance to see what service he might perform as premier.

The calling of Tardieu to form the cabinet indicates a change from the left to the right. Apparently the president feels that the leaders of the left have had their chance at cabinet forming under conditions that would uphold their policies and inasmuch as they have accomplished nothing it is time to turn to the other side. He is well schooled in the affairs of France and is a leader among the conservatives. Whether he can accomplish something where others have failed will shortly be known.

There seems to be no disposition on the part of any of the erstwhile premiers to fill the post of minister of foreign affairs by any other than Briand. He is recognized as being the right person for that position and, in view of certain important matters confronting France, no thought of another should be tolerated. The fact is that there does not appear to have been any good and sufficient reason for the vote which terminated his cabinet about ten days ago. It was one of those uncertainties which go with French politics.

NEW DREAMS FOR OLD.

Tom and Dora had reached that dangerous stage when both young people were more than a little disillusioned regarding marriage. Tom had discovered that, although a crack stenographer may make a delightful luncheon companion, when turned into a housewife she no longer is so bright and cheerful. Dora, in turn, had discovered that while an assistant manager makes a thoughtful host for an occasional restaurant meal when he becomes a husband he frequently crabs about the grocery bills and seldom compliments the cook.

Doubtless it would have been better if they had indulged in a few lively, spirited quarrels—storms, you know, clear the atmosphere. However, both Tom and Dora possessed true business poise, and accordingly held their peace—at least, on the surface.

Then, too, small Rosalie complicated the question of quarreling, for on that one point, that no wrangling should take place in the presence of Rosalie, Tom and Dora stanchly agreed. There was another point on which they agreed—that, if they couldn't keep happy "for the sake of Rosalie," there was no sense in trying to go on living together for her sake.

Both Tom and Dora knew that things could not drift on indefinitely as they were. Dora got out a bunch of old notebooks, sharpened numerous pencils and took down the talks that came in over the radio, to brush up on her shorthand speed, and Tom inspected a couple of new "bachelor" hotels.

Too bad the romance had worn thin and ragged. But then, reflected Dora, thank heaven there always was a demand for skilled stenographers. Cousin Kate would adore coming to care for Rosalie on week days. Tom would no doubt contribute toward Rosalie's expenses. With Dora's salary she could manage.

Dora had just finished cleaning out the icebox, a job she detested, when she glanced out the kitchen window and saw people at the door of the vacant house in the next yard.

"Bride and groom!" exclaimed Dora, then added softly: "Poor dears."

The next few days were exciting for Rosalie. She had to run from one window to another to watch first the plumber's car and then the carpenter's car, the telephone men and the men who came to turn on the electricity for the little house next door. Then came the furniture truck and small Rosalie could not understand why Dora wept as the men carried the new furnishings into the new home.

"More business for the coal yard," cynically shrugged Tom, noting that the house next door was occupied.

Dutifully Dora called upon the bride, who shyly displayed her treasures. And again little Rosalie could not understand why Dora indulged in tears when they got back home.

"The stuff dreams are made of," Dora whispered to herself. "Embroidered dish towels, pink and white aprons, fancy oilcloth on the dish cupboard shelves!"

Critically Dora surveyed her own kitchen. "Neat, but dreary," was her terse mental comment. "Like dreams—gone stale."

"What's this!" gasped Tom, on viewing the green and violet symphony which had been a conventional kitchen. "Why the new trimmings when the lease is up in six weeks?"

"Like the effect?" inquired Dora in reply.

"I like you in that lilac-colored dress," impulsively exclaimed Tom.

"I dyed it to match the kitchen curtains," announced Dora. "And I baked a chocolate layer cake." In a silence that was companionable rather than coldly aloof, Tom and Dora sat before the open fire.

"Billings called again about the lease," ventured Tom, looking wistfully toward Dora. "I don't suppose you would want to consider keeping on baking chocolate cakes for me?"

"The reason that fire isn't burning better," tranquilly answered Dora, "is because it's choked with paper. All my notebooks are stuffed under that biggest log."—Exchange.

On How to Avoid Deafness.

By Vance P. Peery, M. D.
Kinston, N. C.
(From Gorgas Memorial Institute)

Deafness is a handicap. Everyone recognizes that and of course no one would willingly throw away the ability to hear. Yet hundreds are doing just that. An earache is like pain anywhere else—a danger signal—a notice that something is wrong. Noises in the head, ringing in the ears, a full feeling in the ears, or a discharging ear, painful or not—these symptoms all call for a competent doctor's opinion, for generally they can be cured. Yet this very minute people all over the country are taking chances with permanent disability or even death. The best and surest cure for deafness is prevention.

Ear troubles in children, especially are liable to occur as a complication in diseases, such as measles, scarlet fever, influenza, pneumonia, recurrent colds, etc. In babies, especially the ears should receive careful attention. Infants cannot tell where the pain or discomfort is; they simply announce that something is wrong by crying, fretting or being restless. Many cases of marked damage to the hearing apparatus occurs in neglected ear conditions during early life.

The middle ear is intimately connected with the throat and back part of the nose by way of a small open tube known as the Eustachian tube. As long as this tube remains open for drainage and aeration of the middle ear cavity, we are not likely to have trouble. But infection in the nose, throat or sinuses, tonsils and adenoids, can cause inflammation and swelling in the eustachian tube, and when the tube closes germs are sealed up within the middle ear, pus quickly forms, and this is opportunity for all sorts of trouble. The ear drum may rupture and afford drainage through the external ear canal, the discharge may continue for a while without serious damage, the pus and infection may gain access to the internal ear, or through a natural opening backwards to the mastoid cavity and cells behind the ear. Meningitis, brain abscess, sinus thrombosis (or infected blood clot within the large blood vessels of the skull and brain) can now occur. These conditions are very serious, mean a definite mortality, and as it is, with deafness, the ideal treatment is prevention. The operative treatment in mastoiditis is not high as to risk to life, but the other troubles are considered with grave concern by any surgeon called upon to handle them.

Simple, good remedies, which may be offered by friends or purchased from the drug stores are not safe nor wise, and medicines put into the ears are not liable to reach the cause of the trouble.

Ear troubles are not to be considered lightly. They can cause illness, and death. Many do cause chronic disability and invalidism. It requires skill, training and experience, the assistance of the X-ray and laboratory procedures to arrive at a correct diagnosis. Place the responsibility of deciding whether it is a minor or major affair upon a competent doctor and do not wait for trouble to develop. A periodic health examination is worth more to you and yours than the time and actual outlay in cash it requires.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—President Hoover ought to feel edified by senate action in confirming his eight appointees to the farm board.

A few hard words about three of the eight went with the varying number of adverse votes in those cases. Yet to have picked five out of eight men of such standing and reputation as to have no question whatever raised in the senate as to their fitness for their jobs surely was an achievement to be proud of.

Particularly in so controversial and long drawn a struggle as that over farm relief ways, means and personalities.

It is, of course, not to be gainsaid that some senators voted approval of the Hoover farm boarders on the theory that the white house had taken over the entire job of providing relief by the attitude during formulation of the farm bill.

That was an echo of the battles over the equalization fee and the debenture plan. And there still remained the possibility of the white house having to face revival of the debenture plan when and if it ever received a tariff bill for signature or veto.

The Blunt Howell.

Howell of Nebraska put it most bluntly, speaking directly to the nomination of his fellow Nebraskan, ex-Governor McKelvie, as wheat specialist on the board.

Being navy educated, Howell has a quarterdeck habit of bluntness still strong upon him in these, his political days. After enumerating various reasons, including political ones, why he might be disposed to vote against McKelvie, Howell said that nevertheless and notwithstanding he was going to vote for the entire eight.

"The farm relief act was dictated by President Hoover," the senator declared. "He was not only the executive in connection with the legislation, but the legislator, himself. He is now responsible for farm relief, for results under the law. In my opinion he should be allowed to have for the farm board those men whom he sees fit to appoint."

The Howell statement followed a challenge to republican farm bloc senators by Wheeler, democrat, Montana, who led the unavailing assault on the McKelvie nomination.

A Dare.

"I dare republican senators to vote for him and then go back to their constituents and explain why they did so," the Montana senator shouted.

That hardly squared, however, with Wheeler's previous remarks, commenting on a statement in a letter he read predicting "a tremendous turnover with farmers in the western country in the next presidential election."

"Of course," Wheeler said, "I can not entirely agree with that. It seems to me that regardless of what the republican party does to the farmers of the northwest, they still vote the republican ticket."

And in the end, after a day of verbal pyrotechnics, the senate voted overwhelmingly to confirm the farm board members.

Which might be important to some of the said members. Until that was done they could not begin drawing their salaries, although their acts as a board were quite legal. That sounds a little illogical, but it is the way Uncle Sam's government works.

Uncle Sam seems to be taking an interest, a scientific interest in the sun-tan fad. At least, his experts have announced a coming study of the effect of sunlight on man, which, of course, includes the ladies.

IN THE DAYS NEWS

Jirgan Means Peace to Northwest India

Recently a jirgah was held in the edge of the Tirah.

To the average news reader this statement probably has little meaning. To the student of Indian affairs it is an announcement that gives food for thought.

It means that argument between the Afridi and the Orakzai, some of the world's most bloodthirsty warriors, has been ended by law and not by blood. In the North West Frontier Province of India, where people build houses with towers wherein they can sit and take pot shots at their neighbors and relations, and husbands formerly cut off the nose of flirtatious wives, jirghahs or conferences are superseding blood feuds and killings.

"The Afridi and Orakzai, between whom the jirgah was held, reside in summer in the Tirah, a maze of mountains south of the Khyber Pass," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographical society. "Only a few Afridi live in this region; but it is the summer abode of all the Orakzai, who are divided into the two main sects of Mohammedanism, the Shiahs and the Sunnites. The former pay reverence to the Sayids, or descendants of Ali, the son-in-law of Mohammed. The Sunnites are orthodox Moslems who respect the influence of their priests, or mullahs. They adhere to the main part of the Koranic laws.

"The summer climate in the Tirah mountains is delightful, but the winters are bitterly cold. The district lies not far from Peshawar, the only large city in the North West Frontier Province, and has a thriving export trade in cordage, ropes, raw fiber, fruit, vegetables and nuts, hides and skins, leather mats and timber. Most of the Orakzai are agriculturists.

"Only about a third of the total area of the North West Frontier Province is under British jurisdiction. The rest is tribal territory. The Pathans, as all the tribes of the Province are usually called, are as wild looking as their mountainous background. They are usually tall, with piercing eyes, long, plentifully oiled straight hair, and pointed mustachios springing from under hawk noses. The men wear a long, loose tunic over baggy trousers, sandals, and a sheepskin coat with the wool inside. The women dress somewhat like the men with the exception that their trouses are always red so that ferocious neighbors do not mistake them for the men of the household and fire at them. The only factory in the Province is a rifle factory!

"A rifle or two well-conditioned camels will buy a wife in the Tirah, unless she s unusually good-looking when the price will be raised a bit. It pays the wife in this part of the world to be discreet. If she is faithful and her husband is in a good humor, he will give her a divorce. Some other time, he may cut her feet off. Child marriage, as it is practiced in Hindu India is unknown.

"The Afridi are among the world's most practiced thieves. They grease their bodies before going on a foray and if caught, they can easily wrigle out of the clutch of their captors. Often when detachments of enemy troops have been sleeping, Afridi marauders have stolen into the camps and taken booty from the persons of the sleepers. A guest under an Afridi roof is secure, but the minute he leaves the doorstep of his host, he may be shot and disembowelled by his former entertainer.

"European music the natives of the North West Frontier Province consider just so much howling. It is said that their mountain shepherds have managed to extract notes unknown to western music—strains in weird, minor keys. Much of their resembles the Grexorian chants whose somber strains characterize some of the religious observances of the Roman Catholic church.

"Guest houses are maintained in the different villages by the headman or a group of the leading villagers. In these houses sleep the men of the village who have reached man's estate and are unmarried. Custom forbids bachelors sleeping at home. Robbery is the national sport of the Pathans but it is not the only one. They are enthusiastic hunters, and practice widely hunting with dogs and hawking."

Stories That Recall Others

The "Castle."

Joan, aged four, had been enjoying the old story of "Jack and the Bean Stalk" to her heart's content. Buddy, her brother, was asleep on the back seat of the car as daddy drove through the city. When he passed the courthouse she shook her brother with excitement: "Wake up, quick, Buddy! Here's a castle!"

On Approval.

It has long been a custom of merchants to send clothing out on approval, but it has been left for a local butcher to have a customer ask for meat to be sent out the same way.

"The nice thing about it," he says, "is in case the party gets an invitation out to dinner, the meat can be sent back and nobody loses but me."

Other people's troubles always bore us more than our own.

Corporation Head

Robert W. Woodruff, of Atlanta, already head of one mammoth corporation, has at the age of 40 been elected to the presidency of the White Motor corporation, Cleveland, succeeding the late Walter C. White. Woodruff was made president of the Coca Cola company at 33. He is to retain the latter office at Atlanta in addition to his new duties.

HALLOWEEN CELEBRATORS MADE MERRY ON STREETS

The Halloween celebrators were out in force Thursday evening, many of them dressed in horrible and unique costumes that attracted no little attention. As the shades of night began to fall there was a sprinkling of them about the streets, but as the night wore on the numbers were increased very materially. Some of them made a nuisance of themselves, while others conducted themselves decorously, having their fun without disturbing anyone.

It was a spooky night, made so by the appearance of ghosts, goblins and the like out of alleyways and side streets. Even the tiny tots made merry with their masks, noisemakers and lighted pumpkins and throughout the early evening promenaded up and down the streets, usually in the company of their parents, and not making much noise. The older children were more boisterous and bent upon playing original or time-worn pranks upon those seeking the quiet of their homes or going about their business in the streets.

The usual ringing of doorbells, rapping upon doors and the carrying off of gates were practiced in all sections of the city. Clothes or other articles that were left out for the night will not be found by the housewives in the morning, at least not in the places where they were left. They have been carted away by the merrymakers. Today the man of the house or the hired help will have a job on his hands that he did not look forward to, or perhaps he did, as many lawns and piazzas are literal gardens, that is, they have many vegetables that are found there. Cabbage heads, turnips, carrots, etc., make up the numbers of articles that were hurled into these places.

At intervals police headquarters were called by telephone asking the man at the desk to send an officer to such and such a place to stop or disperse the gangs of boys that were making merry in front of their houses. One report was received that boys were placing big barrels in the middle of the highway in front of automobiles; the prank was no longer practiced upon the arrival of the police officers. Boys also delighted in breaking glass, strewing paper and excelsior along the streets and sidewalks and letting the air out of tires of automobiles. Garbage and rubbish cans were also tipped over and their contents strewn about.

One thing that was noticeable about the celebration was the small number of pumpkins, an article in former years which played a big part in the celebration.

INTOXICATION CHARGE HERE AGAINST N. L. POLICEMAN

Found sitting asleep in an automobile on Thames street about 8:20 Thursday morning, Henry Watterson, 25, a New London policeman, was arrested on the charge of intoxication and held at Norwich police headquarters until his condition became such that bail could be accepted for him and he is to appear in the police court this (Friday) morning.

Residents of the neighborhood, who observed the car standing in the street with the engine running, telephoned to police headquarters and Officers Patrick Murphy and Albert Lamphere found the man in the machine, but the engine had been shut off by the time they got there. Sergeants Smith and Babcock of the New London department came here in the morning to learn the circumstances. The officer has been suspended.

LINDEN PARKWAY PARTY FOR 125 CHILDREN

As is their annual custom, former Fire Chief Howard L. Stanton and Mrs. Stanton, of 6 Linden parkway, entertained all the children of the neighborhood at a Halloween frolic Thursday evening. In all, about 125 girls and boys called on them, coming in all varieties of grotesque costumes. They were given a treat of candy and apples, also had the fun of such time-honored stunts as bobbing for apples and the like. The winners in the games were given prizes. It was a big night for the kiddies of that section.

FUNERAL
Chester W. Comstock

With an unusually large attendance of sorrowing relatives and friends and representatives of various organizations the funeral of Chester W. Comstock was held at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Uncasville Methodist church. The services were conducted by Rev. Charles Smith, pastor, and the musical programme was in charge of Robert French, at the organ. The casket was draped with the American flag and there was a profusion of beautiful floral remembrances.

Burial was in Comstock cemetery, Uncasville, where a Masonic burial service was conducted by officers of Oxoboxo lodge, No. 116, A. F. and A. M., of Montville, Worshipful Master Carl D. Allen being in charge. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Smith. Taps was sounded by a bugler from the submarine base, at Groton. The bearers were: Walter Auwood and Frank Richards, members of Oxoboxo lodge, Percy Allen and Harry Watts, of Thames lodge, No. 22, I. O. O. F., and John Killeen and Armand Plouffe, of the American Legion.

Included in the gathering of relatives and friends were people from Norwich, New London, Westerly and other places and delegations from the Masonic, Odd Fellows and American Legion bodies of Montville. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker C. A. Gager.

Hit By Automobile

An automobile, driven by County Game Warden W. S. Watson of North Franklin struck and injured Samuel Kadish, 62, of 306 Main street, late Thursday morning, near his home. He was taken to the W. W. Backus hospital, where his injuries were attended by Dr. R. R. Agnew.

Patients Discharged at Hospital

The following were the patients discharged Thursday at the Backus hospital: John Murphy, 170 Broadway; Joyce Ricker, 43 Case street, Norwich Town; Mrs. Mary Mekoolych, 22 Fourth street; Mrs. Hattie Nye, Preston City.

HEAVY DAMAGES ARE SOUGHT IN SUITS OVER AUTO ACCIDENT INJURIES

Three suits from automobile accidents, in which heavy damages are claimed, have been brought in the superior court for this county and are returnable in November, according to the papers which have been filed with Clerk John H. Walker.

Because of an automobile accident near Ginsberg's filling station at Quaker Hill on Feb. 23, Giuseppi Perrone of New London sues for $12,000 damages against C. F. Klinger Co., and C. F. Klinger of New London on the claim that he has lost business from his grocery store and macaroni factory on account of the accident.

Mr. Klinger has sued Perrone in turn for $15,000 claiming that Perrone was to blame for the accident and that the injuries Klinger received have deprived him of the sense of taste and smell forever through affecting the salivary glands. He suffered a severe laceration from ear to ear.

Seeking damages for $10,000 for the death of Mary R. DeCastro, the administrator of her estate, Frank H. Hinckley of Mystic has brought suit against Swift & Co., of New London. The woman received fatal injuries on March 12 when she was thrown out onto the highway when the roadster collided on the Mystic-Noank road with an automobile driven by Arthur J. Butlin. The Swift company car was operated at the time by Arthur Bleadale, one of its employes.

SIX WIVES PETITION FOR DIVORCE DECREES

Six suits for divorce, in all of which the wife is the petitioner, have been brought in the superior court for this county and have been filed at the office of the court clerk, John H. Walker.

Hortense Gordon Dean of Hartford seeks divorce from Irving Dean of 238 West 106th street, New York city, whom she married April 10, 1927. He formerly lived in New London and she claims he was intolerably cruel to her from Jan. 1, 1928 until the date of the complaint. She asks for permission to resume her maiden name.

On the grounds of cruelty since May 1, 1928, Lottie Eddins Sawicki of New London seeks divorce from John Sawicki of Cheshire. They were married April 16, 1928.

Desertion since June 2, 1926 is the reason for which Mildred Chapman Chester of New London seeks divorce from Daniel A. Chester of the same place, whom she married Sept. 17, 1919. She also asks alimony and the custody of two children.

Intolerable cruelty since the day of their marriage, Sept. 6, 1927, is alleged by Gertrude Drew Bickelman of New London in seeking divorce from Herman Bickelman of that city. She also wants alimony and permission to resume her maiden name.

Alimony, divorce and permission to resume her maiden name are sought by Beatrice Rapp Gomaldi of New London in suit against Michael Gomaldi, now of Patchaug, L. I., but formerly of New London. They were married Aug. 20, 1925 and she alleges she was deserted only two months later, on Oct. 31, 1925.

Florence White McDermott of Waterford who married Robert H. McDermott, now of Spokane, Wash., but formerly of New London, seeks divorce from him on the grounds of desertion since Nov. 15, 1923. They were married April 30, 1918 and she asks alimony and the custody of two children.

MEN OF LUTHER LEAGUE GIVE SUPPER FOR GIRLS

A delicious roast pork supper, served at the expense of the male members, losers in a membership contest, was enjoyed by the girls of the Luther league of the First Evangelical Lutheran church on Franklin street Wednesday evening in the Sunday school rooms. The menu was served by the committee in charge, Ernest Zachae, chairman; Albert Werth, Otto Thumm, Robert Gross, Harry Wischnewski, George Jones, Frank Decker and Herman Karkutt.

An attractive programme of entertainment was provided by Freddie Seidel and Irene Werth, who appeared in the skit, "Barnacle Bill the Sailor," Mr. Seidel, in songs, and Otto Thumm and William Werth with silent instruments. Quartet selections were also given by Freddie Seidel, Otto Thumm, Robert Gross and William Werth. Games were played and for the community singing the Misses Frieda Phillip and Anna Werth were the accompanists. Remarks were made by the pastor, Rev. Carl Storck, and Herman Stelzner.

SCOUTS TELL NORWICH LIONS ABOUT EUROPEAN JAMBOREE

First hand information on the Scout jamboree in England this summer was given by three New London Boy Scouts at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Norwich Lions club held Thursday noon at the Wauregan hotel with the president, Charles W. Cassidy, presiding. Lions from Jewett City and representatives from civic organizations in this city were present. Abner Schwartz was in charge of activities, Bert Caron was tailtwister and Louis M. Crandall acted as song leader.

The New London scouts were introduced by Scout Executive John L. Sullman of the Norwich council. Paul Tubbs recounted incidents of the trip across the ocean, Ernest Nibbs related occurrences and experiences about the trip in England and Walter White gave an account of the jamboree itself. After the interesting talks the three scouts sang scout songs as they gave physical exercises.

BURGLAR GETS $25 FROM CASH REGISTER

Some one entered the store of the Lee and Osgood Co., located on Main street, either late Wednesday evening or early Thursday morning, and appropriated about $25 from the cash register, making the third break within about a month in the city. No other articles in the store were taken. The thief found his way into the building by breaking out a pane of glass in a door in the rear of the store. The break has been reported to the police, who are conducting an investigation.

Back From Bankers' Convention

Earle W. Stamm, vice-president and trust officer of the National Bank of Commerce, at New London, has returned to his desk after attending the annual convention of the American Bankers' association at San Francisco, Cal. After the convention adjourned Mr. Stamm joined a party which went to Honolulu. The trip to the west coast and return was made by Mr. Stamm via rail.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

FEW LICENSE SUSPENSIONS FOR UNPAID JUDGMENTS

Damage suits for negligence in operation of automobiles before courts of the state have resulted in only six requests to the state motor vehicle department to suspend licenses because of unpaid judgment since a new law allowing such a penalty became effective on July 1. Reports have been made on five cases which were decided before that date, but an opinion given by the attorney-general says the law is not retroactive and its provisions do not affect earlier cases.

This law provides that "upon complaint to the commissioner of motor vehicles by any prevailing party or his attorney in an action of negligence arising out of the use of a motor vehicle that a judgment for a sum other than costs or nominal damages has remained unpaid more than 60 days, without the filing of an appeal, the commissioner shall suspend the operator's license of the defeated party and may suspend the registration of any motor vehicle owned by him until the court certifies that such judgment has been satisfied."

Another opinion by the attorney-general outlines the procedure which the motor vehicle department should follow before suspending licenses or registrations in unpaid judgment cases. Under this opinion, the department will require that the complainant secure a certificate from the court rendering judgment showing that the complainant is the prevailing party in the action; that the action was for negligence in the use of a motor vehicle; that the judgment was given as of a certain date and for a specified sum other than nominal. It will also be necessary that the certification show that execution has been issued as of a certain date and returned either unsatisfied or partially satisfied.

The department will also require an affidavit from the complainant to the effect that the judgment remains unpaid for more than 60 days after date, and that no notice of appeal has been filed.

Blanks have been prepared by the department in the form in which the information is desired. Copies will be forwarded upon request to complainants or their representatives.

BINGHAM "COMMITTEE VICTIM" SAYS MAINE SENATOR

In a special dispatch from Washington to the New Haven Register it is stated that Senator Arthur Gould of Maine came out Wednesday as the first republican to endorse Senator Hiram Bingham, and expressed sympathy for Bingham "as a victim" of the lobby investigation. "Senator Bingham is one of the most outstanding members of the senate and a man to be admired," Gould said.

"The treatment he received at the hands of the lobby investigating committee is little better than could be expected at the hands of such a partisan group. No regular republican could receive fair treatment from such a committee. I am with the senator and he has my sympathy as a victim of the committee," Gould declared.

F. J. DOWN FALLS INTO OPEN SEWER TRENCH
(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 31.—Frederick J. Down, 60, of 34 Oak street, employed at the George C. Moore plant, sustained possible fractures of the shoulder and hip, about 6:15 Thursday evening. While going along High street to his home, he fell into a 12-foot trench near the Pellett Monumental works, opened for the purpose of laying sewer mains. His predicament was not discovered until his moans were heard by people passing by. He was taken from the trench with difficulty, placed in a car and taken to the office of Dr. John E. Ruisi.

JOLLY HALLOWEEN EVENT GIVEN BY NORWICH GRANGE

Norwich grange, No. 172, Patrons of Husbandry, conducted a jolly hallowe'en masquerade Thursday evening in Grange hall at Norwich Town, which opened with the grand march when a long line of masked and costumed figures paraded before the judges, who were Anson R. Grover, John Hubbard and Mrs. A. R. Grover. A programme of dancing followed, for which the music was by Lucille Guile, piano, and George Guile, violin, and about 9:30 the judges were ready to announce their decision which gave the prizes as follows: Best dressed lady, Mrs. Victoria Marsh, Miss Halloween costume; special mention to Rose Breckenridge, gypsy, and Mrs. Lee Coles, orange crepe paper dress; best dressed man, Clarence Lillibridge, Tom Mix costume; special mention to Thomas Beetham, pirate; funniest lady's costume, Miss Viola Gaston, sidewalks of New York; special mention to Mrs. Eliza Walker and Mrs. Alice Metcalf, horribles; funniest man's costume, George Durr, Negro; special mention to Harry Lasch, tramp.

The hall was appropriately decorated with a big harvest moon in one corner and streamers of orange and black suspended over the dancers. Mrs. Elizabeth Murray, lecturer, was in general charge of the enjoyable affair, while in the dining room Mrs. Hattie Woodmansee was in charge of the hot dog table, Mrs. Alice Marsh in charge of the pie, cheese and doughnuts, John O. Peckham in charge of the cider and apples, and Mrs. Ruth Colt in charge of the tickets. Charles Bennett prompted for the dancing.

HALLOWEEN CELEBRATOR IS STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Clarence Meyers, 9, of Summit street, was struck and injured by an automobile driven by Mrs. Elkin Smith of Canterbury turnpike about 7.30 o'clock Thursday evening on Thames street, when he darted out in front of the machine with two other children, who were said to be Halloween celebrators. It is said that he has been struck on two previous occasions by machines. The boy was taken to the W. W. Backus hospital, where it was found that he received a fractured thigh bone and abrasions about the head. He was attended by Dr. David Sussler.

BURNED BY BACKFIRE AT RADIATOR CO. PLANT

Edward McCaffery of 34 Cedar street received first degree burns about the face, head and left arm early Wednesday morning at the plant of the Richmond Radiator company, from the backfire of a furnace at which, it is understood, he was working. He was attended by Dr. Paul F. Gadie, who took him to the W. W. Backus hospital, where it was reported Thursday that his condition was good.

TRADITIONAL RIVALS HAVE SQUABBLES AND BREAK OFF ATHLETIC RELATIONS

(El Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 31—(AP)—Football seems to be experiencing a fresh outbreak of family squabbles, especially in the east and south.

Relations had been abruptly broken off in two cases, one involving West Virginia and Davis and Elkins the other Centre College and the University of Kentucky.

Meanwhile the Army and Navy, in spite of the latest peace efforts, appear farther apart than they were when athletic relations were broken in 1927.

The battered condition of its varsity forces has compelled a Florida institution, Rollins college, to cancel two of its scheduled games.

At two other schools, Alabama Poly and the University of Washington, head football coaches have been forced to withdraw under fire, following a succession of defeats for their teams.

These developments, coming on top of the findings of the famous Carnegie report, indicate the great intercollegiate sport still is suffering from "growing pains."

Like the University of Iowa, West Virginia apparently has made a determined and consistent effort to lift its athletic standards to a higher level. In the Carnegie report reference was made to the outright subsidizing of 25 to 30 Mountaineer football players but the same report published this statement from the West Virginia president, John R. Turner, dated April 23, 1929:

"We have altogether discontinued the practice of subsidizing athletes.... I do not say, as in my judgment no college president can say, that no alumnus is making any contribution to the support of a member or members of our athletic teams. I must say, however, that after careful inquiry I have learned of no case where a student is receiving support because he plays on one of our athletic teams."

The break between West Virginia and Davis and Elkins was contributed to, according to Mountaineer authorities, by the presence in the Davis and Elkins lineup of three men who had played four previous years of varsity football at Haskell institute.

Davis and Elkins has been a Giant Killer for at least two seasons, beating the Navy last year. West Virginia twice in a row and last week tying the hitherto unscored-on Fordham eleven in New York.

The list of athletic breaks in the east alone has grown rapidly in recent years. To such comparatively ancient sciffron ruptures as Yale-Boston college and Pennsylvania-Princeton have been added Syracuse-Army, Columbia-New York university, Harvard-Princeton, Pittsburgh-Pennsylvania.

The Carnegie report, without finding any specific reasons for these breaks after investigating most of them, nevertheless generalized: "In every instance, the immediate cause was bad feeling between the partisans of the institutions. In almost every instance, its origin appears to have been an overweening desire for victory and the reputation that victory is supposed to bring."

FOOTBALL AGAIN MILLION DOLLAR SPORT AT YALE

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 31—(AP)—Football is again a million dollar sport at Yale. The report for the fiscal year ending June 30, last, issued tonight by Treasurer George Parmly Day, of the Yale Athletic association apparently indicates that the figure went over the million mark although the exact figures in sports are not given.

In two previous years, the gross revenues in sports went over the million mark. For the year ending June 30, 1928, the gross sports figure was $1,119,280.10 out of which was paid $283,169.91 to visiting teams which left gross net revenues from sports of $734,170.19 which compares with $753,230.75 as the gross net in the 1929 report after payments had been made to visiting teams.

A year ago there was an itemized statement issued with the report of Treasurer Day showing the revenues and expenses in the 17 departments of sports. This was not made tonight and the estimated football item is obtained only by reference to figures in the 1928 report. In that report football was shown to have brought in $1,033,211.98 gross and all other sports $86,968.12. For the 1929 period there was presumed to be a slackening in revenues from all other sports and an increase in football receipts which would bear out an estimate that football figures held close to those of last year.

As a year ago, the report of Treasurer Day shows a surplus but it is only $1,471.21 as compared with $2,234.52. The revenues were used, as in other years for writing off property accounts. The figures in the statement follow:

Gross revenues, after payments to visiting teams $753,230.75, less direct expenses of 17 departments of sports of $424,257.33 leaving excess of revenue over expenses of $329,003.42.

Deduction of less indirect expenses, such as interest, taxes, administration, etc $103,656.88 left net revenue of $225,346.54 to which the surplus of June 30, 1928, is added making the total $227,817.96 out of which came property accounts of $226,346.75 leaving the surplus June 30, last, $1,471.21.

The association has met liabilities of $292,16.33 for real estate and additions on various projects for athletic betterment but these liabilities are being reduced each year out of appropriations made from the net revenues and from other sources.

ACADEMY HARRIERS MEET STONINGTON HERE TODAY

The Academy cross-country team, which has easily earned for itself the moniker of champ hard luck team, will make another try to shake the jinx this afternoon at the campus in a meet with Stonington high. The locals have lost probably more close meets so far this campaign than most schools do in a couple of seasons, every one of their setbacks being by margins of five points or less. Coach Murphy has given his boys some stiff work the past few days and expects to have all his regulars in action.

STIFF SCRIMMAGE SESSIONS ABOUT ENDED FOR YEAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The days when scrimmage was a daily event in eastern college football practice sessions are over for this season. Coaches, at this time of the year, can't afford to risk injury to star players needed for the gruelling November battles to come.

A wet and muddy day throughout the eastern states made most practice sessions today little more than formalities for coaches were unwilling to force their players at top speed over the muddy, treacherous turf.

A defensive scrimmage at half speed and with tackling barred comprised Columbia's final workout before leaving for Ithaca where the Lions battle the undefeated Cornell outfit on Saturday. Caution was Gil Dobie's watchword at Cornell as well, the big Red squad merely running through plays it plans to use against Columbia.

As Chicago's Maroons of the Western conference left for the east, Princeton, the Chicagoans' next opponents, spent the day passing and kicking the ball around the field. Levick and Zundel were out of the Tiger lineup with injuries but are expected to start against Chicago.

Georgetown's squad of 45 left Washington for New York where the boys from the national capital meet New York university next. A light practice was held at Washington and another is scheduled for tomorrow here. A drill in fundamentals occupied New York U. at the Yankee stadium. Washington and Jefferson, which meets its traditional foe, Lafayette, next, was encouraged by the return to the lineup of Jap Douds, its great lineman. Lafayette's squad of 25 left Easton, Pa., for the scene of the conflict, Washington, Pa.

Coach Lou Young's Pennsylvania team went to Absecon, N. J., for a rest before the important Navy game. Although there was no hard work for the Quakers, Young had them working for an hour on a defense for the forward pass which has given the Navy two consecutive victories over Pennsylvania.

Penn State went through its last workout before the Syracuse game and Brown, which is to battle Holy Cross, spent the afternoon perfecting its aerial attack in a long dummy scrimmage. Dummy scrimmage against Dartmouth plays was the order of the day at New Haven, where Yale prepared for the invasion by the Indians this Saturday. A scrimmage had been scheduled but Mal Stevens cancelled it because of the wet field.

Army did little more than drill on fundamentals for the South Dakota game.

Pitt's practice indicated that the Panthers might make use of long forward passes to score against Ohio State in the event that its running attack fails. An easy workout in the rain ended Harvard's preparations for Florida.

DAVIS-ELKINS BREAKS RELATIONS WITH W. VIRGINIA

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 31—(AP)—Jennings Randolph, director of athletics at Davis and Elkins college of West Virginia, on arrival here tonight said the reason Davis & Elkins severed football relations with West Virginia university announced today, was the "unfair attitude" of the latter on player eligibility.

Announcement of the split came from H. A. Stansbury, director of athletics at West Virginia, on receipt of a telegram from Randolph which said Davis & Elkins did not care to negotiate further for football games with West Virginia.

Stansbury said West Virginia objected to permitting Elijah Smith, Simon Gurnean, and Albert Hawley in the Davis & Elkins lineup because they had played four years with the Haskell Indian team at Lawrence, Kans.

Answering the West Virginia athletic director Randolph declared the three players named are "unquestionably eligible" and that perhaps there was a deeper reason for West Virginia's attitude. He called attention to the fact that in the last eight athletic contests between the two schools Davis and Elkins had won seven.

"Participation in the Haskell institute is no good reason for barring its athletes from other college teams," Randolph said. "Haskell gives no work above high school grade and so the years that Smith, Gurnean and Hawley spent there are not additional college years as West Virginia intimates."

Randolph was in Cleveland as advance guard of the Davis and Elkins team which plays John Carroll university here tomorrow night.

HORTON SMITH SHOOTS 67 TO LEAD OREGON OPEN FIELD

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 31—(AP)—Horton Smith, Joplin, Mo., pro, dazzled the gallery in the first day of play of the annual Oregon open golf tournament here today by shooting the 18 holes on the Columbia Country club course in 67, five under par, to lead the field of nationally famous players.

Smith missed a short putt which would have given him a 66; his game was declared by sports followers to have been probably the most brilliant ever shot here.

Walter Hagen took a 71 for the 18 holes and "Lighthorse" Harry Cooper could do no better than a par 72. Craig Wood, of New Jersey and Oklahoma open champion, shot a 70. Mortie Dutra, of Tacoma, Wash., and Ed Dudley, of Delaware, each shot a 69.

Other scores for the 18 holes were: Tommy Armour, Detroit 71; Neil Christian, Portland, 71; Willard Hutchinson, Chicago, 73; Gwyn Bowen, Oswego, 79; Rudie Wilhelm, Portland, 76.

Yale-Dartmouth on WEAF

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Owing to the demand of radio fans, the Yale Athletic association, through General Manager H. E. Woodcock, this afternoon, consented that the Yale-Dartmouth game on Saturday might be broadcast, and station WEAF will do so.

N. F. A. PREPARES FOR WINDHAM TILT

That the Academy expects a stiff battle from Windham in the conference game here tomorrow afternoon, is seen by the long practice sessions that the Wildcats have been put through by Coach Court Whitney this week. On this game rests the Academy's last chance of winning the conference title and they are keyed up to top pitch in order to take it.

Thursday a new "pony" backfield was tried out by the local mentor, pitting Golembeski, Cotter and Jura up from the scrubs to team with Frank Barber. Whether this shift will be permanent is not known but it would mean the benching of Sherry, Geer and Armstrong. Geer's leg, however, is not in the best of shape and he probably will not start Saturday, anyway.

Windham will hold its second pep rally of the week today and will have a large delegation of rooters on hand. This is the objective game of the season for the Willimantic school. Last year Windham won only one game but that was from the Academy at Recreation park, 7 to 6.

What happened to the Yard and Garden contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce?

That's a question asked me by an interested contestant. All I could say off hand was "why bring that up?"

Honestly, until that question was brought up I thought that the contest had died a natural death, for it looked as though it was pretty sick.

Well, when a question is asked you like that you hate to make an answer until you find out something. So, of course, the natural thing to do was to call the Chamber of Commerce as they were sponsors of it and should know something about it.

Like all good Chambers of Commerce an answer was forthcoming immediately. Oh, yes, the Yard and Garden contest. Well, they hadn't quite finished that because there were a few more gardens to be inspected before the prizes were announced.

As soon as these gardens were inspected the prize winners would be announced and the awards made, which would be within a very short time now. So don't get impatient, you contestants.

Well, the answer I got to my inquiry seemed okay until I happened to glance at the calendar. The calendar, which I suppose is correct, clearly registered the date as Oct. 31st, and today is the first of November.

Not being a horticulturist or a farmer, I may be in error when I remark that somebody's got to use a whale of a lot of imagination to tell how a garden looked a few weeks ago before the frost hit it.

All the gardens that I've seen in the last few days are pretty sick looking thlongs and from the looks of 'em I couldn't tell whether corn, potatoes or roses had been grown. And as for awarding a prize on the way they looked in the summer, I'd be stumped.

But I'm not saying it's impossible 'cause it's remarkable what a Chamber of Commerce can accomplish. Just the same I don't blame the contestants for wondering.

Remember, contestants, that patience is a virtue.

ELI GRIDDERS HOLD DUMMY SCRIMMAGE ON WET FIELD

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 31—(AP)—Three Yale teams devoted the greater part of two hours today to a dummy scrimmage against Dartmouth plays, with stress being laid on a defense against forward passing. The practice, held on a soggy field, also included a signal drill.

A scrimmage was scheduled for today, but Head Coach Mal Stevens called it off because of the condition of the field. Yale's only scrimmage in preparation for the Dartmouth game was held yesterday.

Palmer returned to his regular berth at center on the first team, replacing Phillips who was used yesterday. Wilson, regular quarterback, who has been nursing a sprained back, was in uniform, but didn't see much action.

The Yale A. A. tonight announced that the game Saturday will be broadcast over station WEAF.

ROSENBLOOM MATCHED WITH OKUN FOR DECEMBER 9TH

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Maxie Rosenbloom and Yale Okun, both New York light heavyweights, were matched today to meet in a 12-round semi-final to the Phil Scott-Otto Von Porat heavyweight bout at Madison Square Garden, December 9. Rosenbloom and Okun were among the four men named recently by the New York state athletic commission as leading contenders for the vacant light heavyweight crown.

RYAN WILL BE IN AGGIE LINEUP SATURDAY

STORRS, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Roy Ryan, right halfback who suffered an injured knee in last week's game with the Coast Guard academy, has recovered sufficiently to play against Vermont here, Saturday. Today's practice was short, consisting mainly of a signal drill and kicking practice. Groat, another casualty of last week, returned to work today but probably will be unable to face Vermont.

RUMORS OF SALE OF ST. LOUIS BROWNS ARE VIGOROUSLY DENIED

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 31—(AP)—Both officials of the St. Louis Browns and the Missouri Pacific railroad denied reports from Toronto that the local American League club had been sold or that negotiations to that end were under way.

A. B. Sharp, secretary to A. D. Bell, passenger traffic manager of the Missouri Pacific, issued the following statement:

"Mr. E. M. H. Reynolds, assistant to President Baldwin of the Missouri Pacific stated there must be some mistake in the story and emphatically denies that the Missouri Pacific or any official of it is interested in the sale or acquisition of the Browns or any other baseball club."

At President Ball's office his secretary declared there had not been any talk of selling the Browns.

DARTMOUTH PERFECTS AGAINST BOOTH'S PLAYS

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 31.—(AP)—The Dartmouth football coaches got their first string aggregation together for the first time this week here, today, when a light workout for the Yale game was held. Al Marsters, backfield ace, and Hal Andres, regular center, who were given a holiday yesterday, were back at their posts and showed their usual speed in the dummy scrimmage and signal drill.

Phil Crehan, regular guard injured in both the Columbia and Harvard games, was able to follow the varsity team as it practiced. He will not start against Yale, giving way to Charlie Nims, but will be pressed into action if the need arises, despite the fact that he has been recuperating but slowly.

During the afternoon, each of the first three Green teams had long sessions against Yale formations and stressed their forward pass defenses. "Swede" Youngstrom, line coach and former All-American guard, played Albie Booth's position on the scrub team and made many long gains on runs and passes. Youngstrom's huge 200 pound form was in humorous contrast to the diminutive Yale back he was representing.

HARVARD COMPLETES WORK FOR FLORIDA GAME

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 31.—(AP)—The Harvard varsity football team ended its preparations for the Florida game here today, with an easy workout in a light drizzle. The scrubs again demonstrated the Gators plays in a dummy scrimmage with the varsity.

Head Coach Arnold Horween announced that Dick O'Connell, regular end, and Henry Gildea, second string center, would be unable to play against the southerners but that every other member of his squad was fit for hard service.

Horween has given his squad a holiday tomorrow to enable the Florida team to stage an undisturbed workout in the stadium.

DOBENS AND HURLEY SET OUT TO SEE THE WORLD

NEW YORK, Oct. 31—(AP)—Sailoring has become the job of two professional baseball players in their off-season.

Ray Dobens of the pitching staff of the Boston Red Sox and Con Hurley, an outfielder, formerly with the Toledo team of the American association and now slated to go south with the Senators next spring, today were "ordinaries" on the liner President Garfield, which sailed yesterday for a cruise around the world.

Dobens and Hurley were teammates at Holy Cross college.

CHICAGO TEAM ENROUTE FOR PRINCETON BATTLE

CHICAGO, Oct. 31—(AP)—Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg and 26 of his University of Chicago football warriors left at noon today for their intersectional skirmish with Princeton.

"Red" Burgess and Joe Tempe, regular halfbacks, were left home to recover from injuries while the rest of the squad was in fair condition. Rain forced Stagg to give up plans for short workouts before entrainment. The Maroons will stop at Trenton, N. J., tomorrow, going over to Princeton for a workout in the afternoon.

ON THE SIDELINES by BRIAN BELL

FREDDIE ("BRU") BOINEAU, a halfpint halfback of the University of South Carolina, used his legs and feet to good advantage in a game against the University of Maryland. Boineau, a little fellow, aided in a smashing victory for the Gamecocks by running 85 yards to a touchdown and the same game kicked a ball almost as far.

Boineau is a product of football environment. His home in Columbia is just across the street from the campus of the University of South Carolina and when he learned to walk his toddling footsteps carried him to the broad expanse of green grass across the street. Two paths led from the Boineau residence to the State university.

One stretches to a group of old buildings where the Calhouns, Middletons, Rutledges and other famous figures in Southern history recited their Latin phrases to the professors of their day, wrestled higher mathmetics and joined in earnest debate in the literary societies housed in the oldest buildings.

The other street brings up sharply around a corner at the athletic field. The youngster, Boineau, went this way, saying extended investigation of the strictly educational program of the university for his later years. The football he learned there has now borne fruit, 20 years later.

Told that he was "too little" to play football, he played anyway. When he was knocked down he got up, and now, playing his second year of varsity ball for the Palmetto State eleven, he gives every promise of being one of the best performers for his inches and pounds in the heavily populated Southern Conference.

Training a young vine in the way it should go in after years sometimes results in a football vineyard.

WHEN a Notre Dame football signal calls for a pass, a pass must be thrown. Knute Rockne coaches his sturdy young men that while it is sometimes difficult to toss a pass with tacklers from the opposition surging on and over the passer, it can be done.

The efficacy of this instruction stood out prominently in the Notre Dame triumph over Navy when a pass starting under inauspicious circumstances scored the winning touchdown.

Carideo was down but not out when he attempted to pass to Elder. Two of the charging Midshipmen were upon him, bearing him partly to the ground, but he remembered that the absent "Rock" had told him that the pass must go, regardless of what anyone, especially the opposition, thought of it. It went—over the goal line for the counter that decided the issue.

EARLY defeats sometimes make good football teams later in the season. Georgia used a setback at the hands of Oglethorpe to put it on edge for a defeat of Yale and Brown bounced back from a reverse by Springfield to shock the Princeton Tiger into stunned submission. This recipe can be used to advantage by all elevens everywhere who have felt the sting of defeat when they expected to feast on the sweet fruits of victory.

HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS

We're picking Westerly to lose, 7 to 0, to LaSalle academy at Providence today; also in Saturday's games, the Academy to beat Windham, 7 to 6, Bulkeley to lose to Hartford high, 13 to 0, Stonington to beat Chapman Tech, 12 to 7, Putnam to beat Bartlett, 6 to 0.

There are at present only four undefeated major high schools in the state, Naugatuck, Torrington, West Haven and New Britain. The first two have the best records. New Britain was tied by the Academy.

Bulkeley high has a chance to practically clinch its Hartford city title by winning from Weaver tomorrow.

The Westerly cross-country team is entered in the Harvard Interscholastics tomorrow at Cambridge. Chapman Tech gave Stonington a 15 to 49 beating in cross-country Tuesday.

Ansonia high is the only high school in the state with an unscored upon reputation.

When the Academy's school band swings into operation Eastern Connecticut will boast three such units, Bulkeley and Killingly owning the others.

Naugatuck fans are enthusiastic about their football team, that they have made the boast that it could take on Wilby, Crosby and Torrington in one afternoon.

On their work so far we would rate the local teams in this order: Westerly, N. F. A., Windham, Stonington, Bulkeley, Chapman Tech, Putnam. It must be remembered that N. F. A. and Bulkeley are playing a much tougher schedule than the other clubs.

The only activity for the fans in Eastern Connecticut today is that Academy-Stonington cross-country meet at the campus.

ATTEMPT TO CONTINUE TO PATCH ARMY-NAVY SQUABBLE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.— (AP) — Hope may be dim but attempts will be continued to bring about a resumption of the annual Army-Navy football clash.

Discussing the failure of the conference between the superintendents of the Military and Naval academies to effect an athletic reconciliation, Secretary Good said today he would continue his efforts in that direction, but he did not know whether they would take the form of conferences with Secretary Adams.

Meanwhile, on Capitol hill, Chairman Britten of the house naval affairs committee censured the position taken by the West Point authorities of not changing their rules of athletic eligibility of not adhering to the three-year rule of participation, and expressed hope that the government officials "would direct West Point to get together with Annapolis and reach a compromise on the regulations for the participation of athletes."

He added that under the present rules the Naval academy was "handicapped" in its athletic contests with West Point.

The position of Major General William R. Smith, superintendent of the Military academy, in maintaining the prevous conditions of eligibility was characterized by the house naval committee head as "showing that West Point is afraid to meet Annapolis unless given a favorable handicap." Britten said that, if West Point maintained its present position, it would mean there would be no winter or spring sports competition between the two academies.

Secretary Good supported the position of the Military academy on eligibility. He said that one avenue remained open, in the decision of the Naval academy on the latest proposal of West Point for a resumption of contest under the same rules of eligibility as existed two years ago at the time athletic relations between the two academies severed.

Representative Britten epitomized the situation as showing "the stubbornness of the army mule."

CARNEGIE TO ISSUE ANOTHER BULLETIN O NCOLLEGE SPORTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Carnegie Foundation's already famous "Bulletin No. 23" on college athletics will be followed before the first of the year by "Bulletin No. 24," a second voluminous report on the same general subject Dr. Howard J. Savage, staff member of the foundation, announced today.

Entitled "The Literature of American School and College Athletics," the new bulletin will approach in bulk the 383-page volume which caused a stir in the college world a week ago with its charges of widespread recruiting and subsidizing of athletes. Its contents, however, are not expected to prove so sensational.

Bulletin No. 24, now being prepared for the presses, will contain excerpts from 1,030 articles on college athletics, some of which have not hitherto appeared in print. It will comprise a digest of all that has been written on the subject over a long period of years and will contain a preface by Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, president of the foundation, whose preface to Bulletin No. 23 aroused considerable comment.

The new bulletin is the work of W. Carson Ryan, Jr., professor of education at Swarthmore college and represents more than three years of research undertaken at the behest of the foundation as a part of its exhaustive study of college sport.

DARTMOUTH TEAM OFF FOR BATTLE WITH YALE

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 31.—(AP)—The Dartmouth student body gave a rousing sendoff to the big Green eleven tonight, on the eve of its departure for the annual game with Yale.

A huge bonfire on the campus provided the light for the rally and clanging bells summoned the students.

Every member of the team was cheered from Captain Armstrong and Al Marsters to newest substitutes.

Special trains have been chartered to take the rooters to New Haven and the Dartmouth Athletic office reported a virtual sell-out tonight.

If we listen to the troubles of other people it sometimes makes us better satisfied with our own.

BRAND SCORES HIGH IN SHOOT AT ARMORY

At the Wednesday night shoot of the Norwich Rifle club, members divided into two teams to shoot the regular course plus another item of five shots rapid fire. The scores:

	Ob	Kn	St	Pr	Rd	Total
Stebbins	44	43	47	49	46	221
Lucia	42	46	45	45	40	218
Palmer	40	46	46	44	41	217
Pierce	42	38	42	44	34	200
Lipski	47	36	33	41	45	162
Total						1018
Brand	46	49	46	49	42	216
Holms	31	37	43	48	41	200
Welsh	36	40	47	47	42	212
French	20	37	27	46	42	172
Racicot	46	48	31	38	32	146
Totals						936

In the regular course of latest type target, Brand had the very high score of 189 out of 200.

Some members plan to leave the armory at 1.30 p. m. Saturday to shoot on the Jewett City range for qualification. These are French, Brand, Robbins, Welsh, White and others. Some will leave the armory at 9.30 a. m. Sunday for the same range. French, Racicot, Palmer, Stebbins, Lipsky, Pierce and others.

The members are practicing to send two good five-man teams to Hartford later for the state shoot. The Norwich Rifle club won the highest place last year.

At the shoot outdoors at Jewett City range, one member qualified as expert rifleman, one as sharpshooter, two as marksmen, and two unqualified. The course is fired twice by each member.

The Norwich Rifle club would like to shoot a pistol match, five-man team, either outdoor or indoor, with either Hq. Battery and Combat Train or Battery D. Any members of the rifle club who are members of military organizations can shoot with their organization.

NEAREST STAR CLUSTER 18,000 YEARS DISTANT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The immensity of that small corner of the visible universe of which the earth is one small fragment is indicated in some distances announced in a current Harvard College Observatory bulletin.

These are the distances to 93 globular clusters of stars. The light from the nearest travels more than 18,000 years before reaching earth, while that from the farthest takes 183,000 years.

All of them are part of the star system to which the earth belongs, the Milky Way. Outside this Milky Way astronomical telescopes already have photographed thousands of other universes of stars, some so remote that their light requires many millions of years to reach earth.

Daring Jail Escape

Securing a saw and cutting a hole a foot square by sawing two iron bars, Robert White, above, said by police to be Johnny Buff, former flyweight champion of the world, escaped from the Los Angeles city jail where he was being held at the request of New York authorities. Police were en route to take him to Gotham to face a grand jury indictment.

The LIVING ROOM FURNITURE EVENT of the Year featuring KROEHLER

KROEHLER Label Assures Lasting Satisfaction

80-lb. Jabs Fail To Destroy Its Comfort

In our window you will see this interesting demonstration of Kroehler construction . . . comfort that is built-in, to stay in. The steady blows of an 80-lb. sand bag will in three days give a Kroehler chair the wear of a lifetime of use. After this demonstration this chair will be placed beside a new one for you to try.

KROEHLER

Assured Quality Furniture

Made by the World's Largest Manufacturer of Upholstered Living Room Furniture

Every Kroehler Assured Quality — Davenport and Chair Bears This Label

Spring-Filled Cushions
Kroehler cushions are filled with many small, fine wire coil springs interlocked to form a single unit and covered with thick layers of clean, white, felted cotton.

Finest Louisiana Moss
Only genuine Louisiana moss — special grade specified by Kroehler — is used for filling in the KROEHLER "Assured Quality" Furniture.

Clean, White Cotton
Thick layers of clean, white, felted cotton, felted in Kroehler factories, are used over the moss. No shoddy or second-hand materials are ever used.

New, Noiseless, All-Steel, Non-Sagging Under-Construction
Makes a seat of unusual comfort. Like the finest box springs. Far more serviceable than webbing. Never sags or breaks through.

Kiln-Dried Hardwood Frames
All Kroehler frames are made of selected hardwood, thoroughly kiln-dried. No ordinary soft wood is ever used.

Doweled and Glued Corners
Kroehler frames are strongly braced. All corners are doweled, glued and corner blocked. All Kroehler frames are made this way.

Made by Master Craftsmen in World's Largest Factories

Master craftsmanship—plus the finest materials—in the largest factories devoted to making upholstered living room furniture—assures you of the utmost value in every piece bearing the Kroehler label.

(Written Specially for The Bulletin)

While the farm board is trying its best to see what can be done with its $500,000,000 fund to brighten the smile on some seven or eight million more or less grumpy farmers' faces, it would be injudicious to expect miracles from it.

Undeniably the members of the board are bright chaps. Undeniably they have proven efficient in the management of their own businesses. They've all made money for themselves. It may be accepted as equally undeniable that they are sincerely anxious to help farmers in all legitimate ways.

But they can't make a shiftless easy going, "go day, come day, God send Sunday" loafer into an industrious worker. Nor can they make a shrewd manager out of a nit-wit. Nor can they compel people to buy the sort of stuff you raise if you don't raise the sort of stuff they want to buy.

While giving the members of the farm board credit for wisdom and sincerity and an earnest desire to help, the stubborn fact remains, as expressed in the old saying, that "God helps those that help themselves."

The floored farmer who lies supine till someone else hauls him up on his feet will have to wait his turn. While the one who does his strenuous best to get back on his pins of himself, may, assumably, succeed in some cases if not in all.

In the first place, the average farmer, as I know him, doesn't want government aid any more than he wants town aid. He has an instinctive and deep-seated dislike of all forms of charity.

What he wants is not alms, but fair play; not mollycoddling; a square deal, not a "hitch-hike" in some other fellow's auto but a car of his own; not a club to beat somebody else with but protection from the bludgeonings of the broker and the commissionman and the transportation magnate and the other rapscallions who are taking a mean advantage of him while he is down.

In the second place, that same average farmer, as I know him, isn't nearly as anxious to be propped up on borrowed crutches as he is to stand on his own legs.

And he isn't apt to stand on them very long or get very far with them if, every time he stubs his toe, he has to have Messrs. Legge et al hurry over from Washington to end him up again. In other words, he isn't really fit to be a farmer if he has to be helped farm it all the time.

What he does for himself will generally stay by him; what the other fellow does for him is less apt to keep. Of course accidents will happen. When he breaks a leg he wants a surgeon to set it. And a little neighborly help in saving the crops he can't attend to is desirable. Perhaps a temporary loan of money to tide over the emergency may come in handy.

But farming isn't all or chiefly emergencies. It is a steady drag and a long pull. One can't call the doctor every time he scratches his fingers. The doc has more important cases to attend to. Nor can he lay off and summon his neighbors to a potato-digging "bee" every time he gets tired. The neighbors have their own spuds to get out. Nor can he borrow money every time he wants to buy a pig or a pair of overalls. No one's credit remains good if he doesn't pay at least as often as he borrows.

The more you think it over, and the more closely you get down to real cases, the clearer it becomes that the farmer who wants to "git thar" must do the "gittin" himself. In fact, that's just what nine out of ten want to do. They don't ask to be pushed or prodded or doped. What they demand is a fair course, as clear and open as the other fellow's with no artificial impediments and no hidden snags; an even start and an honest time-keeper.

I have met mighty few farmers who had so low a opinion of their own capacities that they didn't feel confident, on such terms, of making a pretty fair record.

But I have known quite a number who didn't seem able to get on the track at the right end, or feel quite sure which way they ought to run. That every uncertainty of action and muddiness of thought is responsible for a good many of our peculiar agricultural difficulties.

Usually, the man who succeeds is the man who has a definite aim, who knows where he wants to arrive and how to reach there. He doesn't go at things blind, on the chance that something'll happen to see him through.

You can hardly imagine a bus driver picking up a load of passengers on Franklin square, some of whom want to go to Willimantic and some to New London and some to Colchester, and starting off with them over Preston bridge without knowing whether he would ultimately bring up at Westerly or Voluntown.

Yet very much that sort of thing is the habit of some farmers in their annual trips with the seasons. They either keep plugging away at the same old crops they've always put in, though they know there's no profit to be expected from them, or they "plunge" recklessly into some new venture without first assuring themselves of their own or their farms' adaptability to it, or the probability of any adequate market for it.

Right there is the source, by no means of all, but of quite a few "farm troubles." Lack of prudent planning and careful looking into the probable future.

In this purely rural town where I now live I once knew an old farmer who had gradually increased his holdings to eight hundred or a thousand acres of land, at the same time, had laid by in the bank a comfortable insurance against possible emergencies. One year I noticed him sowing what for this neighborhood was a simply tremendous acreage of buckwheat. Curious to know the why of it, I asked him what the idea was. In reply he simply assured me that every bushel he could produce was already spoken for by a big buckwheat flour miller, "at the highest market price," but not to be less than a specified figure. In other words, this particular crop's market was insured before the seed was sown. Of course, he had to take his changes with weather, etc., but a total failure was extremely unlikely and even a less than average yield would return a fair profit.

The same old farmer, after he had retired and felt no further compulsion to keep his "trade secrets," explained to me how he had almost invariably made money from his potatoes. His rule was, when winter prices were high, to sell all he could spare and plant only a small quantity the ensuing spring. On the other hand, when winter prices were low, he sold only a few and planted as many acres as he could take care of. By this practice he literally killed two birds with one stone. He not only got big money by selling when potatoes were high, but he avoided the glut in the next winter's potato market, which almost invariably ensued when other farmers, misled by high prices, planted extensively and thus brought on a plethora.

I don't undertake to say that these two particular instances could be repeated by every one in those two particular crops. But it would seem as if the general idea was wise.

Remember the old saying: "Be sure you're right, then go ahead?" That is a quite different procedure from plunging ahead, regardless, and trusting to luck to come out right.

Oh, yes, energy and industry and stick-to-it-ativeness are prime essentials in the farmer's make-up. He has to have all three to get anywhere. But, in order to reap the benefits they may bring him, he needs also foresight and the capacity for shrewd planning.

I have somewhere heard the story of a hard-working farmer who had had a perfect deluge of hard luck and was, as the slang phrase puts it, "on his uppers." He applied to a well-to-do neighbor for a job—"anything to earn a little money." The neighbor took him out to a field, near one fence of which lay a big heap of cobbles. "Throw these over the fence," he said, "so we can plow here next spring." It took several days to get them all over, for the heap was the accumulation of many years. At last, however, it was done, and Mr. Hard-Luck so reported, expressing the hope that some other job might be found for him. He was told that the neighbor had changed his mind and wanted the cobbles thrown back where they had been. This seemed a little surprising but "what difference does it make to me, so long as I can earn good wages?" thought Mr. Hard-Luck. To make a long story comparatively short, he was kept at it for weeks, tossing those cobbles, first one way, then the other. It wasn't especially hard work. It brought in fair wages. But finally Mr. Hard Luck grew desperate. The task was monotonous; it led to nothing; it accomplished nothing; it became evident that it was only a camouflage for charity. And Mr. Hard Luck decided that he'd rather starve like a man than be treated like a pauper.

Yet there are farmers—not many, perhaps, but some—whose farming is really little better than just throwing cobble stones over a fence and then throwing them back.

It keeps them busy, all right; but what does it amount to? The same farmer who is breaking his back at similar purposeless and inaffective tasks might, by sufficient planning ahead, arrange his efforts into a sort of campaign with a definite purpose in view and a clearly marked road to its accomplishment.

Personally, I'm sufficiently old-fashioned—old foggish, if you prefer that term—to believe that the only kind of help always as desirable on the farm as anywhere else is self-help.

No man can lift himself over a fence by pulling up on his bootstraps.

But any man with two hands, a hammer and a saw, can build a stile on which he can walk over that fence.

RAIL EARNINGS RISE WHILE RATES GO DOWN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Edward E. Loomis, president of the Lehigh Valley railroad, says that $4,100,000,000 has been shipped from railroad shipping rates in the United States since 1922.

"This represents the total amount," he said, "that shippers would have paid for transportation service in those seven years above what they actually paid, had the rate remained at the peak of 1921."

Meanwhile, railroad earnings continue sharply upward. The reason, say rail officials, is greater efficiency in operation. The total net income of 180 first class roads during eight months in 1929 was $837,784,976, says the bureau of railway economics, or $141,653,345 more than the same period in 1928.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Physician—How old is it?

Scotchman—1894. Boston Transcript.

Rupert—Darling, in the moonlight your teeth are like pearls.

Marjorie—Oh, indeed! And when were you in the moonlight with Pearl?—London Opinion.

Friend—Say, Bill, why do you always hit your horse on one side?

Teamster—I figure if I get one side going, the other is pretty sure to follow.—Brooklyn Eagle.

"I told my wife just where to get off last night."

"What happened?"

"She rode three blocks farther just to spite me."—Pathfinder.

Ship's cook (to new helper)—Ever been on a ship before?

Helper—Sure. I was a gunner in the navy.

Cook—Well start right in and shell the peas.—Montreal Star.

"Won't you walk as far as the street car with me, Tommy?"

"I can't."

"Why not?"

"'Cause we're going to have supper as soon as you go."—Union Pacific Magazine.

A student failed in all five of the subjects he studied at the university. He telegraphed his brother:

"Flunked out. Prepare Papa.

Believing her husband, accidentally killed near Greeley, Colo., last April, left no insurance, Mrs. Roy Searcy, of Enid, Okla., with a minor son to support, has been making the best of a difficult situation. Then Mrs. Searcy sent an old army overcoat that her husband prized to a cleanser. When the pockets were turned out before the coat was cleansed, a letter was found, inside of which was an $1,800 accident insurance policy, with a money order showing that it was paid up for one year.

Two boys who played together in Urbana, O., met there for the first time in seventy-five years. Samuel B. Hedges, eighty-seven, of Urbana, Ill., and Charles McDargh, eighty-five, of the Ohio city, were the principals. When they were "introduced" they did not know each other. But when the third person said to McDargh: "That's Sammy Hedges," the mists of seventy-five years were rolled away. The two now are walking about the Ohio city reminding each other of the good times they had together as youngsters.

"A truck owned by Arthur Lively and Frank Hancock, of Shelburne Falls, is badly smashed," says the Boston Globe, "and the men are even denied the consolation of knowing that their action in wrecking the machine saved their lives at a grade crossing. They heard the screech of a train's whistle as they neared the crossing and rather than risk a dash across the tracks, stopped the truck against a tree. The sad part of the story is that the train thundered down the main line and not on the siding track which the two men so disastrously avoided."

EASTERN VOLUNTOWN

Mrs. William Bitgood had a letter from a lady in Uncasville asking her what had become of Moses as she had not seen his name in the paper recently. Moses is all right only shedding his feathers just the same. He is a good old democrat just the same. Mrs. Bitgood says if Moses dies before she does he will have a nice burial and a marker to mark his resting place. No, Moses did not go to vote this time as Mrs. Bitgood and Moses did not think they would have to help any. It went democratic just the same without their help.

There were two ladies from Campbell Mills that called on Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood recently. Mr. and Mrs. Bitgood haven't seen them for a long while. They stayed and had dinner with them and they all had a good old fashioned talk. They stayed until between three and four o'clock and then started on their journey back to their home.

George Green, of Eastern Voluntown, has been up in Preston for a few days. He returned home Friday night. He and Mr. Bitgood went to Voluntown Saturday.

Mason Gray's family are all better of their colds.

Grace Gray is home on a vacation from Providence.

There was a mistake in the eggs that Mr. Halkman's hens layed. It was said they layed 10 and it should have been 180. He has 400 or 500 hens. He gets 65 cents a dozen for his eggs.

Mr. Bitgood had four gentlemen callers Friday evening, two from Plainfield and two from Eastern Voluntown, some of the old fellows he used to know. They haven't met before in a long time. It is nice to have your old friends come to see you once in a while.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood visited Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood at Pachaug, Sunday. They also visited with their grandson and family. They were Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood and son, Robbie, M . and Mrs. Harold Bitgood and daughter, Lila, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bitgood and son and daughter, Arthur Dawley and lady friend, Mr. Gray and Robbie James and there were three grandsons and two great granddaughters and one great grandson of Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood. They all had a nice time and a nice dinner to go with it.

Mr. and Mrs. James Congdon went to Moosup, Monday evening, to see Clark Congdon. He has just came from the hospital. They found him quite weak.

Mrs. James Congdon is on the sick list. Clifford Congdon's wife has a bad cold.

Jael Basher and gentleman friend, of Jewett City, called on their grandparents, Monday. They were hunting but did not have much luck.

MOOSUP

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bourque, of Grafton, Mass., calle don Mr. Bourque's mother, Mrs. Emma Bourque, early in the week.

Edward Brennan has been in Southbridge, Mass., on business.

A children's Halloween party was given Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Seaton.

The meeting of the Baptist church and Ecclesiastical society was held on Thursday evening at 7.30.

Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Mathison, of Providence, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Playdon.

June Playdon and Evelyn Seaton were in Providence at the week end with T. J. Seaton.

A Halloween party was given on Thursday evening by the Epworth league of the M. E. church. There was a costume parade and three prizes were given for the funniest, the most original and the most attractive costumes.

The league invited the Baptist young people to attend the party.

Mrs. Howard Byles, of Hartford, sang "The Prayer Perfect" and "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings," at the Baptist church, Sunday morning.

Anthony Parazino, Paul W. Roper and Harry Dennison have been building tables for the Ladies' Aid society of the Baptist.

An all day meeting of the Baptist Ladies' Aid society is planned for Tuesday next, at Mrs. Alfred Hyde's.

CHAPLIN

The C. E. society was attended by the largest number of the fall at the meeting Sunday evening at the Congregational vestry. The Windham and North Windham societies attended with good delegations. Over sixty were present. The topic of the evening was "What is Worship?" The leaders of the meeting were W. B. Gallup of the local society and Cassius Barstow of the Windham society. During the service Eden Cooke of the Windham society sang The Garden of Prayer. He was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Alfred Harvey. The last part of the meeting was given up to Rev. Mr. Sanger and Rev. Mr. Smiley, who made interesting addresses on the topic of the evening.

Rev. Paul B. Sanger, Mrs. Sanger and Deacon Andrew M. Grant are the delegates to the state Congregational conference to be held at Ansonia.

Mrs. E. Jessie Hunt left her home this week expecting to make a lengthy stay with her cousin, Mrs. Annie Cornell, of Providence, R. I., and spend the balance of the winter with relatives in Hartford.

The local teachers attended the conventions in Norwich and New Haven.

The Dramatic club has met at Knowlton Memorial hall and rehearsed their play.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Horilla have a daughter born in New York. Mrs. Horilla was Miss Esther Kosa, of Ashford Town and they began keeping house at the Bicknell place last year.

A collision of two cars occurred Saturday night near O. P. Durkee's home. A Massachusetts car ran into Harold Hawkins, of Mansfield Center. An agreement was made to settle for damages. One of the three boys in the Hawkins' car was slightly injured. The car was considerably damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Ormsby and son, of North Grosvenordale, spent the weekend with Mrs. Ellen Mathewson.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown and Miss Harriett Durkee were at Hartford hospital Sunday to see Mrs. Lena Durkee and found her improving.

Mrs. Daisy James, of Worcester, has been visiting Mrs. Clarence Barlow, before going to spend the winter in California.

Miss Winifred Bassett is in Southbury and Brimfield, Mass., for a visit.

Regnald Bradway returned to New London Sunday.

Several coon hunters were at A. M. Bassett's Saturday and caught three coons.

Mrs. Esther Reynolds and a friend were at Mrs. Norman Baker's over the week end.

The Sunday morning sermon at the Baptist church was entitled "The Virgin's Son" and concerned the deity of Christ. Rev. Eliot B. Verney defended the articles of the creeds which concern the doctrine of the Trinity. In the evening William Bond, a student at Providence Bible institute, supplied the pulpit, the pastor going to North Ashford for a service there.

Mrs. M. A. Verney, of Kingston, Mass., is visiting Rev. and Mrs. Verney.

Mrs. Clarence Barlow visited relatives in Hartford last week, returning with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barlow Sunday.

ROAD SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Underwood and sons Clark and Joseph, of Niantic, Ct., spent Sunday at William Billings'.

Mrs. Eugene Palmer has returned to the home of her son, Harry R. Palmer, after being in Westerly for several weeks.

Gustave Peuke is digging a well at his new residence.

William Hine of Tenafly spent the week end at his summer home.

Miss Delia Wheeler and Miss Constance Pendleton, of North Stonington were at Maple Lawn Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George Denison of Pittsfield, Mass., Gurdon Gates and sister, Miss Kariska Gates of Mystic, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Herrick, of Cohassett, R. I., were callers at the Denison homestead Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stiles H. Ross of the borough were callers at Maple Lawn.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Sinclair have returned from Taunton, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Herrick of Cohassett were dinner guests at Maple Lawn Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Billings and children of Mystic and Mrs. William Billings and daughter were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Clarke at Glasgo, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ecclestone of Mystic spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Noyes.

Mrs. Seth N. Williams, Mrs. B. A. Herrick and Miss Grace D. Wheeler attended the Mayflower meeting and banquet held in Hartford Wednesday.

Mrs. Ralph Wheeler, Jr., with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tourgee, of Noank motored to Beach pond and Wyoming Sunday.

The first snow squall of the season came Monday night.

DO YOU REMEMBER

Do you remember: When all school pupils walked to school? When tapers, made of newspapers by the housewife, were used instead of matches?

When tobacco users carefully destroyed the revenue stamps on packages which contained cigars, cigarettes and chewing tobacco?

When one sarasaparilla soda, continues the Columbia State, or a strawberry milk shake a week was the average boy's soft drink allowance?

When the sportiest thing a young fellow could do was to hire a buggy and take his girl to ride up and down the streets of the town?

When college students wore beaver hats and took them off to their professors?

When the only women's organizations were the misionary society, the King's Daughters and the Woman's Christian Temperance Union?

When people had dessert and chicken only for Sunday dinner, but country ham at almost every breakfast?

When young women were shocked by the "concert" just after the regular cirous performance?

When one person's washing for a week cost a quarter?

When everybody along the line knew and familiarly addressed the train conductor and when he would allow his friends to ride free or on credit?

When the poetry of Mrs. Hemans, the works of Josephus, and Peter Parley's histories were still widely read?

When it was considered a sin for children to play on Sunday?

When people wishing to dig wells used a divining rod cut from a peach tree to locate water?

When old ladies carried turkey-tail fans to church?

When quinine was administered without capsules, but with a bit of bacon "to take out the taste?"

When everybody blacked his or her own shoes every Sunday morning?

When pajamas were known merely as clothes worn by the heathen?

When molasses was eaten at breakfast, dinner and supper?

When children had to go to Sunday school, to both Sunday morning and night services, and to prayer meeting every week?

When a college graduate was considered a person of intellectual attainment?

Well, if you remember all these, you weren't born yesterday.

FRANCE SHRINKS DEBTS THROUGH SINKING FUND

PARIS — (AP) — Forty-eight billion francs in national defense bonds have been redeemed by the national sinking fund since it was created by former Premier Poincare 18 months ago.

When M. Poincare assumed power, the amount of defense bonds in circulation was estimated between 96,000,000,000 and 124,000,000,000 francs.

French treasury officials hope that the amount will be reduced to 7,000,000,000 before the first of next year.

Teacher was showing her young Bible class some pictures. Displaying one of Daniel in the lion's den, she was amazed to see little Tommy burst into tears. Fearing he was frightened, she asked:

"Why, what's the matter, dear?"

"Aw, the little lion in the corner isn't going to get any."—Congregationalist.

Falling Hair The Result of Nervous Scalp

9 Out of 10 Men and Women Have Nervous Scalp, Probably the Commonest Cause of Dandruff and Thin, Faded, Brittle, Falling Hair.

Nervous scalp is commonly the condition causing a too oily, too dry, tight, tender, itchy dandruff-caked scalp, and thin, sickly-looking hair.

To correct and prevent nervous scalp and the harm it does to even naturally fine heads of hair, Parisian Sage was scientifically developed.

From the very first application, Parisian Sage has a wonderfully soothing, relaxing effect on the scalp nerves, increases the blood supply to the dying hair-roots, insures them the nourishment they so badly need for vigorous new hair growth.

Parisian Sage is easy to use, perfectly harmless, and not the least bit sticky or greasy.

If you want a clean, cool scalp, free from every trace of dandruff—if you want a fine, thick head of live, attractive hair—hair that looks well all the time—get a bottle of Parisian Sage today at Lee and Osgood's or any drugstore, and use it according to the simple directions.

We Bake It For Your Children

To Make "Balanced Diet" Easy

It's a delicious new-day bread that mothers everywhere are praising. Exactly what it offers.

By ALICE ADAMS PROCTOR

WE prefer to sell Wonder Bread to homes where there are children. Children above all suffer from lack of balanced diet. Wonder Bread does much in correcting this.

Being rich in carbohydrates, it builds up that vital "energy reserve" and thus combats listlessness remarkably. Your children, through its daily use, discover a new zest for play.

Please, always consider these benefits when ordering bread. And above all remember they come to you in a bread considered by domestic scientists the most delicious ever baked.

ITS DELICATE flavor delights the children

How We Make It

To make it we employ matchless chefs. They work in model kitchens. We never hurry them.

We use a specially milled "short patent" flour. Only the heart of the wheat berry is used. We use double the usual amount of milk. And we pasteurize every drop.

These ingredients are expensive. But they do give a vastly better bread. And so we profit through tremendous extra sales.

We also employ a unique baking method. Wonder Bread is "slo-baked." This means, as the term suggests, slower baking and more careful baking. It brings you more delicate flavor. Greater digestibility plus longer-lasting freshness.

Won't You Try It Today?

Wonder Bread is the new-day bread. It is bound to displace ordinary brands in any careful home.

So get it for your children and for yourself. See the remarkable benefits it brings.

Try a loaf this day. There is no extra cost.

GIVES SEASONABLE ADVICE ON WINTERING BEES

Seasonable suggestions on the wintering of bees are made by Allen Latham of Norwich Town in the Connecticut Honey Bee, publication of the Connecticut Bee-Keepers association. He writes:

The paramount topic in bee culture at present and for some weeks to come is—are the bees in condition to winter well?

Two factors above all others are necessary for good wintering. These are strong colonies and plenty of good stores.

If you saw that your colonies had good queens during the summer and early fall your colonies should now be strong. Whether they also have good stores is not so easily under your control. You are fortunate indeed if your hives are now heavy with good honey.

This is an analysis of the average colony in Eastern Connecticut for the season now coming to a close. The colony was prosperous during June and kept up a big strength and at the same time filled a lot of available space with a honey-dew which for the most part solidified in the combs. This honey-dew was mostly deposited in the supers, but the outside combs of the colony and the corners of other combs were also filled. Then in July there was a flow of excellent honey from sumach. This went largely into supers but the colony also stored a rim of this honey next to the stores of honey-dew. During August the colony did not store any, rather it ate more than it stored. It ate most of the stored sumach honey.

This colony came into September with few stores other than honey-dew in the brood chamber. The fall flow from goldenrod and asters began early and was of great promise when a series of weather changes began which could mean only one thing—the fall flow would be cut down to half or one third what the original promise held out. The colony at the end of September is with only a narrow band of fall stores between empty cobs and the stored honey-dew.

What is going to happen to this colony?

By the last of December the narrow band of fall honey will be gone through and the bees will then begin on the honey-dew. All honey-dew is poor winter feed for bees, but that stored this last June is the prize winner of all for poor quality. As soon as the bees reach this honey-dew they will begin to eat more because its power to keep them warm is of low per cent. Their intestines will fill rapidly because this honey-dew carries a large percentage of undigestible matter.

If the winter is open and bees can fly every three or four weeks the colony will survive the winter but come through in a weakened condition and be rather slow to recover in 1930. If the winter has few flight days and a period of long cold sets in the colony will die, leaving its combs filthy.

What can we do to insure this colony against this possible fate?

We can furnish it with good stores not later than October 20th.

Feed this colony with syrup made as follows: Dissolve five parts of cane sugar (white) in three parts of boiling hot water. Feed the syrup warm, giving a gallon or more late in the afternoon in feeders directly over the frames. One can use any friction-top cans or pails through the lids of which small holes are made. These feeders are inverted on top of the frames and all covered over with bran sacks to hold the heat. The colony will take care of two gallons in twenty-four hours. Two gallons will furnish about 12 to 13 pounds of good stored food.

Thus fed the colony will not reach the honey-dew until late in winter or early spring and then can take of it without harm.

Plenty of bees and plenty of stores are the chief factors, but even these will fail if certain other factors are neglected. The less the protection you give this colony the more stores it must consume. If your hive is single-walled the bees will have to eat more honey to keep warm. By all means furnish some protection. Pack the hive with leaves, or with straw, or at least furnish a windbreak. See that cover is wind and water proof.

Protect the entrance from mice. Mice cannot go through a crack 5-16ths of an inch, but some can squeeze through 3-8. Be careful about that entrance for mice can do much damage in the winter to a colony of bees.

The hive is better if a foot above the ground than right on the ground. But if not close to the ground a slanting board or some substitute should furnish a runway for the bees—we call this runway an alighting board.

Many people, to come back to stores, have very little idea how much a hive of bees will eat. I once asked a woman if she had fed her bees. "Oh, yes sir," she said. I went out to the hive and found that she had placed a saucer with perhaps a half cupful of dry sugar by the entrance. That was her idea of feeding that hive for the winter. When a hive is hard to lift it usually has stores. If it feels like an emty box it is without stores. Opening up a hive and looking at the combs will tell sure tale. The outside combs should be practically solid with honey. Each comb, as the center of the hive is approached, will have less honey, but the innermost combs should be at least half filled. Honey should be sealed from two to four inches below the top bar and should run down by the end bars two or three inches wide. Such a hive will have about 40 pounds of stores.

A hive with such abundant stores, protected from wind and rain and melting snow, will come out in the spring of 1930 ready to pay a dividend.

CHINESE GIRLS GIVEN RIGHT OF HERITAGE

NANKING —(AP)— The right of inheritance in China will be extended to the daughters of the family whether they are married or shingle, according to a decision reached at a recent meeting of the judicial department of the nationalist government.

This is primarily intended to help rid the country of the ancient idea that the daughters are more of a nuisance than a help.

Since time immemorial, girl babies have not been welcome in the average Chinese family. Daughters were seldom permitted to share in the family fortune while married daughters were always left out of consideration.

For cutting off portions of the tails of their donkeys with a penknife, three men were fined $25 and costs each at Llangennith, Wales.

FOUR TYPES OF STATE AID FOR SCHOOLS

Certification of four types of state aid for educational and highway purposes affecting about 80 towns, whose tax receipts average annually $55,000 or less, have been made by State Tax Commissioner William H. Blodgett. Three of these relate to education and the statements have been sent to Dr. A. B. Meredith, commissioner of education. The fourth is a grant to towns for state aid road work and certification was made to Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald.

Eighty towns in the state will benefit this year by a grant through which the state will pay a percentage of the total amount expended for teachers' salaries by these towns. Formerly this grant was based on the grand lists of the towns, but this year, conforming to a new legislative act it is based on the average annual receipts for a three-year period. Only towns with an average of $55,000 or less will receive the grant. Commissioner Blodgett has certified to the amounts of these receipts.

Of the 84 towns affected, the statement shows that 24 will receive larger percentages of state reimbursement for the school year ended July 14, 1930, than for the year ended July of this year. Twenty-seven towns will receive the same per centum for both years, and only 23, or about one-fourth of all the towns, will receive a lesser amount in 1930, as compared with 1929. Of the 23 towns whose grant will decrease, it is noted that 14, or about three-fifths, had their percentage cut down five per cent, while six have been cut ten per cent, and only three a large decrease.

Following are among the towns to benefit by the teachers' salary grant, the percentage of the salaries to be paid by the state in 1929 and 1930, and the average annual receipts of the towns from taxation as certified by the tax commissioner:

Town	Per cent 1929	Per cent 1930	Receipts
Bozrah	65	70	$ 14,576.59
Chester	30	25	45,208.88
Clinton	10	20	45,207.65
Colchester	40	20	45,825.05
Franklin	70	75	10,243.77
Haddam	40	45	37,328.32
Lebanon	60	40	38,517.38
Ledyard	65	70	15,807.10
Lisbon	70	70	15,563.75
Lyme	70	70	17,967.37
North Stonington	70	70	19,027.06
Old Lyme	10	20	46,602.82
Preston	50	65	22,869.31
Salem	75	75	10,068.52
Voluntown	75	75	11,601.92
Westbrook	10	25	43,563.69

The second certification by the state tax commissioner to the state commissioner of education is the 62 towns with receipts of $39,000 or less, who will benefit by state aid for normal school trained teachers for small towns. By the provisions of this grant, a pupil in each of the towns certified is given state aid for tuition in a sate normal school. Should a town have no pupil available, under a new statutory provision that town is permitted to extend the aid to a person from another town.

Another certification to Dr. Meredith as chairman of the Connecticut public library commission shows the towns having receipts of $25,000 or less, thus being eligible for state aid for public library purposes. There are 44 towns in this group.

Fifty-one towns are included in the certification to the state highway commissioner as having averaged annual receipts of $30,000 or less. These towns will be required to pay but one-eighth of the cost of construction of state roads, other towns accepting state aid in the construction of highways being required to pay one-fourth the cost of construction.

This is the fourth certification made on the highway grant on the basis of average annual reecipts, but this year is the first time that a certification on this basis has been made in reference to the educational grants. Formerly these grants were made according to the town's grand lists.

Something new in the line of surgical activities was disclosed at Great Falls, Mont., when a surgeon at a dog and cat hospital operated upon a dog for removal of a silver dollar from its stomach. The operation was a success, the dollar was recovered and the dog regained its health.

WASHINGTON REPORTERS RELEASED ON BAIL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.— (AP) — Three reporters for the Washington Times who were sent to jail for contempt of court after they had refused to give information requested by a grand jury, were released late today on $500 bond.

They were freed after Justice Frederick L. Siddons of the district supreme court had signed an application for release on habeas corpus proceedings. This course was taken when Justice Peyton Gordon declined to reconsider his refusal to release the trio on bond pending an appeal from his decision.

The petitions filed in the habeas corpus proceedings today for the three —Gorman M. Hendricks, Linton Burkeit and Jack E. Nevin, Jr.—described their refusal to give the grand jury information which they regarded would involve a breach of newspaper ethics and contended that there was not sufficient reason for their commitment to jail. They added that no contempt was committed, that they were fully justified in declining to answer the questions and that the reasons they had given the court were sufficient in law.

Seepage water from irrigation enters a large pear tree at Grass Valley, Cal., and issues under pressure four feet up the trunk. The trunk forks at that height and a crack in the fork forms the vent for a tree mountain that is attracting much notice.

Soft, lovely hair!

The modern artist hair-dresser can do wonderful things with your hair. But all your hair-needs can not be supplied in the beauty shop. You must help at home. And that's where Danderine comes in. Danderine is so simple and easy to use. Each time you arrange your hair just put a little of this delicately fragranced liquid on your brush. As you draw it through the hair, Danderine removes excess oil, cleanses, brings out the natural color, gives your hair an amazing new lustre.

Used consistently, Danderine dissolves the crust of dandruff, keeps the scalp comfortable and healthy; stops falling hair; helps make your hair grow long, silky and abundant. Your hair is so much easier to arrange and stays in place when Danderine is used. Waves "set" with it look nicer; stay in longer. Five million bottles used a year!

The Taconics Speaking

Gendered in depths of the planet's core—
Born in the earthquake's rending throe—
Jagged and splintered, our crags up-tore
Through the ancient ocean's tidal flow,
Where the great sea-kraken writhed and coiled and the saurians fought in the undertow.

Cycle by cycle the ages have drawn
Eons untold through eternity's gate
Evening by evening and dawn by dawn
We have watched the unfoldings of time and fate;
And the hours are slow and the long days lag but the nightfall cometh and we—we wait.

Gone is the reek of the steaming sea;
Gone is the jungle which masked the strand,
Corn-field and garden and grassy lea
Swaddlingly surface a man-tamed land;
And our sky-piercing peaks have toppled and slumped to these rounded hillocks his roads have spanned.

He, too, shall pass, as his forebears have passed
Into the murk of oblivion's doom;
Vampire and coyote shall cower from the blast
Under the wreckage that was his tomb,
When the Last Day dawns on a death-struck world and the clouds of Ragnarok blacken and loom.

What shall our end be? To sleep for aye
Under a dead globe's icy pall?
Or, shattered and scattered in nebulous spray
To float in the stream of the Milky Way,
Where the tides of the universe rise and fall,
And our atoms immortal gather and group for a genesis new at the Master-call?

Nothing we know and nothing we fear;
Blown into star-dust or palsied in cold;
Nebula, sun-flame, or shriveling sphere
Syllables all of a story old,
Endless, beginningless, changeless in change, from Eternity unto Eternity told.

THRILL GONE FROM LIFE OF AIRPLANE TEST PILOT

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—The constant thrill which was once the life of the airplane test pilot is gone for "Red" Harrigan, who takes up planes for their first flight for the Ryan Aircraft corporation here.

Testing planes now, Harrigan said, is more or less a routine matter, and he has discarded use of the parachute. It was far different five or ten years ago when he tested planes for the navy.

"Once I had a new navy ship up for a test hop, and without any warning the motor supports broke and the engine dropped out," he said. "Twice the wings of planes have come off during tail spins, and it used to be a common occurrence to have the control wires break or jam and the landing gear to break or the motor cut out."

JAPANESE BEETLE AREA FREED OF QUARANTINE

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The active period of the Japanese beetle in its relation to farm products ended for the year, the department of agriculture has lifted restrictions on the movement of such produce from infested areas.

Restrictions on the movement of nursery, ornamental and greenhouse stock are in force throughout the year and are not affected by this order. The quarantine on cut flowers remained in force until October 15.

The quarantine on farm products is intended to be in force only during the period when the beetle is abundantly present and in active flight. Infestation thus far has been confined to eastern states, but control of the pest is a contant problem.

There is always a mystery about how the people next door live.

MICHIGAN FARMS TURN TO SOFT WHITE WHEAT

EAST LANSING, Mich. —(AP)— Michigan grain growers are giving up the hope of ever rivaling western competitors in the production of hard high protein content wheat and are turning their efforts toward super-soft white varieties.

The demand for white wheat has caused Michigan state college to revise its plant breeding program. A decade ago it was seeking a hard red wheat. Now it is concentrating on improvement of white soft varieties which thrive under Michigan's peculiar climatic and soil conditions.

Used for the pastry and cereal trade, leading white stains yield as high as 40 to 50 bushels an acre. Milling companies are paying a premium of 3 to 6 cents a bushel for white wheat over the cash for hard red wheats.

750 MILES AN HOUR IS PREDICTED IN AIR

PARIS—(AP)—Airplanes will fly 750 miles an hour with ease in a not far distant future, declares Louis Bleriot, the aviation pioneer and first to cross the channel between France and England.

M. Bleriot considers the speed planes of today clumsy in construction, with to many impediments, especially the floats on fast seaplanes. He sees future engines which will be much more powerful and will draw the planes from the earth with a rapid pull.

The problem of how to bring these speed planes back to earth will, says Bleriot, be solved by a parachute. In order to stop a plane flying at such speed, the aviator will cut off the engine and cause the plane to ascend. When at last it slows up sufficiently, he will spread out a huge parachute and come slowly to the ground.

CLAIM ETHYL ALCOHOL IS FAST ANAESTHETIC

HAVANA —(AP)— The use of ethyl alcohol as an anaesthetic in surgical operations, recently demonstrated before the medical society of France, passed equally successful tests at the federal hospital here.

Discovered by two youthful Mexican doctors, Garcia Marin and Francisco Ortoz, the ethyl alcohol anaesthesia is declared to hold advantage over chloroform and ether because of its more rapid effect and ease of handling.

A recent communication to Dr. Carlos Trelo y Lerdo de Tejada, Mexican ambassador to Cuba, from the two discoveries of the anaesthetic said that the Medical Academy of Paris had pronounced the process a success.

On the fourth anniversary of the calamitous June settlement, the biggest financial crisis in Hong Kong, China, it was brought out that the local stock market has never recovered and that a large proportion of the brokerage accounts of that time are still unsettled.

VOGUE OF LARGE HAT MAY BE APPROACHING

PARIS—(AP)—Modistes propose winter hats which borrow heavily from the careless headgear artists used to wear when they dressed differently from other people.

Wagnerian berets and Rembrandt tams strike the new note. They are carried out in felt, velvet or wool, all depending on the hour at which they are to be worn.

Helmets, skull caps and tightly fitted bonnets are no longer demier cri since studied negligence became the vogue. Sport hats still cleave rather closely to the old brim and crown lines or flutter after the basquet beret of head-tight lines. For the rest the mode is changing fast.

Afternoon and dress-up hats almost invariably show the influence of the drooping, draped brim and the off-the-face-line with elongated sides and back.

Plant 16,000 Acres In Wheat

PLAINVIEW, Tex.—(AP)—Hickman Price, former New York publisher, is sowing 16,000 acres of wheat on his 23,000-acre farm near here. His Panhandle field is called one of the country's largest.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

The Sad Glad Time.

By Thornton W. Burgess

Why is it when we would be glad,
There is so much to make us sad?
—Bob White.

It was the sad glad time of the year. It should have been altogether a glad time. It would have been but for one thing—the great fear which all the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows felt, but which some felt more than others. It was the season of harvest—the pleasant season after the going of summer and before the coming of winter. All the little people had plenty to eat. All were fat. The storehouses of those who stored food were filled. So you see it should have been the glad time.

It was the sad time because it was the time of year when hunters with terrible guns carried fear and pain and death abroad through the land. It was the hunting season. It was a season of special worry to Peter Rabbit and his relatives, Bob White and his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Grouse and their relatives, Happy Jack Squirrel and his relatives, all the members of the Duck family, Longbill the Woodcock and his family, Ringneck the Pheasant and his family, Lightfoot the Deer and Mrs. Lightfoot and the twins, Buster Bear and his family, Honker the Goose and his relatives, Bobby Coon and Uncle Billy Possum, and their relatives. From break of day until jolly, round, red Mr. Sun went to bed behind the Purple Hills, none of these knew a single moment free of fear. All were being hunted by two-legged creatures with terrible guns.

So it was that instead of gladness throughout the Green Meadows and the Green Forest, sadness ruled. Dreadful tales were whispered among the little people. Sorrow and pain and suffering were to be found everywhere. It was the season of dread. In the Green Forest and on the Green Meadows of Farmer Brown's farm alone was there peace and happiness.

"It's the unfairness that makes it so awful," said Peter Rabbit to Little Mrs. Peter.

You see, all around that farm were signs, warning hunters to keep off. But once in a while a hunter would slip in when he thought Farmer Brown and Farmer Brown's Boy were away. So even over the farm of Farmer Brown the shadow of fear lay. Then, too, some of those who had been wounded, but had escaped the hunters, sought shelter on Farmer Brown's farm. A few who had been very badly hurt had died there. So even there there was sadness.

"It's the unfairness that makes it so very awful," said Peter Rabbit to little Mrs. Peter. "We all of us have enemies enough, goodness knows. Reddy Fox, Old Man Coyote, Hooty the Owl, Shadow the Weasel, the members of the Hawk family, all are forever ready to catch us if they can. But if they do, it's mostly our own fault. They hunt us for food. It is our wits against their wits. To get us they have to actually catch us. But these two-legged creatures with terrible guns can stand a long way off and kill us. If they don't kill us they hurt us with those terrible guns and we have to suffer. That is the unfairness of it. Then, too, they are not smart enough to find us themselves. They have to have dogs to find us for them. It is unfair. It is terribly unfair."

Little Mrs. Peter agreed. She knew that all the other little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows agreed also. "Peter," said she, "I want you to promise me something."

"What is it?" asked Peter somewhat gruffly.

"I want you to promise me that you will not leave the dear Old Briar Patch until this dreadful hunting season is over. We are fairly safe here."

Peter didn't promise. You see, he likes to visit the Green Forest and learn what is going on over there. He likes to go up to the Old Orchard and get the news. So Peter wouldn't promise.

DANZIG FEARS POLES' PLANS FOR OWN PORT

DANZIG —(AP)— Is the venerable Hanseatic city of Danzig to share the fate of Venice, once a most important commercial harbor of Italy, now merely a city of tourists, or of Vienna, until 1918 the proud capital of the Dual Monarchy, now the "dying city"?

Throughout the German speaking world there is an ineradicable fear that the Poles are creating in Gdynia, only 12½ miles from Danzig, a rival harbor which may outclass Danzig and reduce the free state to inactivity and desuetude.

The Poles hotly deny any intention of undermining Danzig. They marshal a great array of figures to show that Danzig trade has picked up wonderfully since the creation of the Polish and Danzig states. Thus Alfred Siebenelchen, statistical expert of the Polish consulate general at Danzig, points out that, while the number of Danzigers engaged in agricultural pursuits or in industry has about remained stationary, the number engaged in trade has increased from 21,158 in 1907 to 47,292 in 1923 and is steadily growing.

Siebenelchen further compares the amount of goods passing through Danzig today as compared with 1913 with the amount passing through a number of German ports in the same interval. He finds that while Hamburg has recovered 93 per cent of its pre-war harbor trade, Bremen 77 per cent, Stettin 65, Luebeck 86, Koenigsberg 76, and Kiel 39, Danzig in 1927 had 375 per cent of its pre-war trade. The principal items of export passing through Danzig, he points out, are coal and wood, both of which come chiefly from Poland.

To this the Danzigers reply that the Poles are using Danzig because Gdynia is still in the making, but that, once that most modern harbor in Europe is completed, Danzig might as well close up shop. Since 1927, they say, upon which year Siebenelchen's figures are based, there has already been a decline of business.

The rise of Gdynia, at the head of the Polish corridor, has been phenomenal. Within ten years the former fishing village has become a city of 30,000. Night and day a host of workers is constructing wharves, docks, loading and unloading devices, cranes, railway tracks, quays and inner and outer basins.

A prospectus issued by the Polish government says:

"In 1929, the transhipment capacity of Gdynia will be 8,000,000 tons of goods. This is the present handling capacity of Danzig, which, after Copenhagen and Stockholm, is the largest port on the Baltic.

"The second series of port works, when finished in 1931, will make the handling capacity of Gdynia about 15 million tons per annum which means that it will be one of the largest ports in Europe.

"Of course this will not be, by any means, a final phase in the development of the port, for the natural conditions are so propitious that further expansion is bound to take place."

The citizens of Danzig point to this prospectus as evidence in itself of the far-flung plans of Poland to throttle Danzig. The Poles, on the other hand, reply that there is room for two ports.

"Sax" Drives Away Thoughts of Cold!

He thought he couldn't play that night, but the cold he'd caught that morning had departed. Most professional people know what really knocks a cold in a few hours many go through the winter without any trouble from colds. It's a compound that comes in little white tablets. Take one, and that first snuffle is just about the last; or several tablets if you've let the cold go until it's serious.

Pape's Cold Compound is all you ask for; and the druggist charges 25c for a package, and it never seems to fail for anybody.

There's a TRI-TONED* Radio Console for every size of HOME

With the announcement of the New Grebe it becomes possible to get the newest development in Tri-toned* Radio in a cabinet perfectly suited to every type of home. Every New Grebe model has the "Equalized Band Pass Filter" and other Grebe features which contribute to tri-toned reception.

For the small apartment, the New Grebe is built into a charming lowboy, which fits into small rooms without giving the impression of crowding. Where the lowboy design is desired for use in the larger apartment, Model 270, with its vertical panels and sliding doors is proving a very popular choice. And there are highboys in walnut and mahogany, with panelled sliding doors and graceful escutcheon arches, that are finding their way into some of the most beautifully furnished homes in this country.

What is Tri-toned Radio? Every musical instrument has three distinct characteristics: 1. Pitch, by which we distinguish the note as being high or low; 2. Intensity, or loudness; and, 3. Tone, or character by which we distinguish the sound of one musical instrument from another. In Grebe Radio you have reproduction that gives you perfect blending of all three characteristics without unnatural overemphasis of any part of the scale.

AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS

SEND TO MARKET THE HENS THAT LAY UNDERSIZED EGGS

Poultry growers usually believe that any hen laying 250 eggs a year is a good one, and a record of 300 eggs in a year is unusual except in a relatively small number of highly bred flocks which are fed and cared for by skillful poultry specialists.

At the Beltsville experiment farm of the United States department of agriculture last year one hen made a record of 308 eggs laid in 365 days. But she went to the butcher. The poultry experts of the bureau of animal industry made no apology for what seemed a sacrifice to many. This hen laid eggs that were undersized, poorly shaped and below standard weight. They would have culled her before the year ended but for the fact that her record was needed for comparison with her sisters in a study of inheritance.

Her eggs were numerous, but her 25 1-2 dozen eggs did not weigh more, or have more food value, than 18 or 20 dozen standard eggs. She did in fact lay a greater weight of eggs than the average of many high-producing flocks. But even so she was not considered a desirable breeder. The department's studies of inheritance show it is much more difficult to breed into a flock of chickens the factors responsible for size and quality of eggs than it is to breed merely for numerical production. In the interest of the industry, which should endeavor to meet the demand for quality products, the department has set a minimum standard for the hens it will use in breeding experiments. They must produce eggs weighing not less than two ounces each, or a pound and a half to the dozen. They recommend this standard to poultry growers.

AVERAGE SHEEP PRODUCES WOOL FOR ONE SUIT A YEAR

How culling and wise attention to breeding of farm animals may be expected to produce returns for farmers is reflected in statistics gathered by the bureau of animal industry and published in the current yearbook of the United States department of agriculture.

"In 1840," says E. W. Sheets, in charge of animal husbandry investigations, "the average weight of fleece sheared from American sheep was less than two pounds. By 1900 it had increased to nearly 5½ pounds. In other words, an average sheep today grows wool enough each year to make approximately one suit of clothes. In 1840 it took the wool of four sheep to make a suit of equal weight and quality."

Better breeding and more rigid culling of breeding flocks promise to raise this average still further. Wool production is similar to such qualities as heavy milk production in dairy cattle and heavy egg production by hens. The offspring of heavy producers are likely to be heavy producers and to transmit to their off-spring the capacity for heavy production.

In the case of sheep, Mr. Sheets says: "There is still room for improvement. By 'weeding out' the poor producers and breeding from the heavily fleeced sheep, flock owners can raise the average."

FEEDING POULTRY BY ARTIFICIAL LIGHT

The three system of artificial lighting most commonly used are: The night lunch system—from 9 to 10 o'clock at night; morning light—from 5 a. m. until daylight; and morning and night light—from 6 a. m. until daylight and from darkness until 6 p. m. It is probable that the night-lunch system may return slightly higher egg production than either morning light or morning and night-light, but with the morning and night lighting system, high and steady production can be obtained throughout the season. This system has the advantage of allowing the hens days of uniform length. Hens are bound to come down from the perches at or just before daylight; consequently a small amount of morning light enables them to eat and drink and keep active until the sun is shining. At night birds will normally fill up with food just before dark. If lights are continued until 6 o'clock, they really eat two suppers instead of one. Another reason for the popularity of this system is that it automatically runs out late in February when the normal day is 12 hours long.

With any system of lighting, the amount of grain fed should be increased from 2 to 4 pounds per 100 birds per day, as lighting is effective only through greater food consumption. With the night lunch system, the 4 o'clock feeding is reduced, and the birds will eat more mash and be hungry for grain when the heavy feeding is given under lights between 9 and 10 at night. With the morning lighting system, a light feeding of grain is given in the morning under lights, and the birds are willing to eat more grain at night because of the longer working day. With the morning and night light, the birds are brought down from the perches at six in the morning and given a light feeding of grain. At 4:30, when the birds normally go to roost, they fill up on an additional amount of mash and usually keep busy until 7:30, when the heavy feeding of grain is given. Excessive egg production at the expense of body weight is a reflection on the feeding practices as well as the lighting system. Keep the birds in good flesh.

ORCHARD REJUVENATION BY EXPLOSIVES.

The blasting of soils in orchards already planted for the purpose of rejuvenating trees is being successfully accomplished.

Explosives experts use the same principles of blasting as in the case of preparing soils for planting, the size of the shots and the intervals depending upon age and placement of the trees. Ordinarily light charges of dynamite are used, from one-quarter to a half a stick placed from four to six feet away from the trunks of the trees. For large trees holes are drilled from eight to fifteen feet apart and are driven straight down to a depth of about two to four feet. These holes should be as far from the trunk as the end of the branches of the tree. A bar and sledge hammer are usually the devices for putting down the holes, with a soil auger used occasionally.

After the shots are fired, plant food and moisture are supplied for the roots of the trees by filling the holes with manure, commercial fertilizer and mellow top soil mixed together. For bearing trees, according to the experts, the blasting should be done as soon as possible after the first frost.

The cost of such blasting, it is estimated, ought not to exceed ten cents per shot, on a basis of half a cartridge a shot; and it is said that one man should make and load 50 to 100 holes per day in silt soils in good condition.

POTATO SPECIALIST TELLS HOW TO INCREASE PRODUCTION

Up until five or six years ago the average potato grower in the United States did not produce very many more bushels to the acre than growers did 60 years ago, according to Dr. Willis Stuart, potato specialist of the United States department of agriculture. The average acre production in 1868 was about 94 bushels, he says, and only 98 in 1922. Since about 1923, however, the production per acre has averaged 113.7 bushels.

The average production in the United States is still very much lower than in Canada, Great Britain, and European countries outside of Italy, he finds.

It is possible to account for the increase in acre yield during the last few years, Doctor Stuart says, only by assuming that it is very largely due to a more general use of certified seed potatoes and to the gradual improvement in the quality of the stock produced. Statistics, he says, show rather conclusively that up to the last five years, the increased total production has been due to increased acreage rather than to increased acre yield.

The use of high grade seed potatoes would increase the returns from the potato crop of the country by many millions of dollars, Doctor Stuart maintains. The quality of the seed may be improved by following carefully one or more of the several systems of production developed by potato specialists.

DAIRY HERD IMPROVEMENT IS REFLECTED IN MILK PAIL

Wisconsin leads all other states in the number of dairy-herd improvement associations. It has 154 out of a total of nearly 1,100 in all the states, according to reports compiled by the bureau of dairy industry of the United States department of agriculture.

These associations give dairymen information as to the profitableness of their cows. On the basis of such information, association members have been weeding out the less desirable animals and retaining heifers from the more productive cows. The value of this practice is reflected in the steady increase in the average production of the cows under test in these associations. In 1920 the average production per cow in these herds was 247 pounds of butterfat. In 1924 this had increased to an average of 279 pounds. According to the bureau's records the production figures for the years from 1925 to 1928 were 281 pounds, 289 pounds, 293 pounds and 295 pounds.

MUCH OF STRAWBERRY CROP NOW PUT IN COLD STORAGE

More than 100,000 barrels of strawberries were packed by the "cold-pack" or "frozen-pack" method in 1928, according to George M. Darrow, senior pomologist of the United States department of agriculture. This amount is the equivalent of 4,000 to 5,000 carloads of fresh berries in crates, he says.

Handling strawberries in this way is the outstanding development of the industry in recent years, Mr. Darrow says. The fresh berries are packed in 50-gallon barrels, usually with 1 part sugar to 2 or 3 parts berries, and placed in storage at a temperature below freezing. Packed in this way they are like fresh berries when ready for use.

Preservers have found that a better preserve can be made from cold-packed berries than from berries fresh from the field.

Also because preserved berries deteriorate after a time, cold packing and storage offer a remedy for this difficulty by making it possible to put up preserves as they are needed. Furthermore, the preservers can utilize their preserving plant the year around instead of for a brief period of a few weeks at the strawberry season.

A still newer development, Mr. Darrow says, is the cold packing and storage of both strawberries and raspberries in small containers for home use. Several million packages were handled by the cold-pack method this year.

LIGHTWEIGHT FEEDING IS PROVED PRACTICAL

It pays to feed light weight steers, and light weight calves are more profitable than heavy calves.

This virtual "about face" in theory is the result of experiments conducted at Iowa state college under the direction of John M. Evvard, chief of cattle, swine and sheep feeding demonstrations.

Furthermore, feeders can afford to pay more for calves than for yearlings or two-year-olds, feed them the same length of time and make more money on the investment. It long has been held that the heavier and bigger an animal at the start of the feeding period, the quicker his gains and the larger the profit.

Evvard's test showed the average daily gain on the lighter calves was 2.4 pounds as compared to 2.3 pounds for the heavier calves. The cost per 100 pounds increase in weight of the lighter calves was only $9.48 as compared to $10.40 for the heavier ones.

To "break even," the Ames selling price would have to be only $11.02 for the light calves against $11.95 for the heavy. In reality, it is estimated, the lights would bring about $15.25 and the heavies $15.15.

The average daily gain of the heavier cattle was 2.15 pounds at a cost of $14.48 per hundred, the yearlings 2.11 at $13.89 and the calves 2.42 at $10.08.

A HOTBED FOR THE GARDEN

A hotbed greatly increases the scope of the home gardener's operations and enables him to have flowers and vegetables at an earlier date than he can expect if he does not have one.

Placing a hotframe over the hotbed confines the warmth to a limited space and gives conditions for growth which approximate the ideal outdoor conditions for growth which generally occur later in the spring.

The heat for a hotbed frequently is furnished by a layer of decaying manure in a pit underneath the soil used for the crop. The glass sash which cover the frame confine the heat given off by the manure and furnished by the sun. The sash serve further to maintain a humid condition in the frame desirable for growth.

For the home gardener fall is a good time to make a hotframe. The standard sash used to cover such frame measures six feet by three feet; hence the frame should be six feet wide and any multiple of three feet long. The frame may be of wood, concrete, or brick. Planks two inches thick make a substantial frame, but one inch material can be used where a less permanent frame will serve. Make the frame 10 inches high in front and 13 inches high in the rear; this gives an eight-inch slope to the sash when they rest on top of the frame.

A pit 30 inches deep is required, as 24 inches of manure and six inches of soil must be placed in the excavation. After settling, the level of the bed will be a little lower than the surface of the surrounding soil, which is desirable.

In a well constructed hotbed the frame should extend to the bottom of the pit, but good results are obtained where the frame extends only a few inches below the surface of the soil. In the latter case the frame can be built before the pit is dug, but the excavation should not extend to the limits of the frame and thus weaken its foundation. Also, a firm soil is essential in this method.

The frame should be built so the long dimension of the sash will slope eight inches and to the south. Full sunlight throughout the day is desirable. If the back side of the hotbed is located three feet from and to the south of a fence or building, this protects the frame from cold winds and also gives a reflection of sunlight to the hotbed.

After the frame is made and the pit dug, put the sash on the frame to keep out the snow and rain of the winter. Early in the spring put the manure and soil in the pit. The good soil that is to be used in growing crops should be held in a frost-free place over winter, so that it will be in good condition when needed.

SOUTH SEA FOLK WEAK FROM YEAR OF ILLNESS

PAPEETE, Tahiti—(AP)—Epidemics of influenza, measles, typhoid fever and whooping cough in the last year have decreased the resistance of the native population of Tahiti and other nearby South Pacific islands against the scourge of tuberculosis.

Some medical observers have predicted that tuberculosis ultimately will destory the native race.

YOUNG CHEMIST PATENTS CHEAP ALCOHOL PROCESS

OKMULGEE, Okla.—(AP)—Patents protecting methods of extracting cheap alcohol from petroleum have been issued to Dr. Robert M. Isham eight years after he discovered the process.

Thousands of dollars were spent by this youthful chemist before he found the secret he sought.

Alcohol from petroleum is used very largely in the manufacture of quick-drying paints and lacquers.

Adam had his little troubles but he never had any dressmaking or millery bills to worry about.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall or Liggett Drug Store.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

WESTERLY

ARMISTICE DAY SUNDAY UNION SERVICE PLANNED

A joint union church observance of Armistice day Sunday by Westerly churches is being planned for by the Westerly Pastors' association, of which Rev. Arnt L. Schoning, pastor of the Broad Street Christian church, is president, and Rev. Luther G. Coburn, pastor of the Pawcatuck Congregational church, is secretary. The service will be held Sunday night, Nov. 11 at 7:30, in the First Baptist church. The principal speaker will be Prof. Clarence R. Skinner, social science department of Tufts college and Divinity school, and of the Boston Community church.

Miss Louise Carr, of the Smith shop, is a business caller in Boston today (Friday).

The annual get-together and church social of Calvary Baptist church, Rev. Lewis A. Walker, pastor, is to be held in the vestry this (Friday) evening at 6:30.

OBITUARY

Miss Mattie Morse

Miss Mattie Morse, 49, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Morse, of Providence, died at St. Elizabeth's hospital in that city Wednesday, following a short illness. She has a number of cousins residing in Westerly.

The work of installing the metal ceilings and side partition walls in the new one-story business block is being completed on the Colonial club site on High street. The plate glass for the show windows was all set Thursday and the hanging of the doors can now be completed.

At Boston Conclave

Francis M. Johnson, commander; George E. Leonard, generalissimo; Fred W. Harvey, captain-general, and Paul Commander Samuel Girven, were members of Narragansett commandery, No. 27, K. T., of Westerly, who attended Wednesday the 125th annual conclave of the Grand commandery, Knights Templar of Massachusetts and Rhode Island held in the Masonic temple, Boston. They remained in the evening to attend, at the Parker House, the meeting, dinner and entertainment of Massachusetts and Rhode Island Assoc. K. T. Commanders, of which the newly-elected Grand Commander Charles E. White, of Beausejant commandery, K. T., of Malden, Mass., is the president.

Harry L. Boliss, of Westerly, is a patient at the Jane Brown Memorial hospital, Providence, following an operation performed at the hospital Monday.

Shoots Deer in Maine

Oliver Ward Stoddard, member of a party of Westerly hunters who have been enjoying a vacation trip at Eagle Lake, Me., near the Canadian border, according to word received by Westerly friends has already secured his legal quota of deer under the Maine hunting laws. A number of the deer attesting his prowess as a Nimrod, have already been received in Westerly.

OVERHEAD WIRING AND WOODEN POLES GOING

By the end of the present week, the police department of Westerly expects to have all the traffic beacon signal lights relocated on sidewalk pedestal poles, in full working order, along Broad street and old equipment eliminated. Early last summer, the operation began of placing all overhead wires along Broad street in underground conduits so that the unsightly overhead wiring and wooden poles might be removed. The new street lights have been working now for over a week and the completion of the traffic light connections means that the overhead wiring, poles and suspended beacon lights can now be taken away.

Present construction plans for sewage installation have been nearly completed, according to Supt. Arthur H. Coy, and the work of additional installation is being considered. Sewage department workers have been engaged since the summer months on the construction of the Oak street sewerage service. The main pipe has been laid from the junction of Oak and Tower streets, down to the junction of Oak and High streets. The attention of the water works department will now be directed to the construction of a sewer line on Tower street, which will connect with the Oak street line and extend along Tower street a distance of about 1,000 feet to a point to the top of the Tower street grade.

Spoke of Telephone Development

The Origin, Growth and Development of the Westerly Automatic Telephone Co. was described for the quarter century of its existence Wednesday by Dr. John Champlin, founder and president of the company, in an address before the Westerly Lions club at the regular luncheon. Through the efforts of the local company the subscribers of Westerly secured the benefits of automatic telephones about 23 years before they were introduced in Providence and other large cities. The service was inaugurated in 1902 after the company was formed through an act of legislation.

Miss Susan Brucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Brucker, of Westerly, Wednesday evening at Kingston, was elected secretary of the senior class at Rhode Island State college at a class meeting held in Barrier hall. Martin McCue, of New London, was chosen president; Miss Barbara Thomson, vice-president; Horace Kreinick, of Brockton, Mass., treasurer, and Miss Frances Wright, of Brooklyn, N. Y., assistant treasurer. Frederick Ackroyd, of Providence, retiring president, presided.

DIED AT NORWICH HOSP., MAINE RELATIVES INQUIRE

(Special to The Bulletin).

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 31.—Relatives in Maine have inquired of the Westerly police department concerning the death of Frank M. Woodward, which occurred last April at the Norwich State hospital.

Arnold H. Burdick left Thursday morning for Providence, where he was called by the death of his cousin, Miss Mattie Morse.

Stuart D. Fisher, manager of the Lorraine Manufacturing Co., was in Providence and Pawtucket, Thursday.

Henry L. Burdick was a Providence visitor in Westerly Thursday.

Rev. Arnt L. Schoning, pastor of the Broad Street Christian church, returns Saturday from attendance at the bi-ennial convention of Christian churches held the past week in Piqua, Ohio.

George Albert Stoddard, his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Sisson, and son, return to Westerly this week end from a ten days' hunting trip to Eagle Lake, Me.

Attorney Louis W. Arnold, of New York, is called home by the death of his mother, Mrs. Mary G. Arnold.

Patrolman Frank E. Knight is having two weeks' vacation.

FIFTH DIST. MEETING HELD WITH LOCAL POST

Harrison Morton Ward post, American Legion, and auxiliary, entertained the posts and auxiliaries of the Fifth district in Mechanics hall Wednesday evening. Delegates were present from Norwich, New London, Taftville, Baltic, Montville, Colchester, Jewett City, Stonington, Groton, Mystic and Lyme, which comprises the Fifth district. State Commander Paige Seaton was present. The hall was decorated with crepe paper and fall flowers. After the business meeting, a clam chowder was served by the members of the local post. The committee in charge was Edward Morgan, chairman; Fred Rafuse, Neil Morrison, John Jenssen, Ernest Francke and John Bentley. POISON LIQUOR DEALER HELD AT MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Oct. 31—(AP)—A man believed to be a former New York cheese merchant who caused a large number of deaths through sale of poison liquor and then jumped bail following his conviction nine years ago is under arrest here and will be taken back to New York tomorrow.

The prisoner, who was arrested yesterday is alleged to be Carmini Licenziato, who in 1919 bought a cargo of denatured alcohol and manufactured liquor for sale at Christmas time.

Licenziato was convicted of manslaughter in Brooklyn supreme court after the prosecution showed that many deaths and 199 cases of poisoning resulted from the liquor. Most of the deaths occurred at Chicopee Falls, Mass.

He was sentenced to 15 years in prison and was released in $50,000 bond pending the outcome of an unsuccessful appeal. He disappeared and was hunted far and wide.

"You're taking separate vacations, eh? Does your wife go away soon?"

"Guess so. She just bought a lot of paper dishes for the house."—Exchange.

"Darling," she said, breathlessly, "one feels as we speed along that life is really and truly worth living."

"Yes," he replied, "and, judging from the way the pedestrians dodge us, they feel that way too."—Vancouver Province.

WILD SCRAMBLE TO BUY AS STOCKS SWIFTLY SWEEP UPWARD

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Reduction of the New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate from 6 to 5 per cent and an unprecedented drop of $1,096,000,000 in brokers' loans, announced after the close of another session of swiftly rallying prices on the stock market today, were immediately hailed in leading financial centers as marking the passing of the world-wide credit stringency. The lower rediscount rate had been foreshadowed by a reduction in the Bank of England's discount rate, announced this morning.

This far-reaching pinch in credit had been ascribed by most leading bankers abroad and many in America to the enormous absorption of credit by the bull market in Wall street which culminated in the disastrous crash of the past week.

There was almost as wild a scramble to buy stocks today, however, as there was to sell them earlier in the week. John D. Rockefeller's statement that he was buying stocks, and several favorable dividend actions, attracting the public back into the market as honey draws flies.

Bankers generally, however, believed that prices of premier stocks had been carried to ridiculously low levels in the frenzy of selling, and felt that a substantial rally was justified. Bear markets are even more inclined to get out of hand than bull markets.

Delay in opening the market until noon resulted in an enormous accumulation of buying orders, and prices were bounced up in spectacular fashion in the first few minutes of trading. Total sales for the three hours were 7,149,220 shares, which was at the rate of nearly 12,000,000 shares for a full session. Initial gains of scores of leading stocks ran from 10 to 30 points, but these were generally cut in half before the close through profit-taking by traders who had been lucky enough to buy stocks nearer the bottom of the decline.

Wall street will have three days in which to consider the momentous developments of the week, as the market will be closed tomorrow and Saturday to give brokers a chance to unravel their highly snarled affairs.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 31—(AP)—Investment buying asserted itself in the bond market today and prices steadied under the favorable influence of heavy trading in the United States government group and the maintenance of a 6 per cent time money rate for all maturities.

The liquidation in bonds by holders seeking funds during the recent times of stress in the stock market had largely disappeared, and although there was considerable irregularity in the list the undertone was firm and numerous high grade issues regained the losses they had suffered on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Convertibles scored some broad gains as stock took an upward swing. Although closing prices of the share privilege issues ruled below the highs for the day, net advances were held in the active issues. American Telephone 4 1-2s finished 13 1-2 points above the previous close; International Telephone 4 1-2s rose 3 1-2; New Haven 6s were up 6 7-8; American I. G. Chemical 5 1-2s improved 2; Public Service of New Jersey 4 1-2s advanced 11 3-4 and Reading Coal & Iron 6s gained 1. The feature of the trading in convertibles was a drop of 142 points in the inactive Brooklyn Union Gas 8 1-2s on a transaction of $10,000 par value. These debentures were last traded on Oct. 18 and on that day they dropped 63 1-4.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Over-enthusiastic profit-taking on the part of recent speculative buyers thrust wheat values downward today after a lively fresh upturn. Extra energy of efforts to realize gains was tempted by the fact that at one stage today's wheat prices had mounted to 16c a bushel higher than last week's bottom level. Futhermore, some grain trade leaders were urgent in voicing a desire in wheat from North America, estimated today as having aggregated 25,000,000 bushel in the last week.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 1-2 to 1 1-8c lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1-4 to 5-8c down, with oats unchanged to 1-8c up, and provisions varying from 3c decline to a rise of 12c.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31—(AP)—The New York Stock and Curb exchanges together with all of the leading security exchanges throughout the country will be closed tomorrow and Saturday. Commodity markets, such as cotton rubber, hide and silk, will be open tomorrow and Saturday. The coffee and sugar exchange, however, will be open tomorrow but will be closed Saturday due to the closing of the Brazilian and French markets because of religious holidays in those countries.

Structural steel orders for the past week totaled 65,000 tons against 58,000 tons in the preceding week. Inquiries amounted to 43,000 tons, compared with 38,000 tons in the previous week.

SCHNEIDER CUP RACE SHOWS CASH DEFICIT

RYDE, Isle of Wight—(AP)—Although all speed records of the past were shattered in the race for the Schneider trophy here some weeks ago, the management's spirited bid for bigger and better gate receipts was, in the language of showmen, a total flop.

One committee shows a loss of $13,575 in connection with the erection of stands, parking places and other spectator accommodations.

The deficit is attributed to the withdrawal of French and American entries and the uncertainty which existed shortly before the contest as to whether there would be any race at all.

SOUTHERN TARIFF ASS'N HEAD APPROVES BINGHAM

teeman from Texas, sought to have C. C. Belcher, who was not identified further, run against Garner.

"No, I don't believe that," replied Kirby.

The chairman then said Creager had written Arnold that he believed Belcher could make things "hot" for Garner and was "sorry we could not get Belcher into this district."

Kirby said he knew nothing about this.

"Does it come as a surprise to you to know that Arnold has attempted to join an alliance with the republicans to defeat democrats?" Caraway asked.

"I think some of them ought to be defeated," he said, "on acount of their tariff views."

Kirby then named Garner as one he thought should be beaten.

Caraway asked if Arnold's duty in Washington was to see members of congress and to try to "fix up legislation."

"I think some one ought to present our views," he answered, adding that he approved Senator Bingham's action in employing Charles L. Evanson to aid him in tariff matters.

"I thought Bingham's explanation was honorable and fine and I approved his action in getting help from a trade association," Kirby said.

"Yes."

"Do you approve of his activities?"

"I'd have to know what they were before I answered."

Kirby then said the membership of his association was about 95 per cent democratic and had members all over the south, "even in Arkansas."

Kirby said one conference of the association was addressed by Calvin Coolidge when he was president.

"We had the happiness in seeing the democratic platform last time take our position in tariff matters," he went on.

He said the association stood for a "competitive tari," which would enable producers to retain the home market.

Senator Robinson, republican, Indiana, asked if he approved hiring a man from an association who continued to receive his salary to help a senator.

"I approve of members of congress getting technical information from those who know," replied Kirby.

"If it's a good thing, it's a good thing to stand for it openly, isn't it?" Robinson asked.

"Yes, sir," he said, but added he had heard Bingham's explanation and approved it.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, asked if the primary purpose of the association was to aid agriculture and Kirby replied it was.

"What is your investment in lumber?" Walsh asked.

"About $30,000,000."

Have you advocated a lower tariff on lumber?"

"No, and neither has the association."

WARN AUTO DRIVERS OF FATAL FUMES

Warning against the deadly danger of carbon monoxide gas, and the practice of closing garage doors and windows when working on a car in cold weather is contained in the weekly health bulletin of the state department of health. The gas acts before any symptoms become apparent to the victim, the bulletin warns, so precautions should be taken before the car is started, rather than relying on detecting the presence of the gas.

"Our instinct is to try and keep warm when zero weather comes upon us," says the bulletin, "and since automobiles are now an essential to daily life in nearly every family there is potential danger to every driver in that family who in attempting to start the engine on a cold morning keeps the garage doors and windows tightly closed.

"In starting or running an engine in a closed one-car garage, such as we find in the rear of most homes nowadays, enough carbon monoxide, that deadly gas which is a constituent of exhaust gas from engines, will be liberated to kill a person in from five to 10 minutes.

The daily press gives evidence of this in the tragedies there recorded.

"Could this gas give warning of its presence by some offensive odor, or even some characteristic odor the danger would be lessened. But the gas is odorless and colorless and so one is defenseless against it unless one has taken the precaution to open garage doors and windows while the engine is running.

"Attacks of headache and drowsiness may also occur in a tightly closed car, if there be leaky joints with a gradual leakage of carbon monoxide from the exhaust. Children are particularly susceptible to this gas and if one must take one's family on a long trip in cold weather one should have some ventilation in the car.

"Carbon monoxide has the power of very quickly combining with hemoglobin of the blood, 300 times more readily than oxygen does in fact. That is why it is so disastrous. It shuts out from the blood the needed oxygen and asphyxiation follows. The air of a closed garage is so quickly filled with this gas one cannot escape, unconsciousness and death ensuing before any noticeable symptoms appear such as headache, drowsiness or dizziness which mark the poisoning when only minute quantities of this gas are present.

"This may occur in the home when improperly connected gas burners are used, gas appliances are not connected with a flue, or there is insufficient mixture of air in the burner."

SECOND IN COURSE ON EUROPEAN LITERATURE

The second lecture in the series upon Contemporary European Literature was given by Prof. Carola Ernst in the Woman's City club room at the Waureegan hotel on Thursday afternoon.

Modern Drama was the theme for the day and Prof. Ernst analyzed a number and read typical selections. She prepared her audience for the new type of play by speaking of the tendency to obscure the real personality of the characters.

The post-war theater was born in Italy and the first writer noted was Luisi Pirandello, who is deeply preoccupied with the personality of his characters. Each shows a conflict in his own words and actions. The slave lend dramatic force to meta-physical abstractions. Pirandello manifests an intense and real fury for creation and is a type of the true post-war dramatist. The illustration analyzed was called "Six Characters in Search of an Author." Shakespeare's Hamlet is eternally faithful to the spirit in which he was created but we, living beings, are not; we are creatures of our environment and subject to constant change. The modern play makes the characters pass quickly from fact to illusion and shows constant contrast. Our own personality we do not understand, we are an enigma to others; this play illustrates the great question of human egotism.

Another example of Pirandello's work is the play of Henry IV (the hero of the Canossa incident) in which the chief character, by an accident becomes insane and for twenty years impersonates Henry IV. When reason at length returns he continues the masquerade. This mad man is more interesting than the same characters, for he is faithful to an inner vision; he is not tortured by the need to conform. When he recovers his reason he feels that he has lost his place in life and the world is mad. He confesses his imposture to his intimate companions yet one of the great strokes of the play occurs when he forces his attendants to their knees,—slaves of something they know to be illusion. The immemorial riddle of the universe is asked once more.

In the Aedipus of Sophocles the hero is the victim of circumstances and there is little difference in this respect between Sophocles and Lenormand. He penetrates beneath the threshold of conscious life, to the mystery behind the problem of evil, to the devils lurking in the depths of subconscious mind.

The play "Shadow of Evil," portrays a man "possessed," one who shows the best and the worst in his nature; who is in the grip of a process he cannot impede and who is infinitely more pitiable than his victims; an illustration of the power of injustice to breed injustice.

The third dramatist considered was Jean Jacques Bergard, who leaves his subject undefined, its purpose unconfessed, and ends his play in silence, yet in that silence we see the significance of all that has gone before. "The Spring of Others," has three characters, a mother of forty years, the daughter and her lover, a happy household until a tiny streak of jealousy in the mother is at last understood by the daughter and the effect of that daughter's long glance is overwhelming.

Post-war romanticism is contrasted to that of the nineteenth century, and shows humility and a return to idealism. This is illustrated by the fourth writer, Jean Sarmant, who dares to give us Hamlet married to Ophelia. Hamlet in the spirit realm is supposed to be given a second chance and is restored to a sane and safe existence. Although he marries Ophelia, he is not happy; he hungers for his former life. He discovers that Ophelia has one eye larger than the other but finds a new Ophelia with equal eyes in a serving maid, and marries her.

Dramatic literature is discovering a way to escape, to adapt its thinking to the universe. When ideals are not in accordance with normal life, they are replaced by the conception of life as a trying out.

In Paul Gerardy's "Robert and Marianne," only two persons have the stage and the subject relates to the struggle how these two people can continue to live together, is it possible for a man and woman to have a complete and satisfying union, for each must keep his individual soul alive? This is the first time in literature that the mystery of human love is fearlessly handled and the subject presents a vast and virgin field.

A new type of play is brought forward by Jules Romaines—the satirical play, and an excellent example is his Dr. Knock. His satire is much more destructive than formal indictment; his contagious buffoonery works upon the imagination. To make men ridiculous is to kill them. Dr. Knock is a physician in a village whose people have never had serious illness, but he so speaks of diseases and his ability to cure that he soon has the villagers ill in bed and looking to him for cure, —a man with a faith which he compels the world to accept,—a merry burlesque of the medical profession of charlatanry,—the inexhaustible cupidity of mankind,—a symbol of the wistful faith of multitudes and expressive of the power of priest-craft in all ages and in all departments of life,—the craft of the politician, of the scientist, of the business man and even of college professors.

The New England Milk Producers' association re-elected George R. Little of Schachticoke, N. Y., president. Other officers chosen included, R. Allen Sikes, Ellington, Conn., vice president.

WILL AID IN ARCHERY FOR BOY SCOUT BADGE

Probably the most difficult Boy Scout badge is that of archery. For this reason Reginald Laubin has offered to meet with scouts wishing to tackle this, one of the greatest of arts and achievements. Every scout who has drawn the long bow and driven the feathered shaft straight and true, to its target, is inspired with the desire to equal the performance of the famed Robin Hood or legendary William Tell.

To obtain this badge a scout must make a bow, arrow and string with which he shall shoot 150 yards, and make a score of 60 at 50 yards, 40 at 80 yards, 30 at 100 yards.

"If enough scouts will interest themselves in this badge, we shall meet once a week for practice work," declared Mr. Laubin.

PUMP DILEMMA DISTURBS VILLAGE WHERE MILTON WROTE

CHALFONT ST. GILES, England—(AP)—A pump problem disturbs the peace of mind of this village where blind Milton wrote some of his verse.

It seems the village pump, which for centuries had stood in the middle of the main street, directly over the well from which it draw water, began getting in the way of motorists several years ago.

A red lantern was hung on it at night; but still the reckless drivers knocked it down. Finally it was decided, not without misgivings, to move the historic pump to the village green, just a few yards away.

After that, however, the pump never seemed to be itself. During the recent prolonged drought it would not work at all, and villagers who previously had depended on it had to buy water elsewhere and pay a penny a pail for it.

The parish council decided to move the pump back to its old stand, automobiles or no automobiles. But the highway committee of the rural council to which the proposal was submitted for approval vetoed it.

That has offended the pro-pump section of the village population; the anti-pumpers, on the other hand, point out that the old pump has been working better lately since it was overhauled and a mouthorgan removed from its gullet.

"Let it stay where it is. It's all right now," they argue.

And so the controversy rages.

Joseph Muscavage was given a ten-day jail sentence at New Haven by Judge Newell Jennings for contempt of court, after testimony he had given in a suit which was being heard had been questioned.

To Contest Will

Donald Malkes, a Chicago lawyer, shown here, has announced that he will file suit in New York to contest the will of Conrad Hubert, inventor of the flashlight, which has been estimated at between nine and eleven million dollars. The will gave 75 per cent to charity, to be distributed by former President Calvin Coolidge, former Governor Alfred E. Smith and Julius Rosenwald, Chicago philanthropist. Malkes claims he and his sister, Mrs. Ely Singer, of Los Angeles, are cousins of the late inventor.

EFFORTS TO OBTAIN NEW FALL TRIAL TODAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—(AP)—Efforts to obtain a new trial for Albert B. Fall, convicted last week of accepting while secretary of the interior a bribe of $100,000 from Edward L. Doheny for the Elk Hills oil lease, will be made in the District of Columbia supreme court tomorrow, when his counsel argue their motion setting forth 3 reasons why the jury's verdict should be set aside.

Government counsel have not filed reply to the defense motion, but will oppose granting the former cabinet officer a new trial on the grounds that he had a fair and impartial hearing. If their effort is successful, it is probable that Justice William Hitz will sentence Fall as soon as he dismisses of the motion.

Hits Liquor Buyers

Purchasers of liquor are subject to indictment as well as bootleggers under the present prohibition laws, according to Federal Judge Charles I. Dawson, above, who has instructed a grand jury at Louisville not to hesitate to return indictments against buyers. During the four years he has been on the bench in western Kentucky not a single purchaser of liquor has given assistance in the prosecution of a bootlegger, the judge asserts.

THREE PUBLIC BEQUESTS IN WILL OF BENJ. A. ARMSTRONG, NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 31—The will of Benjamin A. Armstrong, who died Oct. 20, was admitted to probate today.

The will was drawn Oct. 15, 1921 and was witnessed by Charles Ross, Arthur C. Fuller and Edmund B. Thomson.

To the wife of the testator, Louise A. Armstrong, is bequeathed the Armstrong residence, 200 Hempstead street, together with garage, and contents, automobiles, etc, and all the furnishings and fixtures in the residence. The winter residence and furnishings of the testator at Daytona, Fla., is also given the widow for her life use.

The testator directs that the sum of $15,000 be paid to his widow in monthly installments, besides a bequest of $50,000.

To Grandchildren $25,000

To each of his grandchildren he leaves the sum of $25,000.

$10,000 to Second Cong. Church

To the Second Congregational church is bequeathed $10,000, which shall be known as the Marian Armstrong fund, the principal of which shall be expended in providing an outing each summer for the members of the Sunday school. It is provided that two men and two women be appointed as safety committee to look after the welfare of the children on the outings and for their services the members of the committee will be paid $10 each.

Gives $5,000 To Y. M. C. A.

The sum of $5,000 is bequeathed the Y. M. C. A. of New London, to be held by it as a separate fund and the income thereof to be expended for the uses and purposes of said association.

To Associated Charities $5,000

To the Associated Charities of New London, is bequeathed $5,000 to be held as a separate fund and the income thereof to be expended for the uses and purposes of said Associated Charities. The bequest is made upon the supposition that the said Associated Charities are incorporated, but if such is not the case, then such payment shall be made to any trustees having charge of the funds and properties of said charities. In case said charities are not incorporated and there are no trustees it is directed that said sum be held by the executors as a trust fund and the income paid over to the designated agencies of said Associated Charities for the uses and purposes of said charities. Such trust shall continue until said charities shall be incorporated or until trustees having charge of the properties and funds of said charities are appointed; in that case the executors are authorized to pay over said fund to such corporation or trustee.

To the New London Cemetery association is given $200, the income to be expended for the perpetual care of the testator's burial lot in Cedar Grove cemetery.

In case the testatrix has not caused a suitable and appropriate monument in said burial lot, the executors are directed to cause such monument to be erected.

All of the testator's clothing and other articles of personal use and adornment are bequeathed to his wife, with the request that she distribute the same as she may deem proper, except his gold watch and chain, which is bequeathed to his grandson, Benjamin Lloyd Armstrong.

Remembers Employes

To John Glynn is given the sum of $500 in case he be in the testator's employ at the time of the latter's death.

In case John Miller shall be in the employ of the testator at the time of the latter's death, the former is given the use for life of the house and lot on Ledyard street occupied by him and in case upon his demise his wife survive him, the use for life and during her widowhood of the house and lot is given Mrs. Miller.

To Joseph Williams is given $500 in case he is in the employ of testator at the time of the latter's death.

Residue to Three Children

All the rest, residue and remainder of the estate, both real and personal and wheresoever situated is given and bequeathed to the testator's three children, Benjamin L. Armstrong, Luella A. Armstrong Noves and John P. T. Armstrong in equal shares, to belong to them absolutely and in fee simple.

Suggestion to Son

It is the desire of the testator that in the distribution of the residuary of the estate his son, John P. T. Armstrong shall have the privilege of taking on account of his share stocks in the Corticelli Silk company which the testatrix may own. The testator requests the executors to agree with said son upon a fair price or value at which such stocks may be taken by him, but if no agreement is reached, it is directed that the said son shall have the right at his election to take such of said shares of stock in the said Corticelli Silk company either (a) at the value thereof as shown upon the books of said Corticelli Silk company at the time of the death of the testator, or (b) at the fair market value of said stock and for the purposes of the above that in the event that the executors and trustees shall be unable to agree with said John P. T. Armstrong upon the fair market value of said stock, such fair market value shall be the value finally and lawfully fixed thereon for the purpose of the Connecticut succession tax. The said son shall not be required to make his election between taking said stock either at the book value or fair market value as above stated until said fair market value shall be determined. The purpose of the above is to give the son of the testator the option to take the testator's shares in the Corticelli Silk company on account of his distributive share in the estate, if he so desired, and nothing shall be construed to require the son to take such stock if he does not wish to do so.

Corporation Advisable

It is the belief of the testator that the interests of his estate in manufacturing corporations, certain real estate and other property, can be best promoted by keeping the same intact for a considerable time after his decease; hence he recommends to the residuary legatees and devisees that they follow such course, which may make it desirable to form a corporation to take over such assets and in which the said legatees and devisees might hold shares in proportion to their interests. However he appreciated the fact that conditions might be such as to render the course indicated inadvisable in the judgment of the residuary legatees and devisees, and the foregoing recommendation is not meant for a direction or the imposing of an obligation.

Sons Executors

To the executors is given full power to invest and reinvest, sell, transfer, exchange, convey and give good title to any and all of the estate, both real and personal and wheresoever situate, except such as has specifically been devised, without any order of any probate or similar court.

The testator's sons, Benjamin L. Armstrong and John P. T. Armstrong are appointed executors and trustees, together with William H. Reeves.

WEDDING

Wheeler-Horner

Louis H. Wheeler, a member of the New London police department, one of the younger patrolmen and Miss Bertha Horner, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Horner, 41 Learned street, were married at the rectory of St. Mary's Star of the Sea church last night by Rev. Raymond J. O'Callahan. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler held a reception at the residence of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Good on Learned street. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler will reside at 41 Learned street upon the conclusion of a wedding trip.

Mrs. Libby Hyde entertained the Past Pocahontas club of the Degree of Pocahontas at her home on Ocean avenue, last night with a hallowe'en party and harvest supper.

OBITUARY

Miss Ida C. Howard

Miss Ida C. Howard, 73, died this morning at her residence, Graniteville, Waterford. She is survived by a brother, Dr. Frank Howard and a sister, Mrs. W. L. Driscoll, both of Waterford. Miss Howard, who was born in Waterford, Dec. 10, 1855, had been in feeble health for a long time.

Augustus Chapel

Augustus Chapel, 84, a former resident of New London, died this morning at Norwich State hospital, Preston, where he had been a patient for a long time.

Silas Maxson has sold a building lot on Ocean avenue to Fred L. Watrous, of Ledyard.

Norman Dunn, 57 High street; Mrs. Alvin Bates and infant son, 39 Granite street; Leroy Allen, Pleasant Valley road; Mrs. Vincenzo Salutico and infant daughter, 5 Denison avenue, all of Groton; Ellis Rice, Mildred Howard, Ridgewood park; and Miss Dorothy Clark, all of Waterford; Miss Katherine MacKenzie, Federal street, patients at Lawrence Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

STRICKEN SUDDENLY, WALTER LEITKOWSKY DIES

Walter Leitkowsky, 55, died suddenly of heart disease at his home, 28 New street last night. He is survived by his wife and several children. Mr. Leitkowsky was apparently in sound health for he had not been complaining. While walking in one of the living rooms, he was stricken suddenly, collapsing and becoming unconscious. A physician was summoned, but before medical aid arrived Mr. Leitkowsky had expired.

Mrs. Alfred Avery Young, Jr., and infant son, of Jewett City; Mrs. Edward J. Bonville, 180 Ledyard street; Fred Keeney, Poquonoc Bridge, and Mrs. Westinero Beers and infant daughter, Groton, patients at Home Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Notice was filed at the office of the city clerk today of the pendency of the foreclosing of a mechanic's lien by the Thames Towboat company against Benjamin L. Jones, plumber, for $200.

MRS. A. M. GIORDANI FALLS ON DEFECTIVE REED ST. WALK

Anne M. Giordani, Station 11, Waterford, sustained painful injury this evening when she fell on a defective sidewalk. Mrs. Giordani was on Reed street and stepped into a depression, which was covered by a puddle of water with the result that she was thrown violently, sustaining a severely sprained ankle and bruises. Mrs. Giordani communicated by telephone with police headquarters, regarding the accident. Automobile Patrol Officer Thomas Cavanaugh made an investigation and reported that the walk was defective. The matter was reported to City Engineer George Watters and repairs will be made tomorrow.

Parked On Pearl Street

Charles W. Brown, 202 Mitchell street, Groton, was arrested tonight charged with violation of the city ordinance in parking on Pearl street, which street is restricted to parking. He furnished a bond of $2 for his appearance in court tomorrow.

NEARLY 1000 CHILDREN IN HALLOWE'EN MARCH

The kiddies had the time of their life in New London this evening when the annual hallowe'en parade and entertainment was held, nearly 1000 boys and girls in grotesque and unique costumes participated in the lengthy parade, which was sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. The line formed at the Y at 7:30 and headed by a band of 30 pieces, the services of which were contributed by the Musicians' union, it moved through Meridian street to Huntington, to State, to Bank, to Tyler square, to Blinman, to Truman, to Jay, to Huntington, to State, to Meridian, where the marchers disbanded, to be entertained with a vaudeville performance and to be given a treat of candy at the Y.

Fred A. Johnson, of Uncasville, was in the police court this morning charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law in driving an automobile that was not equipped with a reflector. He was fined $3 and costs.

PUMPKIN MOONSHINE CANDLE STARTS A BLAZE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 31.—Starting to participate in the observance of hallowe'en at the home of Andrew Morris, 111 Howard street at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon caused a fire scare. When a lighted candle was placed in a pumpkin shell, the flame communicated to a lace curtain, causing the flimsy material to be ignited. Fearing that the furnishings of the room would be set afire, an alarm was rung in from Box 44, corner of Hamilton and Howard streets. Four companies responded, but before the firemen arrived at the house the fire had been extinguished and the only damage was the destruction of the curtain.

FIRE COMPANIES OUT AS HALLOWE'EN PRANK

Just after the parade of the hallowe'en urchins, at 8:20, an alarm was sent in from Box 517, corner of Lower Boulevard and Hillside road. When Deputy Chief Calvin Edmunds and four companies arrived at the location of the box it developed that there was no fire and that the alarm had been rung in by a mischievous person, evidently bent on hallowe'en pranks.

CHIEF PINNEY SUSPENDS COP ARRESTED AT NORWICH

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 31.— Patrolman Harry Watterson, who was arrested shortly after 8 o'clock this morning at Norwich, charged with intoxication, being found asleep in a motionless automobile, was today suspended by Captain of Police Charles A. Pinney pending the result of a hearing, which will take place within a few days. The facts connected with the arrest of the officer, who reported off duty Tuesday midnight, have been furnished City Manager William A. Holt and that official will make it known tomorrow or Saturday when the hearing will be held.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre

An ex-army officer—an ex-officer of the British army, tiring of hum drum civilian life, decides to look for adventure. He advertises for it, and does he get it? You bet he does. And it is the story of his adventures that comes to the Palace theater beginning tomorrow in the form of "Bulldog Drummond," starring Ronald Colman in one of the greatest of the talkies.

All the elements of mystery and intrigue are bound up in this startling film. First comes the mystery girl. Who is this slip of a woman who needs Bulldog Drummond's aid, and who prays that the advertisement she is answering was not written in fun. Why is her relative being kept penned up in an insane asylum by desperate and cunning men and an adventuress? What dark secret problem drives the girl to make a rendezvous with a man she has never met, merely in the hope that that man can give her assistance?

These and a dozen other questions you will be asking yourself before the play, "Bulldog Drummond" is five minutes old. From the time Drummond sets out for his clandestine meeting at the Green Bay Inn until the final scene when he cheats death and finds himself hoodwinked at the same time, the film is one breathless moment after another.

The setting of this picture is enough to set the blood racing. High powered cars roaring over lonely English moorland roads, curtained alcoves, mysterious inns, and beyond all the high walled, turreted and grim asylum where a fiend doctor is slowly torturing life and fortune from a helpless man.

Today for the last time the Palace presents John Gilbert in his first all-talking film, "His Glorious Night" passion in old Vienna!

Automatic Radio

In all new industries, certain names forge ahead and become recognized as leaders in their line enjoying steady growth based upon a policy of careful manufacture and permanence.

In the radio industry, the Zenith Radio corporation, now celebrating its fifteenth anniversary as manufacturers of the world's highest quality radio receivers, has achieved its enviable position as leader in the quality field through its pursuance of high ideals and standard of manufacture for which Zenith has been noted since radio's very beginning.

"Today," states Charles Gomprecht, of the Macgregor Radio corporation, Connecticut distributors of Zenith radioes, "three large plants, located in the heart of the famous central manufacturing district of Chicago, are required to fulfill the demand for Zenith automatic receivers. In these plants, wherein more than seven thousand people are employed, every part of the Zenith receiver is manufactured and assembled."

Plant No. 1 is devoted to the manufacture and assembly of chasses the general offices occupying practically the entire main floor. Plant No. 2 contains the parts and repair departments where all manufactured parts are thoroughly inspected before being assembled into the receivers. The consumers guarantee of precise manufacture and superior performance in Zenith receivers is backed by two hundred and ninety individual inspections of each receiver before it becomes the property of the proud purchaser.

Plant No. 3, covering more than seven acres, houses Zenith's new cabinet factory which is equipped with more than a half million dollars worth of the most modern woodworking machinery in existence. Here also, are assembled the automatic tuning devices and the final assembling of the chassis, speaker and automatic tuning device into the cabinet. The shipping department occupies the entire east end of the main floor with freight car loading facilities for sixteen cars at one time.

The three huge plants are now engaged in twenty-four hour shifts to meet consumer demand which has proven the greatest in all Zenith history. Of particular interest to the radio buying public is the fact that, despite Zenith's newly established popular price policy now placing Zenith quality and performance within reach of all, Zenith has maintained its high standard of manufacture throughout and will continue to build in full accordance with its established well known slogan "The Quality Goes in Before the Name Goes on."

Broadway Theatre

Against the varied and picturesque backgrounds of a United States marine corps flying base, the rugged wildernesses of the Sandino country in Nicaragua, and the exotic scenes of a Central American cantina and dance hall, the thrilling and colorful story of "Flight," the all-talking super-drama of Uncle Sam's fighting marines, was filmed. This marvelous epic of the air opens at the Broadway theatre tomorrow. Jack Holt and Ralph Graves, recent screen pals in "Submarine," are again pals in "Flight," and as both men in private life are government licensed pilots, they are well qualified for their roles. The film is charged with action and drama every moment. That exciting Georgia Tech-California football classic of last New Years' when one player ran the length of the field for a score over his own goal line is shown in detail, the stigma of the boy's disgrace following him all through his military life, with disastrous results to his morale. The training of government flyers, the test flights, the final "solo," and the sudden call to active service against Sandino in Nicaragua, form some thrilling scenes, but the real thrill comes in the amazing air battles, with forty fighting planes engaged in actual battle, with anti-aircraft guns blazing, machine guns sputtering, land skirmishes, and planes falling in flames. The picture is a hundred per cent talking, with dialogue in a moving plane accurately and clearly recorded for the first time above the din of the powerful motors. Major Mitchell and Capt. Pierce, U. S. M. C. aviation division, San Diego, were in charge of the military detail of the production, which is said to far surpass even the great air-epic "Wings." Phenomenal audiences have crowded theatres wherever "Flight" has been shown, and the engagement just closing in Hartford was extended to two weeks to accommodate the crowds. Government air experts, including some of the best flyers in the entire marine corps were on duty at government order to assist in the filming of this tremendous production, actually produced "under the supervision and with the cooperation of the U. S. marine corps," to whom the picture is dedicated in the opening title. The latest Paramount Sound news will also be shown on the same program. Today for the last times, the all-talking mystery drama "The Drake Case," will be screened, heading a seven-unit program of all-talking subjects.

Breed Theatre.

William Boyd's latest star picture, "Power," released by Pathe, which will be shown at the Breed theatre today and Saturday, is said to be a great comedy drama. The scenes are laid in the west and there is much exciting action. Jacqueline Logan and Alan Hale are featured in excellent roles. The picture was directed by Howard Higgin.

William Haines, of football, baseball and polo fame on the screen, invades another sport and becomes a professional boxer in "The Duke Steps Out," his latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer romance, which will be at the Breed theatre, commencing Sunday, with dialogue and talking sequences. It is a vivid filmization of the Lucian Cary Saturday Evening Post story, with Haines as the fighter who goes to college to please his sweetheart. His troubles furnish comedy and his fights, thrills. Both serve as a background for a pretty love story. Joan Crawford is the heroine, and the cast, directed by James Cruze, includes Karl Dane, Tenen Holtz, Eddie Nugent, Delmer Daves, Herbert Prior and others of note.

Broadway Sale

James L. Case, realtor, has sold the property at No. 122 Broadway for Miss Mary E. Boylan to Mrs. Agnes M. Galligan. The property consists of a 6-room cottage. The new owner plans to make improvements to the property.

Miami Has 6 Airports.

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Miami, terminus of air lines to Latin America, boasts six airports and plants another, a combined land and seaplane base. Most of the airport development's has taken place in the last three years.

Schoolboy Hero

School children at the Austin Junior high school at El Paso no longer taunt Herbert Baird, above, and call him "Doggie," because he worked as an assistant dog catcher during his vacation. He's a hero in their eyes now, for Herbert captured a mad dog after it had bitten 12 boys and girls and a teacher, throwing the entire school into a panic. Baird leaped on the dog and grabbed him by the nape of the neck.

FORD PARIS LOCATION STIRS BOULEVARDIERS

PARIS—(AP)—"Ford is invading the boulevards."

Such was the information whispered in alarm or shouted with glee along the bright lights of Paris, according to wether the informant belonged to the auto manufacturing or auto purchasing category of Parisians.

The launching of the Ford French company stock on the market caused a flurry in the automobile world, but the announcement that Ford had bought one of the busiest and most centrally situated corners on the Boulevard des Italeans, two blocks from the opera, has made the boulevards sit up and take notice.

The price paid was $500,000 for the site and Ford's plans call for the expenditure of $1,000,000 to erect a six-story building to be used as show rooms and offices.

The fact that the new Ford place is one block from the Paramount theater and headquarters are causing old boulevardiers to shake their heads and sadly say:

"The Americans are requisitioning our boulevards with their dollars"

GREENEVILLE

CONGREGATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL HOLDS PARTY

The Sunday school children and their friends of the Greeneville Congregational church held their annual hallowe'en party in the assembly hall of the church with a large attendance. The evening's entertainment opened with a grand march by the masqueraders in which they marched around the hall several times before a committee of judges could pick the winning costumes. The winners were: George Geer, Sr., first prize, for the adults, dressed as a lady, and second prize, Miss Nellie Hayes, dressed as a colored lady. Children, William Ellison, dressed as a fireman and second prize, Alice Frasier, dressed as Lord Fauntleroy.

Many games were played by the children during the evening. Russell Rydholm was awarded a prize for winning a contest for blowing out candles. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion with the season's colors predominating. Later in the evening dancing was enjoyed.

The committee in charge of the successful affair was: Alex Finlayson, chairman; Miss Luther, Mrs. Jennie Young, Miss Alice Brown and Miss Charlotte Fowler. The committee served refreshments of ice cream and assorted cookies.

WEDDING

Piekarski—Jurczik

A very pretty fall wedding took place Monday morning at 8 o'clock when Miss Cassie Jurczik, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jurczik, of 37 Lorenzo street, and Leo Piekarski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Piekarski, of Yonkers, N. Y., were united in marriage by Rev. William Icick at St. Joseph's church. Rev. Icick was assisted by Rev. William Toper and Rev. Joseph McCabe. The church was prettily decorated with choice cut flowers and ferns. Miss Celia Piekarski, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, while the Misses Joanna Jurczik, the bride's sisters, Mary Thomeus and Molly Novak were bridesmaids. Andrew Jurczik, brother of the bride, acted as best man while Joseph Roman, Frank Piekarski and John Piekarski, all of Yonkers, N. Y. acted as ushers. The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of ivory satin, princess style, with a veil of duchess lace and a high crown of pearls and rhinestones and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor wore orchid satin and carried a bouquet of pink tea roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Jurczik wore pink satin and carried pink carnations, and Miss Novak was clad in pale blue satin and also carried carnations. Each wore head bands of rhinestones. Following the church ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served to 150 invited guests at Pulaski hall and later in the day, Mr. and Mrs. Piekarski left on a honeymoon trip to Boston and Springfield, Mass.

Upon their return in about ten days, they will reside in a newly furnished apartment at Yonkers, N. Y. As a traveling costume Mrs. Pierkarski wore an ensemble suit of navy blue.

Among relatives and friends present were guests from Yonkers, N. Y., Springfield, Boston, New London, New Haven, Hartford, Willimantic and New Britain. Both Mr. and Mrs. Piekarski have a large circle of friends in this vicinity, who wish them happiness and prosperity in their newly married life. Mrs. Piekarski was in the employ of the J. B. Martin while her husband is employed as a clerk in the post office at Yonkers, N. Y.

Hallowe'en Social Held

After the regular meeting of St. Mary's Girls club Monday evening held in the assembly hall of the church, a hallowe'en social was held. Refreshments were served and games played. Next Monday evening will see the first rehearsal of the Glee club.

A pretty miscellaneous shower was given Friday evening in honor of Miss Kathleen Donnelly of Fourth street, who is to be marired to Matthew Garvey, at the home of Miss Nellie Garvey at which the bride-to-be was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts. There were musical numbers by the Misses Mary Garvey, Martha Moreau, Mae Adams, Nellie Garvey and Mary Foster. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Donnelly and Mrs. Garvey. Among those present were the Misses Nora Murphy, Rose Breckenridge, Ruth Whitehead, Louise Krauss, Lulu Krauss, Mina Seidel, Lena Seidel, Anna Seidel, Annetta Hermann, Velina Cyr, Mary Cyr, Agnes Buckley, Annie Savage, Martha Moreau, Marie Ann Moreau, Marguerite Dessier, Anna Donnelly, Bridget Dougherty, Elsie Heinrich, Mildred Tucker, Belle Oldham, Emma Lolie, Emma Headen, Irene Donnelly, Nellie Garvey Mary Foster, Mae Adams, Iola Shaw, Myrtle Schmidt, Mrs. Garvey, Mrs. Donnelly, Mrs. N. Shaw, Mrs. Lottie Schmidt, Mrs. Grace Savage and Mrs. Meliss Hargraves.

ASSESSORS EXPECTING FEWER LATE TAX LISTS TO COME IN THIS YEAR

This has been a week of rush work for the board of assessors, A. R. Manning, chairman, John B. Oat and Fred G. Brothero, in receiving the lists from property owners in the town to make up the grand list, and it is expected that the late-comers will give the board a busy day today (Friday) which is the final day for handing in lists in order to avoid the ten per cent addition. In order to give the taxpayers every facility to get their lists in before the limit day is over the board has announced that it will be on duty in the evening from 7 to 9. The daytime hours are from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The indications are according to a member of the board, that there will be fewer lists to take the ten percent penalty this year, even though the total number of lists handed in will probably be larger than ever before. There are approximately 8,000 lists to be received altogether and there have usually been from 1,200 to 1,500 which were ten percented. The lists have come in so well so far, however, that the assessors are expecting that there will not be so many lists as usual to have ten percent added for failing to be put in on time.

SPECIAL SCOUT BOOKS PROVIDED AT LIBRARY

Among the services to boyhood which the Boy Scouts of America render the youth of this country is that of providing them with a reading program. Local councils for years have realized the great educational and character building potentialities books afford boy scouts and leaders. Growing out of this realization has come the committee known as the Reading Program committee.

Locally, Rev. A. H. Abbott has become chairman of this committee and proposes to make a real contribution to the 400 odd scouts in this vicinity. At the Otis library complete library of books and pamphlets has been placed on special shelves for scouts and scout leaders. Some idea of the extent of this library and its value can be gained by reading the titles of some of the books and pamphlets. They include: The Heart of a Boy, Meeting That Secret Hazard, The Father and Son Idea and Scouting, Your Home, Your Boy and Scouting, Scouting Education, Service Clubs and Scouting, Scouting In Relation to The Schools, How to Organize a Boy Scout Troop, Tenderfoot Requirements, Second Class Requirements, First Class Requirements, The Scoutmaster and His Troop, The Troop Committee, Practice of the Oath and Law, The Good Turn Tes., Investiture Ceremonies, Yucca Patrol Idea, Scouting With a Neckerchief, Knife Craft, Bird Homes and How to Build Them, A Manual of Custom and Drills, Publicity, Celebrating Anniversary Week, The Uniform, Badges and Insignia, Vacation Programs, Camp Fires and Camp Cookery, Camp Buildings and Scout Shelters, Camp Fire Helps, Archery, Totem Poles, Scoutmaster's Handbook, Sea Scout Manual, Handbook for Boys, Boy Scout Diary, Magazine Boys Life.

Merit Badge pamphlets include those on:

Agriculture, angling, animal industry, archery, architectural art, astronomy, athletics, automobiling, aviation, basketry, bee keeping, beef production, bird study, blacksmithing, bookbinding, botany, bugling, business, camping, canoeing, carpentry, cement work, chemistry, civics, conservation, cooking, cycling, dairying, electricity, firemanship, first aid, first aid to animals, forestry, foundry practice, fruit culture, farm layout and buildings, farm home, farm mechanics, farm records, gardening, handicraft, hiking, hog and pork production, horsemanship, insect life, interpreting, journalism, leathercraft, leather working, life saving, machinery, marksmanship, masonry, metal work, mining, music, nut culture, painting, pathfinding, personal health, photography, physical development, pioneering, plumbing, pottery, poultry keeping, printing, public health, radio, reptile study, safety, salesmanship, scholarship, sculpture, seamanship, sheep farming, signaling, soil management, stalking, surveying, swimming, taxidermy, weather, wood carving, wood work.

According to Rev. Abbott, Scout Executive Sellman has recently completed a research of 50 pages of best boys books and the library proposes to select some of the best of these and place them on a shelf for scouts.

Given Pretty Linen Shower

Miss Helen Martin of Uncasville was tendered a linen shower by some of her friends Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Mary Ulrich on Dunham street. Miss Martin is to be married on November 5 to Joseph F. Ulrich of this city.

The home was prettily decorated with halloween decorations. Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Frank J. Ulrich. The bride-to-be was the recipient of many varied pieces of linen. Those present extended to her their best wishes for a happy and prosperous married life.

TAFTVILLE

Mrs. Edward J. Kelley, Mrs. Victor Caron, Mrs. Thomas Perkins Sears, Andrew Frohmader and Gustave Greenwood were delegates from Peter Gallan Post, No. 104, American Legion and the legion auxiliary, to the district meeting held at Noank Wednesday evening.

Miss Jean Copeland and Miss Dorothy Hunt entertained those who took part in the recent Rally day exercises at the Taftville Congregational church school, at a halloween masquerade party in the church vestry Wednesday evening. Prizes were awarded for the most attractive costume; games and music were enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The carnival being given by Peter Gallan Post, No. 104, American Legion took on halloween color Thursday evening, when a large crowd attended the affair at Ponemah hall. Many of those attending were masked and wore unique and original costumes. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

The last meeting of the Girls' Sewing circle was held with Mrs. Henry Rousseau of Lisbon. After the sewing hour refreshments were served in the dining room which was decorated with halloween colors and symbols.

ROAD CONDITIONS IN EASTERN CONNECTICUT

Road conditions and detours in this part of the state made necessary by highway construction, announced by the Connecticut highway department, as of Oct. 30th, are as follows:

Route No. 12 —A section of the Norwich-Putnam road is being reconstructed just south of Central Village. Grading is being done and concrete surfacing is being laid. A short section of one-way traffic is regulated by telephone.

Route No. 109—Mansfield-Phoenixville road is under construction. The shoulders of this road are being built at this time. Open to traffic. Coventry-bridge over Willimantic river is under construction, but open to traffic.

Route No. 168—Jonatham Trumbull road is under construction from Route No. 3 to the end of the improved road north of Columbia Green and from the end of the improved road south of Columbia Green to the end of the improved road at Lebanon. Surfacing is being laid on the section south of Columbia Green. Travelers are warned to use extreme care in passing through.

Lebanon, Norwich and Lebanon road is being oiled for 4 miles.

Franklin, Norwich and Lebanon road is being oiled for 3 miles.

Route No. 182— Flanders village-Chesterfield road is under construction. Grading is being done and culverts are being installed. Traffic will find it difficult to get through this work.

Brooklyn-Pomfret. An improvement is being made on the Pomfret-Brooklyn road, and delay to motorists may be expected where grading operations are being carried on and where surfacing is being laid.

Voluntown and No. Stonington, Pendleton Hill road is under construction. Grading operations and macadamizing are in progress. Vehicles can pass through although delay and rough going will be encountered.

FORECLOSURE SUITS BROUGHT IN THE SUPERIOR COURT

Foreclosures of mortgages on property at Ocean beach, in New London and in Waterford are sought in three different suits which have been brought in the superior court for this county.

Foreclosure of mortgages and appointment of a receiver are sought in four suits brought by the Atlas Realty company of Hartford against the Commodore Realty company and Joseph Sigal, both of New London. The Atlas company brings the suits on four mortgages, each for $1,575, given by Sigal, who later assigned them to the Commodore company, secured by Ocean beach property, known as 115-119-121-123 Bentley avenue. The property is subject to a mortgage of $5,000 to the estate of Henry D. Barrows and to the Atlas Co., on a first mortgage for $3,120 each. Besides the real estate, household goods, etc., the property of Sigal and the Commodore Realty Co., located at 135 Bentley avenue, 15 Riverbend avenue, 6 Ocean View place, 7 Westerly place, 51 Board Walk, 115-119-121-123 Bentley avenue, New London, have been attached.

Foreclosure of a $3,000 mortgage note secured by a mortgage on premises located in New London, is sought by State Finance Corp., of New London, against Florence S. Clark, of Waterford. The Mariners Savings bank has two mortgages on the premises, one for $5,000 and the other for $1,000.

The Mariners Savings bank is seeking to foreclose on property located on Walback street, which is owned by Augustine Lake, of New London and Bradford Lake, also of New London. They claim that they are the holders of a $2,500 mortgage note which is due and payable.

GROTON WOMAN SUES FOR SUPPORT FROM HUSBAND

Virgil W. Champion, of Old Lyme, a conductor on the New Haven railroad, is sued by his wife Addie M. Rudd Champion of Groton, in two civil actions. The couple was married in New London on June 22, 1903. Mrs. Champion claims that her husband deserted her about June 1, 1926 and she has no means of credit and is poor and unable to support herself. She alleges that her husband earns at least $250 a month with the railroad and has a large and substantial equity from real estate which yields him a monthly income of $50. She claims $7,500 damages and asks the court for an order directing her husband to pay for her support. In another suit, Mrs. Champion asks $2,500 damages, claiming that approximately $2,000 in the South Norwalk Trust Co., which was in a joint account had been taken by her husband.

BACKUS HOSPITAL AUXILIARY

Once more "the clang of the ambulance horn." Once more, the Women's Auxiliary of the Backus hospital is making its yearly plea to the citizens of Norwich and the surrounding towns—men, as well as women—to assist the work of this special health center. This year, instead of a canvas, the auxiliary is following a different method. Letters are being sent through the mails carrying a statement of the aims of the Women's auxiliary and enclosing a card, which, when signed and sent back in the envelope also enclosed, together with one dollar, will make one a member of the auxiliary. These annual dues of one dollar are the means by which the organization is able to supply many needs of the hospital. The Backus hospital, which is now in A Class, has many problems, as have all institutions in this day when the cost of living has increased so greatly and the funds, once adequate, are no longer enough to do the necessary work. Every cent of the dollar dues of the auxiliary goes back in some way into the hospital. Those who have kept themselves informed of the auxiliary's activities realize that it has been a practical friend to the hospital, providing apparatus not otherwise obtainable, caring for the cheer and morale of the patients and keeping in touch with staff and nurses in such a way as to lighten the burden of caring for the sick. They ask the support of all those who are to help in such service of the sick.

Besides urging the need for memberships in the auxiliary, the constant and imperative demand for old linen and soft cotton cloth deserves the attention of the women of the community. If the hospital had to buy all the old linen and cotton needed for wipes, for bandages, and for packaging, it would have another economic burden. The linen committee keeps the shelves of the linen cupboard full, and anyone who has soft, old cloth whether from table linens or bed linens, from underwear or nightclothes, or from whatever source, will be serving the hospital if they will get in touch with Mrs. John F. Rogers, 167 Washington street. Her telephone number is 351, and she will see that the bundle is called for and carried to the hospital. Mrs. Rogers has succeeded Mrs. Charles A. Saxton as chairman of this important committee.

MADE 114 ARRESTS IN MONTH OF OCTOBER

A total of 114 arrests were made by the police department in October, as against 133 for August and 139 for July. Intoxication and violation of the motor vehicle laws were responsible for more than half of the arrests, 52 taken in on the former and 26 on the latter.

The summary of arrests follows: Intoxication 52, non support 4, evading taxi fare 1, violation of the city ordinances 5, violation of the motor vehicle laws 26, breach of the peace 15, indecent exposure 1, obtaining money under false pretenses 1, theft 1, burglary 1, resistance 4, assault with a dangerous weapon 1, issuing fraudulent checks 1, deserter 1.

CRAZED BOXER SENT TO NORWICH STATE HOSPITAL

Eddie Bock, 21, amateur boxer, was committed to the Norwich State hospital by city court order at New Haven Thursday at the instance of Assistant City Attorney Nelson R. Durant, who presented testimony showing the boxer had been reduced to a condition of mental illness by beatings in the ring. Bock is the second amateur boxer of New Haven to be committed to an institution for a mental condition, the first having been Willie Disco, who went to Middletown in September, 1927, and was discharged last May. Bock was found running at top speed through a downtown street Wednesday night and acted wildly when stopped by a policeman.

PRIZE WINNERS IN COLONIAL CLUB PINOCHLE

The following were the winners in pinochle at the card party conducted Thursday evening at the Colonial club with nine tables in play: Mrs. Haring 7420, Mrs. Spalding 7000, Mrs. Herman 6920, J. Lafferty 7770, P. Doyle 7520, C. Williams 6950.

Fifteenth Wedding Anniversary

In their new home, 133 Asylum street, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Herring entertained 25 friends Monday evening in honor of their 15th wedding anniversary. Cards were played, also radio music was enjoyed. The home was prettily decorated with Halloween colors, and supper was served. Many beautiful gifts were received.

NORWICH TOWN

NIGHT PROVES TOO RAINY FOR HALLOWE'EN EVENTS

Until noon-time Thursday, hopes were entertained that it would be possible to carry out the big hallowe'en celebration in the evening under arrangements by the Norwich Rural association. President Willard J. Haugh and the several committees who, for the past two weeks have been working on the program, decorations, etc., were in conference and it was decided to call the celebration off, for this year, due to the fact that Norwich Town Green was just soaking wet, because of a steady, drizzling rain all day. Children and parents alike were disappointed as many mothers had taken much trouble in making costumes for children who had planned to enter the parade. A treat was to have been given every child in line by a prominent citizen, and the Rural association was ready to award three prizes for the three prizes for the three best costumes, best costumes. One of the attractions planned was an Indian program of dances by Reginald and Gladys Lanbin, of Norwich. The numbers they had chosen to interpret before the public were Great Plains War dance and the Ghost dance originally taught by a Piute prophet, Wevaka.

Troop 10 Scouts Plan Hike

The Boy Scouts of the Sacred Heart church, Troop 10, met Tuesday evening in the basement of the church from 7 until 8:30. Scoutmaster William Burns was in charge of the meeting which opened with roll call by the scribe and the collection of dues by the treasurer. Plans were made for a hike through the woods in two weeks. The greater part of the time was spent in discussing business plans. Richard Cormier passed the test of map making. Mr. Burns requested each scout to be prepared to pass one or more tests at the next meeting, except those scouts who have already passed their first class tests.

MAYFLOWER SOCIETY HAD GAIN OF 5 IN YEAR

The 33rd annual meeting of the Society of Mayflower Descendants in the State of Connecticut was held Wednesday morning in Hartford, Governor George C. F. Williams presiding. The secretary, Miss Jennie Loomis of Windsor, stated that the society had lost 18 by death; nine by resignation; five by transfer to other societies; 14 dropped for non-payment of dues. To offset these losses, 51 members have been added, making a total of 538, an increase of five over last year.

The following applicants were elected to membership: Miss Grace Kingsbury Arms, of New London, 10th in descent from William Brewster; Harvey Jabish Brooks, Deep River, ninth from William Brewster; Mrs. Percy Robert Griffith, Long Island, N. Y., 10th from John Howland; Lee Harwood, New York city, 10th from William Brewster; Mrs. Frank Goodyear Smith, New Haven, ninth from Myles Standish.

The following officers were unanimously elected: Governor, Dr. George C. F. Williams, Hartford; deputy governor, Charles Welles Gross, Hartford; secretary, Miss Jennie Loomis, Windsor; assistant secretary, Miss Clara M. Kellogg, Hartford; treasurer, Martin Welles, Hartford; assistant treasurer, Samuel G. Huntington, Hartford; historian, Edwin Allston Hill, Ph.D., Washington, D. C.; elder, Rt. Rev. Chauncey B. Brewster, D.D., Hartford; captain, Robert Lovell Smith, New London; auditor, Edwin H. Tucker, Hartford; assistants, for three years, J. William Bailey, Middletown; Rev. Anthon T. Gesner, Waterbury.

At the annual luncheon at the Hartford club, the governor of the society, Dr. George C. F. Williams, presided. Mayor Walter E. Battersby made the address of welcome and the assembly was addressed by Hon. Addison Pierce Munroe, governor-general of the National society, who told of his recent visit to 23 state organizations of the society. Governor Munroe urged the members to attend the 12th tri-ennial congress of the society to be held in Plymouth next year.

The speaker of the day was Dr. Romsen B. Ogilby, president of Trinity college, who said in part:

"In the year 1620, when the little company of adventurous souls at Southampton were wondering whether the 'Speedwell' was really seaworthy, finally deciding to have the 'Mayflower' make the voyage alone, there was a young man of 20 walking the streets of London in considerable trouble. His father had been put in the King's Bench prison for debt. I do not know whether he ever heard of the projected expedition to America—if he had, he might have wanted to come over here, for he was a daring lad, but stubborn loyalty to his father kept him in London. He finally apprenticed himself to a dancing master, saved up a little money, invested it in a Virginia lottery and won the prize! With the proceeds he bought his father out of prison and cancelled his own apprenticeship. This was John Ogilby, and though he never came over to America, his life is of sufficient interest in that troubled century to justify some attention on this occasion.

"John Ogilby's career begins when Wentworth, Earl of Strafford, took him over to Ireland in his household. There he built a theatre in Dublin and was made Master of His Majesty's Revels in the Kingdom of Ireland. The revolution in 1646 ruined him and he returned to England penniless. Going on foot up to Cambridge, he began the study of Latin at 46 and three years later published a translation of Virgil in English verse. Encouraged by the success of this, he started studying Greek at the age of 50, and when Charles II came in with the Restoration, Ogilby had ready for him a presentation copy of a translation of Homer in heroic couplets. All went well with him for a time until the Great Fire burned his house, leaving him again almost penniless. Once more, this time at the age of 66, he flung himself into affairs. With more enthusiasm than erudition he planned a series of illustrated geographies or atlases of the world, mostly material translated by other writers.

"The most famous of these volumes is 'Ogilby's America,' well known to every collector of books in this country. It is a large folio illustrated with wood cuts by Hollar and others. Similar folios covering Asia, Africa and China exist. He also translated Aesop into English verse and wrote a delightful version of Androcles and the Lion.

"This combination of author, publisher, poet and Master of the Revels made him stand out as one of the busiest men of his time. Both Pope and Dryden poked fun at him for his enormous productiveness but it is perfectly safe to say that Pope owes him some debt for his translations. Perhaps the booksellers of our age would do well to be more familiar with his achievements, for he certainly was one who made literature pay. He showed himself a Scotchman to the last. One of his crowning achievements was to secure royal permission for a lottery, the prizes for which were the unsold copies of his own books which he had on his shelves."

Following Dr. Ogilby's address, Bishop Brewster, elder of the society, spoke briefly upon the difference between a Pilgrim and a Puritan, illustrating his definition with an amusing story. The historian-general of the National society, Hon. William McAuslan, of Providence, described his work as "Keeper of the Records" of the society, stating that he had on file 37,000 names of Mayflower descendants and 29,000 names of persons who had married into Mayflower lines. He also said that these records were at the disposal of members who wish to visit his office. The attendance at the luncheon was an unusually large one, 170 members and guests being present.

Halloween Surprise Party

Miss Julia F. Murtagh was delightfully surprised Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamblen, of Asylum street. The house was prettily decorated for the evening and vocal and piano solos and many games were enjoyed. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Smith, Miss Julia F. Murtagh, Wilfred La Pre, Miss Blanche La Pre, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamblen, Charles Hamblen, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jason Kingsley, Mr. and Mrs. Delphias La Pre, Mrs. Kannenberg, Miss Josephine Murtagh.

12 ways to measure REFRIGERATOR VALUE

No matter what kind of refrigerator you eventually choose we advise you not to spend a dollar until you know how the refrigerator meets the following 12 vital requirements determining the convenience and economy you can expect from it.

1 Is the mechanism simple, eliminating all troublesom machinery?
2 Is the mechanism hermetically sealed against dust?
3 Is all the mechanism on top?
4 Does the mechanism run in a permanent bath of oil?
5 Is the mechanism truly quiet in operation?
6 Is radio interference entirely eliminated?
7 Is there an easily accessible freezing regulator?
8 Is the chilling chamber sanitary porcelain—easy to clean?
9 Is the cabinet all-steel, warp-proof, rugged?
10 Does the cabinet afford maximum food storage space?
11 Is the cabinet up on legs?
12 Is it as easy to install as plugging in a light bulb?

"NOTHING TO APOLOGIZE FOR" SAYS SEN. BINGHAM

Connecticut Senator Does Not Intend to Offer an Apology For Statements Made in Senate—Senator Norris Introduces Resolution Condemning Sen. Bingham For Placing Eyanson on Official Payroll of Senate—Action Deferred Until Today—Efforts Being Made to Amend Resolution to Avoid Personal Condemnation of the Senator.

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 1.—(AP)—"I have nothing to apologize for," said Senator Bingham today after a resolution had been introduced in the senate by Senator Norris, of Nebraska, chairman of the judiciary committee, condemning the Connecticut senator, because of his placing Charles L. Eyanson, assistant to the president of the Connecticut Manufacturers association on the official payroll of the senate.

Senator Bingham made it plain that he does not intend to offer an apology for what he has said or done. Whether he will take part in the debate on the resolution when it is brought up for consideration, will depend, he said, on the course which the debate takes. He said that he had fully explained his position to the senate in regard to the employment of Mr. Eyanson, as well as to the lobby committee. Senator Norris has given notice that he intends to call up his resolution tomorrow. Friends of Senator Bingham are seeking to amend the resolution before it is voted upon. They wish, if possible, to make a distinction between the practice of placing an official of a manufacturers association on the senate rolls and the action taken by Senator Bingham which they believe was entirely innocent of any thought of wrong doing. The resolution as it now stands is a personal condemnation of Senator Bingham couched in strong terms. While some of the senators believe they should vote to condemn the practice of placing officials of outside organizations on the senate rolls, they are anxious to avoid, if they can voting for a personal attack on Mr. Bingham.

A prominent senator said that a distinction should be made between moral turpitude and "the unfortunate efforts of Senator Bingham to prepare himself for his duty with the finance committee while the tariff bill was before the committee." It was on request of Senator Fess that action on this resolution went over until tomorrow.

EFFORT TO CHANGE WORD CONDEMNED TO DISAPPROVED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.— (AP) — A Stiffly worded resolution of condemnation of Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, was put before the senate today by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, who will ask a vote on it tomorrow or Monday.

The resolution was introduced by the Nebraskan after the Connecticut senator sent word today to intermediaries that "I have nothing to apologize for." He sat silent, head resting on a hand, as Norris stood before him in the chamber and proposed the first resolution of its kind to be submitted in the senate in 27 years.

The resolution reads:

"That the action of the senator from Connecticut, Mr. Bingham, in placing Mr. Charles L. Eyanson, upon the official rolls of the senate at the time and in the manner set forth in the report of the sub-committee of the committee on the judiciary is contrary to good morals and senatorial ethics and tends to bring the senate into dishonor and disrepute, and such conduct is hereby condemned."

Senator Bingham testified before the lobby committee that he put Eyanson, who was receiving a salary from the Connecticut Manufacturers' association, on the senate payroll at the time he took him as one of his clerks into the secret sessions of the republican members of the finance committee while the tariff rates were being written. Eyanson turned his government pay over to the regular secretary of Bingham who he displaced on the senate roll.

Senator Fess, republican, Ohio, asked in a low tone that Senator Norris defer consideration of his resolution until tomorrow. The Nebraskan quickly assented. Fess immediately sought a private conference with the Nebraskan with a view to changing the word "condemned" to "disapproved." There was no indication tonight that Norris would concede to any modification, however.

The Nebraskan has informed those seeking to conciliate that he has no personal animosity to Bingham, but that his resolution represents a consensus among those who would seek even stronger action by the senate.

In presenting the proposal, Norris noted that as chairman of the judiciary committee he had appointed the lobby committee which investigated Bingham's relations with the Connecticut Manufacturers' association. Bingham severely condemned that committee and said it had been "framed against any friend of the administration."

Norris said Bingham had not disputed but had admitted the facts about his relations with the Connecticut Manufacturers' association as reported by the lobby committee. He described the Connecticut senator's language referring to the lobby committee as "discourteous."

The refusal of Senator Bingham to recede to the pleas of friends that he apologize for his activities and avoid the presentation of the resolution of condemnation was not surprising, Senator Bingham intimated to the voluntary intermediaries last night that he was not disposed to take such action under the appearance of a threat although he would consider it out of respect to his friends.

The Connecticut senator has been informed by his friends that it is very likely the Norris resolution will be adopted if it comes to a vote. Bingham, is understood to have taken the position that he will see it through.

There are indications that the Connecticut senator will again make a statement to the senate before a vote is taken on the Norris resolution, defending his use of Eyanson to help in his work on the finance committee in framing the tariff bill, in an attempt to have his position on record.

SENATE MAKES LITTLE HEADWAY ON TARIFF

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Informal conferences looking to early final action on the tariff bill by the senate failed today, and the suggestion of President Hoover for a meeting of republican minds to send the measure to conference with the house in two weeks produced no tangible results.

Some of the newer republican regulars suggested it might hurry matters along if an unofficial committee of six, comprising two senators from each of the republican regular and independent groups and the democrats, were selected to agree on a large percentage of uncontested rates, leaving only a few major controversies to be threshed out. It was proposed that this might be done during a week's recess of the senate.

Little welcome was accorded it, however, as the elder republicans awaited other suggestions to speed up the measure. Both Chairman Smoot, of the finance committee and Senator Jones, of Washington, acting republican leader, served notice that from now on responsibility for delay belonged to the coalition, since it was in control.

Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, democratic spokesman on the bill, was inclined to a plan whereby the democrats and republican independents would get together on each schedule of rates and present the results to the administration forces. Whatever the latter declined to accept, under this plan, would be settled in debate and by record votes.

Progress with rates was negligible during the day, which was devoted largely to general speeches. In one of these, a southern democrat—Ransdell of Louisiana—appealed to his colleagues to forget sectional animosities and partisanship and support the measure.

Ransdell quoted from the democratic platform and the Louisville speech of the party's presidential candidate, Alfred E. Smith, as calling for adequate tariff protection to agriculture and industry alike. He said, "It was a happy day for those of us who had been fighting the battle of protection within the ranks of the party almost single-handedly to know that once more our party has returned to the mooring of its first 40 years, after nearly a century of adherence to the policy of free trade and tariff for revenue only."

The Louisiana's speech drew a congratulatory reply from Senator Shortridge, republican, California.

Senator Blaine, republican, Wisconsin, charged the bill was written by Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Connecticut or a "small coterie" of the majority of the finance committee with "two or three others" controlling its framing.

HEAVY FOG BLAMED FOR LAKE DISASTER

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 1.—(AP)—What happened in the fog off Port Washington yesterday when the ore carrier Marquette and the freighter Senator crashed with the probable loss of ten lives in the sinking of the freighter remained conjecture tonight after a day of federal investigation.

Officers and crew of the ore boat, headed by Captain Walter F. Ambasary of Escanaba, were called before the federal steamboat inspector to relate their stories, all of them agreeing the lost freighter rammed broadside amidship into the Marquette's bow. Survivors of the Senator will not be heard until tomorrow.

The heavy fog was blamed for the tragedy, but just how the crash occurred remained undetermined. The federal inspectors endeavored to learn what effort the Marquette crew had made toward rescuing the survivors, but gained little information. Captain Ambary said he had ordered his lifeboats lowered, but his testimony was both contradicted and substantiated by other members of his crew. Their testimony brought out that the survivors who clung to wreckage drifted quickly away from the ore carrier and soon were lost in the fog.

Joseph McKernan, first assistant engineer, said the captain ordered him to get the life boats ready, but said he was never ordered to launch them. He did not know why, but offered the explanation that the crew of the Marquette was busy finding out whether their boat was going to follow the Senator down.

MAN FACING NOOSE FREED BY JURY

QUEBEC, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Aurele Delisle, of La Tuque, Que., whose execution for the murder of his wife, was prevented by granting of a new trial 48 hours before the time set for the hanging, was cleared of the crime today after a second jury trial.

Physicians who performed an autopsy on the body of Mrs. Delisle reported she died of poisoning January 5, 1926. She had been ill since the previous December. In his first trial, Delisle was convicted of murdering the woman, and sentenced to death on the gallows.

JEERS AND HISSES GREET BERLIN'S MAYOR

BERLIN, Nov. 1.— (AP) —Gustave Boess, lord mayor of Berlin, whose administration is under fire in connection with an alleged contract scandal, tonight announced that he has applied for an investigation and had asked for a leave of absence until this was concluded.

The lord mayor, who completed a visit to the United States with his arrival in Berlin this morning, was greeted with jeers, and hisses.

The scandal revolves around contracts given a Berlin furrier and clothier.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 1. —(AP)—Announcement was made today of the signing yesterday of an agreement between Poland and Germany cancelling 30,000 suits involving 1,500,000,000 gold francs. In this final liquidation of the World war problems all mutual claims arising out of the passing of Silesia, Posania and the "Corridor" to Poland were cancelled.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Turkish press today published reports that important changes may soon be made in the Turkish constitution giving President Mustapha Kemal the prerogatives of premier, namely the presidency of the cabinet and the choice of cabinet members. This would do away with the premiership, at present held by General Ismet Pasha.

NINE PERSONS KILLED AT GRADE CROSSING

ELKHART, Ind., Nov. 1.— (AP) — Nine persons, all members of the same family, were killed at a grade crossing at Osceola, Ind., seven miles west of here, tonight when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a New York Central passenger train.

The dead: John Flatt, Newcastle, Ind., and Mrs. Flatt; Dewey Brennan, and Mrs. Brennan, son-in-law and daughter of Mrs. Flatt; three Brennan children; Richard Vaughn, age 7 months, son of Ray Vaughn, Osceola, Ind., and grandson of Mrs. Flatt; Mary Flatt, 17.

A sister of Richard Vaughn, Betty Bell Vaughn, age 4, was seriously injured.

Witnesses said the driver of the automobile, believed to have been Flatt, apparently did not notice the approach of the train.

Mr. and Mrs. Flatt and the Brennans, also believed to have been from Newcastle, Ind., arrived this morning for a visit with the family of Ray Vaughn. The machine was carried nearly 100 feet along the track.

THREATS AGAINST HAMILTON PLACED BEFORE JURY

WEATHERFORD, Texas, Nov. 1.—(AP)—R. H. Hamilton late today took the witness stand in his trial for the slaying of his son-in-law, Tom Walton, Jr., 21, last May 4.

Hamilton testified that he and Walton had discussed the young man's desire to marry Hamilton's daughter, Theresa, twice in Hamilton's office and that the young man on the first occasion had decided to complete his education. At that time, Hamilton said, Walton denied that he and Theresa were married.

On the second meeting Hamilton continued, Walton had announced that he wanted to give up his education so that he might be married sooner. Hamilton said Walton in reply to a direct question, again denied that he and Theresa had married at that meeting. The witness said, he told Walton that he would object to the marriage unless Walton completed his education.

"I was trying to give him the same sort of advice I would have given to a son," Hamilton said.

Walton and Theresa Hamilton were married in February before either of the conversations described by the witness took place.

Spoken and written threats against Hamilton by his son-in-law were placed before the jury today.

Some of the witnesses declared Walton claimed he had been a member of the Al (Scarface) Capone gang of Chicago and had "blacked" questionable women there. Helen Hamilton said she heard Walton say he had two "Chicago gunmen shagging" her father.

All witnesses who knew of the marriage said they did not tell anyone who might have told Walton, and Mrs. Hamilton testified that Thresa denied she was married until after the killing.

LABOR GOVERNMENT PREPARES FOR PARLIAMENTARY BATTLE

LONDON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The labor government of England, reinforced today by the return of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald from his American trip, tonight made ready for its first major parliamentary battle, which will take place next Tuesday.

Three chiefs of the conservative party, including former Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, announced tonight that they would attempt to move a vote of censure next Tuesday against the government on the manner in which labor is working for resumption of relations with soviet Russia.

Mr. MacDonald, who held a cabinet meeting immediately after his arrival in London today, had hardly settled into Number 10 Downing street when the conservatives fired the first big gun of the political campaign.

Mr. Baldwin, Sir Austen Chamberlain, former conservative foreign secretary, and Mr. Locker-Lampson, one of the conservative leaders in the house, gave notice that they would move the following amendment in the commons next Tuesday.

"That this house deplores the failure of his majesty's government to maintain the conditions which the Prime Minister and the Foreign Secretary laid down for the resumption of diplomatic relations and condemns the resumption of such relations until such preliminary conditions have been satisfied."

Labor will thus meet its first big test on a measure of foreign policy. Its leaders, however, probably will consider that they are well fortified against attack in this particular matter.

'QUAKE KILLS WOMAN AS SHE WAS LEAVING CHURCH

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A woman was killed during a seven-second earthquake today which caused much alarm, shook houses, cracked walls and hurled down chimneys.

The woman was killed while leaving a church where a statue of the Archangel Raphael fell and crushed her.

Seismographic instruments at the observatory were damaged by the tremor which was one of the most severe ever experienced here.

SEN. NORBECK TO HEAD ICELAND COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—(AP)—Senator Peter Norbeck, of South Dakota, was appointed by President Hoover today to head the commission representing the United States to the Kingdom of Iceland at the celebration of the one thousandth anniversary of the Althing and to present to the people of Iceland a statue of Leif Ericsson.

Eight Hunters Shot, Two More Drop Dead

Long List of Casualties Mar[illegible] Opening Day of Hun[illegible] Season in Pennsylvani[illegible]

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Eight hunters were shot in hunting accidents on the first day of the hunting season in Pennsylvania today and two nimrods dropped dead from heart attacks.

Only one of the eight men was believed to be seriously wounded but he and three others may lose the sight of one eye as a result of their injuries.

John Dvorak, 23, of Allentown, is in a serious condition with gunshot wounds in the face and abdomen. The facial wounds may cost him the sight of one eye.

Roy Moser, 23, of Macada and Leonard Herring, 29, of Tamaqua, were shot in the face and may lose the sight of one eye. Dvorak, Moser and Herring were hunting near Allentown.

Charles Eckert, 37, of Mechanicsburg suffered gunshot wounds of the face and chest in Cumberland county and may lose the sight of one eye.

Paul Shetrow, 18, of Carlisle, was shot in the head and back in Cumberland county.

Samuel R. Himmelberger of Pottstown, was shot by his son, John, 18, in Berks county near Bechtelsville.

H. L. Buchanan of Grove City suffered wounds of both legs when he was shot by companions in Mercer county.

Anthony Bilhardt, 36, of Philadelphia, suffered wounds of the abdomen and thigh near Doylestown. He was shot by a member of his party.

William W. Robinson, 71, of Sharon, dropped dead near Sheekleyville in Mercer county and Anthony Everett of Philadelphia, was found dead along a road near Langhorne. Coroners attributed both deaths to heart attacks.

STOCK MARKET SITUATION DISCUSSED IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)— Republicans and democrats passed around the blame for the stock market situation in the senate today but agreed that it should and could be adjusted on a stable basis by leaders of the financial world.

Senator Robinson, republican, Indiana, contended that Chairman Raskob of the democratic national committee had "induced thousands to enter the stock market by publicly advocating stock purchase.

Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, accused Robinson of "playing politics" with the nation's temporary "delicate economic situation" and gave notice that "I don't propose to do anything by vote or expression that will retard in the restoration of economic stability." He said Raskob had urged investments only in sound securities and had not proposed speculation.

The Indiana senator began the discussion in response to the public statement of Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, charging that the repeated prosperity statements of President Hoover, Calvin Coolidge and Secretary Mellon had contributed to excessive speculation.

The Indianan argued that administration leaders were "no more responsible" for the stock market situation "than the man in the moon." Describing Raskob as a stock "plunger," Robinson read statements of the democratic chairman urging stock investments.

"Contrast that," Robinson of Indiana said, "with the known attitude of the president of the United States. Throughout his life, and especially during the eight years he served as secretary of commerce, legitimate commerce and industry reached unheard of heights of success and prosperity."

$20,000,000 CONCERN FILES PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 1.—(AP) — An organization valued at more than $20,000,000 built up through the financial wizardry of Wilbur B. Foshay, crashed today when a voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against the W. B. Foshay company, holder of public utility, industrial, banking and real estate property.

Collapse of the parent company carried with it subsidiaries in 30 states, and in Alaska, Canada and Central America, and marked one of the greatest financial disasters in the northwest.

Named with the W. B. Foshay company in the receivership action were the Public Utilities Consolidated corporation, the utility operating subsidiary of the concern, and the W. B. Foshay Building corporation, which owns the company's office structures in various cities, including the 32-story Foshay tower here.

Joseph Chapman, Minneapolis banker and merchant, was named receiver of the vast interests in the proceedings brought before Federal Judge Johnson B. Sanborn. Foshay filed only a brief answer agreeing to the receivership and declined to comment afterward.

Bandits Kill Man In Attempted Robbery

Assailants Escape After Shooting Secretary of Metal Concern in Brooklyn Office.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.— (AP) —Two robbers today shot and killed Sam Levinson, secretary of the B. and L. Metal Stamping company, in Brooklyn, in an attempt to rob the offices of the firm.

The robbers, each of whom carried a pistol, entered the offices and ordered Levinson and three employes to hand them money.

Levinson, shouting "give it to them," ran toward a storage room in the rear and was shot twice in the back.

His assailants escaped through the door without obtaining any money. Police believe the robbers mistook Levinson's command to hand over the money for instructions to his employes to shoot. Evinson leaves a widow and two small children.

RADICAL DEPUTIES FAVOR PROJECTED TARDIEU CABINET

PARIS, Nov. 1.—(AP)— Andre Tardieu, stepping in where Aristide Briand declined to tread and where two other political leaders had failed, confidently assured President Doumergue tonight that he would be ready to present a cabinet list by 7:00 p. m. tomorrow.

Believing that the interests of France as a nation are more important than the interests of political groups, the more conservative elements of the republic are striving to bring into being under Tardieu a ministry which will at once command the respect of the nation and stand a reasonable chance of obtaining a majority in the chamber of deputies when votes are taken on national policies.

Many feel that the parliamentary system of government as organized in France is now passing through a severe test. From the fall of the Briand government on the opening day of parliament on a question of procedure in matters to be discussed, the past 11 days have been filled with efforts by one man or another to bring a sufficient number of members of the many parties into agreement on a general program that would permit the machinery of government to go on.

The task was first submitted to leaders of the radical party. President Edouard Daladier of the party failed, and fell out with M. Briand. Etienne Clementel, of the same party, had no better success and blamed Daladier for insisting upon receiving the politically important portfolio of the interior.

These disagreements between leaders of the radical party have been reflected in the rank and file. Today about fifty radical deputies turned from Daladier and voted to support the projected Tardieu ministry. At the same time the radical parliamentary group voted to give complete liberty of action to its members in accepting or not portfolios in the new government.

SLAYER OF AKRON POLICEMAN ELECTROCUTED LAST NIGHT

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 1.—(AP) — Arthur J. Maul, convicted slayer of William H. Grubbs, Akron policeman, was electrocuted at Ohio penitentiary tonight. The youthful killer was calm until the last. There was a smile on his face as he entered the death chamber.

To the Rev. William Denton, superintendent of a mission at Akron, Ohio, who was one of those who fought unsuccessfully for a commutation, Maul extended his hand.

"Goodbye old pal," he said to the minister.

The guards took the prisoner by the arm and placed him in the chair. Maul did not lose his smile.

AIRPLANE PILOT AND PASSENGER SERIOUSLY HURT

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A commercial pilot and a passenger he had taken for a short flight over Sheepshead bay, were injured seriously today in the crash of their airplane into Jamaica bay near the Floyd Bennett municipal airport in Brooklyn.

The pilot, John Isola, 21, and the passenger, James McCarthy, 27, both of Brooklyn were rescued from the partly submerged plane by coast guardsmen. Both were unconscious. Rockaway hospital physicians said they had sustained internal injuries.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR REV. JOHN ROACH STRATON

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Funeral services for the Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist church and noted fundamentalist leader who died at Clifton Springs last Tuesday, were held tonight in Pythian temple here. Many of the more than 1500 men and women present wept openly as speakers praised Dr. Straton's character and work.

The body was taken to Warwick, N. Y., for interment tomorrow.

More Time To Play

You can always find people to tell you that the country is going to the dogs because we're doing so much playing.

"When did your grandmother find any time to play? There was a woman for you!"

No doubt.

Just the same we'd liked to have given her a vacuum cleaner, a washing machine, electric lights, running hot water a telephone, bakers bread, delicious canned foods, an automobile and a set of golf clubs.

Through advertising, science is giving us more and more time to play. Advertising is knocking minutes off every phase of household work from cooking to shopping, to give us leisure hours.

And we are using them as grandmother would have had she had the chance.

Read the advertisements in The Bulletin. It will bring you more time to play.

THOUSANDS CHEER MOSCOW TO NEW YORK PLANE CREW

Huge Throng Swept Police Off Their Feet as Giant Monoplane, Land of The Soviets, Came to Earth at Curtiss-Wright Field at 4.13 P. M. Yesterday—Landing Marked End of 12,500 Mile Flight Across Two Continents and North Pacific Ocean—Group of Russians in Native Costume Walked 15 Miles to Greet Crew of Plane.

CURTISS-WRIGHT FIELD, N. Y., Nov. 1.—(AP)—A new air courier of good will came to earth today in a spectacular ending of a flight from Moscow to New York.

The courier was the giant monoplane, Land of the Soviets, which reached its goal after an adventure of 70 days in which its crew of four braved the snow, typhoons and other dangers of a 12,500 mile journey across two continents and the North Pacific ocean.

The thrills and threats of disaster, ever present during the journey, remained with the ship even when the goal was attained after the last leg of the flight—a hop from Detroit—had been completed.

As the wheels of the craft struck the earth, 6,000 wildly cheering spectators stampeded over guard ropes and swept policemen off their feet in a rush for the plane, all unmindful of the two whirling propellers and a huge craft still travelling at a fast landing speed.

A call was sent out for all available ambulances in Nassau county, after many were knocked down in the rush, but only three were hurt and none of them injured seriously. A young man and a girl were taken into custody by police for refusing to heed requests when the officers attempted to stem the tide of persons headed for the plane and its occupants.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was prominent in the picture of confusion. At a moment when the excitement and danger were running greatest the colonel landed in his own ship from Wilmington, Delaware, and on a shout: "Here comes Lindy," 2,000 persons headed for him. Policemen fought off the crowd until Lindbergh bounded from his ship to an automobile truck to be taken to a hangar.

The Soviet ship was taxied to a hangar, but two-thirds of the crowd had overtaken it by the time it reached the doors and policemen and mechanics had to struggle almost an hour to get the ship inside, but not before it had a ground loop on the field as the fliers attempted to keep ship and crew away from the spectators.

Within the hangar Semyon Shestakov, the flight commander, Philip Bolotov, second pilot; Boris Sterlinov, navigator; Imitry Fufaev, mechanic, and Andreo Petroff, vice president of the Soviet Amtorg Trading corporation, who flew with the four others from Seattle, were met by Colonel Lindbergh.

In reply to cheering demands from outside the Soviet airmen were taken to the hangar roof where they waved greetings while the crowd displayed red flags and sang the "International." Newspapermen could not get near the fliers because of the throng, but Adolph Wolff, a sculptor, who shook the hands of the airmen in farewell at Moscow, reached one of the crew and shook his hand in welcome.

Colonel Lindbergh left the field in his own automobile, and the Soviet airmen, in another car and under police escort, departed for the Hotel Astor in New York where they will be guests of honor at a banquet on November 6. A public reception at the Polo Grounds has been arranged for November 9.

The Land of the Soviets came to earth at 4.13 p. m. eastern standard time. In the throng which greeted its arrival was a troup of Russians in native costume who had hiked the 15 miles from New York to the airport. Today's landing for the airmen marked the ending of a journey started on August 23.

FALL GETS YEAR IN JAIL AND $100,000 FINE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Albert B. Fall was sentenced to a year in jail and fined $100,000 today for accepting a bribe of $100,000 as secretary of the Interior for awarding a lease to the Elk Hills naval oil reserve to his California friend, Edward L. Doheny.

The sentence was tempered with mercy as had been recommended by the jury. Justice William Hitz permitted Fall his freedom on $5000 bonds pending appeal, and announced that if the jail sentence were to be carried out at this time he would have suspended it because of Fall's ill health.

A short while later at his hotel, the 68-year-old invalid issued his first public statement concerning his part in the oil leases. He asked the American people not to "believe me guilty of the damnable crime of which I am innocent."

The long statement said he was moved to break his long silence "by a deep sense to vindicate the faith of those who have loved, honored or trusted me."

Sentencing of the former cabinet officer required only a few minutes. Frank J. Hogan, his chief counsel, presented the arguments on two motions, one for arrest of judgment and one to set aside the conviction.

Justice Hitz in imposing sentence, said that had Fall been in good health he would have imposed the full penalty of $300,000 and three years in jail. The justice ordered it entered in the record that if he were on the bench and Fall later appeared for re-sentence, he would suspend the jail sentence because of the dependant's state of health.

"Words can not express my astonishment at the recent verdict of the jury holding me guilty," said Fall in his statement. "I know I am innocent and that the record clearly proves it. It seems that one strong man in the jury was able in the secrecy of the jury room to turn the jury against me by arguments that were unjust and unfair. * * * Whether he intended it or not, the trial judge in many ways conveyed to the jury his belief that I should be convicted and this argument was used in the jury room with ruinous effect against me."

WESTERNER TO SUCCEED MABEL WALKER WILLEBRANDT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A. Aaron Youngquist, attorney general of Minnesota, is to take over the prohibition enforcement post of the department of justice which Mabel Walker Willebrandt held for eight years.

Announcement of the election of Mr. Youngquist, who is a native of Sweden, was made today at the white house in a statement prepared by the department of justice and describing the new assistant attorney general as "dry politically and personally."

Appointment of Youngquist on the personal recommendation of Mr. Mitchell ended for the chief executive a quest which has been carried over several months since Mrs. Willibrandt resigned.

Early in the search Mr. Hoover virtually had decided upon the appointment of Hugh M. Alcorn, state's attorney of Connecticut. Republican leaders of the state were unable to agree upon this officer, however. Representative John Q. Tilson, party leader in the house, urging him and Senator Hiram Bingham and J. Henry Roraback, national committeman, interposing opposition.

Youngquist will be in charge of enforcing the income tax and narcotic laws as well as prohibition.

FALLING BUILDING STONE KILLED CHICAGO LAWYER

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Henry A. Berger, prominent attorney and trustee of the Chicago sanitary district, was killed instantly today when two massive blocks of building stone burst like shrapnel as they crashed to the sidewalk of a busy street intersection after breaking loose as a derrick swung them into the 34th floor of a new loop skyscraper. Pedestrians fled in panic.

CONFERRED WITH SENATORS ON GULF COAST RATES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Examining activities of the Southern Tariff association in connection with the pending tariff legislation, the senate lobby investigating committee today was informed by J. A. Arnold, vice president and general manager, that he had conferred with several senators in regard to obtaining satisfactory rates on gulf coast products.

Arnold said he talked with Senators Fletcher and Trammell, democrats, of Florida, participated in presenting a memorial to Senator Watson, the republican leader, and was a member of a committee which called on Senators Connally, of Texas, Black, of Alabama, and Harris, of Georgia, all democrats.

Attention of the committee was devoted almost entirely today to examination of Arnold's correspondence, which will be resumed at the next session Tuesday.

One of the letters, written by Arnold to a representative of the National Livestock association, said Senator Watson had suggested that "someone of us" get in touch with Senator Kendrick, of Wyoming in regard to the flexible provision of the tariff act. The letter said the vote was expected to be "close."

Another letter written by Arnold to Senator Watson suggested that Watson and Senator Thomas, republican, Idaho, confer with Representatives of farm organizations and that Watson tell them he was willing to help them in the rates on vegetable oil and long staple cotton if they would aid in passing the bill.

Promise of white house support was contained in a letter from G. S. Fletcher, of the Florida East Coast Growers' association, to Arnold. The letter said:

"If things come to where they are rocking up there, I will come up and see my friend Hoover and make them all be good."

Senator Fletcher was characterized as a "traitor along with other democrats" in a letter to Arnold from Lorenzo A. Wilson, of Jacksonville, chairman of the Florida division of the tariff association.

The letter added that Senator Trammell was "the best log-rolling politician that ever came out of any state in the Union—just as clever as he can be."

TO RELEASE CREW OF BRITISH VESSEL

NEW LONDON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Immigration officials tonight announced that the crew of the British vessel James B., which sank off Long Island Wednesday night, after her stern had been cut off by the coast guard patrol boat, Cahoone, would be taken to Boston tomorrow and from there would be sent by boat to their homes in Nova Scotia.

The announcement brought to an official close the inquiry instituted by customs, coast guard and immigration authorities after the British vessel's crew of eight men had been picked up by the Cahoonse following the sinking of the ship.

The crew consists of Captain Ephriam Stoddard, Mate Roland Williams, Engineer Orland Kent, Assistant Engineer Fred Wise, Cook Alec Surett and Edward Peterson, Albert Surett and Amos Brannen, seamen.

Lacking any evidence because of the sinking of the ship, coast guard and customs officials last night decided that they would take no action against the crew although the James B., had been on coast guard's list as a suspected rum runner for some time.

The British vessel is said to have been the property of William B. Moriarty of Halifax.

MAN CONVICTED ON HIGHWAY ROBBERY CHARGE

MANY ABUSE HALLOWEEN SPIRIT IN WILLIMANTIC

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 1—Pranks of Halloween celebrators were carried a bit too far in some instances, according to complaints received by the police. While little actual property damage was reported, several people stated that fence sections and gates had been removed. Probably the most serious of these complaints came from Lyman Maine, resident of the Windham back road. One of the buildings on the Maine property was highly bedecked this morning with profane words which had been painted on the exterior walls. Officer Arthur Hurley was detailed to make an investigation of this act, which bore evidence of maliciousness. For the most part, however, the celebrators confined their fun-making to ringing door bells, rapping on windows and appearing in grotesque costumes in which they promenaded about the streets.

The Andover town authorities have also been called in to investigate pranks in that town perpetrated by urchins impelled by the spirit of Hallowe'en. Several fence gates were removed, trees were trimmed with placards containing inscriptions relating to certain residents of the town, some of them none too complimentary. At the school house the railing and steps were smeared with grease. A large plank was fastened to the top of the chimney, the purpose of this being to "smoke" out the school. Janitor George Platt had to hire help to remove the plank before he could start the fire in the building this morning. Several farmers were put to some difficulty in locating their wagons and other implements of movable nature this morning.

The Willimantic State Trade school opened for the third month of the present term today with a registration of 116 students. Director Otto R. Nyffeler stated that of the total, 34 were taking up electrical work, 32 carpentry, nine painting and paper hanging, 16 plumbing, 12 draughting and 13 masonry. The evening school has a registration of 35 students. The evening class in mechanical drawing is under Instructor Clifford E. Williams of this city.

Edward C. Cox, of Wallingford, district deputy grand exalted ruler of Connecticut east and his suite of officers will make their annual visitation to Willimantic lodge No. 1311, B. P. O. Elks at the regular session next Wednesday evening. Guests and officers of the lodge will partake of a steak supper at the Nathan Hale hotel prior to the meeting. At the close of the session there will be a program of entertainment in the home. The occasion will make the beginning of a series of entertainments to be staged during the winter months in charge of the entertainment committee: Ralph B. Gates, chairman; Michael Longo and Jace Healy. Officers and members of other lodges in this section are expected to attend the meeting, during which a class of three candidates will be initiated.

At a bridge and whist given by the Catholic Welfare council in St. Mary's hall Thursday evening 30 tables were in play. The prize winners were: Whist, Mrs. Louise Wheaton and Alme Garlen, first; Mrs. J. H. Hurley and Arthur Lemieux, second; Miss Julia Murphy and Joseph Hebert, consolation; bridge: Mrs. Joseph R. Riordan and A. L. Gelinas; second, Mrs. Joseph P. Gaznon and consolation, A. J. Veziard. The door prize went to Mrs. Delphis Boucher.

The town board of assessors met with an onrush of property owners who called to file their tax list today, the final day for this purpose. A ten per cent penalty will be imposed to delinquents. As a special accommodation to those unable to call at the assessors' office in the town building, Assessor George E. Gifford received list until midnight at his home.

With the closing of the season at the Willimantic Country club, "Barney" Gunshinan, professional of the club, said today that with Mrs. Gunshinan he would leave soon for a visit with friends and relatives in New York city. The past season has been one of the best since the organization of the club, according to the "pro." Golf playing will be continued on the links as long as weather permits, but there will not be any match games until next year.

Roy Jones of Storrs was the driver of the car that collided with a truck operated by Max Kassman of Columbia, on Post Hill in that town Thursday. Kassman and his son were hurt, the former receiving treatment at St. Joseph's hospital. The truck was badly damaged. The latest report of the accident was that Kassman while descending the hill had suddenly turned into a driveway leading to his home, causing the Jones machine, which was following, to collide with the truck. State Policeman Terrill Cousens of the Stafford Springs barracks is conducting the investigation.

Following a chicken dinner in Chaplin, a local whist club Thursday evening adjourned to the home of A. Linn Weatherhead on Pleasant street where cards were enjoyed. Prizes went to Mrs. Walter R. King and Harold C. Lincoln, first; Mrs. Harold C. Lincoln and F. J. Kirtland, second.

A charge of non-support on which Omer Milliard of this city was arraigned in police court this morning was dismissed by Judge Frank H. Foss on the grounds of unsufficient evidence. Milliard pleaded not guilty to the charge as read by Prosecuting Attorney Harry S. Gaucher. The defendant and his wife, Mrs. Rose Milliard were the only witnesses.

The management of the Nathan Hale hotel conducted a successful Hallowe'en dinner and dance Thursday evening. Entertainment was furnished by Miss Maxine Bates dramatic soprano and Frank Borelli, novelty banjo and guitar player and vocalist, both of Boston, Mass., and Professor Joseph Hatchen of Springfield, Mass., dancer. Artistic decorations were used in the dining room.

The committee of James J. Shea Post No. 19, American Legion, reports satisfactory progress in formulating plans for the big Armistice day celebration. It is intended to make this celebration one of the outstanding ever attempted here and the legion already has the full support of virtually every organization in the community.

H. Davidson of Hartford, affiliated with the Burroughs Adding Machine company made the essay award of the company to Ralph Gardiner at a meeting of Lyceum of Windham high school this forenoon. Manager Davidson also presented an adding machine to the school in recognition of the effort. For entertainment the Freshman Glee club presented vocal numbers.

All Saints day was observed in the Roman Catholic churches of the city today with three morning masses at both St. Joseph's and St. Mary's at 5:30, 7 and 8 o'clock.

The Baptist and Methodist churches will unite in a joint prayer service at the Methodist church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. Harold H. Critchlow, the pastor, will be in charge, and Rev. David Winslow Lovett of the Baptist church will preach the sermon. A special music program is to be carried out with Edwin F. Cross director.

The social and Halloween whist held in Scotland Thursday evening under the auspices of Shetucket grange was attended by a number of people from this city. The affair was in charge of a committee consisting of Mrs. Lawrence Landgren, Mrs. Harold Eldredge and Roland Maine.

A current practice of shattering the small panes of glass on fire alarm boxes has led Acting Fire Chief Michael J. English to enlist police aid in securing prosecution against such violators. Children are suspected of being mainly responsible.

At a meeting of a sewing club of which Mrs. Robert H. Fenton is leader held at the home of Mrs. Horace J. Fenton at Spring Hill Thursday, a portfolio was presented Mrs. John C. Tracy, a member, who is to leave soon to make her home in California.

Walter Abbe, Jr., president of the Smith-Winchester company, South Windham, has written from Havana, Cuba, that he is enjoying his sail which will take him through the Panama Canal to San Diego Calif. Mr. Abbe will visit San Francisco and probably Seattle before returning across the continent by rail.

Dandelions are still in bloom hereabouts, as evidence in a bouquet of the blossoms picked today by Harry Peterson of Pleasant street on land of Samuel Chesbro near the state armory.

A successful food sale was held at the J. C. Lincoln company store this afternoon by Violet Rebekah lodge No. 57. The sale was in charge of a committee comprising Mrs. Sadie E. Curley, chairman, Mrs. Mabel Scribner, Mrs. Mary Lovett and Mrs. Ruth Bassette.

The selectmen have received the annual report of the officers of the town of Windham for the year ending September 14, the reports being in printed form.

An inspection of Mary Todd Lincoln Tent No. 15, was conducted at the regular meeting held in G. A. R. hall this evening, following a supper.

JEWETT CITY

OVER 40 ASHLAND MILL WORKERS ARE OUT THIS WEEK

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Nov. 1—During Tuesday, a few over 40 of the employes in the Ashland mills rayon warping department walked out, upon learning of a heavy cut in their weekly wages. Reckoning both the night and day shifts, there are 47 men and young women involved. Some of the girls employed in the rayon warping department were making $50 a week. The revised wage schedule seen today, with proposed reductions, proves that the girls could make now an average of $35 per week. Comparisons in wages for like services in different parts of the east show no such figures anywhere as $50 for like labor in the same line. Manager Edward W. Smith has held several open and friendly conferences with the men and girls and has considered their grievances. Although it has been made possible for certain of the help to go back to their machines, yet the management flatly refuses to reinstate certain of the strikers whom, it is claimed, have acted as agitators in this matter. It was stated today, relative to the continued operation of the warping department, that, insofar as it is possible, the vacant jobs will be filled from other parts of the mill. There are many more applicants for these recently-vacated places than are needed. Some are already here from New Market, N. H. Any talk of crippling the manufactory is entirely outside the possibility of fact. Warps, ready for the loom, can if necessary be shipped here as heretofore, without delay. The matter of difference this evening is seen, not so much in the cut in wages but in the fact that the strikers may hope for a general reinstatement without discrimination. With any such request the management will find it impossible to comply. There have been two unfortunate occurrences, although not directly connected with the strike, which are said to be indirect outcomes of existing conditions. Three men have been fined in the town court, two Thursday and one today, for breach of the peace at the mill at 2 a. m., Thursday. The fines given by Judge John T. Barry ranged from $10 to $35 and costs. One of the men, he who received the largest fine, made his escape from Officer Vlegard while the officer was endeavoring to bring the trio to the police station. Thursday evening while the mill was in operation by the night shift, someone, as yet unknown, either with a knife or scissors slashed two rayon warps. Mr. Smith stated that the damage, variously reported from $500 to $1,500, would not exceed $20. This act, it is certain, was entirely an inside job, and not the work of any striking employe. There was plenty of talk on the street today. The comment, which was generally a fair reflection of public sentiment, is to the effect that damage to mill property and any acts of violence are a long shot from getting anything for such as may have a grievance to adjust; also that, from $33 to $35 a week is "pretty fair pay."

Pachaug Grange Social

Pachaug Community club met in Grange hall Thursday evening, with an attendance of 160. The program, in charge of Mrs. Ellen Young, was opened with community singing, led by Byron Kinnie with Mrs. Kinnie at the piano. Then followed: Selection, with encore, by the orchestra; monolog, by Miss Mildred Slater; piano solo, Miss Elsie Brown several selections by a quartet, Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Hyde, Miss Mabel Frink and Edward Thornton, with Miss Brown at the piano; violin solo, with encore, Stanley Kurjis, accompanied by Everett Thornton; comic sketch, "A Visit from Tom and Andy," by Mr. and Mrs. C. Frank Morgan, Robert Bitgood and little Ruth Morgan; piano solo, Everett hornton; minstrel, of songs, jokes and whims, given by a girls' club from Preston City; selections by the orchestra. Following a lunch of sandwiches, cake and coffee, served by the committee, all enjoyed the social hour with dancing and music. The executive committee will have charge of the next meeting, Nov. 29.

Airmen Coming

If the schedule of the Colonial Flying service of Hartford is carried out as expected the borough, today (Saturday) and tomorrow, may expect to see exhibition and stunt flying, right over the town. Lieutenants Sansom and Wright, ex-air pilots on the Boston and New York night mail dispatch, are expected to be here. There will be opportunity for any who wish to see the borough from the air, and look down one's own chimney.

Follow the crowd to Zegeer's store. Big reduction today. Women's coats with fur trimming as low as $5; dresses at $4.98 to $8.98; ready-to-wear hats at $2.98; men's furnishings sold at reasonable price.—adv.

With a precipitation of less than half an inch, during Thursday night, it appeared Friday that another promise of much-needed rain had failed.

Finn's tonight, mat. 3:30: all-talking picture, High Voltage, with William Boyd.—adv.

The late Senator Thedore Alijah Burton, of Ohio, was a cousin of Albert Burton, of Griswold, also of Mrs. Frank I. Ray, of Jewett City.

Finn's Sun., 7 and 8:45: all-talking and singing, Words and Music, with Lois Moran.—adv.

Bold, bad, bearded buccaneers paraded the borough streets Thursday evening, accompanied by an escort of languishing ladies, attired in gowns of surprising dimensions. One small chap, evidently right from the graveyard, carried an illuminated skull with green eyes, at the tip of a 10-foot clothes pole. Several small sirens begged rides from local automobile owners—then walked back. There were some tales told of old-time gate shifting operations but that was as far as it went. The celebration was reasonably orderly, with no necessity for police interference.

Finn's Downy Flake delicious doughnuts. Come in and see them made.—adv.

RED CROSS BENEFIT CARD PARTY CLEARS $100

Mrs. W. A. Richardson, chairman of the Disaster Relief committee of Jewett City chapter, American Red Cross, was in charge of a benefit whist and bridge in Rioux hall Thursday evening. The proceeds are to help reimburse the chapter treasury for the expense of the recently purchased inhalator. Over $100 was the net result. Prizes at bridge went to Mrs. John LeClaire, Miss Doherty, John LeClaire and Louis Cyr. At whist, Miss Grace Mecteau and Mrs. Catherine McCoy, Cidel Bryant and Emile Barthelet. The prizes were donated by B. R. Gardener, Charles R. Caron, W. H. Cruickshank (Norwich), Joseph Jaskiewicz and Arremoney & Son. The use of the hall was given by T. A. Rioux. Mrs. Richardson was assisted by Misses May and Margaret Driscoll, Anna Ruszenas, Josephine Ambot, Mildred McCluggage, Mildred Olson, Verna Tarbox, Loretta Alley, Dorothy Paul, Mrs. O. F. Durfey, Mrs. Walter Marshall, Miss Ida Foster, Mrs. Alice Anthony, Mrs. L. G. Buckingham and Mrs. Edward Clarke (Voluntown). Home-made candy was sold by Mrs. Anthony and Mrs. Buckingham.

Surprised Miss Goodenough

Dorcas circle of The King's Daughters called on Miss Priscilla Goodenough Thursday evening and gave her a real Halloween surprise party, which will be brought to her mind for 52 weeks hence. Among the visitors were a witch, a ghost, and Mary Mahoosh MaCoosh. The witch (Miss Grace Olin) read a poem which presented Miss Priscilla an enormous pumpkin moonshine Sunshine basket. It contained a gift for every week for a year, each package in Halloween wrappings, and every holiday package in regulation colors, Carnations, apples, a watermelon and a Jerusalem cherry tree accompanied the basket. Rev. G. F. Goodenough told a story of the origin of Halloween, which was followed by a ghost story read by the ghost (Mrs. E. H. Hiscox), who removed her head before reading the poem. The poems were composed by Miss Olin. Mary Mahoosh MaCoosh, in ludicrous costume and with her dinner basket of animal crackers, impersonated a school girl and read an original composition on A Hen. The game, The Minister's Cat, caused several brain storms. Ice cream, fancy wafers and cake were served by Misses Olin, Mabel Wilcox and Virginia Goodenough.

The communion service is to be observed at the Congregational church Sunday morning.

Faith chapter, No. 82, O. E. S., plans to entertain the grand officers at a special meeting Monday evening.

Mrs. E. A. Faust and Mrs. Walter Marshall and Rev. G. F. Goodenough attended the semi-annual meeting of the New London Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers in the United church, Norwich, Tuesday. In the evening Misses Virginia Goodenough, Margery Webster, Lucille Tomlinson and Estelle Shorey attended the missionary rally of young people at Park church.

WAUREGAN

MRS. ARMENA CHAGNON INJURED BY A FALL

Mrs. Armena Chagnon fractured a colair bone and three ribs this week, the result of falling down stairs. Much apprehension was felt for her condition because of her age and general condition, but Friday the patient was much improved.

OBITUARY

Jack Elliott

Jack Elliott, son of Mrs. W. T. Burns died Thursday evening after a long illness. He had lived in Wauregan only about two years, but had endeared himself to the young people of the town. August 8th last he became old enough to join the local troop of Boy Scouts, a pleasure long desired. He was an excellent pupil in the grammar schools and faithful in attendance at Sunday school. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Burns, the brothers, Wallace and James, and Helen a sister will have the sympathy of the entire community.

The usual stunts connected with Halloween were enacted in the village, all the young in years and spirit enjoying themselves immensely at the expense of the timidity of the aged.

Leach's orchestra has been engaged to play at the weekly dances following the basketball games at the Plainfield Community house.

FRANKLIN

WINNERS OF PRIZES AT SODOM SCHOOL PARTY

The Sodom school, Franklin, held a most enjoyable Halloween party Thursday afternoon at the school. All children were in funny costumes, which caused much merriment, especially when the teacher, Miss McIntosh tried to guess who was who. There were three guests. Songs and games were a feature. In the peanut hunt the prize was won by Harold Breslin, pinning the nose on a pumpkin by Nathan Cushman and drawing the best pumpkin, blindfolded, by Josephine Lolisa.

Sandwiches, cake, cookies, candy, peanuts, and lemonade were served by the committee: Mary Gayeski, chairman, Alice Rathbun and Mildred Rathbun, Mrs. John McHale presented each one present with a surprise package wrapped very prettily with Halloween decorations. Miss McIntosh's kindness and thoughtfulness was appreciated by all.

CELEBRATING HALLOWEEN

With the sane observance of Halloween there can be no objection. It is only where there is a disposition to annoy the sick and aged, where property damage is caused and where celebrants insist upon going too far and making a nuisance of themselves by their acts of rowdyism that public opposition develops.

Each year finds new acts added to the Halloween pranks. They are invariably of a destructive nature and it is to this unwillingness to keep the observance within harmless lines that objection arises and demands for its ending, through proper punishment result. There is, of course, no one to blame except those directly involved, barring the possible lack of sufficient parental supervision to properly control the situation.

As long as the impression prevails that anything can be done on Halloween, whether it be inconsequential or serious, conditions will not improve. When it is understood that there are limits beyond which the authorities will not show the toleration a different attitude will be displayed.

Much is to be said in commendation of the type of Halloween observance which was held at Norwich Town. That was an orderly and interesting observance with no restrictions to unusual costuming and no obstacles to plenty of wholesome fun. It was in marked contrast to the practice of putting barrels in the path of automobiles, with the chance that accidents and injuries might follow, and of doing numerous other stunts which mean damage to property or the unjustified annoyance of peaceful neighborhoods.

The Norwich Town plan is in keeping with that which is followed in some other places, where special attention is given to the organizing of parades and games fitting to the occasion and creating an atmosphere for a worthwhile observance of the occasion without resort to the dangerous, reckless and reprehensible conduct which goes far beyond any of the games and stunts which should be associated with Halloween. The need for safety and sanity on Halloween is being demonstrated quite as effectively as it has been for the Fourth of July.

CANADA AND LIQUOR

In connection with the search for truth some heated meeting the liquor problem attention has frequently been called to the methods which have been employed in the several provinces of Canada. Canada has been wrestling with the problem for years, the various provinces having adopted different methods or combinations from time to time. In Quebec government control prevails; in Ontario, it has existed for the past three years, the previous to which prohibition was in force for ten years. Currently there has been some question as to the results obtained from the three years' experience for in the general election held this week there was a demand for a referendum and the question was submitted to the people. This threw the liquor question into the campaign at a time when the party in power did not believe it was justified, but it stood for a continuance of the government control arrangement and was upheld by the vote of the people.

This means that the popular vote gave endorsement to the existing method of handling the liquor situation and the administration which has introduced it and maintained it for three years. It has given the government which was returned to power the opportunity to claim that its policy is the one that meets the demands and requirements of the province.

While the vote was being taken in Ontario, a referendum was also under way in Nova Scotia. For about nine years that province has prohibited the sale of liquor to prescriptions. It was once before a question as to liquor under government control but it was too difficult to obtain it illegally and take the chances of the consequences. Nova Scotia has expressed its disapproval of such a method. The rest has convinced it that government control should be given a chance, although just across the Northumberland strait the little province of Prince Edward Island has insisted upon the continuation of prohibition.

Canada has long been pointed to as an example of what can be expected from various methods of handling the liquor question and it appears that it will continue to furnish facts for some time to come.

WHEN STATES DISAGREE

The Boulder dam project was a long time under agitation before favorable action was taken in congress, but it promises to be a long time before any great progress is made on the proposed development, even though congress has acted.

The reason for the delay in the first place was to a large extent due to the fact that the several states directly concerned in the Colorado river and its water rights could not agree. There is no agreement at the present time and because of the opposition that has been displayed by Arizona it looks as if there must be much litigation before the way will be cleared.

When congress acted it was disclosed that six of the seven states had given their approval and it was believed that the opposition of Arizona could be overcome. Such has not been accomplished and it is a wise policy which has been adopted by the interior department, which will have charge of that work, declining to make any start on the work until all litigation and its uncertainties is ended.

In the efforts to get an adjustment of the various claims, negotiations have been underway between Arizona, California and Nevada. They have gotten nowhere and Arizona now proposes to go to the courts which, of course, means that much time will probably be required before a final decision is reached.

The Colorado river is a long one and there is much dependence placed upon its waters for irrigation purposes. It is also fully understood that there are times when it is impossible to keep the river within its bounds and floods and destruction follow. Arizona seems to feel that the Boulder dam project is going to injure its rights. Those are bound to be carefully guard, but if the dam only serves to store up the surplus without reducing the flow of the river the fears of Arizona may be more imaginary than real. Till Arizona is satisfied, however, the folly of proceeding to do something which may be against the court's decision is perfectly apparent.

NEW ENGLAND'S FOREIGN TRADE

New England is ever desirous of helping itself. It believes that there is an opportunity through advertising and it has adopted it to a greater or less extent. It is believed that there is an opportunity to cultivate foreign markets and therefore increase production, and it has solicited the assistance of the federal department of commerce in getting the facts concerning our foreign trade position.

What this will amount to will depend to a large extent upon the degree of cooperation which is given the department in its quest for information. It is an opportunity to encourage a study of the facts and figures concerning the share which New England has in our foreign trade. From it there should be learned what we sell abroad, where we sell it and from it there should result valuable information as to what lines and what foreign markets offer the best opportunities.

New England is desirous that its industries should be busy. It is only a common desire that they should show a steadily increasing business. That is important if there is going to be development, but if there are opportunities for New England industries to serve the foreign market to a greater extent than they are doing, in addition to meeting the requirements of the domestic market, it is not only a good thing to know but advice which manufacturers should be eager to get.

At the present time the need seems to be to furnish the information which is sought by the department of commerce, in which effort it is engaged at the request of New England business. If there has been a failure in the past to get foreign trade which was available, the present is a good time to right-about face and go after it through observing the necessary preliminaries.

A BREATHING SPELL

Wall street is experiencing some relief. Marked is the contrast there this week end compared with the last, but the closing of the stock exchange simply affords the relief to those connected therewith and with the brokerage houses which the unprecedented conditions of a few days ago made necessary. It had gotten to the point where there was not time enough in which to cope with the situation. Human endurance has its limits but the rest that has been provided comes at the proper time. There was an emergency situation which could not be met indefinitely by additional clerks and longer hours.

Without a doubt the closing of the exchange will also have its good effect upon market conditions. Things have happened in such a manner that too many have failed to really sense the situation. They have been carried away by mob psychology and failed to stop and realize that the driving down of prices was not the result of any adverse fundamental conditions. Great sacrifices have been made and huge losses sustained without realizing in many instances that it wasn't necessary.

Thus time in which there can be a proper appraisal of the situation and a realizing that industry is still actively engaged and business conditions are good should have its quieting effect. The last ten days have served to show the dangers of narrow marginal trading in the stock market. Such disturbances are not pleasant, but they carry their own lessons and inasmuch as there is nothing fundamentally wrong it is well that the healing influences of a short rest for the market should be allowed to get in their work.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Now that we have reached November, we must expect what goes with it.

The man on the corner says: The brand of cigars a man smokes depends on how well he knows the ropes.

Those senators who are asking that the president set forth his position on the tariff should remember that he has done so at least twice.

Just because there has just been a celebration of the electric light's anniversary doesn't mean that everyone is satisfied with his light bill.

The United States chamber of commerce's referendum on a change of the calendar failed. But probably you didn't anticipate anything else.

While G. Bernard Shaw declares parliament to be useless he ought to give the United States senate the once over and see how much worse it is than parliament.

The thought of Senator Norris of Nebraska running for office again is as disheasing to many in that state as elsewhere. He should stick to his announced determination to quit.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

It is impossible to overemphasize the importance of continually warning school children of the dangers of the crowded streets—in these days especially. If there ever was a time when "eternal vigilance was the price of liberty," certainly these are the days when "eternal vigilance is the price" of living at all. It is probably true that parents and school teachers are doing their duty in warning children of the dangers of our streets today. And yet in spite of it all it makes one's blood run cold to see what chances children take on the public highways. Of course it may be necessary to cross the crowded street, but there is absolutely no excuse for making the thoroughfare a playground as many of them do not hesitate to do in these days. Not only that but you can see them using the streets as sidewalks, sometimes walking many of the children abreast greatly to the annoyance of auto drivers. This ought to be stopped at once!

It is difficult to compare one thing with another when both are essential, yet Lord Bacon in his Advancement of Learning says this: "The world being inferior to the soul by reason whereof there is agreeable to the soul of man a more ample greatness, a more exact goodness, and a more absolute variety than can be found in the nature of things." Is not the material which for a longer or shorter period is the home of the soul necessary for the soul as long as it inhabits the world? In other words is there evidence that a human soul ever existed without having—for a greater or lesser period—a human body? Is it not difficult to compare one thing with another thing when both are essential to life? If we cannot live without a human body that body is essential, and nothing more so as far as our present existence is concerned.

Dr. A. A. Stockdale, minister of Rogers Park Congregational church, Chicago, in a recent article on "The Dynamic of Advance," makes these significant remarks: "There never was a time in America when Christian sacrifice would mean as much as today. By sacrifice we can relieve the conscience from defending the known causes of much discontent and restless satiated boredom. By sacrifice we can transform the decays of waste into the ministries of wisdom. By sacrifice, we can cause the cost of our excesses to carry the deficits of inadequate provisions. By sacrifice, we can do without enough for our health and happiness to produce the working funds for education, healing and evangelism, that are impossible among lands and peoples of need. By sacrifice, we can use a minus to four G's to make a plus to one G. We can subtract from grocery, golf, garage, and gout and add to the gospel."

One who followed the spirit manifested at the last National Council of Congregationalists at Detroit could hardly fail to be impressed with the spirit of unity that marked all the services. This was seen most pointedly when the question of organic union with the Christians came up. Of course this was a matter that could not be legally consummated at that gathering. But the enthusiasm with which the suggestion was received showed clearly the trend of the Council's thought, and that body did all that was humanly possible at the time being by taking the necessary preliminary steps. There did not arise any serious objection to the proposition and a committee was appointed to draw up a plan of union. In this age of growing religious toleration, why should we not come together rather than stay apart? This only could be done in the great name of the Master.

If anyone is inclined to call the church of Christ in these days narrow, all he has to do to cure him of his mental illness is to cast his eye over the list of activities that any one of the denominations is engaged in at present. At the Detroit meeting of the last national council 20 committees and commissioners were appointed to overlook the religious work that the denomination was expected to do. Not only are the spiritual needs of the unfortunates in the United States taken into account, but the spiritual needs in all parts of the world. There is nothing along the line of physical, mental and spiritual wants of humanity anywhere that is not embraced in this wide programme of helpfulness. In the writer's judgment nothing has come nearer to our Lord's command to "Preach my gospel in all the world."

When these items appear in print The Older Boy's conference will have closed its sessions in Norwalk. This is another evidence of the great variety of work that our churches are engaged in; not the churches alone but other kindred organizations that foster the welfare of the young such as the Y. M. C. A. and the Boy Scouts. As one reads over the lists of topics considered he finds them adapted to the mind of the older lad. It is helpful to the boy in enlarging his vision beyond the limits of his provincialism. And it also sets him to thinking along those larger lines that will be of great practical value later on. Sunday schools and other young people's societies will reap a benefit from such conferences in the years to come. To get this value the boys must take an active part in all these conferences. It is not enough to listen to the thoughts of others, but each ought to make some personal contribution. This can be done by bringing the spirit of such gatherings to the home church.

A very striking little pamphlet, having for its title, Broadcasting International Good Will, from six important stations, has been issued. It has stamped on the outside cover a colored map of the region known as the near east. It also gives us on another page two heroes of the faith who have made history in that part of the world: Dr. George Washburn, for many years president of Robert college, Constantinople, an institution that has changed the intellectual face of the orient; the other is that of Dr. Daniel Bliss, who as founder and president of the American university at Beirut did a similar work in that section of the east. By a strange coincidence these two pioneers were room mates at Amherst college. Dr. Bliss graduating in 1852, and Dr. Washburn in 1855. When in Amherst they planted two trees that now adorn the grounds; they have also left in the near east two mighty monuments that will perpetuate their names.

The following is so instructive, and is related so closely to the above that I copy it verbatim: "Seventy years ago a New York sugar merchant, Christopher Rhinelander Robert, traveling in the east, observed in the harbor of Constantinople a small boat loaded with American bread. Curious as to its origin in that foreign country, he sought the baker. He discovered Cyrus Hamlin, an American missionary, and learned that he was operating a bakery in connection with his mission school, for the supply of bread to the Crimean soldiers in the Florence Nightingale hospital. At their meeting Mr. Robert and Dr. Hamlin found a common ground: a desire to establish an American college for the near east. There were many difficulties in the way, but with Mr. Robert's money and Dr. Hamlin's organizing capacity Robert college was opened to students in 1863."

SCORES OF INVENTIONS ARE PRODUCTS OF NORWICH INGENUITY

The announcement that Dr. Leonard T. Troland, Norwich native, is co-inventor of the technicolor process for making motion pictures in natural colors adds another name to the long list of men either born or resident in this city whose ingenuity has contributed in an important way to the well being of humanity. The life stories of not less than 40 such men are discoverable in The Bulletin files, and it is probable that several hundred others have received more or less brief mention.

Typewriter

Of all these inventions, one of the first in point of time, and possibly the very first in commercial importance, is that of the typewriter. The Bulletin of Jan. 20, 1887, reports:

"The typewriting machine, which was invented in this city in 1842-3 by Charles Thurber, of the firm of Allen & Thurber, who then did business at the Falls, has been found in Worcester and placed on exhibition there as the first typewriter ever made in this country, and Worcester naturally claims the honor of the invention, but it must concede it to Norwich.

"This machine was invented, wholly built and exhibited in Mr. Thurber's shop in Norwich in 1843. At first letters printed upon paper were glued to the keys, but they came off with use. George H. Martin of Norwich was then employed to carve the letters upon the ivory caps. Mr. Martin informs The Bulletin that the letters were raised upon the keys so that the machine could be used by the educated blind man as well as by anyone else. Mr. Thurber intending thereby to extend its use. There is no doubt a Worcester man invented the machine, but it was conceived and matured in Norwich, from which place ran the first turnpike road and the first bicycle built in this country."

Bomb Lance

Close upon the heels of the typewriter came the invention of the bomb-lance by Christopher C. Brand, which revolutionized the whaling industry, at that time one of the mainstays of New England's prosperity. Before Mr. Brand's time, whales were killed by means of a harpoon driven into the monster's body by hand, a most dangerous operation to be performed on the hugest creatures that ever lived, some members of which weigh as much as 95 tons. Mr. Brand's invention consisted of a heavy gun which shot a lance carrying a bomb that exploded inside the whale, thereby killing it at a safe distance from the marksman.

The Bulletin of Monday, Dec. 13, 1875, reports Mr. Brand's death as follows:

"Christopher C. Brand died Saturday night. He was a native of this county and for many years a resident of Norwich. He was engaged for a long time in the manufacture of the bomb-lance for whaling, on which he had a patent, but retired from active business some years ago. He was an honorable and generous man and a true friend."

Cork Cutting

An industry which once meant a great deal to Norwich was that of cork-cutting. This industry owed its rise here to the invention in 1852 of a machine to perform work which up to that time had been unsatisfactorily done by hand. John D. Crocker, an artist, was the inventor; his work was subsequently improved upon and developed by two other men, his brother, W. R. Crocker and R. F. Goodwin, the latter manufacturer specializing in cork-grinding as well as in cork-cutting.

In 1854 Courtlandt Palmer of New York and Horace Smith and Daniel B. Wesson, members of the firm of Smith & Wesson of this city, formed a limited partnership for the exclusive use and control of certain patent rights relating to the cartridges and breech-loading firearms which had been issued in 1849 and 1850." This partnership also acquired the patent issued in February, 1854, for a tubular magazine repeating firearm to Smith and Wesson of Norwich. The manufacturing of these weapons began at once here, but within a few months the partnership sold part of its patents to the Volcanic Repeating Arms company, the president of which was Oliver F. Winchester. It continued in business in Norwich for another six months when it was sold to Winchester and moved to New Haven, still under the original name. Such is the history of the early patents which contributed to the establishment of two giant firearms manufacturing concerns.

Other Inventors

Other Norwich men who made important contributions to the improvement of firearms were F. W. Hood, H. H., S. S., C. W. and S. P. Hopkins, F. H. Allen and C. C. Brand.

Following is a partial list of Norwich inventors, together with the inventions for which they are responsible:

Alba F. Smith, railroad appliances; William H. Doane, wood-working machines; William H. Page, wood type, steam boilers; Caleb B. Rogers, machine lathes, etc.; Byron Boardman, staple-making machine, etc.; John Turner, John Batcheler, cord-covering machines; William T. Chamberlain, improved steam engine; Benjamin and Edward Oldfield, loom, suspender-making machine; George W. Fuller, diving apparatus; Isaac E. Palmer, hammocks; W. E. Hiscox, Vulcan bicycle chain; Philip Burns, bicycle chain; J. P. Collins, water wheel; Arthur B. Wilcox, speedometer; J. F. Cranston, center-fire cartridge; Charles Goulding, the Goulding spinner; Daniel M. Lester, envelope-making machineryr; Edson F. Galludet, airplane method for liquifying air; Osias Dodge, method for reproducing pictures; Benjamin Hall, wool-rinsing machines; George F. Bard, plumbers' unions; C. William Vogel, reed organs; Lyman Gould, the circular saw; Edward A. Sterry, faucet; George W. Smith, water meter; Gen. Edward Harland, 300-year calendar; Edwin Allen, envelope machine and envelope printing press; Eugene F. Lewis and Luzerne Spaulding, noiseless vacuum producer for railroad brakes (forerunner of the present air brake); George H. Moore, water filter; Prof. A. E. Dolbeare, condenser (electrostatic) telephone, wireless telegraphy (1886); J. H. Morrison and W. H. Osborn, cotton gin; William H. Allen, dental implements; Henry Aldrich, non-pickable locks, used for fire-alarm boxes; Fred W. Wier, ruby light for photography; Archie McNicol, machine for printing both sides of cloth; the Rev. A. T. Perkins, dry-air process for fruit shipments; H. A. Gray, nonslip trolley; H. F. Dawley, lumber-measuring devices; F. H. Roath, S. Carpelman, process of soldering aluminum; Levi W. Meech, perpetual calendar; Howard L. Stanton, bicycle steering apparatus, after which the present automobile steering wheel is patterned.

YOUR HEALTH

Common Ailments in Children.

By J. Epstein, M. D., New York, N. Y.
(From Gorgas Memorial Institute)

POOR APPETITE: Mothers frequently complain that their children do not eat enough. In the majority of cases this is only in the imagination of an over-anxious mother. Poor appetite in children may be due, however, to improper food, improper feeding, constipation, or an unhealthy mouth. A proper and regular diet will improve the appetite. A mild, pleasant laxative should be given when necessary.

VOMITING: Vomiting is usually the result of bad or forced feeding. Morning vomiting may be due to constipation, late suppers, or to chronic throat infection. In nervous children, excitement or an aversion for food may be the trouble.

CHRONIC CONSTIPATION: In the majority of cases, chronic constipation is the result of insufficient food, improper food or irregular habits.

COUGH: Cough in a child may be due to large tonsils and adenoids, bronchitis, asthma, chronic heart disease, whooping cough or tuberculosis. A persistent cough must not be neglected.

FATIGUE: When a child is easily tired and is unable to carry on the usual activities of childhood, he is suffering from lack of food, insufficient rest, anemia or some chronic ailment.

LOSS OF WEIGHT: This is an almost constant symptom of some chronic ailment. In some cases it may be due to indigestion, constipation, improper food or improper feeding. A persistent loss in weight is suspicious of tuberculosis.

ANEMIA: This is usually due to malnutrition, unwholesome food, lack of air and sunshine. Chronic diseases, loss of blood, or blood diseases, give rise to anemia.

SLEEPLESSNESS: When a child is restless or sleepless at night he may be suffering from large tonsils and adenoids, too little or too much food, late suppers, nervous disorders, excitement, or pin-worm.

FEVER: A rise in temperature is the first evidence of some abnormal function of the body. Fever is a general index to some infection or intoxication. During childhood, a persistent daily rise in temperature may mean heart disease, tuberculosis, or rheumatism.

Do not wait until the child is really sick to consult the family doctor. Have him looked over at least once a year. Get the prevention in ahead of the trouble and avoid the necessity of cures. Fresh air and sunshine, proper feeding, cleanliness and good habits, and a family doctor who is a close friend and not a stranger held at long distance for emergencies, will prevent most ailments in infants and children.

Sunday Morning Talk

God's Thoughts.

"How precious also are thy thoughts unto me, O God!"

The psalmist is not alarmed at the fact that God knows all about him. On the contrary he is comforted, and even feels himself enriched, as with a casket of precious jewels. That God should think upon him is the believer's treasure and pleasure.

He cried: "How costly, how dear to me is thy perpetual attention." It is a pay worth worlds that the Lord should think upon us who are so poor and needy; it is a joy which fills our whole nature to think upon God; returning love for love, thought for thought after our poor fashion: "How great is the sum of them." When we remember that God thought upon us from old eternity, continues to think upon us every moment, and will think of us when time shall be no more, we may well exclaim, "How great is the sum!" Thoughts such as are natural to the Creator, the Preserver, the Redeemer, the Father, the Friend, are ever more flowing from the heart of the Lord: Thoughts of our pardon, renewal, upholding, supplanting, educating, perfecting, and a thousand more kinds, perpetually well up in the mind of the Most High. It should fill us with adoring wonder and reverent surprise that the infinite mind of God should turn so many thoughts towards us who are so insignificant and so unworthy.

A YANKEE ABROAD

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

A Scotch Highland Revolt.

DURNESS, North Scotland—There is a religious revolt among the sturdy Highlanders of northern Scotland. Their clergy are drifting away from fundamentalism in their teaching, and are no longer devoting their energies to preaching hell's fire and similar subjects.

There are, too, many modern themes being introduced from the pulpit these days. The Highlanders want the undiluted "Word of God," as written, and without any new fangled interpretations. They are, of course, mainly Presbyterians, and they are fundamentalists to the nth degree.

In order to understand fully this religious resentment, one must know that the Highlands, as a whole, form a little world by themselves. They are as isolated as are some of the mountain regions of Virginia and the Carolinas. It is an arduous adventure for the traveler to make his way, over winding tracks called roads, into some of these rock-ribbed fastnesses.

The Highlander of today is the Highlander of yesterday. Just as time has not changed the huge, heather-covered hills which rise abruptly from the lovely lakes into the white mists, so the people have altered little during passing generations in their mode of life and thought.

I have been much interested in what I found during a tour of the Highlands, because pioneers from this section played such an important part in laying the foundations of our own United States. I frequently have thought of a remark which Stanley Baldwin, until recently prime minister of England, made to me a while ago. We were discussing America and the influence of the old Puritans, and Mr. Baldwin said with emphasis:

"It is that Puritan stock which, perhaps more than any other factor, has made America what it is today."

The Highlanders are devoted to their Bibles, and spend long hours with the Scriptures. Sunday is a sacred day on which one may not even whistle. I totally ruined myself with one man of the hills by asking just to make conversation:

"They don't do any fishing here on Sunday, do they?"

He drew his breath through his teeth as though I had struck him, and then:

"We people in these parts still respect the Fourth Commandment." After that he didn't want to talk to me.

I could well understand his resentment, for I can look back to many Sabbaths with my Scotch Presbyterian grandfather down at the old homestead on the Scotch ridge in Canada. None of us youngsters ever got away with any rough stuff on Sunday (or any other day) when grandfather was about.

That was a typical "Highland" home, although far removed from the native land. Every night granddad gathered his flock about him for family prayers. First he read lengthily from the Book of Books, and then we all went down on our knees while he prayed for an hour in Gaelic.

He began at the Creation and came right down through the current news of the day.

Long before he had finished, my young knees were petrified. I finally solved the problem by sitting on the floor, after grandfather got his eyes closed, but always before he was finished I was sound asleep.

That resulted in trouble for me, although sometimes I saw a twitching at the corners of the old gentleman's mouth as though he would like to laugh if it wouldn't be sort of sacrilegious.

I admit with shame that I was much more interested in hearing grandmother sing "Yankee Doodle" in Gaelic than I was in grandfather's prayers.

If grandfather were alive today he most certainly would be among those revolting against the departure from fundamentalism. One wonders how the battle in the Highlands will go.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—If an alligator pear is not a pear at all, legally speaking, should it not be even more true that a treaty is not a treaty without the constitutional ratification by two-thirds of the senate.

That was the double headed problem faced by Senator Fletcher of Florida in his fruitless effort to get Cuban grown avocados off the free list. And he was defeated on both fronts.

The senate voted 43 to 33 against Fletcher's proposal to exclude alligator pears from the Cuban reciprocity convention of 1902, apparently on the theory that the convention has the sanctity of a treaty although ratified only by an act of congress, not by a two-thirds majority vote of the senate.

The question of imposing a duty on Cuban avocados interests a $100,000,000 alligator pear growing industry in Florida and California.

Of far wider interest, however, was the conclusion of many experienced senators that it is quite possible to have treaty relations by act of simple majorities of both houses, regardless of the constitutional requirement about "advice and consent" of two-thirds of the senate.

As a matter of fact, some senators contended, treaties affecting rates of duty could be set up in no other way. The constitution, they pointed out, designates the house as place of origin of all legislation involving the raising of revenue.

The Cuban reciprocity convention was negotiated by President Roosevelt in 1902 and submitted to the senate for ratification in 1903.

Among other things, it provided that no articles on the duty free list of that time in either country should be made dutiable subsequently except by mutual agreement.

The senate did not ratify this convention, presumably because of the constitutional reservation to the house of power to initiate all revenue legislation. Subsequently both countries enacted identical legislation embodying the language of the convention, and Cuban reciprocity stands on that legal basis.

Pears were dutiable in 1903 and therefore not granted free right of entry from Cuba. By customs ruling, however, alligator pears have been held not to be pears in the meaning of the tariff acts, so Cuban alligator pears—or avocados—have come in free and unchallenged.

Supported.

Fletcher proposed to modify the act of congress approving the convention on the ground that no treaty status was involved, since the convention had not been ratified by two-thirds of the senate.

A good many senators agreed with him, including Shortridge of California and Bingham of Connecticut. Swanson of Virginia insisted, however that other treaties had been similarly created by act of congress rather than by senate assent alone.

"When we attempted to enter into a treaty with the republic of Texas providing that Texas should become a part of the union, it was impossible to get two-thirds of the senate to ratify that treaty," Swanson said. "So President Polk brought it about by means of an act of congress."

"Does the senator think that under the constitution a majority of the senate and house could make a treaty to join the league of nations, for instance?" asked Bingham.

"I have an idea that they could," Swanson replied. "If we (the democrats in the postwar battle over the league covenant) had had a majority in the house, I might have advocated that procedure."

Stories That Recall Others

Suspenders.

Bobby is four and perhaps not fully acquainted with the variableness of feminine attire as might be expected. Recently when he saw a high school girl on the way to her classes garbed in one of the new "suspender" frocks, the white blouse in contrast to the vivid remainder of the ensemble he called after her:

"Say, why don't you take off your apron?"

Active People want and need sugar

The "Fuel of Preference" in the body

AN EMINENT food authority recently stated that any person who has a very active body is likely to be always on the edge of the sugar reserve in his body (glycogen). "That is why," he said, "the soldier and athlete wants and needs sugar. That is why the active child wants and needs sugar." He went on to explain that sugar is the fuel of preference in the body, that sugar can be more easily and quickly converted into energy than any other food. He emphasized the fact that sugar should form a part of the regular diet of every family and that any reducing diet, as well as any other diet, should contain sugar.

The best way for sugar to be eaten is as a flavorer of other foods. In that way, it serves the double purpose of furnishing energy to the body and also of adding appetizing delight to other healthful foods. Sugar added to healthful grain cereals makes them welcome and enjoyable to growing children. Think of how many health-giving fruits are objectionable to the taste without sugar. Scientists tell us that we need the daily roughage of salads as well as cooked fruits and vegetables. Any good cook knows that adding sugar makes all of these welcome and pleasant to the palate. In addition to being the best and cheapest fuel for the body, sugar is nature's perfect flavor. It makes nearly all other foods more enjoyable. For health and enjoyment, there is no substitute for sugar. The Sugar Institute.

SHE THOUGHT HER CASE HOPELESS

Yet ALL-BRAN Brought Relief Almost Immediately —No Trouble Since

When constipation once gets a grip on a person, it is almost impossible to relieve it, let alone prevent it with drugs and treatments. But here's a lady who was freed from her suffering—read her letter.

"Mine was an extreme case of constipation and although I had tried about everything that was recommended to me, I had almost given up hopes of ever being relieved.

"One day I came across your advertisement, so I thought I would try ALL-BRAN. It relieved me almost immediately and I have had no trouble since, which was almost three months ago."—Mrs. E. E. Leslie, 2104 Lyman St., Flint, Michigan.

Your system must have roughage or bulk daily, otherwise constipation is almost inevitable. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will supply this bulk. It is a healthful cereal to eat every day. To use in cooked dishes or serve with milk or cream. To mix with other cereals.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation and to prevent it. Far better than pills and laxatives whose doses often have to be increased to be effective. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. It is 100% bran and is 100% effective. Doctors recommend it. Your grocer sells it. Served by hotels, restaurants, dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

OBITUARY.

Charles W. Harris.

The death of Charles W. Harris, a life long resident of Salem, occurred about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at his home there on the Gardner lake road. He had been in failing health since spring but his condition had only recently become serious and he had been confined to bed only a few days.

Mr. Harris was the son of Francis D. and Hattie Minor Harris and was born in Salem, Jan. 5, 1866. It was a curious circumstance in the family that two of his brothers, Henry C. and Christopher Elmer, had the same birth date as his and all were left-handed. He had his education in the common schools of Salem and took up the blacksmith's trade which he followed most of his life. He had a genius for mechanics and was of an inventive turn of mind, one of his earliest inventions being the type of mowing machine which was subsequently developed to become such a valuable adjunct to modern farming methods. Of recent years he had been working upon a universal joint which was reported to be a big advancement over any now in use.

CHARLES W. HARRIS

He was interested in politics and was a staunch republican, having been a constable for four or five years. He was a member of the Salem Congregational church and had a wide acquaintance in Salem and in the surrounding territory. Genial in disposition, whole-souled and loyal in his friendships, his many friends will feel a deep sense of personal loss in his passing away.

He is survived by three brothers, Fred G., of Phoenix, Arizona, Henry C. and Christopher Elmer Harris with whom he made his home in Salem.

Mrs. James Chambers.

Mrs Jane C. Douglas Chambers, widow of James Chambers, died at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at her residence, No. 83 Boswell avenue, following failing health of about a year, death being caused from infirmities of age. She was in her 80th year.

She was born in Scotland, Eng., December 26, 1849, and since an early age has lived in this city. Over 50 years ago she was united in marriage with James Chambers at Norwich Town. She attended the United Congregational church. Surviving her are four daughters, the Misses Marion, Lillian and Isabel Chambers, who live at home, and Mrs. William Sanger of Baltic street, this city; also four grand-children. Her husband died in this city 33 years ago.

Mrs. Chambers was one of the oldest residents of the city, where she was known among her friends for her many fine qualities.

Will Organize Rifle League

Organization of the Mohegan Rifle league, to be comprised of rifle clubs in the various sections of New London county, will take place at Groton, Sunday afternoon. At the organization meeting, which is to be held at the headquarters of the Pioneer Hose company, officers are to be elected and a winter program of activities is to be planned.

Teachers Had Visiting Day

As Friday was teachers visiting day in the public schools of the city, 15 of the 19 schools were closed, allowing the pupils an all-day holiday. A number of the teachers visited schools in other cities to see how the classes were conducted there.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Mrs. John F. Rogers, of Washington street, entertained with eight tables of bridge Friday afternoon. The prizes were won by Mrs. Alfred M. Van Wagenen, Mrs. Archibald Mitchell, Jr., Mrs. Wm. H. Gates, of New Haven, Mrs. George L. Ingalls and Mrs. John E. Hawkins.

Mrs. Frank B. Ricketson and her daughter, Miss Virginia Grover, have been guests at the Ritz-Carlton in Boston for a portion of the week.

Miss Katherine Kent returned Friday afternoon from a visit of a week with her cousins in Lexington, Mass.

Mrs. Charles Colt, of Broadway, is spending some time with her aunt, Mrs. E. B. Hance, of Roland park, Baltimore.

Miss Isabel H. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Neill were registered at the Hotel Roosevelt, New York, this week.

Mrs. Norris S. Lippitt and Mrs. William H. Gates, who are guests of Mrs. John F. Rogers, leave town today (Saturday) for Mrs. Gates' home in New Haven. Sunday, Mrs. Lippitt will continue to the home of her daughter in Ridgewood, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hawkins have closed their Eastern Point cottage for the season.

Miss Virginia Grover is the week end guest of Hartford friends.

The message on the wayside pulpit at the Church of the Good Shepherd (Universalist) reads: "There is no real prosperity without integrity—and no final adversity with it."

FRANKLIN LEADS IN ATTENDANCE AT COUNTY RALLY FOR 4-H CLUBS

The boys and girls of Franklin scored the top place in attendance at the 4-H club county round-up Friday night at the Samuel Huntington school, Norwich Town, where the school auditorium had an attendance of about 400 of the club members and their parents and interested friends.

County Club Leader Ralph W. Whaples presided and announced the attendance from the town clubs as follows: Franklin 96, Preston 52, Norwich Town, 36, Waterford 30, Ledyard 25, North Stonington 24, Groton 22, Colchester 9, Lebanon 8, Lyme 8, Montville 8, and Sprague 5.

The programme opened at 7 o'clock with Miss Grover leading group singing, after which Miss Julia Rodman of the Franklin Nimble Workers spoke upon "As a Leader Sees 4-H Club Work," a 4-H fashion show was conducted by Miss Grover, Thomas Wood of Waterford, spoke upon "As a Parent Sees 4-H Club Work," and W. W. Service, of Preston, president of the New London County Farm bureau, spoke upon "What the New London Farm and Home Bureau Thinks of 4-H Club Work."

Miss Elsie Trabue, assistant state club leader from Storrs, spoke in congratulating the boys and girls of the county upon the great record they had made, and Edward Walford, of Storrs, assistant poultry specialist, led the boys and girls in some motion exercises and stories.

Certificates of service were presented to all the local leaders in the county, about 42 in number.

After the prize awards had been made, the programme closed with three entertaining reels of moving pictures, a telephone story, a wild west and winter sports at Gorham, N. H.

The prize awards were made as follows:

Medals to members of county dairy judging team—1929, Hollis Cummings and Stephen Manning of Lebanon, Nathaniel Manning and Norman Manning of North Franklin, Harold Geer of Norwich Town, George Raymond of Colchester. Hollis Cummings and Stephen Manning were members of the state dairy judging team and winners of free trips to the national dairy show held at St. Louis, Mo. They were awarded special medals.

THREE MASSES FRIDAY AT ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

There was a marvellous outpouring of the people of St. Patrick's parish in three great congregations on Friday, All Saints' day. Rev. Myles P. Galvin, who read the low mass at 5 o'clock for the convenience of the early workers gave holy communion to a large number of penitents. At 7, Rev. John J. Reilly who read the mass required the assistance of Father Galvin in administering the eucharist. A third low mass at 8 was read by the rector, Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May, who in giving communion was assisted by Rev. Father Reilly. The lesson of the day was from the Apocalypse and the gospel was the Beatitudes.

The organist, Henry J. LaFontaine, played at the last mass, employing the chimes in several of his interludes. Roderick F. Sullivan had the beautiful solos in Benedictus, its climax a duet with Mr. LaFontaine. Mrs. Bernard C. Coyle sustained the solo portions in Agnus Dei, singing also in the chorus numbers of the service.

Devotions in honor of the Sacred Heart of Jesus Friday evening were also largely attended.

Today, at 6.30, 7 and 8 the masses will commemorate the feast of all Souls, the last mass being a high mass of requiem for the dead of the parish.

TWO DIVORCES GRANTED BY JUDGE SIMPSON

Judge Earnest C. Simpson granted two uncontested divorces at Friday's short calendar session of the superior court in New London.

Ruby Clark Decker of New London received a divorce from Lawrence P. Decker on the grounds of desertion, alleged since 1921. They were married Oct. 22, 1901.

On the grounds of cruelty, Maisie R. Maynard, of New London, was given a divorce from Jesse Maynard. They were married Feb. 7, 1919, and cruelty was alleged from that date.

The other cases on the list went off.

Russian Choir At Church Service

The Russian choir, under the leadership of Rev. Mark Dimitrieff, will furnish the special music at the Central Baptist church at the Sunday evening service. They will sing the following numbers:

Bless the Lord, O my Soul; Blessed Art Thou, O Lord; O Lord, Our God, Save Thy People and Bless Thine Inheritance; Hear Our Prayer; The Cherubic hymn; A Mercy of Peace, a Sacrifice of Praise; the Lord's Prayer.

At the close of this sacred concert there will be a brief message by the pastor.

The morning worship at the Central church continues at 10:40, the school preceding the morning service. The Lord's supper will be observed at the morning worship.

Birthday Gift At Halloween Party.

Thursday evening Miss Joan E. Niles gave a Halloween party at her home, 51 Division street. The guests came in costume, and among them was a private, a Chinaman, a snow fairy, a witch, a peasant girl and several original costumes. Games were played, after which all sat down to a prettily decorated table, and sandwiches, cookies, cocoa, ice cream, cake, candy and nuts were served. Each guest received a favor and little Eileen Sullivan, whose ninth birthday it was, received a pretty necklace. The guests were Geraldine and Eileen Sullivan, Helen Rudd, Ilva Ranzer, Anna Aremontozzi, Kathryn Casey, and Eleanor Johnson.

Met With Mrs. Johnson

The executive committee of the Woman's Federation of Park Congregational church held its November meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry D. Johnson, on Lincoln avenue.

FINDS CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE AGAINST MALCOLM AUSTIN

Coroner Edward G. McKay has made a finding of criminal negligence against Malcolm Austin of New London in causing the death of Charles Muench, 63, of West Thames street, who was hit by Austin's car in the early evening of Sept. 21, 1929, about at a trolley car stop about 500 feet northerly from the new entrance to the Norwich Golf club on the Norwich-Montville road. Muench died on the way to the hospital to which he was taken in the automobile of John A. Aston of Massapeag.

Austin, whose attorney is Earl Mathewson, is to be presented in the city court here next Monday morning. He has been under $2,500 bonds on a technical charge of manslaughter since he was presented in court after the fatal accident.

The coroner finds that Austin was driving at an excessive rate of speed, which one witness described as "terrific," in consequence of which he could not properly control the car.

In his finding the coroner says:

At about 6.30 p. m., (standard time), on the above date, the said Malcolm Austin was operating his automobile southerly on the said highway. He had been in Norwich and was returning alone to New London. His car was a sport model roadster, buff colored. Traffic on the road was not especially heavy, and when he arrived near the vicinity of the aforementioned trolley stop, his was the only automobile at this point. Darkness had almost set in, but objects on the road could be seen in the light that was left. He had turned on the headlights of his car and they were shining.

As the Austin automobile approached the said trolley stop one of the regular trolley cars came over the hill toward the south and proceeded in a northerly direction. The dim headlight of the trolley car was lighted and at that distance would not materially affect the vision of a motorist riding toward it. Opposite the trolley stop on the easterly side of the road and in the gutter, there were three persons waiting for the trolley car. Two of them were boys employed as caddies at the Golf club, and the other was the deceased Charles Muench.

When the trolley car appeared over the hill, the said Charles Muench started on a run across the street to intercept the trolley car at the stop. At that moment the trolley car was about 400 feet away. The boys remained at the side of the road when they first saw the trolley car and saw said Muench when he was running toward the other side. As the said Huench passed over the center of the highway, the Austin car approached, swerved slightly to its left, but struck the said Muench, throwing him to the ground a short distance away, toward the south, and onto the trolley tracks. While the said Charles Muench was lying on the tracks, the trolley car came up to him, but was stopped by the quick and effective action of the motorman. He was picked up from the tracks, placed in a passing automobile, and rushed to the hospital. However, when he arrived there it was found that he had expired from the injuries he had received.

After striking the deceased, the Austin car continued on for a distance of about 400 feet, when it was brought to a stop. It had passed the trolley car and then backed up to where the injured man lay. Said Austin offered his car to bring the injured man to the hospital but quicker facilities were available for the use of another car. After reporting to the trolley crew that it was his car that struck the man, Austin later drove to New London, where a report was made to the state police at Groton.

The evidence presented in this matter establishes the fact that at the time the collision occurred the said Malcolm Austin was operating his automobile at an exceedingly fast rate of speed. When the said Austin was a short distance northerly of the trolley stop he passed a pedestrian and at that time he was going at what was described as "a terrific rate of speed." When the said Muench started to cross the street, the approach of the Austin car was indicated to the boys standing by the road by the roar of its motor. The boys turned to look and saw the Austin car approaching only a short distance away, and it was going at a very fast rate of speed. They saw the car swerve slightly and strike the said Muench, throwing him into the air. They stated that they heard the brakes applied as the car swerved. They then became frightened and ran toward Norwich. Another pedestrian was standing near a letter box south of the trolley stop; he heard the impact and saw the Austin car come alone and stop near a highway sign about 400 feet southerly of the trolley stop. An examination of the automobile and after the collision disclosed a series of dents in the right front fender and the right side of the front bumper was pushed in toward the wheel. The brakes were found to be in poor condition.

There was no evidence that would establish the fact that the said Charles Muench saw the Austin car approaching before he started across the street. While the boys watched him running he did not turn his head either to the right or left. However, at the time he started there was no immediate hurry because the trolley was at such a distance that ample time was afforded for him to wait and walk. The boys had not started because there appeared to them to be time enough. His act would indicate that he knew the trolley car was coming and that an automobile was coming also, and that he had time to place himself at the stop before the automobile passed. He probably would have accomplished his mission had the Austin car been going at a more reasonable rate of speed.

In reviewing the evidence in toto, I am of the opinion that at the time of the collision Malcolm Austin was operating his automobile at a very fast and reckless rate of speed. While the automobile was approaching the trolley stop there was a clear view ahead for a considerable distance and a trolley car was approaching. Austin at this time was going very fast. As a result of this excessive speed he was unable to control his car when the collision arose that placed the deceased in a perilous position.

I am satisfied and find that the death of Charles Muench was caused by the criminal negligence of Malcolm Austin in operating his automobile in a grossly negligent manner so as to cause it to strike and fatally injure the said Charles Muench, and have so reported to the prosecuting attorney of the town of Norwich for further action.

The witnesses who appeared before the coroner were James C. Foley, 95 Smith avenue; conductor of the trolley car; Thomas J. Filburn, 134 Prospect street, motorman; William M. Skelly, West Thames street; William E. McKenzie, Groton state police barracks; Lillian C. Kating, a nurse at Uncas-on-Thames; John L. Schultz, Trading Cove; James P. O'Brien, 54 Washington street, caddy master at the Golf club and Benjamin Gullos, 57 High street, another caddy.

ARCANUM MEN WIN FROM WESTERLY IN WHIST

A team of 12 men, representing the Arcanum club of this city, took the first leg of a series of bridge games from the Square and Compass club Friday evening in the latter's quarters in Westerly. The score was, Norwich 11,881 and Westerly 9458, leaving a margin of 2433, for Norwich. Five of the six local teams won from the opposition by at least 120 points, the only local duo losing being Evans and Noyes. Five rubbers were played.

After cards a delicious oyster chowder, sandwiches, cake and coffee were served the visiting players. Play will be resumed next Thursday evening when the Westerly club will entertained at the Arcanum club house.

The results of play Friday evening follow:

	Norwich	Westerly

Margin of 2,433 in favor of Norwich.

PLANE CRASHES ALONGSIDE COLCHESTER-HARTFORD ROAD

Two men who crashed in a U. S. navy plane in a field alongside the Colchester-Hartford road about 1:30 Friday afternoon had first aid given them by two Norwich men, Charles and George Glanocopoulos, of 45 McKinley avenue, as they were returning to this city from New Britain.

The plane came to the ground in the Edward McKuiski lot on the so-called Chamberlain flats near the railroad crossing about 4 miles north of Colchester. The two Norwich men were just driving down the hill towards the railroad track when they heard the hum of the plane on their left as it prepared to make a landing. It came down on its wheels all right but hit a rough spot as it ran along and nosed over. The aviators were found underneath when the Norwich men reached the machine. One was able to get out without help but the other was fast in the cabin and could not get out till the plane had been lifted and he then was pulled out.

One of them was considerably dazed at first and was somewhat cut about the face, but his injuries were not serious and he quickly revived. Both men were taken in an automobile to Colchester, where they were seen by Dr. C. E. Pendleton, of Colchester, and then taken to the submarine base at Groton.

At the base it was reported that a Lieut. R. Blick was the pilot and was accompanied by a man named Gaul. It was stated that they were on their way from Boston to New York, but no other particulars as to their identity could be given.

The plane had its running gear smashed and was considerably damaged otherwise. It was left in the field to be taken away later.

LUTHERANS WILL OBSERVE REFORMATION DAY

Rev. Dr. Lemon L. Uhl, of Boston, who was a speaker here recently at the Lutheran church synod meeting, called attention this week in a Boston newspaper to the observance of Reformation day on the Sunday nearest to the 31st of October by Lutheran churches as Reformation Sunday, which this year has more than usual significance. It is the tradition that on this day, in 1529, Martin Luther nailed to the door of the cathedral in Wittemberg his 95 theses, and princes of Germany in that year signed the protest which marked the definite beginning of Protestantism, and added weight to the reformation which was to change the face of Europe during the following century. Still another factor adds importance to this year's celebration, for it is the 400th anniversary also of the writing of "the greatest small book of the world," as it is known, Martin Luther's small catechism.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE FOR NEW LONDON POLICEMAN

Officer Harry Watterson, 25, of the New London police department arrested here Thursday on a charge of intoxication, was fined $5 and costs in the city court Friday morning, execution of the sentence being suspended for six months. Counsel for the accused entered a demurrer to the complaint, but it was overruled by Judge Henry H. Pettis and Watterson was found guilty. In pronouncing the sentence Judge Pettis said that he made it what it was because he was satisfied the man would receive punishment in New London.

BEAN HOLE BEANS

With that wonderful outdoors flavor

Buried all night in the fragrant embers of the earthen "bean hole"—layers of flavor-rich beans and pork and molasses and sugar. That's the famous old Maine logging camp recipe for the best beans to be found the world over.

Such a flavor—blending the wood smoke of the forests and the fresh, sweet earthen oven. Never was such a flavor known outside the North Woods until now. Van Camp's experts have brought you at your grocers the best beans for your table. Prove them tonight. Empty the can in a buttered baking dish. In a moderate oven 20 minutes. No need to search the far forests for the finest beans. They are here—easy to serve—easy to buy. Two sizes—medium, 15c; large, 25c.

Watterson was arrested Thursday morning on Thames street, where he was found dozing behind the wheel of his machine. The officer was suspended from duty late Thursday afternoon by Captain Pinney after the latter received a report on the officer's offense, and the suspension was confirmed Friday by City Manager Holt, who said he will give the officer a formal hearing within a few days.

The Stonington Free library, which has been closed for several days for interior decorating, will be re-opened this (Saturday) morning.

ACADEMY CLASHES WITH WINDHAM AT THE CAMPUS THIS AFTERNOON

Probably the most evenly matched teams in the Eastern Connecticut conference, Windham and the Academy, will battle it out this afternoon at the Academy campus with second place as the prize and total oblivion in the race staring the loser in the face. The kickoff has been moved up to 2:15 today.

The game is regarded as an even thing by both factions with the breaks of the game probably deciding the tilt in the end. Each team has won but one game. Windham, a rousing 19 to 0 over the twice conference champs, Stonington and the Academy a 14 to 2 win over Chapman Tech in a conference game. The Academy also has a tie to show, a 13-13 affair with the strong New Britain outfit while Windham has two ties, with Chapman Tech and Bulkeley. The Academy, however, has played a tougher schedule, meeting in Hartford Bulkeley, Warren Harding and New Britain three much stronger elevens than the Thread Cityites have faced.

Both teams have had the stiffest sort of work this week. Both realize that their last hopes for the title hinge on today's battle and no stone has been left unturned in order to have the players in top shape.

Windham-Academy rivalry dates back many years, during which time some stirring struggles have been fought out. As an Eastern Connecticut rival, Windham has always ranked next to Bulkeley with the Academy and, as the Bulkeley game is only three weeks off, Wildcat supporters will be after today's game as a start towards the classic with the Whalers.

Central Board officials will handle the game and packed stands are expected.

Windham will pit its star back, Capt. Artie Meikle against Frank Barber, Academy fullback, in what may be the highlight of the afternoon. The Academy will probably lineup with Capt. Berghinzo and Flather at end, Hertz and Crowell at tackles, Wojstasiak and Stevens at guards, Cruickshank at center, Sherry at quarterback, Cotter and Golembeskie at halves, and Barber at fullback.

N. F. A. Won 21, Windham 6

The Academy has a big edge in comparative scores in games with Windham, having won 21 against six for the Willimantic team and four were ties. With the exception of one year due to the World war, in 1918, and 1924, 1925 and 1926, due to a break in relations, the teams have met since 1907.

1907, N. F. A. (seconds) 36; Windham (first) 0.
1908, N. F. A. (first) 23, 64; Windham (first) 0, 0.
1909, N. F. A. 15, 23; Windham 0, 0.
1910, N. F. A. 6, 0; Windham, 6, 0.
1911, N. F. A. 15, 17; Windham 0, 5.
1912, N. F. A. 13, 19; Windham 0, 0.
1913, N. F. A. 30, 27; Windham 0, 0.
1914, N. F. A. 47; Windham 0.
1915, N. F. A. 25, 6; Windham 0, 0.
1916, N. F. A. 13, 0; Windham 0, 26.
1917, N. F. A. 20, 7; Windham 7, 0.
1918, no games (World war).
1919, N. F. A. 20, 0; Windham 6, 0.
1920, N. F. A. 6, 12; Windham 6, 0.
1921, N. F. A. 14, 0; Windham 0, 13.
1922, N. F. A. 12, 6; Windham 13, 13.

ACADEMY HARRIERS WIN OVER STONINGTON TEAM

Running up a perfect score, the Academy cross-country runners defeated Stonington high Friday afternoon at the campus, the final count being 15 to 51. Georgie Lambert, the star freshman runner, led the field home, followed by Richardson, Lyons, Levitsky and Zarka of the Academy in that order. Bain, of Stonington, was sixth and the remaining runners finished as follows: Beebe, N; Baranotsky, N; Magi, S; Feder, N; Adams, S; Shoyer, S; Ellis, S. Lambert's time was 13 minutes, 26 seconds.

The Academy has engaged in six dual meets, winning two and losing the rest by margins of five point or less. Friday's victory was the most decisive since the sport was established at the school.

The next meet comes next Friday with the Conn. Aggie freshman at the campus. Following that, the Wildcats compete in the interscholastics at Westerly, Armistice day, and then close their regular season with Chapman Tech here Saturday, Oct. 16.

HORWEEN TO SEND NEW BACKFIELD AGAINST FLORIDA

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Harvard's new backfield, which has shown some offensive power during the past few days, will be thoroughly tested here tomorrow when the Crimson stages its intersectional gridiron contest with Charles Bachman's Florida "Gators."

The visitors, who have lost several regulars because of injuries, are hopeful of winning their first game in four trips to the north. They played Harvard back in 1922 and came north the two following years to meet the Army.

Head Coach Arnold Horween will be able to start Fullback Wally Harper, his best defensive back, and has shifted his lineup to include Barry Wood, hero of the Army deadlock, at quarterback and Eliot Putnam and Charley Devens at the halfback posts. This quartet appears capable of supplying the Crimson with some much needed drive, provided the line performs better than it did in last week's Dartmouth reverse.

The Harvard players were excused from practice today to enable the southern team to run through a final workout in the stadium. Coach Bachman drove his players through kicking, passing and signal drills on the turf made slippery by a light drizzle.

YALE TO PLAY NINE GAMES NEXT FALL

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 1.— (AP) — Yale's 1930 football schedule, announced tonight by the athletic association, calls for nine games instead of the usual eight. The season will start one week earlier than usual with Maine as the first opponent on Sept. 27.

Alfred university, a newcomer on a Yale football schedule, will take the date usually reserved for Maryland, that preceding the Princeton game. Maryland has been moved up on the schedule and will be Yale's second opponent.

Yale's only game away from home will be with Princeton; while Georgia, Brown, Army, Dartmouth and Harvard will have their usual places in the schedule, which follows:

Sept. 27, Maine; Oct. 4, Maryland; Oct. 11, Georgia; 18, Brown; 25, Army; Nov. 1, Dartmouth; 8, Alfred; 15, Princeton at Princeton, and 22, Harvard.

BACON HARRIERS LOSE CLOSE RUN TO BULKELEY TEAM

(Special to The Bulletin)

COLCHESTER, Nov. 1.—The Bacon academy harriers were defeated 25-30 by the fast Bulkeley high school cross-country team at Mercer field, New London, Friday afternoon. Krupnic, a Bacon academy freshman, came in first with a time of 13:20 minutes for the two and one-half mile course. Kopp, one of the Bacon star runners, held the lead for about the first mile and a half, he crossing the line as fourth. Both teams were well-matched and showed the result of intensive training.

Principal John W. Goodrich, of Bacon academy, was the official starter and Coach Hammond, of Bulkeley high school, was the timer.

FLYING HEELS WINS THE PIMLICO FUTURITY

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., Nov. 1—(AP)—A crack of the whip, a final desperate lunge and Gifford A. Cochran's Flying Heels dashed across the finish line, a nose in front of William Ziegler, Jr., Spinach, to win the Pimlico futurity and $55,810, over a muddy hill top course today.

Fifteen of the smartest turf youngsters in training chose to accept the issue over the gruelling mile and sixteenth route for the pot of gold but when it came to the running of Maryland's richest race, it was strictly a two horse affair. From the six furlong pole on to the final stride the two great colts, one carrying the green and gold of Cochran and the other the Ziegler purple and red, matched stride for stride. A half length from the finish the race appeared to be a dead heat but Bill Kelsay, an old timer even among the veterans, gave Flying Heels a crack of the whip and the Cochran entry leaped out to win by a nose.

Gala Day, pride of the west and the favorite in the betting, owned by R. S. Clark, finished seven lengths back of the leaders for third money with Frederick Johnson's Brown Admiral, taking down fourth place.

After a delay of ten minutes at the post, Black Majesty one half of the W. Coe entry, got away to set a burning pace around the first turn, but Kelsay sent Flying Heels right after the white and green polka dot color wearer. Meanwhile, Uncle Mack Garner was holding Spinach back in third place under light restraint.

Three furlongs from home Spinach was up on even terms with the leader, and together with Flying Heels moved out into the lead. The pair hit the stretch at the same time, Spinach going out in front by a half length. A furlong from home and the cry of "come on Spinach" went up from the 15,000 fans. But Kelsay shook up Flying Heels and once again the two raced on even terms to the final burst by the Cochran colt—a burst of speed that won him the rich purse. The mile and sixteenth was run in 1:47, with the first mile being reeled off in the exceptional fast time of 1:40 2-5.

The winner paid $15.30 to win, $8.80 to place, and $7.50 to show, while the prices on Spinach were $7.50 to place, and $4.90 to run third. Gala Day paid $4.00 to show.

BOOTH WILL START GAME AGAINST DARTMOUTH

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Two surprises, one bringing cheer to Yale followers and the other gloom to the Dartmouth camp, tonight more definitely relegated into the doubtful column tomorrow's Yale-Dartmouth game.

From Hartford, Dartmouth's stopping off place before coming here tomorrow, came the first surprise when Len Clark, the Green's regular left halfback, was taken to the Hartford hospital after collapsing on the train during the trip from Hanover. An injury to his kidney suffered during a recent scrimmage was responsible for his collapse.

While Clark's condition definitely precludes his playing in tomorrow's game, hospital officials do not regard it as serious.

Head Coach Mal Stevens sprung the second surprise with the announcement that he would start Albie Booth, star of the Brown and Army games, at quarterback rather than following his usual practice of saving him for the second quarter. Hitherto, Booth has been designated as a halfback; but Coach Stevens tonight explained that the designation was inaccurate. Except for the fact that Booth plays from left halfback on attack, Coach Stevens said, he performs all of the duties of a quarterback.

Coach Stevens will also start Austin in the backfield rather than reserving him for the second quarter, while Hare will start at left guard rather than Loeser. The Yale mentor had not decided tonight whether Marting or Ferris would get the starting assignment at left tackle.

The rest of the Yale lineup will include: Hickok and Barres, ends; Vincent, right tackle; Captain Greene, right guard; Palmer, center; Miller, right halfback; and Dunn, fullback.

Clark, who has provided Marsters with much of his interference during the season, will be replaced in the Dartmouth lineup by either "Wild Bill" McCall or Ed Jeremiah. The rest of the lineup will be: Booma and Yudicky, ends; Barher and Armstrong, tackles; Bromberg and Nitis, guards; Marsters, quarterback; Wolff, right halfback; and Sutton, fullback.

Yale wound up her preparations for the game, which will start at 2 o'clock, with a signal and dummy scrimmage against Dartmouth plays today.

ENTERS POWERFUL CAR FOR SPEED CLASSIC

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 1—(AP)—Kave Don, British driver had definitely entered a powerful machine for the International automobile speed classic, to be held at Daytona Beach, March 1 to 15, 1930, a bulletin released by the American Automobile association said today. He will attempt to break the present speed record of 231 miles an hour.

The bulletin added that Captain Malcolm Campbell of England, contemplates fitting a late model Napier-Schneider cup engine into his machine to make another attempt to regain the world's speed record. Campbell established a record of 206 miles an hour at Daytona Beach in 1928 with a Blue Bird special but his mark was shattered last March by Major H. O. D. Segrave, also of England, who set a record of 231 miles an hour in his Golden Arrow car.

The American Automobile association said Don's machine is under construction in England now. It will be equipped with two 1,000 horsepower motors in line in front of the driver, who will sit between two propeller shafts running in opposite directions.

So far the bulletin stated, no American entries have been received for the speed classic.

Going to the game today?

Yes, I guess I'll go. I was going to work in the gardens to get it all picked up for the C. of C. inspector but one more day won't make any difference, I guess.

I haven't missed a Yale-Dartmouth game in the last ten years. Always go with the hope that I'll see Dartmouth win its first game against Yale. It's about time they did, they've been trying for 45 years.

And what is it that makes 75,000 people couch up four bucks apiece to sit on a pine bench in a concrete bowl and watch 22 youngsters chase a leather football up and down the field?

I suppose it's the same thing that makes people pay $20 to see a couple palookas mut on a masculine petting party in a ring. Half of it's a real interest and the other half is joy of being able to say you were there.

Besides the game there's the joyous ride down to the game in all the football traffic, the thrilling experience of finding a parking place within a mile of the Bowl, the fight to get a hot dog or two and the search for the tickets that you put in a pocket of your clothes.

All this goes to make up a perfect football day. If you get away without a smashed fender or scraped mudguard consider yourself lucky. Then you go somewhere for dinner and a dance. A perfect day.

Didja see the fella flying over the city throwing out tickets for the theatre yesterday? They tell me there were 100 Scotchmen up on Gallows hill when the flyer returned to the field.

Another report is that a Scotchman fell off a roof trying to get one of the tickets that landed there. Why weren't there more Scotchmen at Gallows Hill? Say, how many Scotchmen do you suppose there is in Norwich.

Can anyone tell me who the three West Side men are that went out hunting the other day and returned with a Plymouth Rock rooster?

See you at the game.

SMITH LEADS FIELD IN OREGON OPEN

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 1—(AP)—Over the wind-swept and fog-bound golf course of the Columbia Country club, Horton Smith, boy golfing wonder, of Joplin, Mo., led a field of 118 amateur and professional golfers today in the final qualifying 18 holes in 134, ten strokes under par.

Smith took a two stroke lead yesterday on the first eighteen. On the first nine today he increased it four strokes, but ended the final eighteen with a 67, the same score as yesterday.

Mortie Dutra, Tacoma, and Walter Hagen, New York, followed Smith, Dutra shooting 69-71-140 and Hagen 71-69-140. Both showed fine form on the final nine but failed to compete with the perfect golf of their youthful competitor.

Harry Cooper, Buffalo, New York, with a 72-69-141, was two under Olin Dutra, Los Angeles, who took 71-72, and Ed Dudley, Delaware, with 69-74.

Tommy Armour, Detroit, finished with 143, Bill Hutchinson, Chicago, took 145, Frank Dolp, Portland, 145, and Billie Burke, New York, 146.

Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland, defending champion, fell by the wayside and took a 148. "Wee" Willie Hunter, Los Angeles, tied Willing with a 74-74. Craig Wood, New Jersey, and Frank Rhodia, Seattle, both shot 147, and Danny Williams, New Jersey, shot 150.

Amherst Beats Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Amherst's soccer team defeated Harvard, 4 to 2, here today largely through the misplaced accuracy of the Crimson booters, who shot three goals into their own net trying to kick or butt the ball away from dangerous territory. It was Harvard's first defeat this season.

BEAUREGARD AND JACKSON TO BOX MAIN BOUT AT SHYMA CLUB SHOW

Promoter Leo Flynn of the Shyma club boxing show has his card complete for the initial show on November 14th. Al Beauregard, local flyweight, is slated to meet Dodo Jackson of Newark, N. J., in the main go. This should be a real attraction as Jackson is a boy who has met the best of the boys in the flyweight division. Jackson is a colored boy who is reputed to be a real scrapper who likes to trade punches which is just what makes a good fight, for Beauregard is of the same type.

As was announced earlier in the week Al Koziol stacks up against the hard-hitting Johnny Mack of New Haven in the eight-round semi-final.

For the six-round preliminary Rene Peloquin of Danielson, a graduate of the amateurs, meets Long Sing Que, New York's Chinatown boxer. Peloquin needs little introduction to local fight fans and those who saw the Chink boy fight at New Haven on Tuesday evening were much impressed with his showing.

A local boy Tommy McCarthy, returns to the ring at this show, hooking up in a four-rounder with Young Colombo of the Sub Base. Tommy has not been doing much fighting during the past few months but expects to come back strong in this bout.

For the opener Johnny Dosh meets Young Lizzio of Westerly.

ACADEMY JAYVEES LOSE TO PLAINFIELD VARSITY

The Academy's second team was beaten, 12 to 0, by the Plainfield varsity eleven Friday afternoon at the campus in a closely contested affair. Shippee, visiting captain, who was greatly instrumental in Plainfield's victory over Putnam last Saturday, scored both touchdowns for the winners, going over in the first quarter on a recovery of a blocked kick and taking a short pass for the score in the last period.

Mack at center and Sydlo, at quarter, played the best games for the Academy. Coach Whitney used practically his entire squad from the second team down during the course of the fray.

The summary:

BURNS GIVEN UNCONDITIONAL RELEASE FROM ATHLETICS

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.— (AP) — George Burns, veteran first baseman and utility player, who joined the world champion Athletics in mid-season this year, has been unconditionally released. The announcement was made today by Secretary Robert Schroeder in the absence of Manager Connie Mack.

Burns is a 10-year man and thus has the right to negotiate with any major or minor league club.

NIEHOFF AND SCHALK UNCONDITIONALLY RELEASED

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—M. Bert Niehoff and Ray Schalk, who served through the 1929 season as coaches of the Giants, received their unconditional releases from the New York club today. The Giant management announced that the two coaches were set free to help them in "negotiations to advance themselves in the game," but declined to reveal what posts the two men sought. Both came to the New York club last spring.

RISKO BACK FOR HEAVYWEIGHT HONORS

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Johnny Risko, the Cleveland rubber man, is back in the heavyweight limelight again, ready to muss up all contenders for the crown Gene Tunney spurned.

The man who eliminated Jack Sharkey from the late Tex Rickard's heavyweight elimination tournament two years ago signed with Madison Square Garden to box either Paulino Uzcudun or Tuffy Griffiths here Dec. 27. Risko's opponent will be determined after the latter pair meet in Chicago Nov. 29.

Risko clambered back into the picture just when he seemed to have been definitely eliminated himself from the ranks of the topnotchers by Max Schmeling's knockout fists. Johnny poped over Jimmy Maloney, the Boston fish merchant, in his most recent engagement.

The garden also announced that Vince Dundee, brother of the former welterweight champion, Baltimore Joe Dundee, would meet Nick Tests, of Troy, N. Y., in the ten round semi-final of the Nov. 22 card. Rene De Vos, Belgian middleweight title contender, boxes Harry Ebbetts, of Freeport, N. Y., in the main go on the same program.

OCKFORDS MEET WILLIAMS AT N. L. SUNDAY; OTHER GAMES

The New London Ockfords, Eastern Connecticut representative in the Eastern Professional Football league, will bring the fast-traveling New Haven Williams to Mercer field, New London, Sunday for what promises to be a hard fought contest. The Ockfords, after their fine showing against the Hartford Giants last Sunday, are highly confident of victory and will play their heads off to win.

Included in the Ockford lineup are two Norwich boys, Frank Herbert, a halfback and Moore, a center, formerly of the Sub Base. Several Bulkeley and Chapman Tech ex-luminaries, who have appeared here against the Academy, are also included in the lineup. Wally Rice and Joe Allen, formerly of Bulkeley and Grippo, of Chapman Tech are a few of these players while Fulford, star for many years in football circles in these parts, is also included.

The Williams lineup includes nine of the Boys club, which was so successful on the gridiron up to this season, when they have not promoted a club. It was with this team that the Yale star, Albie Booth, got his start. Others on the team are from the East Rocks.

Other Eastern Conn. Games

Other games include the Rhode Island state-Coast Guard game this afternoon at New London and several high school games. Windham at N. F. A., Webster at Putnam and Stonington at Chapman Tech, being the featured engagements so that the football fans will not go hungry during the next 48 hours.

YALE-DARTMOUTH BATTLE TOPS GRID PROGRAM IN EAST TODAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The big November drive gets under way on the gridirons of the east tomorrow with four strong teams—Dartmouth, Pittsburgh, Cornell and little Western Maryland—striving to keep their records spotless. All of the other eastern elevens have meet defeat or been tied.

If Dartmouth is to beat the Yale Bulldog in the New Haven battle that has been much ballyhooed as a personal war between the Green's Al Marsters and the Blue's Albie Booth, the Hanover Indians will have to shatter a jinx that has held them powerless to defeat the Elis throughout their 45 years of rivalry. Dartmouth, one-sided victor over Columbia and Harvard, has the more impressive record.

Pittsburgh will be having its first taste of the big ten brand of football when Ohio State invades the Pitt stadium. The Buckeyes, with their fine end, Fesler, who hopes to outshine the Panther wingman, Don Chess, have shown plenty of power.

A big Red Cornell team awaits the assault of Columbia with high hopes of treating the Lion as it did the Tiger of Princeton. Whichever team wins, it appears likely that some points will be scored for the first time since 1926 as both teams have better backs and a more powerful punch than in the last two years when the Red and Blue and White waged scoreless ties.

As for Western Maryland, which won a place among the elect by trimming Georgetown, are favored to beat St. Johns of Baltimore with great difficulty.

Princeton and Harvard meet intersectional foes from middle-west and south. Chicago, coached by Amos Alonzo Stagg and piloted by his son as quarterback, comes to grips with Bill Roper's slow-starting Princeton eleven which has not won a game in the last three weeks while Florida, conqueror of Georgia, meets the Crimson at Cambridge.

The Navy, which has jinxed Penn with passes the last two years, hopes to do so again at Franklin field. Among the other big games of the day are those in which Penn States meets Syracuse at Syracuse; New York university attempts to avenge its defeat by Georgetown on a fumble in the rain a year ago; and Washington and Jefferson renews its rivalry with Lafayette at Easton.

Other battles involving powerful and apparently well-matched elevens are the Brown-Holy Cross affair at Worcester; Bucknell-Temple at Philadelphia; Springfield-Rochester at Rochester; and Villanova-Oglethorpe at Villanova, Pa., an intersectional engagement.

The Army likewise meets an invader from another part of the country, South Dakota's squad providing the opposition at West Point but the cadets are figured to have no more trouble with the westerners than Colgate should have with Hampden-Sidney at Hamilton. Lehigh is favored over Muhlenberg, Rutgers over Ursuinas, Williams over Union, Wesleyan over Trinity and Gettysburg over Dickinson.

WESTERLY HIGH LOSES TO LASALLE BY A POINT

(Special to The Bulletin)

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 1— Westerly high dropped from the list of unbeaten elevens by losing a 14 to 13 decision to LaSalle academy here today. The visitors put up a great fight against their heavier opponents but inability to convert a point after touchdown cost them a chance for a tie. Westerly was the sole team in the Eastern Connecticut-Western Rhode Island sector without a smirch on its record before today's game.

YOUNG CHIP JR. WINS FROM DANIELSON YOUTH

Young Chip Jr., son of Chip Dugas of Taftville, upheld his father's reputation last night when he won five of the eight strings from Young Archie of Danielson, protege of Frankie Barber, at the Taftville alleys. Young Chip rolled 836 for the eight strings as against 801 for the Danielson boy. The first string was even, each getting 110. Dugas then taking five of the next seven rolled. The scores:

Young Chip Jr.—
110, 102, 117, 104, 100, 103, 104, 96—836
Young Archie—
110, 86, 103, 86, 103, 94, 109, 90—801

"BOXERS GET TOO MUCH MONEY" SAYS DEMPSEY

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 — (AP) — Jack Dempsey, whose two ventures as a boxing promoter resulted in no fattening of his tank account, says that fighters are getting too much money, leaving the promoter to hold the bag.

The former world's heavyweight champion suggests forming a working agreement with Paddy Harmon, president of the Chicago stadium corporation, whereby they will not bid against each other to obtain the services of boxers.

"No use losing money by bidding against each other," Dempsey said. "The trouble here in promoting is that we have to pay the boxers too much money. Harmon and I ought to get together. Maybe we will."

DEMPSEY JOINS COOKING SCHOOL AT LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion, need no longer sit back in silence while the women discuss cooking.

Dempsey, here to referee a fight, officially was made a member of the Kentucky Men's Cooking club tonight, the ceremony being broadcast over radio station WHAS.

TULANE HUMBLES GEORGIA IN HARD BATTLE

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 1 —(AP)— Tulane's mighty green wave continued its surge toward the Southern Conference championship here today by winning a hard fought battle from the University of Georgia, 21 to 15. The Greenies twice came from behind to lead, after Georgias "terrible sophomores" had pushed out in front.

SCHMELING AND CHARLES MAY BE MATCHED

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 1—(AP)— Negotiations are under way for a match between Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, and Pierre Charles, of Belgium. The insistance of Schmeling that he receive $50,000 for his services has complicated the discussions.

Chess Tourney

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 1—(AP)—The 21st game for the chess championship of the world between Dr. Alexander Alekhine of Paris and E. D. Bogoljubow of Triberg, was adjourned today after 42 moves. Dr. Alekhine was three forms ahead when play stopped.

The score to date: Dr. Alekhine 9, Bogoljubow, 5, drawn 6, adjourned 1.

Palace Theatre

He went to a mysterious tryst armed only with a toothbrush and a gun. He didn't have to use the toothbrush. A strange girl, answering his mad advertisement, had written to him that she was in hideous danger. Bored to death as a civilian, and longing for the adventure and peril of his soldiering days, the young clubman went to her aid.

This is the setting of "Bulldog Drummond," which, with Ronald Colman as its star, opens at the Palace theater today. But this brief synopsis only gives one a slight idea of the power and passion of that all talking mystery melodrama. If you want action, here it is. If you want romance you will find it here, but best of all it is the place for you to come if you are in need of exciting entertainment.

RONALD COLMAN in "Bulldog Drummond"

Picture a man too rich to work, too intelligent to waste his time in constant play—a man bored to death with the round of conventionalities, tired of his fellow club members, longing only for the dash of danger that he knew in the days when he was an officer in a crack British regiment. He goes out to help one woman, beautiful and trusting—and finds another, cold, cruel, vengeful, ready to take his life if he stands in her way.

Music too is a part of the play. In its quieter moments you hear a beautiful theme song, "There's the One for Me." Don't fail to come and enjoy this soldier daredevil's romance and adventure. It is like taking a tonic. It leaves you with a greater zest for life, an itch for danger and action. Altogether it is something that should take Norwich by storm. It wil be continued through Tuesday night of next week.

Broadway Theatre.

From the rousing cheers at an inter-college football classic to the grim rattle of machine guns, in roaring battle-planes is a far cry, but the buddies of "Submarine," Jack Holt and Ralph Graves made it successfully in "Flight," the all-talking epic of the skies, which opens at the Broadway today. The famous Georgia Tech-U. of Cal. game, where one of the warriors made a sensational run the length of the field, only to find he had scored behind his own goal, opens the picture, which quickly changes to the San Diego flying field, with the youngster a cadet-flyer, still smarting under the shame of his colossal error. From ground school to plane instruction, and then the great day of the qualifying solo flight, when the eagle wins his wings, the picture goes into intimate detail of the lives and loves of our flying officers. Then the sudden call to stern duty in Nicaragua where the rebel Sandino is ruling the roost, and the "pacifying" hand of the "Devil Dogs," the fighting U. S. marines, is ordered to grasp the situation. Thrilling land skirmishes against the rebels, pitched battles, sniping, and all the terrors of guerilla warfare are shown, and then the fivers take the air to drive Sandino and his cohorts from their mountain retreats. Forty fighting planes, with machine guns spitting, and H. E. bombs adding to the din, the rebel's anti-aircraft guns dealing death and destruction to the flyers, with more than one plane falling in flames, makes up a picture loaded with thrills and excitement, and under it all, as tender a love story for a marine nurse, Lila Lee, as one would wish. Filmed with the full co-operation of the government, who generously detailed officers, enlisted me nand planes to guarantee the authenticity of the story, "Flight" literally reaches the heights of talking-picture production, and marks the first and only successful attempt to record dialogue in the skies, above the roaring of the powerful motors. Far surpassing the great air-story "Wings," in its scope and production, "Flight" is a guarantee of two solid hours of thrilling entertainment. The latest Paramount Sound news is also shown. Norwich fans are promised a treat in the early showing of Harold Lloyd's first all-talking picture, "Welcome Danger," which is still showing in New York at $2 admission. The Lloyd opening in Norwich will be celebrated with a big "midnight premiere," at regular prices.

Breed Theatre

"The Duke Steps Out," Lucian Cary's Saturday Evening Post tale, filmed with dialogue and talking sequences and with William Haines as "The Duke," is the attraction for four days commencing tomorow night art the Breed theatre.

This new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature is a hilarious comedy of ring and campus. Haines plays a prize fighter who, to please his sweetheart, goes to college. His efforts to hide his profession in the classroom and still defend his title on the outside, give rise to a score of hilariously funny situations.

The cast includes Karl Dane, Tenen Holtz, Eddie Nugent, Delmer Daves, Luke Cosgrove and others of note. The elaborate fight scenes, staged in the Hollywood Legion stadium, are among the spectacular thrills of the production, with Haines pitted against Jack Roper, heavyweight profesional and championship contender.

Picture at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday

At the 4 p. m. service tomorrow (Sunday) at the Norwich Y. M. C. A. there will doubtless be another large audience to witness the last half of the marvelous moving picture production by DeMille, "The King of Kings." While the first half of the picture was of thrilling interest, the last part will in all probability be even more impressive, portraying as it does the strong opposition to Jesus, and his trial and finally his crucifixion. The producer has kept very close to the historic record in sacred writ, and the adult public of both sexes is invited. None under sixteen will be admitted unless accompanied by parent or other adult; in no case will children under eleven be admitted.

SOCIAL CORNER POETRY.

Be Cheerful!

Laugh away your sorrow,
Dance away your fears.
As you climb the pathway
Of the fleeting years,
And you will be making
All the world more bright
For the burden bearers
Stumbling through the night.

Sing away your sighing,
Jest away the woe,
That infects the shadows,
Where your feet must go,
And in cheering others,
Bringing balm for me,
Lo, you will be making
Your life fairer, too!

Halloween.

I hope I never get too old to light
A pumpkin lantern, on an autumn night;
Too wise to search a mirror's silver sheen
For your face, smiling back, on Halloween,
I'll delve and toil, cloud fancy with stern truth,
But this one day I'll keep from my lost youth.

Omnipresence.

What is that we hear each day?
The Voice of God along the way:
We cannot from His Presence hide,
As He is always near our side.

He gave us Signs that we might see,
That He is round both you and me:
The Sun to rule us every day,
That time was fixed along the way.

He is about us and within.
Therefore we cannot hide from Him:
He knows our deeds from day to day,
He will for ever with us stay.

When night is here, He is then near
This thought may bring both joy and fear,
He was before our life begun,
Therefore from Him we cannot run.

Going Through the Land.

If a Christian meet a Christian,
Going through the land,
Just been remember he's your brother,
Reach to him your hand;
For who can tell but on the morrow
You and he may stand
Before the great white throne up yonder?
Help him all you can.

If a Christian gets in trouble,
Going through the land,
Don't condemn your weaker brother;
Help him all you can;
For who can tell what great temptations
Press around the man?
He needs the help of Christian friendship;
Give him all you can.

If you meet a soul discouraged,
Going through the land,
Show to him God's word of promise,
Cheer him all you can;
For deeds and words in kindness given
Mend the broken strand;
A little help when one is drowning
Often saves the man.

Would you have a home up yonder
In the better land?
Do to others as you'd have them
Do to you, my man;
And when the Master comes for jewels,
Searching through the land,
He'll take thy weary, faithful spirit
Home to Beulah Land.

CLUB No. 4's MEMBERSHIP.

Dear Social Corner Folks: I must write a few lines to welcome Your Neighbor to the sisterhood. Yes, you are initiated now, at least you have taken the first degree. You have written a letter and been accepted as a member. Now, if you will meet with us Nov. 7, in the Community hall, South Killingly, we will confer upon you the second degree—a hearty handshake and a dinner such as only Social Corner housewives know how to prepare. Then there is the third, but that will come later when we meet again near home.

The letters discussing the commercializing of the Corner have been interesting. There are always two sides to such a question and Rosalind has told you of the decision of Club No. 4. Perhaps it may be of interest to the members of Club No. 4 who were not present at our last meeting to know that we have at least 100 members that we can account for in these towns, as follows: Thompson 3, Putnam 32, Pomfret 4, Killingly 52, Brooklyn 9. Then we have a few in the towns of Plainfield and Sterling but were unable to find out how many. We have held meetings in all of the above towns thus giving us a variety, which is the spice of life.

Some time ago Jack-in-the-Pulpit sent in a number of quotations and suggested that we don our thinking caps and see if we could place them as to authorship. I thought it would be easy but when I tried it, decided otherwise. Now, 1492 has started a spelling school and I had the greatest confidence in my ability to spell the words but after consulting a dictionary found I was not entitled to award myself the degree of A. S. Am sure the other school marms will do better.

I am sending in a hymn which may be sung to the tune of "Coming Through the Rye." I think it is beautiful.

SEEKING BIG CROWD FOR NOV. 7

Dear Editor Social Corner: Greetings to November and all those who claim this month as their birth month.

Just a word to remind you of the meeting of Club 4 on November 7th at Community hall, South Killingly. Come one, come all. Meet bus that leaves Danielson at 10.55 a. m. Come in your own buggy if you have one, or on horse back or airplane, or automobile, fly if you have wings or walk if you are able to hike. Let's have a good attendance and a good "gab fest". Also don't forget to bring some "eats", plate, knife and fork. Bring your jokes, songs, fancy work and smiles. All roads lead to South Killingly on November 7. Bring a member with you who has no way of getting to the hall.

Hope we have fine weather and a kind wind to blow us all together for the grand pow-wow.

UNWRITTEN HISTORY

Dear Social Corner Editor and Readers: The following summer on July 27th after meeting General Longstreet at his grape farm, I was again a guest at his hotel, the Piedmont house at Gainsville.

During our conversation the general told me the following, which he said had never to his knowledge appeared in history:

"I had not met General Grant personally but a few times since the Mexican war in which we participated, until after the surrender at Appomattox.

"We were at West Point together. I graduated from the academy in 1842 and Grant in 1843.

"We were pitted against each other on many a bloody battlefield. Although we fought each other it never broke our personal friendship and regard for each other.

"After each were married, the families occasionally met. Mrs. Longstreet, previous to our marriage, had a speaking acquaintance with Grant.

"While attending a seminary in St. Louis, where Julia Dent was a schoolmate, General Grant, then lieutenant, visited St. Louis, met and was introduced to Julia Dent (afterwards Mrs. Grant) by she that became Mrs. Longstreet. Our families were very social, visiting and corresponding.

"Soon after the surrender at Appomattox and the officers had signed their individual paroles and each company or regimental commander had signed a like parole for the men, I met General Grant. We greeted each other very cordially with a hearty hand shake. After some time of general conversation, Grant asked me what were my future plans. I told him that with the excitement and confusion of surrender I hadn't given thought to the future but it then looked as if the Confederacy would have no further need of my services. I should probably make my way to New Orleans, but as all rail communication was badly broken, I know of no way to get there except to go across the country to Vicksburg, Miss., that being the nearest point where I could get passage by either rail or boat to New Orleans.

"Grant said, 'It will be a long tiresome journey and if I can in any way be of assistance to you I will gladly do so.' With a moment's thought, he said, 'I will personally give you a pair of mules and an ambulance to transport your family and effects to wherever you decide to go.' I thanked him and in due time I, with Mrs. Longstreet (she being then with friends near Richmond) started on our journey with my Negro servant to Vicksburg, nearly 600 miles as the crow flies. Arriving there I went to the United States quartermaster and asked for a receipt for the mules and ambulance. The quartermaster having been informed that the turnout had been given to me outright, refused to give a receipt, saying 'it was a personal gift from General Grant, as your own property to use as you saw fit.' I told him I didn't understand it so, and wanted to be right in the matter, so I insisted upon the receipt which he very reluctantly gave me.

"We arrived in New Orleans in mid summer, nearly worn out and sick. After the reconstruction measures were adopted and I had taken the oath of allegiance to the old government (I being one of the first to do so) I took the stump and advocated the measures of reconstruction, advising the people to accept the measures, but if they couldn't assist, not to resist for it was as inevitable as was the surrender at Appomattox and the sooner they took the oath of allegiance, the sooner we would have a voice in the affairs of the country. Do you know they threatened to hang me and called me a renegade and apostate, but I lived through it!

"After General Grant was inaugurated president, he wrote me to come to Washington which I did in due time. Meeting him and after due courtesies and inquiry after the health of Mrs. Longstreet and myself, he with some hesitation said, 'I presume you, like many of your people, are not in the best of financial condition. I have called you here to know what office I can give you that will be of help to you.' I told him I wasn't aware that I was worthy of an office, neither did I come expecting the proffer of an office, and didn't think that was what he had in view in summoning me to Washington, but if he thought to appoint me for some office, I would accept it and fill it to the best of my ability. He then said, 'As you are now settled in New Orleans I thought to offer you the collectorship of the port of New Orleans.' I told him if that was his wish I would accept it. I was appointed in due time, and held it for a number of years.

"As I took his hand to thank him for his kindness and thought of me and to bid him goodbye, he said, 'Why did you turn that team of mules and ambulance over to the quartermaster at Vicksburg? I gave you the outfit outright, as a personal gift.' I replied, 'I didn't understand it clearly in the confusion at that time, and wishing to be right in the matter, I insisted and took a receipt'."

One other matter that entered into our conversation, I asked him if the result of the battle of Gettysburg wasn't the turning point, pointing unmistakably to the collapse of the confederacy, and had the confederates been successful what would have been the result.

To my first question he said "yes": to my second he said, "Had the confederates been successful, we were sure to have gone into Washington and taken the city; then foreign nations would have recognized our independence. The south would have had a government independent of the north, or the old government, but our state rights doctrine that we had advocated for years would have been the rock on which we would have been wrecked. One state would claim certain definite powers, reserving each state to itself, the right to their own self-government. Had their claims been denied then the government would have been in trouble, and had they been granted, it wouldn't have been many years before there would have been as many governments as there were states. The sequel would have been that the seceded states would have been, or wished to be, back under the old flag."

QUID NUNC

BIDDY GIVES HER VIEWS.

Dear Social Corner Friends: Sometime since you're heard from me, but, I am some interested in the talk about commercializing the Corner. I think some of the sisters can go back with me when I started the picnic-ball-a-rolling, and tell what an expense it was to get them up. Of course Mr. Pearson the late editor suggested that I send the bill to him and in due time I'd receive a check. He also had me charter the steamers at South Coventry, Lake Waugumbaug and buy ice-cream for all. Now days when a sister has a picnic she has to pay for all she gives. Why shouldn't she take up a collection. If this same sister should ask you to come to her house and bring along your own lunch, also drink, would you come?

If a sister bakes a lot of beans, makes a big salad or any other food and furnishes all the drink with sugar and cream for same, don't you think it nice to collect for her? The work of getting ready and the waiting on the big crowd and the final clearing away calls for something more than criticism; don't you think so? Of course at the hall meetings they have to take up a collection to pay for the hall.

Now this is my sentiment. Don't invite the Corner to your house but once in a season. That is where the whole thing about this commercializing the Corner started from. I know, for I have heard it talked over. Then when you do go to a picnic take some kind of food along, also your purse and give your ten cents cheerfully, for do you not eat all you can, possibly hold at dinner time? Think it over.

In regard to selling things at the Corner gatherings it is all right if one wants to do it. We don't have to buy if we don't want to. Is it any worse than raffling off things like quilts or pillow slips? I don't think so. I have in mind a little lady in Norwich in Club No. 2 who makes holders and needle cases, etc., to get a little pin money. It is her only way to earn money.

We should help anyone in need. "In as much as ye did it unto the least of these my children, ye did it unto Me." I didn't mean to preach but when I get started I never know when to stop. May the Corner grow and may the sister's friendship grow also, is the wish of "one of the has beens."

BIDDY.

OLD FASHIONED PORK CAKE

Dear Editor and Sisters of the Social Corner: It has been some time since I have written a letter to the Social Corner. I have been reading the nice letters of the members and I have enjoyed each and every one of them. Thanks to sisters for my birthday cards.

Thanksgiving will be here ere long so will send in an old fashioned pork cake recipe. It is made without butter, milk or eggs. When you read the recipe you might say that is lots of work but it is not so hard as it looks. It will keep two months, that is if you will let it.

Old Fashioned Pork Cake: One pound salt fat pork freed from rind and all lean pieces, chopped fine as lard, one pint of boiling water poured upon the pork, one pound of raisins, one-fourth pound citron, 2 cups of sugar, one cup molasses. Mix all together and stir in enough flour to make the consistency of common fruit cake batter. Sift with the flour one teaspoon of soda, and one teaspoon baking powder, one ounce of nutmeg and clove, two ounces cinnamon. By using the soda and baking powder together it makes the cake just right. Bake slowly.

Here is something I want to pass along to the housewife that has not had much experience in cooking. Try using a fork for mixing the shortening and water into the pie paste. Put a piece of bread in your cookie jar with your cookies if they are too crisp and your folks like them soft and watch the results.

KENSY.

FLYING SQUIRRELS.

Dear Social Corner Members: One evening my husband called me outdoors and we watched to see what was knocking the acorns off the tree. It was nice and warm so we sat down on a log and waited. We heard something rattling among the branches then the acorns would fall. We could not make out what it was as it was very quiet. We waited a while longer, then we saw something swoop down to the side of the trunk and run up the tree like a rat. Well it was getting quite dark so my husband said he'd find out the next evening what it was. So the next evening we went out early and waited. They began to come thick and fast. Hubby had the shot gun ready and down came one. Well it was a flying squirrel. They are a dark gray and just as soft and silky as Chiffon velvet. Their wings and legs are joined to their body all in one piece and you can spread them out perfectly flat. They look like a squirrel and a rat. They certainly can fly.

Am sending in a cranberry pie recipe which is very nice. It will go nice for a Thanksgiving dinner.

Cranberry Pie: 1 cup cranberries, chopped; 1-2 cup raisins chopped, small cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, put in a teacup dissolve in a little cold water and fill teacup with boiling water, small piece butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Strip the top crust. It's just dandy.

Thanksgiving will soon be here and my wish is that everybody will enjoy themselves. May God bless the sick and shutins in abundance. May God bless one and all.

WHITE CHRYSANTHEMUM.

BROWN BREAD

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I am a member of Club No. 6 and am going to display my fancy work Nov. 6 and 7, afternoon and evening at my home, 27 Newton avenue. I am writing this to let the sisters know and I hope many of them will come. I am sending a recipe for brown bread, cooked in double boiler.

Brown Bread: 1 cup flour, 1 3-4 cups meal, 1 cup sour milk, 3-4 cup molasses, 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in sour milk. Add more milk if needed. Steam 3 hours.

HENRIETTA CLAY.

JOINS THE CORNER.

Dear Social Corner Editor and Members: As I have attended several of the Corner meetings and one picnic and enjoyed them, I would like to become a member of the Corner and Shore Line Club No. 6. Will take for my pen name, if no one else has it.

ARABELLA

A DRIVE RECALLS OLD MEMORIES.

Dear Social Corner Friends: Just give "Lizzie" plenty of gas, oil and water, also a nice picnic basket for yourselves and come for a ride over a fine road and be sure of good eyes and opera glasses to help. We will go to Central Village and over Black hill. Here pause a moment and look for miles and see a number of villages in the distance. Now we go to Canterbury and on toward Scotland, a little village in the valley. Just before going to the village we have a fine view and need good brakes for it's a splendid roller coasterway here. Pause at the top of one long hill, Pudding hill. Let me tell you: Once on a time there were three tramps who stopped at a house and asked for something to eat. As it happened in the early fall these good farmers had pudding and milk. While these fine fellows accepted, they were looking for something better. Later they met on the top of this hill which was also very soft and springy. Each declared the farmers went to this hill for yellow clay to make their corn meal go further.

We now go to the little village, Scotland, and leave the fine state road and head for a strip of country down by Brunswick district. The little old school has gone but the happy memories still linger there and to Ford Ned. The old mill and houses long have been a thing of the past. Here we have our lunch by the water fall and being early we take the old rocky road to Hanover and then choose the road to Norwich and have a wonderful water scene all the way.

To me this trip we just made carried me back 25 years to a little pigtail school girl at Brunswick Corner where a near neighbor was teacher. If I have not worn out my welcome will run in again.

Glad to get your letter, Aries.

GREEN HOLLOW.

A PRETTY RIDE.

Dear Social Corner Members: Recently I had a nice day trip going from Stonington to Saybrook through to Middletown and Wethersfield into Hartford, then back through Glastonbury, Colchester, Norwich and Westerly. In some places the foliage was very pretty but, the best was between Golden Spur and Saybrook. This was not to be compared with your trip of 350 miles in one day, Frances I.

Elm Tree Bobbie: Package and letter received. You will hear from me soon.

Eliza Jane: Your letter was fine. I hope the arm is getting better fast. Oh, you sister who is going to take a pen name that begins with L-H, hurry up and send that letter in so as to be a full fledged member.

1492: I still think you are all at sea, but, maybe I am.

If all the sisters are not through house cleaning and still have floors to clean do put a cushion under your knees. I have never bothered but, having done five and my knees so sore I could hardly stand it and with twelve more to do, I began to look around for a kneeling pad and I struck the right thing. It was one of those leatherette covered cushions you carry in the car. It was the best ever as it did not pack and mat down. If you haven't a car do get one of those cushions and save your knees.

As to cleaning the windows. Wash in the usual way, then wring a piece of chamois out of clear warm water and wipe the windows. You will be surprised how quickly you can do them. The small pieces of chamois you get in the ten cent store will do. By the way I keep a piece hanging near the sink to wipe the window over the sink with after washing the dishes as the window often gets spattered. Another help I find during cleaning time is to boil a ham, a piece of corned beef and roast a fresh ham, also bake some pies before starting in then it does not take long to prepare the dinners. I also like to prepare my vegetables while doing up the morning's work as I do not seem to mind the time so much as when I have to stop at 10.30 to get them ready. I hope this will help some one else probably not the older housekeepers but maybe some of the younger ones.

American Girl: Heard you arrived home safe.

E. L. M.

GREETINGS FROM LOWTHORPE.

Dear Editor and Social Corner Friends: Here are some interesting facts concerning the Holy Bible, which I trust may be of interest to the Corner members. This list was presented me when a young girl, and have always preserved same. The Bible contains 66 books, 1,189 chapters, 31,173 verses, 773,692 words, 3,566,480 letters. The middle verse is the eighth verse of the 18th Psalm. The longest verse is the ninth verse of the eighth chapter of Esther. The shortest verse is the 35th verse of the 11th chapter of St. John. Ezra 7:21 contains all the letters in the alphabet, except J. The word "and" occurs 46,277 times. The word "Lord" occurs 1,855 times. The word "Reverend" occurs but once, which is in the ninth verse of the 111 Psalm. There are no words or names of more than six syllables.

Joan: Your son gave me the above information about 35 years ago.

Theodas: Am most grateful for the cordial welcome you extended me in your recent letter. Thanks. You and Aunty No. 1, surely have keen minds. My first letter simply answered the request you made of me at Willimantic camp ground, September 12th.

Old Fashioned Mother: Hubby and I often think of you and recall our very pleasant day with you at that quiet restful spot, where you spent the summer. The birthday card received August 28th, surely expressed beautiful sentiments.

Cordial greetings to all whom I have met thus far.

LOWTHORPE.

Club 5 Meets Nov. 6.

Dear Editor and Social Corner Members: On Wednesday, Nov. 6th, Club No. 5, will meet in the Buckingham Memorial, and I hope to see a large attendance. Members from all clubs are welcome. We are planning on having a delicious dinner. And hope to see all of Club No. 5 members. Don't forget to bring something good to eat.

Love and sympathy to all that are shut in and sick.

BAY STATE.

THE CANARY'S WINTER PIE.

Dear Editor and Friends: We are certainly having a beautiful fall for which I am grateful. I have been busy and haven't had time to write, but, of course, I enjoy reading the letters, while I rest. But I want to suggest to you who have caged pets, that I find my pet loves chick weed, the best of all green food and I believe it's better for him than sweet apple, unless it is real sweet and that is difficult to get in winter. Now is the time to take up a good root of it and pot it. It will grow fast enough for one bird to have one meal a week and that is often enough. If you have a number of birds take up several pots of it. If you don't know it, ask a neighbor and if you haven't any let me know and I'll help you out. One little fellow used to eat a spray of it all up clean, stem and all. Here's to the wild bird lover. Push up a sunny window about a foot and secure it. Put in a tight wooden floor, let it project into the room a foot or more as you please, use glass and mouldings for sides and top and make it water proof, put in a variety of bird feeds and watch your little friends from your room, you can hinge the top of this so you won't have to go outside to refill. This is the best feeding station, splendid for those living up two or three or more stories. If you cannot build it, tell a carpenter what you want, it is inexpensive.

Marigold: How are you? Would love to see you.

Buddy: How is the boy?

I. J. B.: Hope you are better.

Foxglove: I haven't seen the picture yet. Don't forget me.

Best wishes to the shutins and sorrowing ones.

CANTERBURY BELL

CONTINUATION OF HAMPTON

Dear Social Corner: Next to the little harness shop in Hampton stands the hotel. For a time the bar was located in northwest room, then changed to southwest corner, as one could go directly into the bar room by just opening outside door. The other room one was obliged to enter from the hall, and front stairs leading to second-story, where the hall for various purposes was located. The bar would be less conspicuous if moved. No prohibition then.

Ezra Stiles, a dentist, came occasionally to fix teeth from our city. A man who performed tricks called sleight of hand, came once and had a long dark red bag which he turned inside out to show back and began taking hen's eggs from it until he had quite a dish full. Then some one in the audience offered him 50c to produce another egg from the wonderful bag—no egg came. Later we became acquainted with a man who earned his living by doing these stunts and he enlightened us by saving on the inside of the bag were little pockets drawn together by an elastic which held the eggs in. The man kept up a steady stream of talk while doing his various tricks, which seemed such a mystery to us.

Augustus Snow, his good wife, Hannah, son Herman, two daughters, Vera and Ednah, occupied the hotel. I think at one time the house went under the name of "Snow's home" as well as "Chelsea Inn." Few hotels had snow the year round as Hampton did, which may have caused it to be such a muddy place in spring as "Ola" has spoken of.

Harvey Hazen, from Preston, Conn., who was then 70 years old, tall, straight and quite a gentleman, came to teach dancing. While teaching the pupils he wore cloth shoes without heels. The girls received lessons in the afternoon, while the boys' lessons occupied the evening, once a week. Two rooms on north end of hotel were used by the pupils to dress and put their wraps in. After a few lessons separately the boys and girls were allowed to dance together—then after school hours the public could come in and exercise themselves. Next came the closing, called then the "quarter ball" with Mrs. Snow's famous supper. Towns around Hampton were well represented. The first lesson you were taught different positions of the feet, then taught the ten steps, counted by Mr. Hazen thus: one, two, three, four and five—six, seven, eight—nine and ten. For the last two you drew your right foot behind the left heel, then put your right heel at center of left foot and finished out the time, quickly executed. No heels were to be heard while dancing. As we came from our rooms the girls were required on entering the hall to make a courtesy—the boys had to bow. Then Mr. Hazen counted one, two, as we walked. If too slow or quick we were required to do it over. Boys could not cross their legs during school hours, were told just what to say and how to approach a girl he desired for partner in the dance, even advised never to carry a whip over the shoulder when riding out with a lady. Needless to say his school was a success, although dancing then was severely criticized by many church people. But owing to his (Mr. Hazen's) morals and manners children came from far and near out of many families, professors of religion.

Brooklyn was represented by Bard who had a pen shop, Henry Newberry connected with jewelry, Fred Gurnette whose father was in the clothing business in the hotel and sold Singer sewing machines. My mother bought one there and the elder Gurnette allowed her to make boys' reefers, (short jackers of woolen cloth) in payment for the machine. Vernette Cleveland, Juliette Atwood and Joseph Stetson often came.

Will mention some of the pupils in Mr. Hazen's school: Augustus Evans, Elijah Evans, Walty Evans, John, Lydia and Electa Raymond, John, Eunice and Cynthia Hammond, Delia Button, Adalaide and Annice Williams, Mary Button, George Colt, Henry Burnham, and sister Helen, Edgar Newton, Abbie Fuller, Delia Whitaker, Robert Tiffany, Addison Greenslit and sister Kate.

Augutus Snow moved to the hotel in Windham Center and Gilbert called ("Gib" Snow) moved in. His family consisted of his wife and two children Annie and Willie, and Mrs. Snow's mother, Mrs. Cook, a dear old lady from Providence with some means. The hotel was well furnished.

One Corner member attended to the hair being done up "cookie" style, rightly named for a cushion, small and round with a round hole in center.

After parting off the front hair the back hair was drawn through the hole just as close to the head as possible fastened, then covered with your hair. The front hair was rolled over little cushions or rats as then called, and fastened around the back, or cookie, all said it was not very pretty and short lived.

At this time nets were used, one style at this particular time covered the head excepting the very front and in the center of the net was a square where there were loops perhaps a quarter of an inch long close together, and when properly adjusted came directly over the described cookie. The rest of the net was plain. Sometimes the net had tassels which hung at the side. The story went round that a girl forgot to remove a net of this kind, woke in the night with net off and she felt the loops much scared thinking of darkies' hair. Certainly it was a peculiar head dress. Plain water falls were prettier and remained in style longer. The addition of one or two curls at the side of the face was worn by some. Everything is pretty while the style lasts.

ENJOYING VISIT.

Dear Social Corner Sisters and Friends: I am here having a pleasant time with my daughter. We go out autoing and trolley riding, and to lots of social times. It is such fine weather, too. But, oh, we need rain so much as the water is so low here, at Prospect. I was so surprised when I saw it. But we will have rain in due time I trust. Best wishes to all.

WHEN PRESIDENTS KISSED THE BIBLE.

Social Corner: Perhaps the readers would be interested to know what biblical passages the president of the United States kissed at the inauguration.

Most of the presidents, especially those of the last ten administrations, kissed the Bible at the first opening of the holy book. President Hoover, however, selected the place at which he was to imprint his lips. He chose the verse Proverbs 29:18, as his text: "Where there is no vision the people perish, but he that keepeth the law, happy is he."

James McKenney, clerk of the supreme court for ten administrations, until after Woodrow Wilson's inauguration, watched the nation's chief executives as they kissed the Bible, which it was his duty to hold. Afterwards he marked the chosen passages with ringlets of gold.

Thus it is that citizens of this country know today what part of the Bible those presidents kissed. Mr. McKenney reports that the Bibles used at inaugurations were new and of the Oxford type, being valued at $10 to $12 each.

Grover Cleveland and President McKinley used special Bibles at their inaugurations. Cleveland used a small book which had been given to him by his mother in 1852. McKinley used a book which had been given to him by Negro bishops. It was of the family Bible type and was enclosed in an ornate box lined with velvet.

Except in the cases of Cleveland and McKinley, Mr. McKenney preserved the Bibles and presented them to the "First Lady of the Land" of each administration.

The verses which recent presidents kissed are as follows:

Psalm 119:46. I will speak of thy testimonials before Kings and not be ashamed.—Woodrow Wilson.

1 Kings 3:9. Give therefore thy servant an understanding heart to judge thy people that I may discern between good and bad; for who is able to judge this so great a people?—William Howard Taft.

James 1:22. Be ye doers of the word and not hearers only.—Theodore Roosevelt.

II Caronicles 1:10. Give me now wisdom and knowledge that I may go out and come in before this people.—William McKinley.

Psalm 112:5. A good man will guide his affairs with discretion.—Grover Cleveland.

Psalm 31:3. For thy name's sake lead me and guide me.—Chester A. Arthur.

Proverbs 21:1. The King's hand is in the heart of the Lord, as the rivers of water. He turneth it whithersoever He will.—James A. Garfield.

A THANKSGIVING STORY.

Dear Social Corner Members: Grey November is with us once more. "October's bright blue weather" went much too quickly, but we must not turn and look dreamily at the past but prepare for the future. But hark! This is not the month in which to feel sad and wish for the balmy days of spring for this is the season of thanksgiving.

A friend is sitting day after day in her wheel chair, she knows she never will be able to walk again, but she has friends who take her reading matter, nice things to eat. Sure she is somewhat deaf, but she understands her friends as they converse with her and best of all she can see—sees her neighbors, sees to read and write and sew, sees the beauty of nature, and I believe if one should ask her if she was very, very unhappy, she would say, "Oh! No, I have so much to be thankful for."

So it is with each of us, if we have something that disturbs our peace of mind, if we just move over on the sunny side how quickly we can count the many things for which to be thankful.

I'm wondering if we will have a snowstorm at Thanksgiving. I presume there are many in this large circle who can remember the Thanksgivings 'way back in 1860 or thereabouts. I cannot recall such home gatherings, but by reading of account of those deep snows and looking at those old fashioned pictures I have an imagination of the good times had at the family reunions at this season. If I promise not to make this story too long may I put my imagination into words?

"Well! Thanksgiving will soon be here," says Grandma Prudence Way to Grandpa Jabeze, "and its high time those golden sweet pumpkins were put in the outdoor cellar along with the carrots and onions. I see there was a light frost last night and 'twould never do to have the dinner without golden sweet pumpkin pies. You know, Jabeze, the children and grandchildren will all be home; I said all the children, but of course Liza Jane can't be with us, poor girl. We haven't seen her these ten years; and what is there to be thankful for anyway? Well, as I was saying, there will be the rest of them, nigh onto a couple of dozen, counting Baby Prue. She was named after me you know, she's so pretty and such a sweet disposition. Now those pies! Sweet pumpkin, mince, apple and cranberry jelly turned out of a rabbit mould; that young rascal Jabeze loves to stick toothpicks in the eyes before it's time to eat."

"There! There, Prudence, Jabeze was named after me you know, and he's a mighty smart little lad, 'cause you see he takes after his grandpa."

"Humph! Proud of yourself aren't you? Now we've no time to palaver about my good looks or how smart you are; but remember if those pies and brown breads and cakes are going to be baked in that brick oven you have got to get plenty of wood and let it burn and burn until those bricks get good and hot."

So grandma gave order after order and poor grandpa went out chuckling to himself for he was a jolly old gentleman.

Now the children were all married and away except Betsy Ann. Liza Jane went away with a traveling salesman. She wrote home once saying they were married in a distant town, had a beautiful boy, light hair that grew in ringlets, and blue eyes that looked like bits of heaven, but for only a few months he was with them; the angel came and carried him home. Betsy Ann never cared to get married. She loved to stay with the old folks, just enjoyed making the butter and cheese, while mother attended to the baking. As they talked and planned it began to snow and how it did snow for two days and nights. Finally it cleared away beautifully, and they were wondering if the folks could get through, when they heard sleighbells, and looking out of the frosted window-pane, they saw a sled drawn by a yoke of oxen, with the oldest son Daniel, driving. On the sled were some of the older children, Isaac, Joseph and Elija and Noah; the sled was breaking a path for the two-seated sleigh. On the front seat were the second son, Joshua and his wife Abigail, their daughters Patience and Polly, the twins, Matthew and Martha, Mary and Christopher. On the back seat was daughter Prudence with her children, Samuel, Peter, Amos and Baby Prue. Her husband, Hiram and his favorite boy Peleg were walking with shovels. Daniel's wife Dorcas held Baby Prue as the mother, Prudence, had all she could do settling disputes between Samuel and Peter.

Finally they reached the old home, a typical old farm house, noted for its frame work, all morticed together and held by hand drawn pins and the nails were also hand wrought. How quickly the children jumped out from buffalo robes and woolen shawls, running in to receive a big bear hug from grandma and a loving pat from grandpa.

"Yum! Yum! Somefin smells good!" To be sure, for all that company one turkey never would have been enough, so a goose was roasting and a chicken pie was baking.

While dinner was cooking, some of the children polished up apples such as Ben Davis, Denison Reddings, Greenings, and Spicing. Others went up into one of the four attics, 'twas the south attic, and brought down a pail of shagbark walnuts to crack in the evening by the light of the large open fireplace, and another younger asked for the popcorn and popper. Dinner was soon ready, a table for the children and one for the grown-ups. Baby Prue sat in the high chair beside grandma, and of course Jabeze had to sit by the side of grandpa. Maybe he would get more wishbones than the others or perhaps a larger drumstick. The poor old table, built of rough oak boards, fairly groaned under its weight of good things to eat. Plenty of rich milk for the children, tea rather weak for the women folks, but the men—well, tea of course, but most likely the kind that came from the orchard.

The afternoon soon wore away. It was time to light the candles, tallow candles for the kitchen and backrooms but the fragrant bayberry candles set in highly polished candlesticks were in the dining room and in the parlor was the beautful candelabrum with wax candles.

After stories were told to the children by grandma, relating to them her experiences when a little girl such as going out west in a prairie schooner and so on, good-nights were said and they watched Aunt Betsy Ann put live coals into the large brass warming pan and follow her up the long winding stairway with two landings. Each child was allowed to carry his own little candle. Aunt Betsy Ann warmed the pan and tucked 'n the youngsters and soon they were dreaming of Oh, such horrid things as a dark man who carried a bundle or a wild something with big eyes trying to get through the window, having eaten too much popcorn, shagbark walnuts and apples just before bedtime.

The next day being Sunday, the whole family must go to meeting. All but Baby Prue, she must stay home with grandma. As there was no heat in the meeting house, each person carried his own foot stove, a square tin box with live coals inside.

In that little church every one was so sincere in his faith. There they gave thanks for their many blessings, and they were not too proud to let their next neighbor know how much they appreciated the goodness of their Maker and Guide, and while Grandpa Jabeze was thanking his Father for his family and their children who had come to brighten the home, praying that somewhere his wayward daughter was leading a good true and religious life and guiding her husband in the right way, softly, so softly walked in Liza Jane with her husband and knelt down by the side of the aged father. The wanderers looked poorly but they had repented and knew they would find their father and family in God's house. When meeting was over and greetings were exchanged, Betsy Ann and the minister, a bachelor of middle age, were seen getting into his sleigh, driving towards Betsy's home. They wished to get home before the rest to tell mother alone how thankful each were that at last they had found each other and by the next Thanksgiving there would be a wedding. Soon the rest of the family came and grandma looked over her spectacles twice to see who the two strangers were coming to dinner.

Liza Jane with her husband came toward her saying: "Mother, Mother, we are so glad we could come back home after all these years."

Her tired mother, grey with worry, gathered her into her arms saying, "You poor dear child, you don't know how thankful Pa and I are to have you with us again."

So Grandma and Grandpa Way had a great deal to be thankful for.

INTEREST IN BOOKS

Dear Social Corner Friends: It has been my privilege to read quite a bit recently. Often I have come to something so worth while that I wished there was some one at hand to share it with or that in some way I might pass it on. Our village library is small and yet I seem to keep finding good things in it, some of them so good that after a time I bring them home again for another reading. I fancy that many Cornerites enjoy Gamaliel Bradford's Various Portraits as much as I do. I noticed a book of his a few weeks ago when I stepped into the Otis library in Norwich to glance at some of the new books on the display stand. Horace Greeley, I remember, was the subject of one chapter. I wanted so much to bring the book home with me but of course I couldn't so I consoled myself as best I might by reading this author's Portraits of American Women which is in the library here. These women seem like friends we have read of them so much. Agagail Adams, Mary Lyon, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Margaret Fuller Ossoli, Louisa Alcott, Frances Willard.

All but one of these, I belive, were New England women and all of them wanted to do something that should benefit the world. They all succeeded in doing this and it is very helpful to read about their ups and downs, their courage in times of trial and their determination to win in spite of obstacles. Their ideals were high and in attempting to realize these they didn't seem to know the meaning of the word defeat. Today I have been glancing over the pages of Real Americans by Mary H. Wade which I fancy was written for juveniles but it suited my mood for now and then I like to play at being a juvenile again myself. The list includes Roosevelt, Hoover, Leonard Wood, John Burroughs, Mark Twain and Edward Everett Hale. All of these lived to "arrive" as we say. There were great differences in their circumstances and environment but all were ready for the next step higher in spite of handicaps. Poverty could not hold them down, nor ill health, nor seeming failures. If they couldn't get just what they wanted they took the best they could get and kept on growing.

Our former president, Calvin Coolidge, says in a very modest way in his autobiography that early in his political career he began to make a point of being ready. I fancy it is men and women and boys and girls who are

DANIELSON

COURT TO DECIDE ON BROOKLYN GRAND JUROR

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Nov. 1.—Before Judge Allyn L. Brown of the superior court in Norwich, Monday morning at 10 o'clock, there will be a hearing of the claim of Frank M. Bedard, republican, of Brooklyn, that he should have been declared elected a grand juror when the results of the annual town meeting were announced on the first Monday in October. Mr. Bedard further claims that he was not only not declared elected, but also that he has been denied a certificate of election.

It appears that it has been the custom in Brooklyn for the republicans and democrats each to nominate three candidates for election at annual town meetings and, upon voting, to declare them all elected. This year, as usual, there were six candidates. It so happened that Mr. Bedard received a lesser vote than any of the other five candidates. Moderator F. E. Cunneen, in making known the results of the day's balloting, declared the other five candidates for grand juror elected, but did not so declare Mr. Bedard.

Mr. Bedard's contention is that he also should have been declared elected, to make a total of six grand jurors, and that notwithstanding his vote was the lowest of the six candidates he is entitled to be recognized as a grand juror. He will be represented at the hearing in Norwich by Attorney E. L. Darbie. Attorney Harry E. Back will appear for the town of Brooklyn.

A point made today in opposition to Mr. Bedard's contention is that Brooklyn is privileged to elect not less than two nor more than six grand jurors, and, this being true, may limit the number to five if it so desires.

ELMER RICE FINED FOR EVADING RESPONSIBILITY

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Nov. 1.—Various interesting angles developed with rapidity today following the appearance before Judge W. Fenner Woodward in the town court this morning of Charles Elmer Rice, who lives on the Arthur Day farm on the Maple street route to Goodyear. Rice was charged with evading responsibility, following an automobile accident on the Broad street side of Davis park, near the Soldiers' monument last night between 8:30 and 8:40. It was charged against Rice this morning that he was the operator of an automobile that struck Russell N. Chapin, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Chapin, of Reynolds street, and left the boy lying unconscious in the street. Rice was found guilty and fined $50 and costs.

Out of this case grew another in which Nathan Blumenthal, a local business man, is charged with loaning a set of dealer's registration plates to Rice to use during the evening on the car which Rice was driving and which he had hired from Ray W. Pellett, the car being unregistered. The case against Mr. Blumenthal, who contends that he has a legal right to loan his dealer's numbers for periods not in excess of five days, was continued until Nov. 7, to permit Mr. Blumenthal to retain counsel.

Following the court proceedings this morning interesting statements were made by Mr. Pellett and by Mr. Blumenthal. Mr. Pellett says, and declares he has witnesses to prove it, that Rice had no registration plates whatsoever on the car when he drove it off the Pellett property on North Main street, the time of leaving there being fixed at 8:30 to 8:35. Mr. Pellett states that he further warned Rice not to take the car out of the yard without putting registration plates on it. The Chapin boy was found injured at about 8:40.

Mr. Blumenthal says that he did not return to his place of business in the town hall building from a business call until 9:25, and at that time Rice was there waiting to get the set of registration plates that he had agreed to loan to Rice, and that he (Blumenthal) took the plates off the car he had just been using and gave them to Rice. All of these facts have been called to the attention of the state police, and this afternoon Rice was facing the prospect of another appearance in court, this time to be charged with driving an unregistered car.

The Chapin boy was on his way home from a Halloween party when he was struck by the car Rice was driving. The boy was tossed into the air and came down on his head on the concrete walk near the home of Dr. G. M. Burroughs. Rice did not stop. Boys who came along found young Chapin unconscious. The injured boy was removed to his home on the south side of the park and given attention by his grandfather, Dr. Nathaniel Hibbard. Dr. Hibbard said today that the hair is scraped off the head and the scalp lacerated over a considerable area and that the boy is cut and his ankle. He was helpless in bed today.

State Officer Theodore Strand searched for Rice after the accident and informed Night Borough Officer Laird Winchell of the accident. Late last night Winchell saw Rice with the car, then carrying SX markers, and placed him under arrest.

Barn on Knox Place Destroyed

Flame-lighted sky to the southeast of here last night attracted the attention of large numbers of people all through this area. The reflection on the sky was from a fire that destroyed a large barn at what is known as the Knox place, occupied by a Damare family in the northern section of the town of Sterling. Twelve cows, two brushed on one side from his head to tips, some poultry were among the living things that died in the fire. A quantity of hay, farming tools and machinery also were destroyed. The Moosup fire department was asked for aid. To the northwest of here last night at about 8:30, the sky also reflected what appeared to be a large fire, but efforts to trace it from Danielson today were unavailing.

Young people were numbered among those who celebrated Halloween here that came in for severe censure this morning. Mixed with the clean fun to which many restricted themselves was an unusual amount of vandalism and vulgarianism. Probably the perpetrators would blush with shame if brought face to face with their work in the light of day. Obscene things were scrawled on windows and buildings with chalk and other substances. Steering wheels of automobiles were messed up with tar. Air was allowed to escape from tires and operating parts of cars removed so that the machines could not be started. Buildings were defaced and many other things done that count as offenses under the law and are punishable in court. All of this is out of harmony with the traditional community spirit of Danielson. It means that the usual Halloween fun will be greatly curtailed here next year.

The Civic federation today had completed its organization and plans for its annual tag day on Saturday, the once-a-year effort of the federation to raise funds through public appeal.

In common with Episcopal churches throughout the nation, there will be a service of special commemoration of the late Presiding Bishop John Gardner Murray at St. Alban's church on Sunday.

A council of the Association Canada-American is being organized in Danielson, with workers now seeking members.

This afternoon members of the Civic federation held a regular meeting at the health station in the town hall building.

Colonel Henry W. Babson said farewell for the season to his friends here today on departing for Winter Haven, Fla., where he will remain until spring.

Mrs. A. E. Withington had members of the Help-One-Another class of the Baptist Sunday school at her home this evening for a Halloween social.

Miss Gertrude Reynolds of North Main street and Miss Rose Heneault of Dayville, students at Mt. St. Vincent college on the Hudson, are at their homes here to spend a few days' recess from their studies.

Mrs. C. W. Flagg, a former resident of Danielson, was a visitor here from Hartford today.

It is understood that at the special town meeting the coming week voters will be asked to appropriate a sum not to exceed $200 to help defray the costs of the Armistice day observance.

Lyman Lyon, student at the Davey School of Tree Surgery in Ohio, is visiting here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen F. Lyon, of North Main street.

George Crocker, Providence, a former resident of Danielson, was a visitor here today.

YANTIC

FUN AND FROLIC IN VILLAGE TO NOTE HALLOWEEN

Halloween was lively in the village. Although no parade was arranged, several small groups met and formed larger groups and plenty of fun resulted.

The wooden fence built at the entrance to the stone bridge, erected by W. F. Williams when he entertained President William H. Taft, to hide the old store, was torn down. Workmen in the employ of the American Woolen company replaced it Friday.

The Girls' Friendly society held its weekly meeting Thursday. It took the form of a social meeting on account of Halloween.

After the merrymaking, apples, doughnuts and cider were passed.

The Woman's Guild of Grace church held a roast pork supper in the parish house Wednesday, which was well attended.

George Smith of Meriden was a recent guest of Henry Briggs.

William Kempton has returned to his home here after a week's stay in Meriden as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith.

Mrs. A. Pavok of Hallville was a recent guest of Mrs. William Bellowitz.

ready that the world wants and needs today, lifters not leaners.

As I read in The Bulletin about the trip last Sunday to the birthplace of Clara Barton who rendered such noble service for humanity I wondered if some of our Corner members were among the pilgrims. If so I hope we may hear something interesting about it in a letter to our page. As long sermons are taboo in these days I will close with greetings to you all and sympathy to those who are ill or in trouble. JACK-IN-THE-PULPIT

BOOKS AND HUMMING BIRDS

Dear Social Corner: This is my first letter to the Social Corner, and I write to tell Pen and Ink how much her letter about "Two Good Books" interested me, for I had read Odell Shepherd's book, "The Harvest of a Quiet Eye" and was fascinated by his wonderful descriptions. There are others of his books to be had at Otis library. I have learned that he is a professor of English in one of our Connecticut colleges and a son of a bishop of the Methodist church. I have heard one of his students make the remark that to listen to him read poems was a delight. An evening spent in his rooms, when he read aloud, would pass seemingly on winged feet so lost would one be to all about him traveling in imagination with the poet and the reader.

Speaking of the humming-birds, for years I have had them about the flower garden and piazza box, with a whirr coming to greet me as I sat busily sewing or mending. I would hold as still as still could be fearful of frightening away the little fellow before he could get his fill of honey from the blooms there. But this summer while spending an afternoon with a shut-in I had a still, more wonderful experience. Along one edge of their yard was a flower border backed by a division fence of wire. Among the flowers in the border was bee balm which you all know is fragrant both in leaf and flower and a beautiful crimson in color.

I was looking out the window and wondered what was that on the wire. I counted three of them. They sat so still and looked so small. They were our tiny little humming birds in repose. I could only believe this when first one and then another would move its head so the sun would light up its little red crest. I saw them many days thereafter, always near the bee balm, where they could eat and then rest. I thought a nest might be near by but I could not detect it. Perhaps some one of our number could write us about their nests, etc., so we could learn more of their habits. Never before had I seen them except poised with whirring wings or in flight.

If this is printed and I become a member I may write again.

PUTNAM

BERTHIAUME BEATS OUT RYAN FOR NOMINATION

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, Nov. 1. — Local people were handed another surprise Thursday evening when Alderman Charles A. Ryan was unsuccessful in his fight for re-nomination and election to the 1930-31 common council. Mr. Ryan's name went before the democratic voters of the ward at the caucus held at the municipal building, but following the counting of ballots it was disclosed that his party opponent, Eugene Berthiaume, a former alderman had defeated him by a majority of 11 votes. A total of 51 votes were cast, 31 of which went to Berthiaume and Ryan receiving the remaining 20.

Ryan and Berthiaume have been party opponents for the past four years. At the biennial election two years ago, Mr. Ryan defeated Berthiaume by a small majority.

Fifty-one democratic voters from this ward was considered today by the members of the city committee, as a large response to the call, inasmuch as this ward is one of the ranking republican strongholds of the city.

Superintendent of Schools Leon M. Farrin said today that on Thursday, November 14, the regular sessions for all grades above the third of the public schools will be omitted and instead an evening session of the day pupils will be held similar to the evening session held last year as part of the observance of American Education week. The sessions in the evening will be from 6.45 to 9.15 o'clock and will be for all pupils enrolled in classes above grade 3. Grades 1, 2 and 3, Supt. Farrin said will hold regular sessions on that day in the day time.

American education week which begins on Monday, November 11, and continues until the following Sunday, will be fittingly observed in the schools of Putnam and preparations for the intended observance are now under way in the various schools. The schedule for the various days was announced this morning and is as follows: Nov. 11, Armistice day, education for citizenship; Tuesday, home and social day; education for worthy; Wednesday, know your school day; mastery of the tools, technics and spirit of learning; Thursday, school opportunity day; education for vocational and economic effectiveness; Friday, health day, education sound health; Saturday, community day, education for the wide use of leisure; Sunday, for God and for country, education for ethical character.

Supt. Farrin cordially invites the people of Putnam to pay a visit to the various schools of the town during American Education week. The week set aside for education has as one of its primary objectives, the visits of the public. Mr. Farrin said.

Two alleged deserters from the United States army, assigned to Fort Wright, N. Y., were returned to army officials there today by officers of the Putnam police departmen. Both of the soldiers were taken into custody in Putnam by the police on Tuesday.

Peter A. Gardner, juvenile investigator and probation officer of the city court, was confronted with several complaints today, dealing with last night's Halloween celebration. Officer Gardner said this afternoon that he is checking up the various reports of property owners who claim that youths who took advantage of the evening's observance and resorted to property destruction. In the Grove street section of the city street lights were broken, window shutters were broken when it was necessary for boys to speedily remove them from their positions on houses in order to avoid being discovered. On the property of Mrs. Edgar M. Warner of South Main street there reposes a large and expensive sign, advertising the property for sale. This object fell an easy victim to the hands of boys who dobbed it over with brown paint. On Arch street another group of Halloween celebrators launched an attack upon the property of Elmer C. Morrarty, damaging many valuable plants.

While no prosecution is expected to take place, Officer Gardner has intimated that he will make every effort to identify the boys.

Two sisters met in Thompson this week after a period of separation lasting over 25 years. They are Mrs. Richard Olson of Thompson and Mrs. Carlton L. Goss of Woonsocket, R. I. The reunion of the sisters was the result of an untiring search conducted by the Thompson woman for her sister. The family members were parted at the death of their mother, Viola Wheelden, cared for a time by residents of East Killingly, was placed in the Little Wanderer's home in Boston. At the age of 5 she was adopted by a Woonsocket woman. She was reared and educated in that city and finally was married to Carlton Goss of Woonsocket. Pursuing her family history recently, Mrs. Goss unearthed that fact that her nearly forgotten sister, Mrs. Olsen, was residing in Thompson. The reunion of the two women proved to be a joyous one in the lives of both.

A Halloween social and dance was held last evening at the Putnam Country club under the auspices of the Cosmos club of this city. The affair was given in the interests of promoting the club charity fund. Many of the revelers filled with the spirit of the evening were attired in costumes.

Guy Wilson, the town clerk of Bethel, Vermont, has sent to the Howard Bracken Memorial library on Woodstock Hill, a sermon delivered by Rev. Abiel Leonard, pastor 152 years ago of the church on Woodstock Hill. The sermon is entitled "A sermon delivered at Woodstock, November 19th, 1767, being the day of the anniversary thanksgiving in the Colony of Connecticut," by Abiel Leonard, A. M., Pastor of the Church in the First Society in said town; Providence, New England, printed and sold by Waterman and Russell at their new printing office at the paper mill."

The sermon has been in the Perrin family in Vermont for four generations, and was taken to Royalton, Vermont, by Asa Perrin, born in Woodstock who wrote these words on the sermon: "Asa Perrin, His Book, December ye 18th, 1785."

Rev. Abiel Leonard was graduated from Harvard in 1759, and received the honorary degree of D. D. from Princeton college in 1777. He was chaplain in the Revolutionary war. George Washington and Israel Putnam wrote a letter to the church in Woodstock regarding Rev. Dr. Leonard's invaluable services.

WESTERLY

FRIDAY TAX PAYMENTS BRING UP SUM COLLECTED

At the office of the Westerly town treasurer Thursday night ended the collection of this year's tax levy when taxpayers could settle their accounts with the town without an interest charge attached. It was thought that the coffers of the town treasurer had been enriched to within $20,000 of the total amount and the sewerage tax to an amount within $2,000. On the last day over $61,000 was paid in town taxes and about $7,000 in sewer taxes. There were many checks in Friday's morning mail which represented an amount estimated at $15,000. What was paid yesterday and came in by mail Friday will bring the total amount collected up to about $430,400. The total amount to be collected is $452,567.95.

Nearly $21,000 of the total of $23,639.30 to be collected in sewer taxes had been paid up to Friday morning.

In Third District Court

In the Third District court Friday morning before Judge Oliver H. Williams matters were disposed of as follows: New writs entered before the calling of the docket—Jerry Dotolo of Westerly vs. George L. Edwards of Hopkinton. The declaration was that of trespass for damages, when respondent is charged with the driving of a horse and wagon on which there was no light, from Ashaway to Hope Valley. The automobile of plaintiff was struck. Damages of $300 are asked for. Continued one week.

Criminal docket—Town of Westerly, Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown vs. Peter Gaetrelis. Continued two weeks.

State, Thomas E. Brown, complainant, vs. William Earle of Ansonia. Solicitor Ferguson declared the state ready for trial on the charge of being a common cheat. The case was continued for several weeks and grew out of a flimflam game at the Dunn's Corner filling station. Attorney Dunn stated that he represented defendant, or did two weeks ago and although he saw the defendant at the time he had not seen him since, but had a telephone talk with him. He understood that the defendant had been in Westerly a week ago but at the time he did not see him. He had talked with friends of Earle who had informed him that the defendant was not in Ansonia now. Town Solicitor Ferguson requested a capias and Judge Williams directed that a capias be issued from the court for his apprehension.

Civil docket—John O. Mills vs. Arthur Faverio. Attorney Ledwidge for respondant stated that he was not ready but agreed that the trial of the case would be set one week from the present date and if it was not disposed of then that judgment should be entered for the plaintiff.

Charles A. Odell vs. James Ferraro. Continued one week. Frank Pignataro vs. Frank H. Bliven. Continued two weeks.

Trial calendar—In the case of Max Zisquit, doing business as the Westerly Fashion Shop on Canal street, vs. Mrs. Nonie Armour, of Armour's Inn, White Rock, suit was brought to recover a balance due of $29.25 due on book account. Judge Williams gave his decision for the plaintiff, to recover $29.25 and costs of trial.

Before the court in delinquency there had been summoned by Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown Dorrance Johnson and his father of Westerly. Oct. 18th Johnson testified as a witness for Alexander Taylor, charged with theft of automobile tires. At that time Johnson testified that although 16, he did not know the meaning of perjury. His father had assured Chief Brown that he desired his son to avoid evil companionship and to prevent his falling into evil habits the summons was issued.

May Ecclestone, of Main street, was taken into custody Friday by Westerly police authorities, when it was feared that her continuance at large might be a detriment to the community. At a court session of a year ago she created a scene by stepping inside the court rail and imprinting a kiss upon a Westerly young man sentenced to six months in the House of Correction with the remark that at the end of the time she "would be waiting for him."

Locked License—Fined $10

Picked up on the Noose Neck Hill road late Thursday afternoon by a trooper of the Hope Valley state police barracks, Edward W. Twaddel of Plimpton street, Cambridge, Mass., was fined $10 and costs by Judge Oliver H. Williams in the Third District court late Thursday night for operating an automobile without a license.

Twaddell told the state police that he is a student at Harvard university and said he had a Pennsylvania certificate. He was unable to produce the certificate. Another student accompanied him.

A fire of uncertain origin was being investigated by state police of the Hope Valley barracks. Sergt. Ernest F. Stenhouse, in command during Friday. The fire was discovered in one of the large frame houses formerly owned by the old Nichols and Langworthy Machine Co., of Hope Valley and located across the river from the old machine shop in Graniteville. It was reported that kerosene and inflammable materials were found near where the fire started in the house now owned and occupied by a Polish family. The state police were to conclude their investigation Friday night.

SUDDEN DEATH FRIDAY OF T. J. MALAGHAN

Friday morning shortly before 6 o'clock at his home, 11 Spring street, Terrance J. Malaghan, died suddenly. Mr. Malaghan was apparently in his usual health, had risen to light the kitchen fire and was stricken with a heart attack, Mr. Malaghan's son, Eugene Malaghan, was with his father at the time, Dr. J. D. Barber was summoned but Mr. Malaghan was dead. Mrs. Malaghan, who has been ill for several days, was visiting at her mother's home on Tower street. He was born in Pawcatuck, the son of Eugene and Mary Casey Malaghan, and for over 35 years was employed at the Lorraine Manufacturing Co. He was a member of Narragansett Council, No. 21, K. of C. Besides his wife, Julia Geary Malaghan, he is survived by three sons, Eugene, Robert and Terrance J. Malaghan, Jr. There is also a brother, James Malaghan.

STARTING FOR GAME, STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Friday afternoon Charles Dolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dolan of Granite street, was painfully injured when struck by an automobile operated by A. T. Snooks of the Beacon Oil company, of New London, when near his home. The Dolan boy was crossing the street to take an automobile to go to the Westerly high-LaSalle football game in Providence, when he was hit by the passing machine. He was taken to The Westerly hospital and X-ray pictures were taken. He was then removed to his home. Dr. M. H. Scanlon attended the boy and it is feared he has a depressed fracture of the skull. His right leg was injured.

Watch Tower Opened

Washington or South county has been visited by many destructive forest fires in which it has been necessary in former years to call for help from various towns. It was with a view to stop these fires at their beginning watch towers were located at strategic points about the state. Friday the watch tower on Shannock hill was opened for the fall season and will remain open until Thanksgiving day. It is the first time in five years that the tower has been opened at this time. It has been deemed advisable to have a watch kept now for a few weeks, especially during the hunting season. Mrs. Marion L. Rouse will be in charge of the station.

David O'Keefe of Downer street, Westerly, has been elected secretary-treasurer of the student council of the New York Institute of Accountancy and Commerce, New York city.

MYSTIC

ROGUE—CRANDALL WEDDING AT PARSONAGE FRIDAY EVE.

Friday evening at 8 o'clock, Miss Thelma Victoria Crandall of Mystic was united in marriage with Albert E. Bogue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ebenezer Bogue of Mason's Island, by Rev. Byron U. Hatfield, at his home at Cedar Crest, West Mystic. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Schroder. The bride wore ecru lace over satin. The groom is employed at the Climax Tube company in town.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Hartford Brown

Mrs. Hartford Brown died Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock, at the home of her grand-daughter, Mrs. Paul B. Lamphere of Old Mystic. Mrs. Brown had been in poor health for some time. She had lived in Hope Valley until several weeks ago, when she came to Old Mystic to live with her grand-daughter, at whose home she died.

Plus Ultra Bible class of the Baptist church, Old Mystic, plan to hold the November meeting Tuesday evening next, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stapelyn of Burnet's corners, in the form of a masquerade social.

Mrs. Nicholas Shepler of Greenport, L. I., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ingram, of Burnet's corners.

Leslie Burdick has returned from visiting his brother-in-law and sister in Orange, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Stoddard entertained very hospitably a party of friends at their cottage on Mason's Island Tuesday evening. Hallowe'en games were played and refreshments were served.

Frank C. Wheeler, R. F. D. letter carrier, stepping down the steps from the door Sunday, in some way sprained his ankle, and is confined to his home on High street.

Mrs. DeLong and Mrs. W. Ray Lewis, of New London, visited Mrs. Celia Whiting of East Main street Wednesday.

Mrs. Sarah Spink has returned to the home of her son at Willow Point, after six weeks' visit with her sister, Mrs. Clara Wilson.

Officers Chosen

At a recent meeting of the Master's Helpers class of Old Mystic Methodist church, the following officers were chosen for the coming year: President, Miss Marian Whitford; vice president, Miss Beryl Marchand; secretary, Miss Elsie Gasparino; treasurer, Allan Avery. Plans were also made for a masked hallowe'en party to be held in the parish house this (Saturday) evening. Prizes will be given to the person or persons having the best disguise. Following this, games will be played and a hallowe'en program enjoyed.

Real Vandalism

As usual the young folks were out in force Thursday evening enjoying themselves and bothering other people. At one place the large gate at the driveway of a residence in Mystic was taken down, broken and put out into the street and the gate posts pulled up. The people themselves were not able to life the gate alone and were obliged to call in help. They considered that this was carrying things a little too far.

Mrs. Edgar V. Whiting has returned home, after visiting her nieces, the Misses Hurlburt and Mrs. Ray Lewis, of New London.

Mrs. Byron Billings is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Ryon of Dunnellen, N. J.

Mrs. Samuel Chesebro, of Mystic, was chosen auditor at the annual meeting of the National Society United States Daughters of 1812, held Tuesday, October 29, in New Haven.

Alexander Brown, of Spokane, Wash., is in town, called here by the sudden death of his brother, Arthur Brown.

Underbrush Cleared Away

Mrs. E. V. Whiting has had the underbrush cleared away in the cemetery near the old Toll gate house on the New London road, where some of her relatives are buried. Mrs. Whiting's parents were at one time, many years ago, the toll gate keepers. This house has been bought by the state and will be torn down, to take away an obstruction at a now very dangerous corner.

Heard Delegates' Reports

At the W. C. T. U. parlor meeting, held Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Byron Billings, of Washington street, the president, Mrs. W. H. Lamb, conducted the devotional exercises. Interesting reports of the state convention held in Willimantic were given by the delegates, Mrs. Billings and Mrs. Jane Woodbury. A rising vote of thanks was given the delegates, after which the meeting was closed in due form. Refreshments were served by the committee, Mrs. Charles Foote, chairman, Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Francis.

Nine Tables of Cards

There were nine tables in play at the whist given by the Ladies' Aid society of St. Patrick's church in Columbus hall, Wednesday evening, the first whist of the season. The prizes were won by Mrs. Eva Wylie and Everett Wilson, Miss Sadie Curlenjik and Thomas Mullaney. Cake and coffee were served.

Eight Tables Filled

The Sewing society of Charity chapter, O. E. S., held a whist in Masonic temple, Wednesday evening, with eight tables in play. The prizes were won by Mrs. Jenssen and Moses Wilcox, Mrs. Moses Wilcox and C. C. McGaughey. Doughnuts and coffee were served.

At the Past Matrons' meeting in Wallingford, Wednesday, a number of members from the local Eastern Star chapter were present. A number of the local members are planning to attend the Past Matrons and Past Patrons meeting to be held with Deborah chapter, No. 9, O. E. S., of Westerly, Tuesday evening next.

Mrs. Edward Clift has returned, after spending two weeks with friends in Stamford.

W. M. Tufts, of Boston, was in the village Wednesday.

Mrs Earl Davier, of Westerly, spent Wednesday with Mrs. Charles Crandall, of West Mystic.

The Women's Bible class of the Union Baptist church is to meet in the vestry, Monday evening next.

Charles Crandall and Oliver Denison were business callers in Boston Thursday.

James Maine, of Lantern Hill, was in town Wednesday.

Clean-Up Week

J. M. Whitman collected the rubbish on the Stonington side of the town, Friday, and will collect it on the Groton side today (Saturday), for the Village Improvement society.

Rayford and Walton MacFarland left Thursday for West Brooklyn, Me., for two weeks' hunting trip.

Mr. and Mrs Charles Welch have returned from their wedding trip and will make their home on Church street, Noank.

The rummage sale held in the vacant store near the bridge, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, by the Women's Bible class of the Baptist church, proved a great success.

At the Baptist church, Old Mystic, Sunday, Rev. E. S. Holloway, now of Groton, will occupy the pulpit at 10:30 and 7 p. m. Rev. Mr. Holloway is a very gifted preacher. In the evening, Willard W. Keigwin, well-known tenor, of Mystic, will sing "The Lord is My Light." He will be accompanied at the piano by his wife, Mrs. Mildred C. Keigwin. At the morning services the musical selections will be by Miss Dorothy Beckwith. C. W. Beckwith is the church organist.

There was a very good attendance at a supper given at the Union Baptist church vestry, Thursday, the committee being Mrs. W. Herbert Lamb, chairman; Mrs. William Holliday, Mrs. Benjamin Hewitt, Mrs. Nelson Holdredge, Mrs. Carl Hoelck, Mrs. Alberta Hammond, Mrs. George Tift, Mrs. Elias F. Wilcox, Mrs. Harry Hill and Mrs. C. Towed Seaplane

A seaplane in charge of Pilot C. A. Wicks, of the Boston airport, and having as passenger Lieut. Lynch, developed engine trouble when off Watch Hill Wednesday afternoon and landed in the water near the fishing boat of Joe Vincent of Stonington. Vincent towed the disabled craft into the harbor and tied up to the anchorage of the Cottrell yacht, Twilight. Repairs were made and the party continued to New Haven on Thursday morning.

Lions Club Activities

The Lions club held a meeting and had a chicken dinner in a local restaurant Wednesday. Plans were made for conducting a dance to help the poor of the town at Christmas time, and the following committee was chosen: Paul Schepis, Burrows Perry and Paul Hammond. Raoul M. Delagrange, Andrew W. Perry and Lewis Hammond were elected a board of directors; the membership committee is Dr. Owen J. Dennehey, Elias Clay, Paul Schepis, Edmund P. Hyde and Paul Hammond. Members of the club will consult Frederick Owens, owner of Owens' field in Cutler street, to see if plans cannot be made for the flooding of the field to provide a place for the children to skate this winter. Theodore Dewhurst, president of the club presided.

Mrs. Cleveland White was removed in the Stonington ambulance Wednesday to the Lena hospital.

The Stonington post office has received a small supply of the new Ohio river canalization stamps.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

AMERICAN LEGION

A most successful Halloween masquerade dance was given Thursday evening at Scotland road hall by Robert O. Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion, over 300 attending. The music for the modern and old-fashioned dancing was furnished by Al Smith and his Mohegan orchestra. Bill Austin acted as prompter for the square sets. Those winning prizes were Mrs. Wilfred Smith, best woman's costume; Dr. Thomas F. O'Neil, best man's costume; George Clendennin, funniest man; Mrs. H. W. Jeremias, funniest woman; Miss Melba Monty, most original costume. The dance committee was Everett Morrill, chairman, Imbert Fellows and Carl Johnson.

WOMAN'S BENEFIT ASSOCIATION

The Women's Benefit association held its regular meeting Monday night. After the meeting a birthday party for two of the members, Mrs. Grace Hallisay and Mrs. Mary Dicaslo, was held at the home of Mrs. Hallisay. The rooms were prettily decorated with yellow and black crepe paper and the lights were shaded with the same colors. Supper was served consisting of potato salad, meat loaf, cold ham, pickles, rolls, coffee and cake. The table in the dining room was covered with a hallowe'en tablecloth with napkins to match. At each place were favors, hallowe'en baskets filled with peanuts and candy. Mrs. Hallisay and Mrs. Dicarlo were presented handsome gifts from the members. Cards were played and a social evening was enjoyed. Miss Genevieve Welse won the prize for having the highest score in whist.

The prize awards went to the following: Pinochle, Miss Lena Shelly, Mrs. L. Sylvia, Mr. Taylor, Louis Cardin; whist, Mrs. Henry Gee, Mrs. William Buckingham Mr. Webber, Leonard Partridge. Refreshments were served after play.

The committee in charge included Lewis Oat, chairman; John Morton, Fred Thumm, Harold Jensen, Elmer Johnson and Joseph Wellington.

The Grotto is to make plans at its meeting on Monday, Nov. 18, for attending Syria Grotto ceremonial at Hartford in the latter part of November. Candidates from Nemrod Grotto will be in this class.

MODERN WOODMEN.

The suit brought against Modern officers, enlisted men and planes to Beatrice, Nebraska, following the change in plans adopted by the head camp of the society in Chicago last June, was dismissed at Lincoln, Nebraska, by Judge Munger of the United States district court, according to word received at the head office of the society in Rock Island this week.

The Beatrice camp asked for a temporary injunction restraining the Woodmen from putting into effect the by-laws adopted by the head camp. This temporary injunction was granted by Judge Fred W. Messmore. Upon petition by the Woodmen, the Beatrice case was transferred to the federal court at Lincoln, where the society filed a motion that the suit be dismissed upon the grounds that the Nebraska court had no jurisdiction over the subject matter of the suit, since the controversy involved the corporate powers of a society chartered in Illinois.

In an elaborate opinion, according to George G. Perrin, general counsel of the Woodmen, Judge Munger sustained the society's position and dissolved the injunction issued by the Nebraska judge previously and dismissed the case.

LADIES' AUXILIARY, A. O. H.

Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H., No. 34, held an enjoyable Halloween masquerade Wednesday evening. The hall was prettily decorated with orange and black streamers, black cats, witches and pumpkins. Miss May Anthony won the prize for the prettiest costume Miss Nellie Nagle for the funniest, with special mention for Mrs. Julia Breen, and the children's prize was taken by George Wickham. Dancing to the music of a radio-electrola, loaned through the courtesy of the Plaut Cadden Co., was enjoyed and the children played Halloween games. Mrs H. M. McGowan, Mrs. Annie Brooks Miss Nellie Nagle and Mrs. B. Keenan entertained with songs and humorous sketches. Doughnuts and coffee were served by the committee which comprised Mrs. M. V. O'Neill Mrs. Annie Brooks, Mrs. Margaret Barrows, Mrs. P. O'Neil and the Misses Nellie McCarthy, Catherine Twomey, Dolly Tobin and Jane Breen.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

Peter Gets Stung

In recklessness is little gain,
And often very much of pain.
—Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit is a little reckless. Yes, sir, Peter is a little reckless. Perhaps it is because he has the wandering foot. You know, in spite of all little Mrs. Peter can do, Peter will leave the dear Old Briar-patch to go roaming about. Every time he does it he takes a chance. In the dear Old Briar-patch he is comparatively safe. Shadow the Weasel is about the only enemy who can get in under those bramble tangles. But once Peter is outside the dear Old Briar-patch he must be on his guard every minute.

Peter was up in the Old Pasture. It was a long time since he had been up there. He ought to have gone home before daylight, but he hadn't done this and now, because he saw Redtail the Hawk circling high over the Green Meadows, he decided that the wisest thing for him to do was to stay there in the Old Pasture.

My, my, my! How he did run!

"It's safe enough," said Peter, talking to himself. "All I have to do is to watch out for Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy and Old Man Coyote. There are plenty of bramble tangles where I am safe from them. Old Jed Thumper, Mrs. Peter's father, has lived here in the Old Pasture ever since I can remember. If it is safe for him it is safe for me."

Now there was one thing that Peter didn't remember. This was that it was the hunting season—the season when men with terrible guns were always looking for certain of the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows, including himself. So, when Peter heard heavy footsteps coming down one of the cowpaths, he was not particularly frightened. It might be Farmer Brown's boy; it might be Farmer Brown himself. There was nothing in the world to fear from either of these.

So Peter merely sat perfectly still and listened to those footsteps drawing nearer and nearer. And then something happened. A big stone came crashing into the bramble tangle where Peter was sitting. My, how it frightened him! He bounded away along one of the little paths out of that bramble tangle and down the cowpath. Just a little way down there was a turn in the path and as Peter went around that turn there was a terrible bang behind him. Peter knew what that bang was. He knew it was the bang of a terrible gun. He had heard guns before.

If Peter had been frightened when that stone landed in the bramble tangle, he was ten times as frightened now. My, my, my, how he did run! His white tail bobbed up and down, up and down, as only a Rabbit's tail can when a Rabbit is in a hurry to get somewhere. And Peter was in a hurry to get somewhere. He was in a hurry to get as far as possible from that hunter with the terrible gun. He darted into a bramble tangle and through this to another little cowpath. Along this cowpath he raced and finally, panting and out of breath, he crept into a hole in the middle of another bramble tangle.

It wasn't until then that he felt a sharp pain, or rather a sharp ache, in his left shoulder. It was very much such an ache as Peter had known when he had been stung by a yellow jacket. At first he thought that this must be what had happened. But it wasn't. That was not the sting of a yellow jacket. It was the sting of a small shot that had come from that terrible gun. The hunter had had only a glimpse of Peter and he had missed him with all but that one tiny shot. That one had gone through the skin of Peter's shoulder and now Peter was feeling it.

SALESMEN.
An old established, million dollar concern with a nationally known line of advertising service for banks, manufacturers and leading business institutions is enlarging its sales force to meet the requirements of its rapidly growing business. The type of man we want is one who knows from past experience that he can sell, one who knows that he is capable of earning more money than his present position affords and who is interested in stepping up to a position of greater earning possibilities. He will probably need a brief course of intensive training on our line in the field, which we are prepared to furnish at our expense on a temporary basis of nominal salary and commission, after which he will be assigned to an exclusive territory of his own on full commission with weekly remittances. Write or wire us, giving an outline of your experience, age, recent references, etc., and a confidential personal interview will be arranged. The American Art Works, Inc., Coshocton, Ohio. nov2 1t

LEGAL NOTICE

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the District of Norwich, on the 1st day of November, A. D. 1929.

Present, NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

Estate of Ellen T. Dowling, late of Norwich, in said District, deceased.

Ordered, That the Executrix cite the creditors of said deceased to bring in their claims against said estate within six months from this date, by posting a notice to that effect, together with a copy of this order on the sign-post nearest to the place where said deceased last dwelt, and in the same town, and by publishing the same once in a newspaper having a circulation in said district, and make return to this Court.

NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.

Attest, HELEN M. DRESCHER, Clerk.

NOTICE.

All creditors of said deceased are hereby notified to present their claims against said estate to the undersigned at 23 Clairemont Avenue, Norwich, Conn., within the time limited in the above and foregoing order.

KATHERINE T. DROHAN
Executrix.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the State Highway Commissioner 12 Washington Street, Hartford, Conn., until 2 p. m., Tuesday, November 12, 1929 for the following sections of State work, in accordance with plans and specifications on file at the following places:

TOWN OF WOODSTOCK: About 19,759 ft. of waterbound macadam on the Eastford-West Woodstock road. Plans and proposal forms in the office of John Smith, Division Engineer, Thayer Building, Norwich, Conn.

All bids must be accompanied by a surety company bond or a certified check not less than one-third of the cost of the work. The State Highway Commissioner reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Dated at Hartford, Connecticut, October 31, 1929.

JOHN A. MACDONALD,
State Highway Commissioner.
12 Washington Street, Hartford, Conn.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that a hearing will be held by the Zoning Board of Appeals for the Town and City of Norwich at the Mayor's office in the City Hall in said Norwich on Thursday, November 7th, 1929 at 11 a. m. for the purpose of hearing and deciding a certain appeal which has been taken to said Board by Louis I. Gotthelf, Rosa G. Hutzler and Charles M. Hutzler asking for a certificate of approval of a Memorial Home for Undertaking purposes to be located in their property in said City of Norwich and known as No. 82 Cliff street and requesting that said Board of Appeals modify the application of the regulations and provisions of the Zoning Ordinances for the reason that the strict application thereof imposes an unnecessary hardship upon the appelants.

Dated at Norwich, this 1st day of November, 1929.

The Zoning Board of Appeals for the Town and City of Norwich.
By WALTER T. CAMP,
Secretary.

PRESTON PERSONAL TAX NOTICE
By Virtue of the Conn. Statutes

Statute all persons between the ages of 21—60 residing in the Town of Preston on Oct. 1st, 1929, unless exempted by law are liable to a personal tax.

Exemption from this tax is granted for some service that is being or has been performed in the government service.

All persons so enrolled and included are hereby notified and warned to pay a personal tax of $2 within the 30 days between Nov. 15 and Dec. 14, 1929.

SELECTMEN'S NOTICE
Town Of Voluntown

Notice is hereby given that commencing on and after Nov. 2, 1929, all meetings of the board of selectmen will be held on the first Saturday of each month thereafter at the usual time and place. All Monday meetings are hereby discontinued.

WILLIAM D. DOWNING,
BIRDSEY G. PALMER,
WARREN E. TANNER,
Selectmen.

Dated at Voluntown, Oct. 31, 1929.

THE LEBANON PERSONAL TAX

Enrollment of October 1, 1929.

The Connecticut State Statute presumes all persons from 21 to 60 years of age, residing in Lebanon on October 1, 1929, as enrolled for this tax whether or not their names are on the official list; and at any time the Selectmen have authority to add names which have been omitted and to erase names which should not be taxed.

EXEMPTIONS from this tax are granted in return for some service that has been performed or is being performed, in the government service.

All persons so enrolled and included who have not qualified for exemption in the several classes as provided by law, are hereby notified and warned to pay the Lebanon Personal Tax of $2.00, within the 30 days between November 15 and December 14, 1929.

After December 14, 1929, all unpaid Personal Taxes of this 1929 enrollment, are by Statute raised to $3.00.

No tax bills will be sent, except for $3.00 taxes unpaid on December 14, 1929. After bill and notice, all $3.00 taxes unpaid by December 22, 1929 must be collected by town court or by constable or deputy sheriff, as commanded by the State of Connecticut.

This Personal Tax is a Connecticut Tax and is in no way related to any personal tax assessed or paid at any time, outside the State of Connecticut. Tax receipts from cities or towns of adjoining states are not valid as excuse from the Connecticut Tax, which is based on residence in Connecticut on October 1, 1929, and pays for the year in advance—to October 1, 1930.

Pay at the Lebanon Probate Office any Saturday forenoon or any week day evening from 6 to 8 p. m.

GEORGE E. BRIGGS,
Special Collector of Personal Taxes.

NEW LONDON BOY TRIPS ON HALLOWEEN—MAY HAVE A FRACTURED SKULL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 1.—While starting to join the Halloween celebrators last evening, Camille, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Camille Burnett, 27 Nameaug street, suffered a probable fractured skull and is now a patient at Lawrence-Memorial hospital where his condition is serious. The boy had dressed in his sister's clothes. When about to leave his home to join the other children, the boy tripped on the trailing skirt, and fell down stairs. His head struck on one of the steps. When it was evident that the child was seriously injured, he was taken to the hospital.

Cars Run Through Main Street.

After several months, city and New London-Norwich line trolley cars resumed operation through Main street today. The closing of the street was ordered so as to permit its being widened a foot on each side.

Mrs. George A. Beloff, 406 Montauk avenue, made complaint to the police today that Halloween celebrators caused much damage to her property last night and requested that the identity of the perpetrators be ascertained. Automobile Patrol Officer Clarence Martin is making an investigation.

Manager Bingham Resigns.

J. Clarence Bingham, Quaker Hill, has resigned as general manager of the Eaton & Wilson company, Bank street ship chandlers and hardware merchants. The resignation of Mr. Bingham was the result of a change in ownership of the store recently. Mr. Bingham had been employed as general manager 27 years.

Law Library Accessions.

Several volumes of new books have been added to the library of the New London County Bar association, on the second floor of the county court house. Among the new works are the Federal Digest, Federal Cases, Words and Phrases, United States reports, Corpus Juris, A. L. R. & R. A., and the U. S. C. A.

Another tag day is to be held in New London the 9th inst, when the Italian Ladies' Aid society will solicit gifts. The committee in charge is Mrs. Otto Aimetti, Mrs. Joseph Coppo, Mrs. N. R. DiBiasi and Mrs. Domenica Piscitella.

Joseph R. Schwartz and family, formerly of 313 Montauk avenue have moved to their new residence, corner of Glenood and Ocean avenues.

Attorney and Mrs. Henry L. McGuire, of Georganna street, are in New York, and will spend the week end with their sons, Paul and Lawrence McGuire, students at New York university.

Automobile Patrol Officer Dennis Cavanaugh is having his vacation of two weeks.

Automobile Patrol Officer William Corcoran and Mrs. Corcoran, 210 Jefferson avenue and Station House Keeper Frank Corcoran and wife, of Blackhall street, left today for Detroit, where they will remain ten days visiting relatives, among them Maurice Geary, a former resident of New London.

Samuel Weinberger, 93 Jefferson avenue, reported to the police today that while his automobile was parked in front of his home last night a thief went to the car and stole a motor meter.

The police almost nightly report at headquarters that numerous electric lights, and those used for illuminating the highways fail to function and in most instances the failure of the lights is due to the bulbs being burned out. Most of the lights are of the bug type.

Mrs. Walter Rehn entertained members of the Grand Army of the Republic, their wives and friends yesterday afternoon at a Halloween party at her residence, on Blydenburg avenue.

Mrs. Harry M. Darling, Thames street, is spending the week end with her daughter, Mrs. W. Harry Brooks, of East Orange, N. J.

At the clubhouse of the Corticelli Silk company, Union street, last evening, a Halloween miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Elizabeth Herfernan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heffernan, of Huntington street, who next week will become the bride of Gilbert Edwards, of Indiana. Singing, dancing and games furnished diversion and refreshments were served.

At Willimantic Inspection.

About 30 members of Jared Avery camp, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil war and Ann Rogers tent, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil war, went to Willimantic this evening to attend inspection of Mary Todd Lincoln tent. The trip was made by bus.

At St. Mary's Star of the Sea church and St. Joseph's church, as well as at the Episcopal church, All Saints' day was observed. At the Catholic churches the masses were attended by large congregations.

Recent Enlistments.

At the army recruiting office in the post office building, five enlistments and reinlistments recently have been made. Henry Bell and Richard Beebe, Essex, enlisted for the air service at Honolulu, Hawaii; Frank S. Kurek, Moodus, enlisted for the Fifth infantry at Portland, Maine; and R. F. Bishop and Howard Drew, of this city enlisted for the Coast Artillery and Engineers corps, respectively at Hawaii.

PREST STREET ADDED TO RESTRICTED STREETS

Auto drivers continue to find it difficult to secure parking places here, for City Manager William A. Holt orders restricted parking space on various streets. The latest street to be restricted to parking is the south side of Prest street and today Captain Charles A. Pinney was notified that parking on that street, between Blackhall street and Connecticut avenue, would be prohibited because of the narrowness of the street, a condition which interfered with vehicles being driven from one highway to another.

NO DATES ASSIGNED FOR PATROLMEN'S HEARINGS

City Manager William A. Holt has not assigned any date for the hearing of Patrolman Harry Watterson, found intoxicated in an automobile at Norwich, Thursday, and fined $5 in the police court in that city Friday, although the execution of the sentence was suspended. Captain of Police Charles A. Pinney has supplied the city manager with all the facts connected with the incident and Saturday or Monday, it is believed a date will be assigned for the hearing. Watterson is one of the youngest officers in term of service in the department and has had a good record. It is known that he had been in a complaining mood because of a severe cold, but had refused to report ill because of several members of the force being compelled to remain off duty from illness of a more serious nature.

Neither has City Manager Holt caused a date to be assigned for the hearing of Patrolman Carlos Sone, who is charged with conduct unbecoming an officer in striking Fred Benvenuti last Sunday. The officer was on duty at Mercer field where a football game was in progress Sone, also, is one of the youngest members of the department and carries a creditable record.

NEGLECTFUL MOTHER IS SENT TO STATE FARM

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 1.—Mrs. Ida B. Gifford, 37 Howard street, has been committed to the State Farm for Women at Niantic by Judge Daniel M. Cronin in the police court. Mrs. Gifford was before the court on continuance for a month ago she was presented because of her neglecting her children. At that time, Mrs. Gifford assured the court that she would properly provide for the children and it is believed that she did everything physically possible to carry out her promise, but because of her condition, investigators reported that she was unable to give the children the care that their age demanded. The commitment to the state farm, however, is only temporary and as soon as she is cured of the disease from which she is suffering she will be discharged and allowed to return to her home.

Mrs. Lino Cronkhite, of Essex; Mrs. Joseph Bonnell, 43 West street; Mrs. Fred Zepperri and infant daughter, 202 Bank street; Leo Regan, 310 Montauk avenue; Mrs. Alexander McPhail, 196 Montauk avenue, John Hollister, U. S. Coast Guard, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

FUNERAL

Walter Leitkowsky

The funeral of Walter Leitkowsky, of 28 New street, was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Peter and St. Paul church and was attended by a large gathering of mourners. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

Forfeits Bond

But three cases were tried in the police court today, all were for violations of the automobile law. Lieut. Willard J. Suits, submarine base, was charged with parking his auto in restricted area. As he failed to present himself in court his bond of $3 was forfeited. Michael Urbanik, Salem, charged with driving without a license was fined $3 and costs. Charles W. Brown, 202 Mitchell street, Groton, was charged with parking on Pearl street, which highway is restricted to parking. He failed to appear in court and forfeited his bond of $2.

Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey was unable to perform duty last night, being confined to his home as a result of a severe cold.

The New London and state police are on the look out for an automobile stolen in Westerly last night. The car, a Hudson brougham, carries Rhode Island registration, 60240.

FOOTBALL ELEVEN LEAVES BY BUS FOR WASHINGTON

The United States Coast Guard football eleven, with a large representation of fans, left this forenoon for Washington, D. C., where tomorrow the coast guarders will tackle the Marines in the gridiron battle for the President's cup. The eleven and its followers occupied four big buses.

WEDDING

Whitely-Carbee

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Raie H. Carbee, 511 Williams street, of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Marjorie Gould Carbee, and Leon Whitely, of Sherman court. The marriage was performed by Rev. Philip M. Kerridge, rector of St. James' Episcopal church, Oct. 26. The witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stanley, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Whitely will reside at 511 Williams street.

October Arrests

The number of arrests made by the New London police during October was much less than in the preceding month, although the bluecoats apprehended 253 men and women on various charges. Besides the arrests, 75 men were provided with shelter in the tramp room. The arrests and the offenses committed, were: Intoxication, 71; breach of the peace, 1; violation of the automobile law, 45; violation of traffic law, 43; violation of liquor law, 16; arrested or held for other departments, 15; vagrancy, 8; adultery, 1; fornication, 1; lascivious carriage, 5; keeping disorderly house, 5; frequenting disorderly house, 20; felonious assault, (intent to kill,) 1; gambling, 18; theft, 1; violation of fire law, 2; runaway, 1; breaking and entering, 1; driving while drunk, 4; non-support, 1; insane, 2.

OBITUARY

Rev. D. D. Spencer.

News was received in New London today of the death in Pasadena, Cal., yesterday of Rev. David D. Spencer, 72, brother of William E. Spencer, Pacific street, and uncle of Walter D. Spencer, Mercer street. For 45 years Rev. Dr. Spencer was a missionary for the Methodist Episcopal church in Japan.

Thomas B. Terson, of Broad street, was operated upon recently at the Lena hospital for appendicitis. His condition is reported as favorable.

DOROTHY FLYNN HOSTESS AT HALLOWEEN PARTY

Dorothy Flynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter E. Flynn of 294 Central avenue was hostess to twelve of her young friends at a very pretty halloween party on Thursday evening. The young folks, all costumed, gathered at 6.30 o'clock. Streamers and trimmings hung from all corners from which were suspended pumpkin moon shines and grinning devils. The young folks engaged in games, such as apple ducking, witch party, pinning the tail on the donkey and fortune telling, the winners of which received pretty presents. At eight o'clock the weird gathering was photographed by flashlight, this being followed by a buffet lunch served by Mrs. Flynn. Those present included Elsie Laycock as Miss Universe of 1800, Marilyn Lund as a gypsy, Ruth Donahue as a ballet dancer, Barbara Donahue as Martha Washington, Lucille Golkowski as a house maid, Mildred Turner as a gypsy, Elsie Gordon as halloween, Gwendlyne Gordon as Miss Poland, Vincent Jackson as the groom, Donald Jackson as the bride, Dorothy Flynn as the Statue of Liberty, Evelyn Flynn and Henry Quillette, Jr.

Dandelions On Nov. 1

Dandelions were in blossom Friday in the garden of Daniel Casey on Durfey street.

On Thursday afternoon the Ladies' Guild of St. Andrew's church were the guests of Mrs. Alex Finlayson at her home on Broad street. Much work was accomplished. Mrs. Finlayson served a very delicious lunch.

Entertained M. S. Club

Miss Rosalie Cummings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cummings of Prospect street entertained the members of the M. S. club at her home Wednesday. Many halloween games were played and enjoyed. Prizes were awarded to Miss Betty Edwards and Mary Faucher and Catherine Sullivan. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Joseph Cummings and sister Anne Marie Cummings. The dining room was prettily decorated for the occasion in orange and black, the season's colors, together with paper pumpkins, witches and black cats. The members of the club present were the Misses Catherine Sullivan, Geraldine Sullivan, Marguerite Grady, Susan Lynas, Mary Faucher, Irene Codere, Betty Edwards and Rosalie Cummings.

James Gay of Brockton, Mass., is spending a few days with his aunt Mrs. Michael Shea at 499 North Main street.

Party For Betty Spaulding

A birthday and halloween party was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Spaulding at Hamilton avenue in honor of their daughter, Betty Spaulding on her tenth birthday with sixteen of her friends present. During the afternoon many halloween games were played and enjoyed. Pinning the tail on the donkey, ducking for apples, peanut hunt and eating apples tied on a string contest were contests held.

The prize winners were Miss Lucille Kirker, Miss Mary Auspell and Miss Shirley Prentice. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Howard Spaulding. The dining room was prettily decorated with black and orange being used with the symbols of halloween in prominent places. In the centre of the dining room table was a beautiful birthday cake with ten lighted candles. Refreshments consisted of salads, assorted sandwiches, cakes, cookies, candies, fruits, hot chocolate, ice cream and wafers. Miss Spaulding received many beautiful birthday gifts.

Those present were Lorraine Prentice Shirley Prentice, Dorothy Andrews, June Monroe, Mary Aspell, Ira Aspell, Florita Pukallus, Frances Hero, Alice Quinley, Ruth Quinley, Elizabeth Geer, Lucille Kirker, Jeannie Mitchell, Isabel Mitchell, Anne Kopensky and Lois Bausch.

CARNEGIE HERO AWARD TO NOANK FISHERMAN FOR HIS RESCUE ACT

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Carnegie hero fund commission today announced the award of bronze medals in recognition of the efforts of two residents of Connecticut to save others from drowning.

The awards went to Ernest P. Davis, Noank, Conn., fisherman, and to Jeremiah A. Espitee, Box 126, rural route 1, New Milford, Conn., for his son, Edward F. Espitee, who died in his attempt.

Davis, aged 64, saved Robert W. Lane, 17-year-old schoolboy, from drowning at Fishers Island, N. Y., Aug. 20, 1928. The two, alone in a small motorboat, were setting lobster pots in Long Island sound when a line looped around Lane's neck, and he was jerked overboard by the weight of three lobster pots on the line. The water was 200 feet deep at that point, but Davis, despite his age, the fact that he wore high rubber boots as well as heavy clothing and had not swum for 20 years, grasped a knife and leaped overboard to save his companion.

He reached the lad just under the surface. While both were submerged, Davis cut the line between Lane and the boat and then between Lane and the lobster pots weighting the boy down. Both rose to the surface and Lane swam to intercept their boat, which was circling about the scene, uncontrolled. Davis maintained himself with great effort until Lane brought the boat to him. He was about exhausted when hauled aboard.

Espitee, 19, a mason, died while attempting to save James Norman, 16, a farm hand, from drowning at New Preston, Conn., on June 20, 1929. Norman became distressed while swimming 90 feet from shore in Lake Waramaug. Espitee jumped from a raft floating nearby and got within reach of the drowning youth. Norman, however, seized his rescuer and climbed upon his back. Espitee struggled to break the hold but was unsuccessful, and both youths sank and were drowned.

HALLOWEEN ENTERTAINMENT AT POQUETANUCK SCHOOL

A pretty Halloween programme was given by the pupils of grades four and five of the Poquetanuck school Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The walls of the room were decorated with cats, witches, goblins and jack-o'-lanterns in keeping with the day. The programme was worked out entirely by the children, who spent their play periods for rehearsals. At the close of the program Rev. T. H. M. Ockford and Supervisor J. T. Connolly spoke to the boys and girls. Mrs. Floyd Ray, of Lisbon, is the teacher.

The programme was given as follows:

Flag salute and America, by the class; recitation, Forest Fires, Hermina Grabouk; recitation, Columbus, Wanda Gromko; song, Halloween, class; recitation, When Grandma Went to School, Bertha Bierdeka; song, Bobby Shaftoe, class; recitation, Tired Leaves, Josephine Barron; recitation, Landing of the Pilgrims, Helen LaPutz; song, Morning Hymn, class; recitations, If I Were a Pilgrim, Albert Mitnick and Pauline Cudo; play, "How Mother Nature Puts Her Children to Bed"; cast:

Mother Nature, Alma Muench; Mother, Helen Mitnick; Boy, Carol Marciniak; Girl, Catharine Judge; Caterpillar, John Blatherwick; Tree, Frank Socha; Bruin, Alfred Hill; Touch-Me-Not, Lucille Polter; Milkweed, Mary Mikna; Squirrel, Fred Staklinski; Tree Frog, Abraham Paster; Honey Bee, Edward Hnatiuk.

Closing song, Our Country's Flag, class.

SURPRISE PARTY WITH GIFT FOR CHURCH ORGANIST

A very pleasant surprise party was given at the McKinley avenue A. M. E. Z. church Friday evening in honor of Miss Emma J. Cook, who has rendered such splendid and efficient service as organist of the church. Just at the completion of the choir rehearsal, suddenly the door leading from the reception room flew open while members and friends of the church marched into the main auditorium where Mrs. Robert H. Johnson, in a few well chosen words, presented Miss Cook a purse of money in the name of the church in token of appreciation of her services. The many friends then retired to the reception room where tea was served. Those on the committee which had charge of the affair were: Mrs. Robert H. Johnson, Mrs. Betsy Evans, Mrs. Mary Reives, Mrs. Anna Abrams, Mrs. Josephine Wilson, Mrs. Edward W. Gantt. Others present were: Robert H. Johnson, Miss Idealia Scott, Miss Irene Gwathmey, Mrs. Pearl Fields, Miss Ella King, Mrs. Lucy Dyson, Miss Rosa Johnson, Miss Florence Jaubrey, Miss Clarabel Wood, Miss Mary Frost, Miss Frances White, Andrew Marshall and Rev. Edward W. Gantt.

MYSTIC WELFARE WORKER KILLED IN GREENWICH

Mrs. Gerda L. Chapman, 43, of 9 Park place, Mystic, well known throughout Connecticut and New York as an organizer of Near East Relief and similar drives, was fatally injured Thursday morning at Greenwich Village, New York city, when struck by an automobile truck. Frank Mizert, 25, of Bloomfield, N. J., driver of the truck was held in bonds of $1,000 for examination Nov. 12.

Mrs. Chapman came to Mystic from New York about two years ago and since then has spent much of her time in New York, where she formerly resided. She left Mystic for New York on her last visit two weeks ago.

Arrangements were being made to bring the body to Mystic for the funeral. So far as could be learned Mrs. Chapman has no immediate survivors.

PARK CHURCH MEN GAVE EVENING OF ENTERTAINMENT

An audience of approximately 150 persons were present at the H. H. Osgood Memorial building Friday evening for the social affair, "Something New in Vaudeville," put on by the Men's club of Park Congregational church. The programme was opened with the overture by the orchestra, whose members were Ray Sherman, drums; Bruce Rogers, saxophone; Loren Samson, piano; and Theodore Sterry, violin.

A feature was the moving picture, "Explorations in the Arctic," which was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. William J. Banfield appeared under the caution, "In Mysteries," displaying a number of puzzling sleight of hand tricks, for which he is noted. Following an orchestra novelty a specialty dance number was presented by Frank Cauberry.

William A. Collins was chairman of the committee in charge and his assistants were Howarth C. Collins, Joseph T. Hynd, Arthur Wirth and James M. Morton. Weston Pullen operated the moving picture machine.

FIRST BAPTIST PHILATHEA CONDUCTS SUCCESSFUL SUPPER

At the church Friday evening a delicious cold meat and salad supper was served by members of the Philathea class of the First Baptist church. A substantial amount was realized from the supper, which was attended by a large number. The flowers for the table decorations were furnished by Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Farrell, Mrs. Briggs, Mrs. Leach, Mrs. Browning and Mrs. Tourtellotte. Mrs. Richard Kyle was chairman of the committee in charge of the supper. Members of the class acted as waitresses.

FORECLOSURE JUDGMENT ON MARJORIE STREET PROPERTY

Judgment of $1,188.40 was entered in favor of George Lambert against Conrad Gendron, both of this city, and others in a foreclosure action, by Judge Earnest C. Simpson at short calendar session of the superior court Friday in New London.

The foreclosure is on property at 18 Marjorie street and Feb. 3 was set as the limitation of time for redemption.

Judgment of foreclosure of $1,643.78 was entered in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Madsen against Boya. The premises to be foreclosed are located in Point of the Woods Beach in Lyme and consist of a house and land. Dec. 2 was set as the limitation of time for redemption.

Judgment in accordance with a sworn bill of particulars for $399.68 was entered for the plaintiff in the case of the Second National Bank & Trust Co. against Danenhower.

Supplemental judgment was entered in the foreclosure action of Dr. Angelo Sissa of Hartford against Clarence L. Brockett and others. This is the action that resulted in the sale of the defendant's lots in Ridgewood park at New London several weeks ago.

The case of Harris against Macdonald, highway commissioner, application for reassessment, was referred to Judge Leonard J. Nickerson.

The following motions were continued: A. Leverone, R. Leverone, Barrett, Denehee, Maynard, Mossbroker, Richards, Smith and Wilson, all against Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald, and in the case of each plaintiff are motions to expunge and for more specific statement.

John B. Colgrove & Co. against James Colgrove, et al.; argument of demurrer of James Colgrove; argument of demurrer of Emma Colgrove.

The motions in the case of Kurdziel, et al., against Sakowich, et al., went off. They were disclosure of defense or judgment; default for failure to plead; hearing in damages.

PURSUING ASIATIC BEETLE IN NEW LONDON COUNTY

Pursuit of the Asiastic beetle and the Japanese beetle doesn't end simply because the beetles have gone into retirement for the winter. They are followed into the ground, so that infested regions can be known and control work instituted.

Twenty-five men, under the direction of J. Peter Johnson, deputy entomologist of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station, are now engaged in digging up turf in various parts of Connecticut on a search for the grubs. The worms burrow sometimes as far as 15 inches underground before frost. The men are at work in New London, Manchester, Cromwell, Bristol and Ridgefield.

Quarantine against the beetles has been lifted on farm products for the winter, but the restriction is continuous all year on nursery and greenhouse stock.

HALLOWEEN SOCIAL AT GERMAN LUTHERAN CHURCH

The Sunday school rooms of the First Evangelical Lutheran church were attractively decorated for the Halloween social given Thursday evening by the Ladies' Aid society and sewing circle of the church. The entertainment included games and contests, which were in charge of Mrs. Johnston Banfield. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Carl Storck was in general charge of the affair and had the following assistants: Mrs. B. Wunderlich, candy booth; Mrs. Burdick, aprons; Mrs. Budzeck, parcel post; Eric Werth, auctioneer. The kitchen committee was Mrs. W. Karkutt, Mrs. Muench, Mrs. Zurawski and Mrs. Eribeck.

STATE HAS SIXTH PLACE IN ITALIAN POPULATION

Connecticut ranks sixth among the states of the country in the number of persons of Italian origin in the state, according to a report submitted to the senate at Washington by Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, in connection with the discussion of the tariff rates on olive oil, of which persons of Italian origin are the most important consuming group. The population figure is based on the census of 1920.

During the year covered by the report, there were 168,740 persons of Italian origin in Connecticut. The total includes residents born in Italy and children born in the United States, one of whose parents was born in Italy. The survey reveals that 3,336,941 persons in this country at the time of the census were of Italian origin. New York, with 1,124,433, led all states, according to Senator Walsh's report.

NORWICH TOWN

ANCIENT HORSESHEDS REMOVED AT CONG. CHURCH

A Norwich Town resident, after reading the article on the editorial page of The Bulletin, Thursday, entitled "Horsesheds," called attention to the fact that the horsesheds at the rear of the First Congregational church, have recently been torn down and done away with. These sheds for the benefit of the parish toprotect their horses from storm, cold and heat, were erected nearly a century ago. For some time they have been a menace to the property particularly as regards fire. Since they were torn down it has made a change in the appearance at this location. For several weeks much has been accomplished in beautifying the church grounds. Under the direction of the trustees, Clyde M. Beebe, chairman, Charles Schwenk, Jr., and James F. Connolly, land on which the horsesheds stood has been cleared up in general. Several loads of small stones were used in filling in and the surface is coated heavily with gravel, thus making a solid foundation, which is to be used as a private parking space for autos owned by the church attendants. It is the suggestion of the trustees that in the future, church members use the driveways on either side of the church and park autos at the rear of the church, instead of driving cars on the lawn. At the rear of the property a stretch of small hemlocks has been planted, this continues across the border of the lawn, extending to the rear of the chapel. Semi-circular beds of barberry shrubs have been set out, as well as rhododendrons and lilacs. It is expected that other shrubbery will be added in the spring. It is the desire of the trustees also to beautify the hillside at the rear of the church. The arrangement has made a very artistic setting, admired by many.

Party For Class.

In the vestry of the Methodist Episcopal church Wednesday evening until 9.45, Mrs. Arthur Fulton entertained her Sunday school class of young girls. Each was privileged to invite a boy friend. Fourteen in all enjoyed the Halloween party arranged by Mrs. Fulton. Several were in costume. At nine o'clock Mrs. Fulton served sandwiches, cake, hot chocolate and homemade candy. Members of the class are Norma Rose, Mary Waters, Norma Wilkinson, Blossom Ward, Marion Miller and Charlotte Duerr. The boys present included Clayton Rose, Richard Snow, Clayton Smith, Dewey Kelley and Earle Geer. Others who came in later for refreshments were Muriel Rose and Ruth Miller. Music and singing and various Halloween games were enjoyed. In bobbing for apples Clayton Rose won the prize for the boys and Marion Miller for the girls. Young Rose was also awarded the trophy for pinning the tail on the donkey, the prize for the girls going to Mary Waters.

Patrol Leaders to Plan Meetings

At the meeting of Troop 2, Boy Scouts, connected with the Methodist Episcopal church, Friday night, the scoutmaster, Rev. George Warren Potter, was in charge. The troop was inspected by Ralph Smith, assistant scoutmaster. Assistant Scoumaster Lewish Aldrich led the singing.

The scoutmaster announced that the patrol leaders are to plan and carry out the next four meetings of the troop. They have been provided with the Handbook for Patrol Leaders, a book published recently by the National council. Next week the meeting will be planned and directed by Patrol Leader Wallace Wagner, of the Wolf patrol. The meeting for Nov. 14 will be in charge of Clayton Rose, of the Flying Eagle patrol; the meeting Nov. 22 will be in charge of Arthur Bennett, of the Stag patrol, and the meeting Nov. 29 in charge of Senior Patrol Leader Donald Olsen. At the meeting last week the medals were presented by Walter D. Kelley, a member of the troop committee. Claude Robinson gave a talk on Archery and showed some bows and arrows he had made.

To Note Temperance Sunday

Rev. William D. Pardee, of Hartford, is to deliver a sermon on temperance at the Methodist church Sunday morning in observance of World's Temperance Sunday. Sunday evening the pastor, Rev. George Warren Potter, will give a book sermon based on the novel by Ernest Poole, "Beggar's Gold."

The November meeting of the C. E. society of the Methodist church Monday evening in the vestry will be followed by a Telegram social.

OFFICERS INSTALLED FOR AMERICAN LEGION POST; ARMISTICE DAY PLANS

Robert O. Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion, had its officers installed Friday evening at the meeting in the post rooms in the Thayer building as follows:

Commander, Patrick J. McMahon; first vice commander, Thomas F. O'Neil; second vice commander, Harry W. House; adjutant, James H. Daley; treasurer, Harry L. Lathrop; sergeant at arms, W. P. Jackson. These succeed Imbert Fellows, commander; Walter T. Clark, adjutant; P. J. McMahon, first vice commander; Harry F. Powers, second vice commander, and E. V. Morrill, sergeant at arms.

The post voted to co-operate to the fullest extent with the chamber of commerce in the observance of Armistice day and to turn out in full force. The graves of comrades are to be decorated on that day, and a memorial wreath will be placed on the tablet at Chelsea parade.

The plans for the observance of the day include a dance in the evening and on the following day the annual banquet of the legion is to be held at The Wigwam on the Norwich-Westerly road.

NORTH MAIN ST. RAIDS WITH LIQUOR SEIZURES

Two fruitful raids were conducted Thursday afternoon in this city by federal prohibition agents from Hartford which resulted in the arrests of Louis Chesson and John Kolwas, who were immediately presented before United States Commissioner Earl Mathewson. They were placed under $500 bonds each pending trial. Chesson for next Tuesday and Kolwas on Wednesday.

In the raid on the first alleged speakeasy at No. 43 North Main street conducted by Chesson, 16 cases of alleged home brew beer, 20 gallons of beer mash, five gallons of alcohol and a capping machine were seized. The beer was disposed of in a sewer nearby, but the alcohol was held for evidence.

At the place run by Kolwas at 499 North Main street the officers found 21 cases of alleged homebrew beer and two quarts of colored spirits, which they destroyed with the exception of four bottles of beer. They saved these for evidence.

The raiding squad comprised Federal Agents Harry W. Sloper, John B. Reynolds, Harry Avery and others.

HYDRO POWER IN STATE CUT BY SUMMER DROUTH

Because of the protracted drouth which Connecticut suffered during the past summer, production of electricity by water power in this state has dropped to its lowest total figure in the last decade. At the same time, however, according to reports of the United States geological survey, Connecticut's total production of electricity is constantly on the increase, July and August, the two months when hydro production was lowest, having increase in total output of 16 to 17 per cent, respectively, over the corresponding months of 1928.

Lack of rainfall throughout the summer caused the most marked fall in Connecticut rivers in several years and as a consequence water power was practically negligible. Hydro developments were of little use and it was necessary for power and light companies to rely almost exclusively upon their steam stations for generation.

During the months of June, July and August last year, the total electrical production by water power was 86,663,000 kilowatt hours. This year the total for the same months fell to 22,653,000 kilowatt hours, a figure which was less than that of any one of the midsummer months of 1928. Steam station production was increasing at the same time, however, from 220,971,000 kilowatt hours in the three summer months of 1928 to 326,202,000 kilowatt hours in the same period of 1929. The combined hydro and steam totals indicate a net gain of 41,821,000 kilowatt hours for the period.

It is only in accord with the eternal fitness of things that police telegraph wires should be made of copper.

BATTERY B BEGINS ARMORY DANCE SEASON

More than 400 persons attended the first dance of the season conducted by Battery B Friday evening at the armory on McKinley avenue. A splendid programme of dance music was furnished by Larry Gaunt's White Fleet orchestra of Worcester under the direction of Benny Conn. The committee in charge comprised George J. Malcolm, chairman, Percival Mitchell, William Riley, James Caulkins and Kirt Seifert.

TAFTVILLE

Referring to the appointment of Rev. Donat Jette of Waterbury to be assistant pastor at Sacred Heart church replacing Rev. Francis X. Chicoine who has been transferred to Bristol, a Waterbury paper says, "Rev. Donat Jette, assistant pastor of Ste. Anne's church for a number of years who was recently transferred to Taftville, was presented a purse of gold containing $1600 as a gift from his former parishioners at a farewell party in the parish hall last Monday night. Father Jette has already taken up his duties in Taftville. Father Jette gave a farewell address in which he expressed his sorrow to leave the church and his many friends here. Rev. Ernest Lamontagagne, pastor, also gave a brief address in which he lauded Father Jette for his efforts in the church in Waterbury. He told of the love of the parishioners of Ste. Anne's for Father Jette and concluded by wishing Father Jette the best of good wishes in his new position." Accompanying the article was an excellent cut of the new assistant pastor at Sacred Heart church.

Miss Betty E. Pingree entertained a number of her little friends at a Halloween party at her home on North C street Thursday evening. Halloween games were played, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Elsie K. Pinsree, assisted by Mrs. William Shaw, Miss Roberta Vergason and Miss Mildred C. Yerrington. Those present were Miss Ines Shaw, Miss Doris Weller, Miss Joan Wood, Miss Kathleen Buckley, Miss Janet Linderson, Harold Aberg, George Weller, 3rd, and Kenneth Kinder.

Halloween was celebrated in lively style throughout the town, when goblins, ghosts and witches roamed the streets in large bands, rapping at windows and doors, and playing pranks on unsuspecting householders. On the north side of the village, the youngsters gathered into a small sized mob, and marched through the streets playing drums and noisemakers. Not much damage was reported, although the large incinerators which are used around the town, were confiscated, and Friday morning 22 of them were counted on the Providence street baseball grounds where they had been hauled by the maskers. Some of the "Road Discontinued" signs which had been used on the old road to Norwich Town had been removed to placard the state highway, causing many motorists to stop and investigate whether the road really had been closed to traffic.

Master Kendall Haselton and Miss Revela Heselton entertained several of their friends at a Halloween party at their home on North B street Thursday evening. After a program of Halloween stunts and games, refreshments were served.

On Wednesday evening a most enjoyable Halloween party was held in the vestry of the Taftville Congregational church under the direction of Miss Dorothy Hunt and Miss Jean Copeland. The rooms had been decorated in colors of orange and black. Numerous games were played and prizes were awarded to Richard Pilling and Ruth Grimshaw. Miss Dorothy Simino received the prize for the best costume. After the games the guests were served delicious refreshments consisting of sandwiches, cake, coffee, doughnuts and apples. Each guest received a favor containing candy and a fortune. Those present were Miss Evelyn Moore, Miss Evelyn Potter, Miss Edith Seddon, Miss Dorothy Simino, Miss Hazel LaRochelle, Miss Marjorie Troeger, Miss Ruth Grimshaw, Richard Pilling, George Pilling, Ralph Leupold, Everitt Simino, Wm. Seddon, Warren Hedler, Douglas Whitin and Albert Eldridge, Jr.

POETRY

Down The Lane

Alas, how easily things go wrong!
A sigh too much, or a kiss too long,
And there follows a mist and a weeping rain,
And life is never the same again.

Alas, how hardly things go right!
'Tis hard to waiten in a Summer night
For the sigh will come, and the kiss will stay,
And the Summer night is a Winter day.

And yet how easily things go right,
If the sigh and a kiss of a Summer's night
Come deep from the soul in the strongest way
That is born in the light of the Winter's day.

And things can never go badly wrong,
If the heart be true and the love be strong,
For the mist, if it comes, and the weeping rain
Will be changed by the love into sunshine again.

—George MacDonald.

The Bean Stacks

Just now upon the countryside,
No matter where it's we ride,
We pass the bean stacks sere and brown
In long rows running up an down.
The fields about are bare and drear,
Save for the green weeds there and here
Upon the earth the cornstalks lie,
The pumpkin vines are black and dry,
And where the waving grain once grew
Warmed by the sun and bathed by dew
The stubble stands, line after line,
Like the back of fretful porcupine.
In barns repose the farmers' board,
Against the nearing Winter stored
But still upon the hill and plain,
The towering bean stacks all remain.
The chill winds blow, the rains they fall
The crows on distant fences call,
And standing there those stalks so tall,
Unmoved, are drinking in it all.
But soon ere comes the early snow
They to the barns will also go,
There they'll be threshed and winnowed well,
And those the farmer does not sell
His wife will bake on Saturday,
A feast for the gods, as we will say.

NEW FEDERAL PRISON NEEDED, SAYS MITCHELL

Attorney General Proposes Six and a Half Million Dollar Construction Programme to Care For Greatly Increased Number of Federal Prisoners—Programme, To Be Spread Over Five Year Period, Calls For New Penitentiary, Industrial Reformatory and Three Federal Jails.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP) — A six and a half million dollar construction programme to care for federal prisoners, swollen in number by narcotic and prohibition violators, was proposed to the country tonight by Attorney General William D. Mitchell in a radio address over the National Broadcasting system.

"We need first a new federal penitentiary with a capacity of 1200 to be located in the north Atlantic states," he said. "Second, a new industrial reformatory similar to Chillicothe to serve the territory west of the Mississippi river, with a capacity of 1200. Third, three federal jails or houses of detention—one in the north Central states, one on the Pacific coast, and one in the Central south.

"The federal government has never provided jails of its own for jail prisoners, but has rented accommodations in state and county jails, and it is not proposed at present to go beyond the construction of the three jails mentioned.

"This construction programme will cost about six and a half millions, spread over a five-year period. Approved by the budget, this programme awaits only the action of congress."

Continuing, he said that another vital improvement was to provide employment for the prisoners. Opposition to this, he added, was based on the contention that the products of convict labor would compete with outside business.

"This is a very selfish opposition," he said. "Products of federal prisons are to be used only by the federal government, and the quantity is too small to be an important factor in competition with private enterprise."

"The federal prison industries should be diversified so that competition with private enterprise shall not be concentrated on a few industries. Beyond that, private industry has no justification for opposition to employment of federal prisoners. It costs the tax-payer large sums to house, clothe and feed federal prisoners. Why should thousands of able bodied men and women in federal prisons not be required by their labor to help support themselves?"

The attorney general briefly reviewed recent prison riots, including that at the Leavenworth federal penitentiary and asserted that it was due to dissatisfaction with food and lack of work.

Another need of the prison administration, he said, was a better system of parole on which the department now is working.

STIMSON TO CONFER WITH JAPANESE DEEGATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Secretary Stimson, who will head the American delegation to the five-power naval conference meeting in London in January, has begun active preparations for the conference he will have with the members of the Japanese delegation when they arrive in Washington on their way to the British capital.

Two of the most important questions to be taken up at the conference—the ratio between the Japanese navy and the American and British navies and the policy of naval reduction—are expected to be discussed at the meetings between the members of the two missions in Washington.

The American secretary of state and the advisers of the state and navy departments who are assisting him in laying the groundwork for the activities of the American delegation at the London parley, regard the meetings in Washington with the Japanese as an opportunity to talk over various unsettled questions relating to the two navies before the conference meets.

Before the Japanese delegation arrives here the middle of next month, Secretary Stimson expects to have a large number of matters ready for immediate discussion. It is generally expected by American naval circles that the Japanese will enter the London conference anticipating a 10-10-7 ratio between the American, British, and Japanese navies rather than the 5-5-3 ratio established for capital ships at the Washington arms conference.

The question is expected to be discussed fully by President Hoover, Secretary Stimson and Senators Reed of Pennsylvania, and Robinson, of Arkansas, the senatorial members of the delegation already chosen by President Hoover, and the former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki and Admiral Hyo Takarabe, Japanese minister of marine, the two Japanese delegates.

Full support of President Hoover's policy of naval reduction in place of mere limitation is expected from the Japanese.

A strong sentiment for reduction was expressed by the Japanese government in its reply to the British invitation to the parley.

The Japanese delegation to the conference is expected to be composed of some 70 persons, including a large staff of technical advisers.

The American delegation is expected to include about 30 persons.

INSANE PATIENT KILLS TWO OTHER PATIENTS

BALTIMORE, Oct. 3—(AP)—Wrenching a board from the window of his room, Samuel McNell, 59, a patient in the Mount Hope retreat for the insane early this morning clubbed to death two patients who he believed had made him the butt of a joke.

The men, Howard Pemberton, 57, and Charles Schrauder, 70, died without regaining consciousness. All three were inmates of St. George's hall, a section of the asylum where patients classified as harmless are quartered.

An attendant was aroused from his sleep by incoherent mutterings in a corridor. He found McNell pacing back and forth in the narrow hall.

McNell was locked in his room and other guards who were awakened started a tour of the hall. The two victims were found in their beds. Schrauder was believed to have been attacked first. He apparently had awakened as McNell entered the room. Both of his hands were bruised and torn by the nails in the boards as if he raised his hands to protect his head when the blows were struck.

HAMILTON CLAIMS SELF-DEFENSE IN SHOOTING

WEATHERFORD, Texas, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Prosecutors put the final polish today on the rebuttal testimony which they hope will break down the self-defense plea offered last week by Judge R. H. Hamilton who is on trial for the slaying of his son-in-law, Tom Walton, Jr., in Hamilton's Amarillo law office last May.

The defense completed its direct testimony Saturday afternoon with Judge Hamilton's own story of the events that led up to the shooting. The judge insisted that he did not know that Walton was his son-in-law and that he did not intend to kill him but had to shoot in defense of his own life.

The state thus far sought to show only that Walton went to Hamilton's office on the fatal day and was killed in a scuffle with the lawyer, who is a former member of the Texas supreme court of commission of appeals.

The defense has sought to show that Hamilton killed Walton in self-defense when in apparent danger. To this end a number of students, who knew Walton, and Hamilton's daughter, Theresa, when the two were married secretly while attending the University of Texas, testified that Walton made sinister threats against the attorney because he fancied the lawyer opposed, or would oppose his relationship to Theresa. Boasts that he was a former Chicago gangster in Chicago and several threats to kill Hamilton were included in the statements which witnesses attributed to him.

FORMER BORGER CONSTABLE FACES MURDER CHARGE

BORGER, Texas, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The Holmes murder mystery which persuaded Governor Moody to declare martial law in this turbulent oil town and which has lain dormant since that time, eclipsed all other considerations in Borger here today as officers questioned the first two men to be arrested and charged with the crime.

Sam Jones, former deputy constable and Jim Hodges, manager of a boiler works here, were charged with the crime after almost two months of investigation by state rangers, District Attorney Clem Calhoun and National Guard officers.

Jones was one of the first men arrested when the troops came to Borger. He was held without bond and a liquor charge but with the expiration of martial law was allowed bond. Deputy Sheriff "Red" Burton returned him to Borger from New Mexico Friday on another liquor charge and upon arrival here lodged the murder complaint.

Hodges was arrested at his home here. Holmes, who was district attorney at the time of his assassination, once prosecuted Hodges on a theft charge. Officers investigating the case indicated that they felt they were nearing a solution which they expected would have "wide ramification."

TWO MEN DROWNED WHEN AUTO PLUNGED INTO RIVER

BRISTOL, Pa., Nov. 3.—(AP)— Two men were drowned and three other persons were rescued early this morning when the driver of an automobile lost his way in the rain and fog and plunged off a wharf into the Delaware river. The machine sank in twenty feet of water.

The dead were William Nice, 25, and Elmer Wanderer, 29, both of Philadelphia. Nice was the owner and driver of the car.

Mrs. Nora Ward, widowed mother of four children, Miss Anna Daugherty, 35, and Edward Brooks, 41, all of Philadelphia, were rescued. They were treated at the Harriman hospital for shock and exposure.

DOG CAUSED COLLISION ON ELEVATED LINE

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—(AP)—A police dog that used the tracks of the Bay Ridge elevated line in Brooklyn as a place for a nap today caused a rear end collision of two elevated cars and slight injury to eight persons.

As one of the cars rounded a curve Motorman Mangon Hume saw a figure on the tracks. He stopped the train to make sure it was not the figure of a man. Ten minutes were consumed in capturing the dog and putting him in the car.

Just as the car was about to start off again, another car rounded the curve and crashed into the first one. Eight persons were injured, none seriously. Motorman Hume, who suffered a sprained shoulder, was the most seriously hurt.

While an ambulance physician attended the injured, the dog ran away.

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 3.—(AP) — Speaker Dassinski tonight announced that he would open the diet sessions on Tuesday although his break with Marshal Pilsudski, minister of war, has not been healed.

TOKYO, Nov. 3.— (AP) — Reports from Chinese sources in Harbin Manchuria tonight said two soviet gunboats and two soviet airplanes have been captured during the fighting between Chinese and soviet Russians at Fuchinhsien.

A telegram from Harbin yesterday reported severe fighting at Fuchinhsien and said Chinese had retired 60 miles toward Huachuan.

HANKOW, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The Japanese military intelligence stated today that the Kuominchun or "people's army" had scored a decisive victory over nationalist troops along the northwest border of the province of Hupeh and Honan near Laohokow, Hupeh. Cheng Chow dispatches said 10,000 nationalist forces deserted and began ravaging the countryside, while an equal number refused to fight.

TOKYO, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Marquis Katsunosue Inouye, former Japanese ambassador to London, died today. He was 68 years old.

Marquis Katsunosuke Inouye, who was the adopted son and heir of Marquis Inouye, had a noted career as a financier and diplomat. He was educated in Europe by order of the Japanese government. He in addition to holding many important government posts at home, was his country's envoy to Germany from 1906 to 1908 and ambassador to London from 1912 to 1917. He was knighted by King George.

LAWYERS ATTACH FUNDS INTENDED FOR BAIL

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 3—(AP)—Hopes for an early release from jail of six National Textile Workers, union members, who were convicted of second degree murder, faded today with the declaration of Tom P. Jimison, their attorney that $15,000 avanced by the American Fund for Public Service, Inc., could not be used to make bonds for them pending an appeal to the supreme court.

The sum in question which Jimison now has in his possession, has been attached, he said, by Herbert Gulley, Raleigh detective who was employed by the International Defense during the trial of Fred Erwin Beal, the union's southern organizer and six other union members on charges of second degree murder in connection with the slaying of O. F. Aderholt, Gastonia chief of police.

Jimison also said the money would not be released until expenses incurred by attorneys who were employed by the International Labor Defense to defend Beal and his associates had been met. He said he was aware the money did not come directly from the International Labor Defense but that it was given him by that organization.

The money was first used to make bond for Amy Schechter, Vera Buch and Sophie Melvin, three women union members who were charged with second degree murder when Beal and 12 other men were charged with first degree murder. Charles against the women and six of the men were later dropped and the charges against the others reduced to second degree murder.

Court officials returned the money to Jimison when charges against the women were dropped.

NORTH CAROLINA MILL EMPLOYES TO STRIKE

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 3—(AP)—Officials of the National Textile Workers' union tonight called a strike at the Leaksville Woolen mills near here. The mill employs about 200 workers.

James Reid, union president, said the strike was called because J. A. Shumate, superintendent of the mill refused to meet with a union committee for discussion of the need for a lunch period on each shift. Reid estimated 73 per cent of the employes belonged to the union. He said picketing would begin at the mill tomorrow morning when it opens after the week end holiday.

Shumate and J. L. Morehead, manager of the mill declined tonight to comment.

TURKISH WOMEN WORKERS WIN WAGE STRIKE

KASTAMUNI, Angora, Nov. 3.—(AP)—For the first time in history Turkish women workers have gone on strike. They won.

The strike was inaugurated by 2,000 Anatolian peasant women still wearing their veils. They were employed by the Turkish Forest Exploitation company. They walked out because they received only 25 cents a day, half of the wages paid men. They demanded wages equal to the men's and their employers promised to cease economic distinction between the sexes in future.

CLAIMS HE LOST $200 IN CROOKED POKER GAME

MIDDLETOWN, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Louis Grantano, New Haven, complained to the police that he participated in a poker game today in which marked cards were used. He lost $200 before he realized that all was not on the square, he said.

William Wilson, a Negro, of this city, was arrested on a charge of breach of peace after the complaint and is being held pending an investigation. The police found $125 in his possession.

HARTFORD MAN CHARGED WITH STABBING HIS WIFE

HARTFORD, Nov. 1.—(AP)—William Bell, 35, was arrested here today on a charge of assault with intent to kill after he is alleged to have stabbed his wife with a penknife. Mrs. Bell is in the Municipal hospital with a wound in her neck as the result of the affray. Bell told the police his wife had been unduly familiar with another man in whose home the stabbing took place. Her condition is not serious.

HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER KILLED MAN

MIDDLETOWN, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Patrick Kelly, 48, of Portland, died at the Middlesex hospital tonight of a fractured skull which he is believed to have suffered last night, when struck by a hit-and-run automobile.

Kelly was found unconscious on a highway here by police, who were unable to unearth any clues which might lead to the identity of the automobile.

Lost Naval Aviator Rescued At Sea

Naval Seaplane, Reported Missing, Taken in Tow By Fruit Steamer, 15 Miles Off Virginia Capes.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 3.—(AP)—In the clouds with his fuel running low, Ensign George P. Hatfield, pilot of the naval seaplane reported missing Saturday night on a flight from Philadelphia to Norfolk, landed his plane alongside the Commodore Rollins, Norwegian fruit steamer, 15 miles off the Virginia capes Saturday night shortly after seven o'clock.

Learning his position, Ensign Hatfield requested that he be towed inside the capes and the little fruit steamer, bound from Philadelphia to British Honduras, took the seaplane in tow.

Ensign Hatfield, with his two companions, aviation machinists mate, J. F. Reeves, and Radioman K. Hair, remained aboard their craft after it was taken in tow.

Since the rescue steamer had no wireless, news of the safety of the missing plane and its occupants was first received at the Hampton Roads naval air station early this morning when five searching planes, which shoved off from the local air station at dawn sighted the steamer with the missing plane in tow.

News of the rescue was immediately radioed back to the local air station, automatically cancelling flight orders of twenty more planes, which were to have joined in the search at eight o'clock.

The plane was found to be undamaged and the fliers none the worse from their experience than wet clothing and lack of sleep. Ensign Hatfield said he became lost in the clouds soon after he left Philadelphia Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and realizing that he was far off his course, headed eastward toward the sea so as to be sure of a landing place for his giant seaplane in the event of a forced landing on account of failure of the gasoline supply.

The plane piloted by Ensign Hatfield was attached to the Aircraft squadrons of the scouting fleet.

PRESIDENT OF B. AND M. ROAD DIED SUDDENLY

BOSTON, Nov. 3—(AP)—The body of George Hannauer, son of a Mississippi steamboat captain, who made a prominent place for himself in the railroad world of the middlewest and then came east to take up, as president, the work of rejuvenating the Boston and Maine railroad, was brought back today from New Haven, Conn., in the improvised funeral car of John J. Pelley, president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad.

He collapsed in the Yale bowl yesterday while watching the Yale-Dartmouth game with Mrs. Hannauer, Mr. Pelley and other friends, and died a few minutes later at the Hotel Taft.

Earlier in the day he had played 18 holes of golf on the links of the New Haven Country club and, although feeling well, had complained of slight pains which apparently passed. But shortly before the close of the second period, he called to Mr. Pelley to accompany him from his seat to a water fountain where, after drinking, he said he felt better but decided to return to his hotel. There death from angina pectoris intervened within a few minutes. Mrs. Hannauer was at his bedside when the end came.

He came to Boston in January, 1927, to succeed James H. Hustis, who had just resigned as president of the Boston and Maine railroad and almost from the start his regime was characterized by the injection of new methods.

Under his direction the new North station enterprise was carried to a successful conclusion, new classification yards were constructed, trains speeded up, new rolling stock bought, roadbeds heavily ballasted, economies introduced and public confidence in the financial structure of the road greatly strengthened.

MISSING NAVAL OFFICER RE-APPEARS AT SEATTLE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Surprise and a desire for knowledge of the reasons that led Lieutenant Harold W. Northcutt to disappear in Norfolk and come to light again on the other side of the continent were manifested here tonight by members of his wife's family.

H. E. C. Bryant, a Washington newspaper man and father-in-law of the lieutenant indicated that he had little information other than that the department of justice had established that a young woman whom the lieutenant had met in New York more than a year ago had left her home in Ottawa, Canada, in August "for the purpose of getting Lieutenant Northcut at any cost."

First news of the re-appearance of Northcutt in Seattle came in a message today to Captain R. E. Pole of the bureau of navigation, navy department. It brought only the information that he had been turned over to the navy department at Bremerton by department of justice agents.

Lieutenant Northcutt is the son of L. C. Northcutt, superintendent of schools for Ralls county, Mo. He was appointed to the United States Naval academy by the late Champ Clark after a year's attendance at the University of Missouri. He ranked third in his class at Annapolis.

PRES. HOOVER'S CAMP VISIT CUT SHORT BY RAIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)— His visit to his mountain camp shortened by a rainstorm, President Hoover returned to the white house late today after a sixty-mile automobile drive through a pelting rain.

The wet roads led the president to choose a longer route for his trip back to Washington, making the journey by way of Fredericksburg.

Although the rain held the presidential party indoors for most of the day, it afforded an opportunity for an informal gathering of old friends before a cheerful wood fire in the living room of his mountain cottage. Most of his guests for the trip, were friends who had enjoyed the informal hospitality of his "S" street home in the days before he took over the duties as chief executive.

Explosions Damage Two Movie Theaters

Owners Attribute Blasts to Outbreak of Violence Dispute With St. Louis Union Musicians.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Two neighborhood picture theatres were damaged by explosions which occurred 30 minutes apart early today. The theatre owners attributed both blasts to the first outbreak of violence in a dispute with union musicians.

No one was injured but the explosions shook the neighborhoods and damaged the theatre buildings, motion picture machines and vitaphone apparatus to the extent of $11,000.

The first explosion, believed to have been nitroglycerine was in the projection booth at the Lemay theatre in St. Louis county at 12.20 a. m. The first blast blew a hole in the roof and was felt six or seven blocks away. Damage was estimated at $6,000.

Thirty minutes later a similar explosion occurred in the projection booth of the Mackland theatre in the southwest part of the city. It caused $5,000 damage.

Union musicians in many theatres have been out on strike for about six weeks in a dispute over a contract concerning the number of musicians to be employed.

U. S. COLLECTED $830,639,434 IN INCOME TAXES FOR 1927

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Sixty-two new millionaires are shown on the government's income tax rolls for 1927, boosting the total to 290 for that year.

Included in this group are three unmarried women and 28 wives.

The total incomes of the 290 was $600,640,846 and on this they paid $98,657,237 in tax.

During the same year, figures made public today by the internal revenue bureau showed a total of 2,440,941 individual tax returns with a net income totaling $22,545,090,553. Their paid taxes aggregating $830,639,434. Returns also were received from 1,660,806 persons who did not pay any tax.

The total income of all individual tax payers for 1927 showed an increase of $586,594,904 over the previous year while the tax paid showed an increase of $98,168,644 which was received from 35,545 more persons than paid taxes in 1926.

The average net income for the year showed an increase to $5,496 as compared with $5,306 for the previous year and the tax liability also increased averaging $202 as compared with $177 in 1926.

There was a total gross income of $26,208,560,568 from which total deductions of $3,663,470,015 were made.

Corporations in 1927 made 475,031 returns in the same year of which 259,849 showed net income totaling $8,981,884,361 and a tax of $1,130,674,128 in 1926 there were 455,320 returns from corporations which showed 258,134 with net incomes of $8,673,402,889 and a tax of $1,229,797,243.

FRUSTRATE ROBBERY BY DRUNKEN TAXI DRIVERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—(AP) —The attempt of two intoxicated taxicab drivers to rob the Illinois Athletic club, exclusive rendez-vous of Chicago sportsmen, was frustrated after a hand-to-hand battle and spectacular automobile chase through deserted streets early today.

Armed with a shotgun, one of the drivers swayed unsteadily into the lobby of the club and demanded the contents of cash drawer and safe of Thomas Kelly, 22-year-old desk clerk. The clerk handed over $84 from the till but declared his ignorance of the safe combination.

The bandit, bringing his gun close to Kelly's chest, declared he would fire at the count of three unless the combination was recollected. At the two count the desperate clerk seized the muzzle and grappled with his assailant.

Edward Jansen, an elevator operator, firing as he ran, came to the rescue but the robber fled from the lobby to a waiting cab.

A passing motorist, George B. Johnson, of Antioch, Ill., picked up two policemen and pursued the speeding cab through several miles of loop and West Side streets before forcing it to the curb.

One of the robbers was seriously wounded. The other, Edward Dufresne, said his companion was Thomas Gavin. Both were found to be employes of a local taxi cab company.

MODERATE PRESS FRIENDLY TOWARD TARDIEU CABINET

PARIS, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The moderate press today adopted a friendly tone toward Andre Tardieu and his newly formed cabinet, predicting that with Aristide Briand in the foreign office, the government would adopt a policy of European conciliation based on the Locarno pact and the Young reparations plan.

The papers also predicted straightforward concentration on preparation for the London naval conference.

The extremist press, on the contrary, was bitter. One socialist organ called the new cabinet "ridiculous and reactionary," insisting that its formation is the precursor of a violent internal political struggle.

SOVIETS TO ENGAGE 300 SKILLED AMERICAN WORKERS

MOSCOW, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The soviet government today decided to engage 300 skilled American workers, including technicians and engineers, for work at the Stalingrad tractor plant.

With the aid of the Americans, the government hopes to increase the number of tractors in next year's output from 10,000 to 25,000. The soviets intend to send a special commission to America soon to purchase several million dollars worth of equipment for the tractor plant.

COALITION GIVEN FREE HAND ON TARIFF BILL

Possibility of Early Final Action Seen Through Decision of Republican Regulars to Let Opposition Write Its Own Bill in Hope That Some Compromise Might Be Reached in Conference—Coalition Confident That Tariff Legislation Will Be Passed At Special Session—Dozen Farm Organizations Urge Duties on Hides.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.— (AP) —A coalition confident that a tariff bill designed for agriculture's benefit will be passed at the special session and an administration group willing to let the opposition have its way will go into the senate tomorrow determined to place a new customs revision law on the statute books before the drum of the new year.

Only four weeks remain of the special session and a huge task faces the tariff lawmakers to get the Hawley-Smoot measure to such a stage that it will not interfere seriously with the regular session program. But party and group leaders, after weeks of futile effort to make real headway, now see a ray of hope for early final action through the decision of the republican regulars to let the coalition write its own bill in the hope that some compromise might be reached in conference.

Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, one of the democratic tariff spokesmen, predicted today that when the pending bill leaves the senate it will be a great improvement over the measure passed by the house and that offered in the senate by its finance committee.

"With those who framed the bill having run up the white flag of surrender," Harrison said, "it ought to be easier for those of us who are opposed to many features of the bill to present and press to early completion our suggestions for revision."

Chairman Smoot of the finance committee said it appeared now that the coalition had agreed to let the bill pass because of "pressure" aimed to secure some tariff legislation.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, leader of the republican independents, reiterated a belief that a bill could be passed by the senate this session. There was a "manifest disposition" to get it out of the way, he said.

The democrats, Harrison contended, were trying to work out in conferences "such plans as will curtail unnecessary debate, expedite the consideration of amendments and hasten the final vote on the bill."

Despite constant interruptions last week, the bill, in Harrison's opinion, made much progress" by virtue of the adoption of "some very helpful amendments."

"It has been clearly demonstrated," Harrison said, "that the bill as a whole is obnoxious to the senate and while it will be impossible in the future consideration of many of its provisions for all those who have labored for its revision to agree as to rates or classifications, enough is known to give assurance that when the bill passes the senate it will be a better bill than passed the house and a far better bill than was recommended to the senate by the finance committee.

While the senate chamber was silent, 11 national farm organizations made public a communication that had been sent to members of the senate urging a tariff on hides.

"Millions of farmers, dairymen and stockmen are asking for duties on cattle hides and calf skins," it said. "Adequate duties on hides will be at once effective in raising and stabilizing the pounds of cattle hides and about 35,000,000 pounds of calf skins. Your vote to accomplish this will be hailed as evidence of a real desire to help agriculture."

The statement said that the duties on live cattle did not give protection on hides: that the big bulk of hides were sold on the open market, and that "free hides, by virtue of excessive imports, so depress prices in this country that farmers and ranchers, as well as butchers and small packers often find their takeoff hardly worth the trouble and expense incurred."

DIRIGIBLE R-101 HAS FIRST ALL-NIGHT FLIGHT

CARDINGTON, England, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The dirigible R-101 was hitched to her mooring mast at 10 o'clock this morning after her first all-night flight which lasted 14 hours.

The huge airship, carrying a full crew and in command of Major Scott, carried out speed and altitude tests on the southern coast in the vicinity of the Isle of Wight.

During the final operations for hooking the dirigible to the mast, the airship bumped her nose and tore the envelope but the structural damage was slight. It was reported that during the flight three engines gave some trouble because of bends in the pipe of the cooling apparatus splitting. These were repaired with rubber hose.

The operation in each case took about an hour. Officials said the experience proved the vibration in the engines too violent for duralumin pipes. They will be replaced by larger copper pipes. The airship will be ready for flight Tuesday.

FIREMEN RESCUE MAN FROM BURNING STABLE

DANBURY, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Fire in a livery stable owned by John W. Murphy this morning resulted in serious burns to one man and in the death of six horses. The damage was estimated at $5,000.

Asleep on the second floor of the structure, John Sullivan, 50, an employe at the stable, was overcome by smoke and severely burned about the legs while trying to crawl out of the building. He was rescued by firemen and taken to the Danbury hospital, where his condition was described as serious tonight.

Unaware at first that anyone was in the stable, firemen learned of Sullivan's presence in the building just as the flames were forming an impassable barrier. They had barely enough time to effect a rescue.

An overturned lantern is believed to have been responsible for the fire. There were 13 horses in the building, five of which perished, a sixth was so badly burned that it was shot, and the other seven were rescued.

FLORIDA FOOTBALL SQUAD ATTENDS CAPTAIN'S WEDDING

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Rainey Cawthon, captain and fullback of the University of Florida football team, today accomplished what he undoubtedly would describe as the longest run of his career.

It consisted of six or seven steps up to the altar in the Little Church Around the Corner, where he was married to Miss Sarah Lovell Payne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene S. Payne of Nashville, Tenn.

The entire Florida football squad which yesterday fulfilled an engagement with Harvard at Cambridge, attended the wedding, together with John J. Tigert, president of the University of Florida and former national commissioner of education. Coach Charles W. Bachman, and Dale Van Sickle, Florida's All-American end of a year ago.

YOUTH STABBED TO DEATH BY FATHER

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 —(AP)—A Brooklyn youth of 20 was stabbed to death today when he took his mother's part in an altercation between his parents.

The boy, Philip Olloca, died in an ambulance en route to Cumberland hospital of a knife wound in the abdomen, and his father, Dominick, 46, was arrested on a charge of homicide.

Police were told that the senior Olloca was pounding his wife's head against a table when Philip intervened. The quarrel started, they said, when Olloca ordered his youngest son, Nicholas, 9, to chop some kindling, and the mother, Mrs. Madeline Ollocа, said she would do it and told Nicholas to run and play.

KILLED INVALID MOTHER TO END HER SUFFERING

DRAGUIGNAN, Var, France, Nov. 3—(AP)—The trial of 36-year-old Richard Corbett, an Englishman who shot and killed his invalid mother at Hyeres on May 9, will open in this mountain town tomorrow. His defense will be that he exercised a humane right to kill.

Corbett's father was an English banker who settled on the Riviera nearly 40 years ago when he married a French girl. Ten years ago he died. Three years ago Mrs. Corbett began to suffer from what doctors later diagnosed as cancer. Her son acted as her nurse, scarcely ever leaving her alone in the small villa they occupied on the outskirts of the city.

In April Mrs. Corbett's suffering was such that even the opiates constantly administered by the doctors did not relieve the pain. Daily her son sat at the bedside, watching her suffering and pleading with the doctors to do something to ease her. Early in May he was told that there was no hope. On May 9 he cleaned a revolver, loaded it, entered his mother's bedroom, kissed her, and killed her with one shot. He then shot himself.

Neighbors arrived to find Mrs. Corbett dead and her son unconscious. When he was able to speak at the hospital, his first question was, "My mother is dead?" The police officers told him that he had killed his mother. "Thank God for that," Corbett was reported to have said. "Now she suffers no longer. I don't care what you do to me."

PREDICT HEAVY BUYING IN STOCK MARKET TODAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The stock exchange was a hum of activity today for the second successive Sunday in preparation for what many brokers predicted would be the heaviest volume of business on the opening tomorrow that has ever piled up in advance of an opening.

Indications were that an unprecedented amount of buying was accumulating, with interest intensified by the reduction from 6 to 5 per cent of the New York Federal Reserve bank's rediscount rate and a drop of $1,385,000,000 in brokers' loans for the week ended last Wednesday.

Commission houses reported a predomination of buying orders in the business that streamed in over the week end for the market's opening tomorrow after its three-day recess. No predictions were made as to what would happen after the first spurt of the buying rush.

Wall street today presented almost the appearance of an ordinary business day, except that there was no trading. For the first time in history, every specialist or one of his clerks was required to be on the floor of the stock exchange from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m., to adjust trades that went awry during the wild trading that ended Thursday. The stock and bond tickers were kept open for the three-hour period to print routine notices. Large staffs were on duty in all the offices, and several restaurants and stores, ordinarily closed on Sunday, were opened to accommodate the workers.

AIR SERVICE BETWEEN ENGLAND AND CANADA

LONDON, Nov. 3.— (AP) —Reports from Croydon today said an unnamed Canadian transport company was negotiating with Imperial Airways regarding inauguration of an air passenger service between Great Britain and Canada via Scotland, Iceland and Greenland. The reports said designs for a number of seaplanes for use in the service had been submitted to the British air ministry. The designs called for planes driven by six engines with a total of 5,000 horsepower. They would be capable of carrying 50 passengers on a non-stop flight of a thousand miles.

GRANT AND CUNNINGHAM MAY RUN FOR MAYOR'S BERTH

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 3—Efforts to get the political pot of the city boiling over the week end continued to meet with but casual interest with the failure of both parties to officially announce a standard bearer for the city elections early in December. With the caucuses of both parties scheduled for next Friday evening a decided dearth of candidates continued to perplex party leaders today. The logical candidates who have been mentioned are ex-Mayor William D. Grant, republican and T. Frank Cunningham, democrat. The G. O. P. choice served the city with credit over a decade ago. For many years he has remained in virtual retirement, politically speaking, but the quest for a strong candidate with business experience to guide the forthcoming administration has led to his being asked.

The democrats, resting in the confidence given that party by the sweeping victory of the last town elections and the probate elections, point to their prospective candidate, T. Frank Cunningham as a powerful leader for the city ticket. Mr. Cunningham ran for mayor four years ago as one of the youngest candidates for that office in the history of the city. His opponent, ex-Mayor John C. Tracy won the election by a thin majority. Another name prominently mentioned in democratic circles is that of ex-Mayor George W. Hickey, who, as president of the board of aldermen, succeeded the late Mayor Hormisdas Dion upon the latter's death in 1924.

At least three of the present aldermen have announced themselves out of the running. They are Aldermen-at-Large Oliver L. Willard and Cyril A. Lamoureux and Alderman William E. Webber of the second district. Alderman Eugene E. Lewis of the fourth is willing to serve another term. There is talk, however, that other republicans of that district are seeking the aldermanic nomination and a contest looms for the caucus of that ward. Alderman-at-Large John Reilly, democrat, is non-committal. It is said that the democrats are planning to select someone to run in place of Alderman Arthur J. Dubreuil of the third ward who is now in Florida.

City Clerk Arthur L. Clark, republican, stands as a candidate for renomination. There is nothing to indicate anything but an unanimous party nomination of City Clerk Clark with strong backing at the polls. From the democratic camp it is made known that Roderick Dion, well known local young man, will seek the city clerkship nomination at the democratic caucus.

Ralph J. Lussier, republican city sheriff, is in a receptive mood for another term. All of the present assessors, Gerard E. Loiselle and Charles R. Cone, republicans and Joseph E. Gaudreau, democrat, are said to be willing to accept re-nomination.

With the precision of the athlete that has won for him the title of captain and star fullback of the Windham high school eleven, Arthur Metkis leaned to safety this morning about 9 o'clock as a car mounted the sidewalk and crashed into the window casing of the Miller & Rondeau restaurant on Main street. The machine was operated by Blanche Whitman of Chaplin. The woman was driving westerly on Main street as a sedan driven by Miss Nellie E. Gee of Windham Center swung out of Bank street and headed east. The Chaplin woman, after passing another car going in the same direction, apparently lost control of her machine which crossed Main street diagonally and climbed the sidewalk, crashing into an iron railing leading to a basement in the block and then into the basement window casing. Meikle, who was walking along the sidewalk, narrowly avoided being struck. Officer Arthur Hurley investigated the accident.

Mrs. Minnie T. Tyrol of Wethersfield was inspecting officer at the annual inspection of Mary Todd Lincoln Tent, No. 15, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil war held in the G. A. R. rooms Friday night. Among guests of honor were: Department President Mrs. Minnie Mathieu and staff; Fred S. Oatley, past department commander of Rhode Island; Morgan B. Havens of New London, department commander of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil war; members of the G. A. R. and Jared R. Avery Camp of New London. The department inspector and commander were presented with gold pieces. Mrs. Smalleye of New London was presented with a picture, donated by Miss Margaret Smith and the mystery box. A quilt was awarded to Mrs. B. J. Gadbois of New London. During the meeting the local president, Mrs. Lizetta Brehant called for remarks from several of the guests who came from Wethersfield, Hartford, Norwich, New London, South Manchester and this city. Supper was served under the chairmanship of Miss Elizabeth Hallock.

WEDDING

Gustin-Clarke

Leon A. Gustin, son of Joseph Gustin of 62 Lebanon street, Melrose, Mass., and Miss Mabel M. Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Clarke of 56 Central avenue, Boston, Mass., were married in St. Paul's Episcopal church Friday evening at 9 o'clock. Rev. Theodore D. Martin, rector emeritus of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Hebron, performed the ceremony. The attendants were Ernest Herrick and Miss Ella Cormier of this city. At a wedding dinner held in Mansfield, some 20 guests from Sterling, Boston, Melrose and this city were present. Mr. and Mrs. Gustin will reside at 464 Pleasant street. The groom is chef and the bride a waitress at the Nathan Hale hotel.

Noting the ninth birthday of her son William, Mrs. Edward G. Kenney entertained at a Halloween party at her home, 21 Selden street, Saturday afternoon. Miss Marion Moran of Hartford spent the week end at home.

COLCHESTER

NEW LONDON CAR KILLED COW AND INJURED 7 OTHERS

(Special to The Bulletin)

COLCHESTER, Nov. 3. — About 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning, a Cadillac sedan, bearing Connecticut registration 8990, owned by James N. Kelley, an undertaker of 62 Washington street, New London, and operated by Edward L. Gannon, of Garfield avenue, New London, ran headon into a herd of seventeen cows on the Colchester-New London road, a mile and a half south of Colchester center, resulting in the death of one of the cows and injury to seven others. Gannon, with a party of friends, was driving toward Colchester from New London. After descending Clifford hill the car met the herd of cows which were being driven southward along the highway to the pasture a few hundred feet away. The cows, owned by Stephen Fedus, a farmer residing on the former Morgan place, were driven by Mrs. Fedus and one of her children. Constable Harold Clark, of Colchester, conducted an investigation. Due to the wet, slippery condition of the roadway, and the moderate rate of speed at which the car was traveling, the constable found no reason to hold Gannon liable for reckless driving. However, as the owner of the car carries insurance, it is understood that Mr. Fedus will receive settlement for the cows without the matter coming to court. The car sustained smashed headlights and damaged front fenders but was driven back to New London under its own power. The occupants of the machine escaped injury.

Wrecked Plane Taken To Base

The U. S. Navy airplane which crashed alongside the Hartford-Colchester turnpike on Chamberlin flats Friday afternoon was dissected and taken to the submarine base, Groton, Saturday morning, by men with two large motor trucks from the base.

BLAME DEFECTIVE WIRING FOR FIRE AT FEDUS PLACE

Fire, thought to have been caused by defective electrical wiring, resulted in an estimated damage of five hundred dollars to the residence of Nicholas Fedus, at 31 Norwich avenue, between 12 and 1 o'clock Sunday morning. The fire, which broke out in the attic of the back ell of the house, was discovered by a member of the family who turned in the alarm. The siren was blown at just midnight and within three minutes thereafter, Chief H. F. Brown with the engine and squad of men were at the house. Quick work on the part of the firemen with the use of two tanks of chemicals resulted in the fire being extinguished before it had gained much headway. Chief Brown reports that the firemen were handicapped in not being equipped with regulation smoke masks.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Bailey and children, of Newington, visited Sunday with Mr. Bailey's parents here.

Hunters' Success

Lloyd W. Brown, Lucuis H. Chapman and Henry Farnowski were hunting about the outskirts of the village Saturday afternoon, returning with a fine string of squirrels.

Frank Rathbun, of Hartford, visited Saturday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Rathbun.

Julius Fedus is having alterations and improvements made to his house on Pleasant street.

Frederick O. Brown and son, Fire Chief Harold F. Brown, returned Saturday after several days' motor trip to Rutland and vicinity.

Miss Frances Nonnenbecker entertained friends at a halloween party at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Brown on Norwich avenue, Friday evening. Games and a social good time were enjoyed, after which refreshments were served. Nearly all of the young people were in costumes and the rooms were gaily decorated in halloween colors.

A number of local people attended a dance at Amston town hall Friday evening.

Several local people attended the cow auction at the C. Daniel Way farm in Gilead during the week.

Good Dogs, But Coons Few

Fire Chief Harold F. Brown, Principal John W. Goodrich, Herman Conrad, Harold Clark and John Nelkin were among borough people who went coon hunting Saturday evening. Messrs. Nelkin and Goodrich are said to have two of the best coon dogs in this vicinity but coons are reported to be scarcer than usual this season.

Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Stebbins attended the Yale-Dartmouth game in New Haven, Saturday.

Henry S. Park visited over Sunday with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ray in Mildale.

Edward Agranovitch, student at University of New Hampshire, spent the week end at home.

GURLEYVILLE

The Ladies' society of the Methodist church served one of their excellent suppers Wednesday, consisting of meat loaf, scalloped potato, rolls, pie and coffee. After the supper the pastor led in playing games which everybody enjoyed.

District Superintendent Rev. M. E. Genter of Norwich, with Rev. Mr. Adams and Rev. Mr. Plumb were here last Tuesday and with the pastor, Rev. R. A. Clark called on parishioners of the church district.

Warren Hobby has sold to John Clark his farm, the Thresher place, on the road from Gurleyville to Wormwood Hill.

Miss Finucane, school teacher here, spent the week end at her home in Fall River, Mass.

A ship built exactly like the famous caravel, Santa Maria, is to repeat Columbus' voyage from Palos to America next spring.

Needless Suffering

The next time a headache makes you stay at home—

Or some other ache or pain prevents your keeping an engagement—

Remember Bayer Aspirin! For there is scarcely any pain it cannot relieve, and relieve promptly.

These tablets give real relief, or millions would not continue to take them. They are quite harmless, or the medical profession would not constantly prescribe them.

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain. To colds that might so easily be checked; to neuritis, neuralgia; to those pains peculiar to women; or any suffering for which Bayer Aspirin is such an effective antidote.

For your own protection, buy the genuine. Bayer is safe. It's always the same. It never depresses the heart, so use it as often as needed; but the cause of any pain can be treated only by a doctor.

BAYER ASPIRIN

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

TASTE!

MANY men have sought words to describe that "extra something" in Chesterfield.

It is there, undoubtedly... a "sparkle" of spicier aroma, an extra touch of flavor, a certain added "character," unmistakably Chesterfield's own.

No one word describes it—but only the most inexperienced smoker could fail to mark it. Between other cigarettes and Chesterfield, there is the clear-cut difference between just something to smoke and the cigarette that puts—

"TASTE above everything"

DANIELSON

PUTNAM MAN ARRESTED FOLLOWING AUTO ACCIDENT

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Nov. 3. — Abraham Horowitz, of Putnam, is scheduled to appear in a justice's court in Brooklyn at one o'clock Monday afternoon to answer to a charge of breach of the peace. It appears that a car that Mr. Horowitz was operating late Saturday was involved in a minor accident with another machine being driven by Leo Saucier of Far Rockaway, N. Y., and in court Mr. Howowitz will be charged with breach of the peace following the accident and that he struck Saucier.

Heavy motor traffic over the week end moved, up to the time this was written, late Sunday, without any accidents of a serious nature, though it was rainy and the state highways a bit treacherous for those who were not operating cars carefully.

However, in checking up on headlight equipment, opposite the state police barracks on North Main street Saturday evening, officers ordered Henry Derosier of 54 Dyer street, Danielson, and Thomas Murphy, of Springfield to appear in the local town court. Derosier will be charged with operating a non-registered car, and Murphy will face charges of operating without a license to do so and driving a machine not equipped with a reflector. The headlight check-up is in line with what state officers are now doing throughout the state.

Russell Chapin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Chapin, remained helpless today at his home on Reynolds street after injuries received when he was struck, on Broad street, near the Soldiers' monument hallowe'en night by a hit and run driver. Charles Elmer Rice, a young man resident at the Arthur Day farm, near Goodyear, has since been fined $50 and costs as the result of the accident, on a charge of evading responsibility. The injured boy, who is 13 years of age is, among other things, suffering from concussion of the brain. His condition today was reported as slightly improved.

There were two cases before Judge W. Fenner Woodward in the town court Saturday morning. Rock Lasure, of Newton, Mass., was fined $5 and costs, a total of $15.50, for driving a car without having an operator's license. He was ordered into court by State Officer H. Theodore Strand. Nathaniel Danddreau, ordered into court by Chief John McFarland, also was fined for not having an operator's license, the penalty in this case being a fine of $5 and actual costs, $4 of the fine being remitted by the court on account of extenuating circumstances.

Diligent workers spent the hours of Saturday from about the time business began until well into the evening, obtaining contributions to the annual Tag day effort of the Civic federation. Mrs. Susan Armington, treasurer, said this afternoon, that reports of receipts up to that time amounted to $44.48. This is not the final total. There are always belated contributions to the fund, and on Tuesday next one of the mills of the town is to be canvassed, according to an annual arrangement. This plant usually yields a considerable sum.

It would appear now, arrangements have been so far perfected, that only good weather will be required to make Danielson's observance of Armistice day the outstanding event of the kind in this section of eastern Connecticut. The committees in charge of the arrangements have done their work well. On Monday, Nov. 11, no such perfunctory observance of Armistice day as occurred on the anniversary last year, will be permitted to recur, which decision is in keeping with the pledge made by legionaires at that time.

Negotiations continue for the purchase from the American Woolen company of their mill at Elmville, closed for several years past. Reports have it that several prospective purchasers are interested and that their representatives were here the past week end inspecting the property. There can be no determination of what the plant will be used for until such time as the purchase is actually made, for some of those who would buy are interested in one line of industry and some in other lines. There is one chance that this town may get its first silk industry following the impending sale of this property. The mill is a two-story brick structure, located in Elmville center, at the edge of the Danielson-Putnam trunk line highway. For more than 40 years up to the time it suspended operations it was, under various ownerships, engaged in the manufacture of woolens.

An interesting viewpoint is that blasting operations that have been underway for months have opened up subterranean seams through which water has flowed undisturbed for generations in a way to furnish additional supplies to some of the ponds between Brooklyn and Pomfret, where state highway building operations are underway. This is a possibility, if not an actuality. In any event, notwithstanding an unprecedented drought, there is more water in some basins than ever before in the memory of the present generation.

Something of what the Civic federation does from month to month, a subject of particular interest just now, in view of the fact that the organization held its annual Tag day Saturday, is indicated by the report of activities for the month of October. Cases carried over from the preceding month numbered 16 and during October 11 new cases claimed the attention of the visiting nurse, Miss Miriam Boomhower. During the month seven patients were discharged, one died and nineteen remained under care. The number of paying patients during the period was 8, the number of non-paying patients 19. Miss Boomhower made 118 nursing visits. The money received during the period amounted to $25.60. There were 22 medical patients, two surgical patients, one obstetrical patient and two tuberculosis patients. During the month, the visiting nurse made 24 social service visits. Relief given had to do with the distribution of 48 garments, three pairs of shoes, one carpet, dishes and food to members of a family where there was illness. During the month contributions of clothing, a carpet, dishes and other things were received variously from Mrs. Joseph Gaylord, Mrs. E. M. Marlor, Mr. Del Pesto, Mrs. Alex Booker and Mrs. J. C. Williams.

At the home in Wauregan, Saturday afternoon, the death of Eucher Praire, 76, a native of Canada, occurred. He had been a resident of Wauregan for about 40 years. He leaves his wife, and the following children: Mrs. John Pellerin, Mrs. Alexander Daignault, Mrs. Romeo Gauthier. At one time during his long residence in Wauregan, Mr. Prairie had been a sexton of Sacred Heart parish.

The first of the Armistice day decorations—these on banks and business places—were put up during Saturday. Decorating will continue for a week.

There will be delegates from this territory to the fifth annual state convention of the State Federation of Men's Bible classes of Connecticut at West Haven next Saturday afternoon and evening.

It has been quite definitely established that the vandalism practiced here on hallowe'en was largely the work of very young people, not yet with discretion sufficient to distinguish between real fun and doing inexcusable things.

Miss Gertrude Stone, confined to her home on Academy street the past fortnight, with a knee injury, has nearly recovered.

Lieut. Ross V. Urquhart, commanding officer at the Danielson state police barracks, has returned from his vacation.

Some failed to file their tax lists on time, so the town will benefit by an extra assessment of 10 per cent on the lists of these property owners.

There was rejoicing today over an old-fashioned rainstorm that set in last evening, continued through the night and through today.

Victor Anderson, treasurer of the Connecticut Mills company, with offices here, is in Akron, O., on a business trip.

Girl bookkeeper and typist wanted. Address Box 452, Danielson.—adv.

The first of a series of missions, to continue through the next three weeks, was opened today at St. James' church.

Killingly high school's football team is not scheduled to play again until Armistice day, when it will meet the Tourtelotte Memorial high school team of North Grosvenordale on the Quinebaug grounds.

PUTNAM

PUTNAM DEMOCRATS HAVE COMPLETED CITY TICKET

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Nov. 3.—The nominating of Edward Duffy of High street, for alderman, Friday evening by the democrats of ward four, virtually brought to a close the democratic part of the 1929 city campaign. The party will hold the general caucus on next Friday evening when the names of the aldermanic nominees, named at the various ward caucuses during the past week, will be ratified. It is not believed that the democrats at the general session will place any candidates in the field for the offices of mayor or alderman-at-large. Several local prominent democrats have been mentioned as aspirants for the nominations for the remaining offices on the ticket, but interviews today failed to bring forth statements.

Former Alderman Duffy was unopposed in caucus Friday, this being the only ward in the city democratic causes where no contests developed. Mr. Duffy will succeed Alderman Adolph Desjardin in the council next year.

With the democratic slate complete the spotlight will focus on the republican ward caucuses Tuesday evening. The voters of ward one will assemble in the engine house in Union square; those of ward two in the auditorium of the Israel Putnam school on School street; republicans of ward three in St. John's hall on Providence street, and the municipal building on Church street will be the meeting place of the voters of the fourth ward.

In the republican ranks tonight, harmony reigned in every ward, except three, commonly known as Rhodesville. Here a three-cornered fight looms up. Three candidates are seeking the nomination, namely: Leo J. Delisle, present incumbent; David Breault of Church street, and Rosario Beausoliel. All are confident of victory and have many supporters aiding them in their fight. Delisle is now in his third term as representative from this ward. While being a strong favorite in the past, there now exists adverse sentiment to his renomination, on grounds of his absence from several council meetings during the past administration, which left the republicans of the ward without representation.

The aldermanic aspirations of David Breault were being warmly received in republican circles in the ward this afternoon. Mr. Breault is expected to furnish much opposition for the other two candidates.

Rosario Beausoliel, popular north end merchant, is a candidate with a host of followers. When all three names are placed before the voters Tuesday evening it is expected that the outcome will be exceedingly close.

In the remaining wards, no contests are looked for. Alderman John Dean, republican representative from ward two, will be a candidate for renomination. The names of Aldermen Robert Chadwick, ward one; Eugene Migneault, ward four, are expected to be proposed, unless other developments in the party political circles take place Monday.

Until a late hour this afternoon the republican city committee was unaware of any prospective candidate seeking to secure the nomination for alderman-at-large, other than Warren S. Ames of Farrow street, present incumbent.

For the first time in many years, a jury acting on a civil action went on record as being unable to reach a verdict satisfactory to every member, when after three hours and 45 minutes of deliberation, in superior court Friday, the 12 men returned to the jury box and informed Judge E. M. Yeomans that they had failed to reach an agreement in the case of Peter Stahecki, Admr., versus Rene St. Savior of this city. The plaintiff in the action was seeking damages of $10,000 for the accidental killing of his son in Goodyear on June 30, by an automobile being operated by St. Savior.

The introduction of testimony was completed by opposing lawyers early in the afternoon, followed by rebuttals, and immediately after delivery of the charge by Judge Yeomans at 3:45 p. m., the jurymen retired to their chambers.

They did not return until 7 o'clock. Upon learning that 10 jurymen favored a verdict for the plaintiff, to which two remaining members could not agree, Judge Yeomans ordered the jury discharged and advised counsel that the case would have to be reassigned for trial in order to have a judgment awarded to either party involved.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning for Francis Ledoux, who died Thursday at the Day Kimball hospital. A reuiem high mass was celebrated at St. Mary's church, which was attended by many relatives and friends. Burial took place in St. Mary's cemetery.

On Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Deborah Moffette of the state department of health, mental hygiene bureau, will conduct a conference to be featured with discussion on mentality, which will be held at the American Red Cross headquarters on Ballou street. Superintendent of Schools Leon M. Farrin is co-operating with the health department in this matter and has extended invitations to the school teachers and other persons interested to attend.

The pupils of grades four and five of Miss LaFrance's room at the Israel Putnam school have formed a club known as the "Merry Bird club" and have also elected class-room officers. The bird club has a membership of 26. The officers elected are Celia Bousquet, president; Marion Woodis, vice-president; Ruth Tetreault, secretary. The first meeting was held Wednesday and the reading of natural history of birds was the featured topic of the school organization.

The class-room officers are Gertrude Brown, president; Muriel Grosvenor, vice-president; Esther Antokol, secretary, and James Cacciaputi, treasurer.

The pupils of the Israel Putnam school have voted on the National Flower contest now being carried on in all schools in the country. According to statistics, over 750,000 students have voted on the three flowers, the wild rose, columbine and golden rod. The Israel Putnam vote resulted in 246 votes to the wild rose as choice of a national flower; 60 for the columbine, and 44 for the goldenrod. This balloting is being done under the direction of a periodical subscribed for by the pupils enrolled in Mrs. Kent's class.

The members of the Cargill council, K. of C., have removed to the new club room quarters in the Roughton-Wagner block on Main street; rooms formerly occupied by the Putnam chapter of Moose. The "Caseys" for a number of years have occupied the lodge rooms located on Union street, above the banking house of the Cargill Trust Co.

The civil session of superior court held in this city Friday was adjourned by Judge Yeomans until Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock when court will reopen in the courthouse at Willimantic for continuation of civil business.

Many Putnam people attended the important football games held in the various cities in the east on Saturday. The Yale-Dartmouth and Holy Cross-Brown contests at New Haven and Worcester perhaps attracted the largest number of local fans.

Frank Donovan, a student at St. John's preparatory school in Danvers, Mass., returned to his studies today after a few days' visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Donovan, of Lyons street.

Miss Alice Perry of Willimantic, a student at the Normal school, spent the week end at her home in this city.

Leroy Thompson of New York city is visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Thompson, of Woodstock avenue.

At the Day Kimball hospital today, Reynolds Peterson of North Grosvenordale and Miss Lorraine Zamchem of this city underwent operations for appendicitis.

Patrolman Joseph Page of the local police has been transferred from night patrol duty in the north end of the city to day duty in the business section. Officer Sponcey has replaced Officer Durand in the business section nights, the latter being transferred to night duty in the north end.

Hayden Franklin of Northeastern university in Boston spent Sunday at his home in this city.

George Farquhar of Pawtucket was a week-end visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Farquhar in Pomfret.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Peters of Grove street entertained a number of friends at a party held Saturday evening at their home, in honor of the birthday anniversary of their niece, Miss Marie Morin.

An Essex coupe operated by Albert Gregoire of Van Den Noort street was in collision Saturday morning at the intersection of Grove and South Main streets, with a touring car driven by Philip Arnold of Chapman street. Considerable damage was caused to both vehicles. Officer Alpherie Sponcey checked up the crash, but made no arrests.

Prior to the world war about one-third of the Europeans who came to settle in the United States were laborers and domestics; whereas since the war only 27 per cent. have been in these classes.

TARIFF LEGISLATION

When there were those who urged the president to express himself in regard to the tariff bill it was indicated that it would have no influence upon that coalition of democrats and insurgents, and now that he has spoken they can be expected to do as they please. In spite of the fact that the president was given such strong support at the polls, there is a group of senators who prefer to oppose rather than support administration policies and desires.

The situation that has developed in the senate gave the president an excellent opportunity to point out the value of the provision for a flexible tariff and the aid that it would be to correcting any injustices in the tariff bill. Through it there could be expected speedy and fair consideration of any changes, something which it is hopeless to expect from the senate.

When the president urged the completion of the tariff bill within the next two weeks he probably realized that such a thing is possible if there is the desire, but he also unquestionably realized that it was useless to expect any such thing in view of the attitude that has been disclosed. It is obstruction rather than accomplishment that the coalition has been engaged in and it isn't disposed to follow anything but its own sweet will. This has been made apparent following previous presidential expressions.

The coalition has indicated that it has control of the situation and it has been repeatedly demonstrated that it can do about as it pleases, but that hasn't served to speed up action on the tariff. Being in control and desirous of adopting a tariff bill that will be to its liking, and nothing else, it hasn't even done that and there is no prospect that it will now that the president has spoken.

What the coalition wants stands slight chance of getting the approval of the house. Even the prospects of a compromise in conference are so slight that tariff legislation looms increasingly as an impossibility with no uncertainty, of course, as where the responsibility for it rests.

HUNTING ACCIDENTS

What it means to be careful while hunting is better known by many Pennsylvania hunters who survived the first day in the fields and woods after the law went off. Those that were killed have taught a powerful lesson to others and those who were shot and will recover have gone through an experience which should be sufficient.

With one killed by the discharge of his own gun as he was brushing leaves aside with it while cocked, and a score of others wounded, four of whom lost an eye, the hunting season in the Keystone state opened conspicuously and painfully. Several were shot by others in mistake for game.

Cases of this kind serve to emphasize the danger of the hunting season and the chances which persons take when going into the woods at such a time. For the most part the accidents could have been prevented. Those who shoot themselves because of the careless manner in which they handle their firearms have had opportunity to avoid any such thing by profiting from the experience of others, while those who shoot others should be sufficiently aware of the dangers with so many hunters in the woods to make sure what they are aiming at before discharging their guns.

It is because of so many fatalities and accidents while hunting that the idea of requiring every hunter to take out liability insurance has been suggested by the Massachusetts Fish and Game commission. What this will result in is problematical but, with so many persons being killed or wounded while hunting and so many domestic animals being shot down for big game, the suggestion may not be so unreasonable as might be thought at first.

Even though they know better, there are those who seem to think that they are alone in the woods and almost as many more carry their firearms as if they thought they could not be discharged except they were aimed at game. The loss of life while hunting is altogether too large. Accidents will happen there as well as anywhere else but there is the opportunity to keep the number small which ought not to be overlooked. The consequences of hunting accidents are too serious to indulge in chance-taking.

CHILD TRAINING

"Many well-meaning parents have failed rather hopelessly in their disciplinary training. They have discarded the old methods and have very little understanding of the real meaning of discipline. They have become helpless and the children have taken advantage of the situation and rule the parents."

This is the way one speaker before the conference on parent education spoke recently in New York and there are those who from their observations and experiences will be inclined to support the contention.

There were the days when the parents assumed the responsibility of bringing up their children and insisting upon due respect for their guidance. Those were the days when the task wasn't left entirely to the school teacher to see that the children were well-mannered, courteous, law-respecting and mindful of their conduct in the street and to their elders. Those were the days when the parents didn't turn their children over to organizations to bring up because the job of training them was too hard and took too much time. Those were the days when children were required to honor and respect their parents, and when they could expect punishment when they persisted in going beyond disciplinary bounds. Those were the days when it was believed that to spare the rod was to spoil the child.

Methods have changed with time and from the expression of the speaker whose remarks are quoted it doesn't appear that they have met the situation. It is apparent to those who have much experience with children that no hard and fast rule can be applied to handling all children. There are those who need punishment, those with whom better results can be gained with reasoning. It is a case of meeting the situation by such treatment as it has been shown gets results.

Those methods which result in failure and those which put the parents under the rule of the children can hardly be regarded as successful. Certainly they cannot be beneficial to the children or those with whom they come in contact. Parental responsibility cannot lapse without detrimental results.

FALL'S CASE

In sentencing Albert B. Fall to a year in jail and fining him $100,000 the judge in the District of Columbia supreme court let it be understood that this was only part of the penalty that might have been applied in the case had the maximum sentence been imposed.

Further than that the court made it clear that there would be a suspension of sentence provided there was an abandonment of appeal only because of the defendant's state of health.

Fall has reached the decision, however, that his case will be carried higher and to the United States supreme court if necessary. He isn't convinced that he was guilty of the charges made against him and is determined to avail himself of every possible legal protection. How long this will take is uncertain. It may be months and it may be a year before the final decision is reached.

In the meantime, even though he has been found guilty by the trial court and sentenced, he stands in the position of still having his case before the courts on appeal, which is more favorable than calmly accepting the jury's verdict and the court's sentence because of the possibility of a suspension.

Fall's course doesn't necessarily mean that public opinion believes him guiltless. The probable fact is that it believes otherwise in view of its knowledge of the many facts which have been brought to light concerning the case, and yet he is unwilling to abandon what he regards as a chance to get a higher court to decide in his favor. He hasn't been convinced that it is a forlorn hope.

GROSS LACK OF CARE

What happens when there is a disregard of crossing dangers and no attention is paid to signals and warning is illustrated by the killing of nine persons at an Indiana crossing.

The accident occurred at a crossing where there was a bell. According to two school girls, the bell worked properly and in addition to that they screamed and thus tried to prevent the driver from going across the track in the face of the on-coming express train. There was no let-up, the signal and the cries were ignored and death stepped in to take charge of the situation in which must be regarded as an entirely needless fatality.

One wonders what that same driver might have done had there been an elevated highway at that point. He was so oblivious to danger at the crossing that he might have done no better than the driver of an auto did in crashing through one of the bridges over the Cape Cod canal, and as other auto drivers have done at bridges over crossings.

The cry always goes up for crossing elimination every time an accident occurs at such a point and yet it is evident in many of the instances that the fault rests entirely on the motor vehicle driver and his lack of reasonable care or the ignoring of warning signs, signals and even flagmen.

There are crossings which should be eliminated but it doesn't follow that this is the method that should be employed at all of them. We are careless enough now, but it is simply aiding and abetting carelessness to insist that open crossings which have adequate signals be eliminated just because certain ones refuse to look out for themselves. Let the bad crossings be removed, but let there be more care by the users of the highways at crossings and elsewhere.

YOUTH SETS THE PACE

Myra Calkins moved busily about her studio-apartment making ready for her guests. She caught herself humming a gay tune as she arranged the yellow daffodils. They seemed to smile at her and bid her cheer up, for spring had arrived at last. Not that Myra needed cheering especially; she was successful—her illustrations were decidedly in demand—and, though the lean years had been many, now, at 30, her life and her surroundings were quite to her liking.

At least, that was what Myra repeatedly told herself. The fact, however, that this particular party was being given for the express purpose of furthering romance might lead to the suspicion that something was lacking in her own well-ordered life.

"Come," she called as a knock sounded on the door. A tall individual appeared in the doorway.

"Oh, it's you!" said Myra with faint enthusiasm.

"Wasn't I invited?"

"Of course," answered Myra, "aren't you always invited to my parties?"

"You sounded," remarked the tall person mildly, "disappointed."

"I was a little," confessed Myra, "I wanted Barney to come first tonight. I've something very special to tell him."

"Lucky Barney!" Myra laughed confusedly.

"I'm fond of that boy, David, and I'm not going to see his romance go on the rocks if I can help it. I've asked Jeanette for tonight, too. I'm in hopes the youngsters will make up."

"Are you as solicitous of all romances which come your way?" asked David.

"Your tie is crooked as usual, David," was Myra's only response. "Let me straighten it before the others come. And you'll find a brush in the next room. You've come to my party with your hair looking a sight."

"Think what a different man I'd be, Myra, if——" David hesitated—"if I lived next door to you."

"Think of the errands you'd have to run and how you'd hate them," answered Myra, her eyes rising to a higher level than the necktie she was straightening.

"You seem to think Barney will like running errands and all that."

"Barney's young and in love. Besides, that's only the inexperience of youth, David. Young people have to quarrel, it seems, just so they'll have the pleasure of kissing and making up, and I'm giving the party for the purpose of giving them that pleasure."

"Maybe they won't want an audience."

"David! You know perfectly well that I merely hope to see them leave here on friendly terms."

Nine o'clock found Myra's guests comfortably disposed about her woodfire—all but two—for Barney and Jeanette had not put in their appearance. They'd probably guessed her scheme, thought Myra, and were still too obstinate to meet. Supper time came and went. With gay informality the table had been cleared, the rugs rolled up, the radio tuned in to a jazzy orchestra and still not a word had been heard from the two delinquents.

"Looks like Barney won't have to run errands, either," remarked David as he brought Myra to a standstill near the door, "at any rate not for little Jeanette."

"Well, I've done my best," answered Myra. "They were made for each other, and," she finished wistfully, "they may miss out—happiness, I mean."

"Why, Myra! I never guessed—" began David just as a knock came on the door, followed by the entrance of two people who fairly exuded joy.

"Here comes the bride," sang Barney as Jeanette launched herself upon Myra.

"Darling," she whispered, "are you really and truly glad?"

"Oh, my dear," sniffed Myra, while the tears damaged her artistic make-up, "I'm so thankful that you're not going to miss the best that life has to offer a woman."

"Congratulations, my boy," said David, "do you mind telling me—er—just how this happy conclusion came about?"

"Well," answered Barney, importantly, "I decided that life is too short to risk missing a good thing when I see it."

"Dear," said David, after all the other guests had gone, "don't you think it is time we found the best that life has to offer mortals, whether men or women?"

"Your tie is crooked, David," answered Myra from force of habit, but this time, as she straightened it, her eyes met and rested in the shy, loving ones above her.—Chicago News.

YOUR HEALTH

Watch Your Reserve Level.

By Gilbert Fitz-Patrick, M. D.
Chicago, Illinois.
(From Gorgas Memorial Institute)

Health is the most important thing in the world because the health of the people of a nation is that nation's greatest resource. This is plain from the fact that wealth is an accumulation of physical effort, a product of labor—labor is work—and sick people cannot work.

Requiring or maintaining is the biggest or big business in the United States, because more than $3,000,000,000 is annually paid by the people of the United States for professional service rendered by physicians, dentists, nurses, druggists, hospitals, sanitariums, and to manufacturers for the necessary supplies and equipment.

More than 3,000,000 people in the United States at this minute are idle through sickness, the great majority from preventable diseases—the kind we acquire through carelessness or ignorance.

Many people today look upon sickness as a disgrace, something to be ashamed of, because if the sickness be a preventable one, the fact of being sick is gross evidence of ignorance. It stamps the individual as careless, one not to be trusted, because if he is lax about the most important thing in the world will he not be careless about less important affairs?

The best way to maintain good health is to have periodic health examinations by your family physician and dentist; check your disease liabilities against your health assets—just as is done by all good businesses; learn the character and amount of health commodity you have to draw upon in the warehouse of your vitality; and do not overdraw.

No one need be uninformed or misinformed as to health and disease. And that makes your cause, Mr., Mrs. and Miss Reader, very simple. Find out your health resources. Keep the reserve level high. Do not take for granted that you are any exception to the normal rules. Remember that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure just as truly today as the day it was first put into words.

CHILD TRAINING

Humiliating Children Before Others.

Helen Gregg Green.

"Daddy, please give me a dime," coaxed Teddy. "I want to buy a whistle."

There were guests present who were to dine with them that evening, and Daddy was going upstairs to dress. Laughing, the father tossed something to the child.

Thinking it was a dime, Teddy reached eagerly for a small piece of leather. Humiliation and embarrassment flushed the little face.

You know how we adults dislike being embarrassed before a crowd. Well, so do children. And yet how often we try to have a little fun at children's expense. They can easily tell whether we are laughing with them, or at them.

To make fun of a sensitive, self-conscious child before a crowd causes him to suffer acute pangs of embarrassment.

I showed Aunt Emmy-Lou the above when I had written it.

"I am so glad you are writing that article, my dear," she told me with her usual enthusiasm. "Never shall I forget an embarrassing incident which happened to me when a child. My father took me with him to a shoe store to buy himself a pair of shoes. While we were there the salesman said, 'I have some shoes that I think the little lady would like.' 'Very well,' Father agreed, 'we'll have her try them on. Emmy-Lou, take off your shoes.' 'But Father, some other time!' I begged, my face flushing. 'Why some other time?' Father asked, crisply. 'I'll explain later, Father,' I begged, now so embarrassed I could scarcely speak. But Father announced, 'No, now is the time, Emmy-Lou. Don't keep the salesman waiting.' Close to tears I tried again, 'But Father, there's a big hole in my stocking!' 'Oh, is that all?' Father laughed uproariously. 'Take off your shoes and no more nonsense.' Of course I obeyed, but I shall never forget how badly I wanted to cry or better yet to walk out of the store. But there was nothing to do but to take off my shoes, and though I was but a tiny girl I remember how I wished the floor would open up and swallow me. And I kept thinking, 'Mother wouldn't have done that. She would have told the salesman, "We'll be in some other day!"'

Children know when treatment is unsympathetic or unfair. We can avoid friction and unhappiness by dealing understandingly and sympathetically with them. Suppose we put ourselves in their places and treat them as we would wish to be treated if our places were reversed. Let us try to get their point of view. In this way we shall grow in the esteem of our boys and girls, not because we are parents, but because we are deserving of respect. Then, by our daily example, the children, too, will grow to be thoughtful and considerate of others.

Little Talks on Thrift

Recent Wall Street Crash Should Emphasize Value of Patient Thrift.

The recent disturbing events in the stock market should serve one useful purpose at least and this is that we have great need in this country for a more widespread understanding of the values of true thrift.

It is not the purpose of this writer in this article to attempt in any way to analyze the Wall Street situation either past or present. The only point sought to be made here is that greater thrift among the American people would have prevented much of the trouble that has occurred.

It is hard sometimes to make people believe that fundamentals do not change—that it is always risky to try to get something for nothing, to try to get rich over night, to try to run a shoestring up to a million.

Once in a while someone proves the exception to these rules but such instances are exceedingly rare.

In the long run it is better to be satisfied with such returns for your money as are safe and sound. Through the processes of compound interest or reinvestment of proceeds one can build one's capital to such a great volume as might sound truly amazing. These processes are slow at first. It requires much patience to let your earnings grow along sound lines when those around you apparently are reaping prodigious profits and getting rich from their speculative activities.

But while these methods are slow they are dependable and there are millions of people today who are thanking their lucky stars that they have been satisfied to put their money in safe places even though the profits may have seemed small.

As long as we stick to the fundamentals of thrift we are safe. Whenever we get away from them there is no likelihood what financial disaster may overtake us.—By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—Representative Thatcher of Kentucky came back from a personal re-survey of the Panama canal, which he helped to build, convinced that no good reason yet exists to start construction of a second Atlantic-Pacific waterway connection via the Nicaraguan route.

"I believe it is better to have one live canal than two dead ones," was the way Thatcher expressed it.

The Kentuckian asserted that only urgent military necessity could justify beginning construction of the Nicaraguan canal at this time; and that he knew of no such necessity.

Since he served three years, 1910 to 1913, as a member of the Isthmian Canal commission and head of the civil administration of the canal zone, Thatcher presumably speaks with considerable authority.

The Panama canal is now operating to about 40 per cent. of its ultimate capacity. Thatcher held that any additional locks be increased in size over the 1,000 feet long by 110 feet wide dimensions of the present locks. That would meet "the possible need for increased lock capacity in the future," he said.

A Naval Problem.

It would also meet what is already a troublesome navy maneuver problem. The huge aircraft carriers Lexington and Saratoga are so close to the maximum size of ship which can pass through the present locks that it is no joke to transit them. They have a clearance measured in feet in length and inches in width.

When the canal was planned nobody expected ships of commerce or war ever to exceed 700 to 800 feet in length, and the widest ship then afloat was not much over 70 feet across the widest point. To provide locks 1,000 feet by 110 feet seemed, therefore, a liberal factor of safety.

There even then were naval constructors who urged a width of 125 feet, however, believing battleships eventually might approach that size.

The last battleships designed before the Washington treaty, with its 35,000 ton maximum size for capital ships, were to have been above 40,000 tons.

They were never built, but with the wartime expansion of government gun factory equipment to handle possible future 20-inch naval rifles. It was clear that the time when the canal lock limits of size would be reached was fast approaching.

Limited by Canal.

When the Wilson administration was involved in hot political clashes in congress on its army and navy policy in 1914 and 1915, the late Senator "Pitchfork Ben" Tillman of South Carolina was chairman of the naval committee.

He was a very impetuous man, as his nickname implies. He finally proposed that the construction of the greatest ship of war ever built be undertaken as a warning to all other powers that the United States would start building a fleet of such craft unless naval rivalries were kept within reasonable compass.

The senator called on Admiral Taylor, then senior naval constructor, for a sketch of what such a ship would be.

The Bystander does not remember details exactly, but the suggested ship, in Admiral Taylor's judgment, would have been of some 60,000 tons displacement, carry a score of 14-inch or 16-inch rifles and have a speed and cruising radius beyond anything ever before known.

The limiting factor, the navy expert then said, was the size of the Panama canal locks.

To Plan Mapping the Americas.

The National Geographic Society designated Dr. William Bowie as its representative at the first meeting, in Meico City last month, of the Pan American Institute of Geography and History.

Dr. Bowie, chief of the division of geodesy of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, is a geodetist of world note, and hxe was one of three representatives from the United States to the institute's organization meeting.

The institute's sessions, were held from Sept. 16 to 22, inclusive and brought together the foremost scientists in geographic and allied fields from all the American republics. The meetings were watched with keen interest both in North and South America because there, for the first time, were planned the correlation of important projects for mapping and surveys of international importance.

"While the basis of the work to be done involves scientific and technical phases of charting, topographic and geodetic surveys, the results will be of paramount importance to industrial and commercial development," explains a statement from the National Geographic Society.

"Maps which give exact locations, and coordinate such factors as latitudes and elevations, are the structural framework around which develop the possibilities for modern farming and forestry, for highway and railroad building, for telephone and telegraph line construction, for water power use and finally the placement of factories.

"Precise topographic maps are essential preliminaries to charts of rainfall and temperature, to accurate studies of botanical and animal life zones and the opportunities for further plant and stock introduction, and finally for the advantageous location of factories.

"Savings of hundreds of thousands of dollars literally now are effected through the placement of highways in relation to all these factors. And wasteful construction which sometimes occurred in the past, both of railroads and highways, is avoided when the potential value and development of the region they will serve can be charted in detail.

"Forest areas with their wealth of timber, regions where soil fertility beckons the settler, and the accessibility of the producting areas to world markets no longer are left to chance experiments, but can be determined in advance.

"Such surveys become of obvious value when the project involves hydroelectric development, with the consequent need for railroads running in, and power lines running out, of the areas developed. And a new problem for the mapmaker is the information needed in plotting airplane routes which often cross regions which have not been explored scientifically."

Dr. Bowie, who represented the National Geographic Society at the institute which was to formulate the survey program, has been in the field service of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey since 1895. There he has taken part in many of the surveys made in the United States which the Institute hopes to correlate with similar projects hitherto undertaken individually by the various republics of Central and South America.

Dr. Bowie's field work has carried him from the coasts of Prince William Sound, in Alaska, to the Philippines. He carried the first arc of triangulation across Porto Rico after the United States acquired the island. He has been chief of the division of Geodesy since 1909. Before the World war he was a member of the Permanent Commission of the International Geodetic association; since 1919 he has been the president of the Section of Geodesy of the International Geodetic and Geophysical Union.

He is chairman of the division of Surveying and Mapping of the American Society of Civil Engineers and for several years was chairman of the board of surveys and maps of the federal government. For seven years he had charge of the practical astronomy and geodetic courses at the Columbia university summer school and now is lecturer on geodesy and isostasy at Lehigh university. He is author of a book on Isostasy and has contributed many scientific papers on geodesy, surveying and mapping.

Stories That Recall Others

His Mistake

Last summer at the lake a young man while swimming spied a leech on one of the charming bathers and immediately told her about it, starting to pluck it off. His earnest efforts were halted by a cold look and the assertion, "Indeed; that's not a leech, it's a mole!"

Other Times, Other Manners

They were looking through an old book of snapshots, the mother and her two little girls, and they stopped at a picture of the mother, taken at the age of 16, in all the glory of long skirts, tight high collar and hard rolled pompadour hair.

The mother, tenderly reminiscent, looked at the picture with a fond smile for the girl she used to be, and waited with interest the comments of her small daughters.

Then up spoke Ann, the elder: "Gosh, mother, it's a wonder anybody married you!"

PLAN TO OPEN ALASKAN PARK TO PUBLIC IN 1932

WASHINGTON (AP) — So that American tourists soon will see the unique wealth of animal life and magnificent scenery in the Mount McKinley national park the department of the interior plans to speed its development.

By the end of 1931, a modern hotel will be erected on Copper mountain, 80 miles from the railroad and reached by a road now under construction.

Mount McKinley is the highest mountain in North America. It rises 20,300 feet above sea level. Great herds of wild animals roam through the park.

BACKUS HOSPITAL AUXILIARY

The quality of a city's hospital touches everyone. Who knows when, by some mischance either of illness or accident, his turn as a hospital patient may come? And what the hospital may be able to do for him becomes, then, a vital and immediate thing. It must have the best possible equipment in every department if it is to leave nothing undone for the patient's recovery. The Backus hospital, by great effort, is now listed as a Class A institution, meaning that it is equipped with modern apparatus and run in such a way that it meets the approval of experts. The Women's Auxiliary has had its share in this work and it is largely through the dollar membership dues that it has helped to make every part of the hospital more perfect. The X-ray room and its equipment, up-to-date fixtures for operating room, private rooms furnished, apparatus too numerous to mention, but necessary to carry on successful work, has been among their gifts. Also, this money carries on the quiet, systematic work of the different departments of the auxiliary which provide a humanizing touch that cannot be properly included in the maintenance costs but which is of real benefit to the patient.

Last year, by a canvas of the city, over 1300 dollar memberships were gained and more money was given voluntarily. This year, the auxiliary feels that its work is sympathetically enough known to do away with such methods and a letter, with a pledge and an enclosed envelope, has been sent out in great numbers. These went out yesterday and the first day's returns were gratifying. Everyone who received the letter is asked to make as speedy a response as is possible and if, by some inadvertance, there are those who failed to receive their letter, they are urged to send their dollar to Mrs. Walter F. Isesler, Laurel Hill avenue, and she will send them a receipt. A gift of $25 makes one a life member and is being held separately as a nurses' scholarship fund.

In the five and one-half years of its existence, the Women's Auxiliary has raised nearly $19,000 for the hospital. The hospital has many needs that the auxiliary are hoping to supply this comnig year. They need the dollar dues of a great many people, and hope that at least 2000 people in and around Norwich will feel that the work of the hospital is vital enough to the community's life to join the auxiliary this year.

The interest in the institution has grown the past year. If anyone has need of proof, they should visit the room given over to the production committee at the Central Baptist church each Thursday from ten to four. There, the women from the different churches meet — each church has two successive Thursdays —and make surgical dressings. This new departure of enlisting the church women has proved very successful. Since beginning work this fall, women from the following churches have met: Grace Episcopal, St. Andrew's the Jewish women, Sacred Heart church and Park Congregational church. They have made 3900 small wipes, 207 completes, 72 large pads, also 22 surgical pads have been sewed. Besides this, the Home Service society of the Taftville Congregational church has hemmed a whole roll, 60 yards, of toweling. These women plan to work each month for this department, of which Miss Mary Paddock is chairman and Mrs. Frederick Sayles is co-chairman. A motor corps, under the direction of Mrs. Albert Riese, has been formed to take the great bundles of stuff to the room and to carry the finished work back to the hospital each week.

Fifty years ago she was united in marriage with Louis Gero in Occum.

Mrs. Gero is survived by seven sons, Frank, Middy and David Gero of Montville, Adolphus, Joseph and Delore Gero of Taftville, and Israel Gero of Newark, N. J.; and by three daughters, Mrs. Nelson Church and Mrs. Charles Church of Montville, and Mrs. George Dayton of New London. Her husband died five years ago. She also leaves 52 grand children.

GAVE MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR MISS EUGENIE ROULEAU

Miss Eugénie Rouleau was tendered a surprise miscellaneous shower Friday evening by Miss Mary Osgood Casey at her home on Division street. The home was prettily decorated with pink chrysanthemums and ferns, while in the living room an umbrella covered in shell-pink rose petals hung suspended from the chandeliers in the center of the room with pink and white streamers showering from it with the attractive gifts done in pink and white tissue with ribbons tied to the streamers. After Miss Rouleau had opened her gifts two tables of bridge were enjoyed, first prize going to Miss Madeline Grodotske and second to Miss Elizabeth Barry while Miss Katherine MacCone took the consolation. Following cards, the guests assembled in the dining room where a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. James H. Casey. The table was most attractive in its decorations of blue larkspurs combined with pink poppies, while the favors were pink rose-bud baskets filled with tiny sweets and the unique place-cards announcing that Miss Rouleau would wed William Barry at St. Mary's church, November 11, Armistice day.

Speaker For College Convocation

The speaker at Connecticut college convocation next Tuesday will be Professor Robert Seymour Conway, an English scholar of international reputation. The subject of his lecture will be "The Philosophy of Virgil."

As the 2000th anniversary of Virgil occurs next year, the poet's readers and admirers all over the civilized worlds are now planning to do him honor in a festival of proportions hitherto unparalleled. Mr. Conway has been chosen by the American Classical league as one of the leading scholars of our time to lecture in the United States and Canada in connection with the Virgil bimillenium. It is due to the researches of Mr. Conway that the exact location of the birthplace of Virgil has been established.

Contact Club Speaker Schedule.

The speakers to be heard at the meetings of the Norwich Contact club in November have been announced as follows: Monday, Nov. 4, H. D. Larrabee, general manager of the Connecticut Power Co. of this city, formerly the Eastern Connecticut Power Co., topic, "The Story of Electric Lighting;" Nov. 11, L. M. Crandall, "Salesmanship;" Nov. 18, Joseph W. Veilington, "The Evolution of Heating;" Nov. 25, Arthur L. Peale, "Historic Connecticut."

Runaways From Mansfield

The Norwich police were notified Sunway to be on the lookout for two boys, 17 years old, who had run away from Mansfield Training school. They were believed to be headed towards New London. One boy comes from a Waterbury family and the other from Bridgeport. Each was reported to be 5 feet 7 inches tall.

FORMER TAFTVILLE BOY BESTS YALE SCHOLARSHIP RECORDS FOR ALL TIME

Outstanding scholarship attainments by a former Taftville boy, Saunders MacLane, a senior at Yale, are winning him highest honors, for he has made a scholastic record which is the highest ever achieved at Yale since its founding in 1701. In recognition of this he has been awarded a cup by the Montclair, N. J. Yale club.

MacLane, who is now 20, is the son of a former pastor of Taftville Congregational church, the late Rev. Donald B. MacLane, who was pastor in Taftville for several years after 1905. He was married while he was pastor there his wife being Winifred A. Saunders of New Haven, where the wedding took place, Oct. 28, 1903. Rev. Mr. MacLane died at Leominster, Mass., Feb. 19, 1922.

The young man plans to continue his studies after graduation and eventually to become a teacher of mathematics he announced Sunday in Montclair. Such is his present plan, although he said he may later change his mind and go into the research department of some great industrial organization like the General Electric company, in whose Schenectady laboratory he worked last summer vacation.

He will graduate from Yale in June and if his marks maintain the high level of his past three years, he will receive his degree summa cum laude, the highest distinction that the university can confer on a member of the graduating class. Subsequently he will enter a graduate school and work for a Ph. D. in mathematics, his favorite subject. MacLane is by no means the first of his family to achieve scholastic eminence. His grandfather, Dr. William Ward MacLane, took a Ph. D. at Yale. His mother's father and five of his uncles graduated from Yale with high marks and won numerous prizes and awards while in college.

The young scholar declared that he felt highly pleased and honored at being the first recipient of the Montclair club cup. He attributes the almost perfect scholastic average which he has maintained since high school days as much to an inherent flair for mathematics and the sciences as to particular diligence on his part.

He says that he has never been a "grind" and his appearance and the statements of his many undergraduate friends bear this out. What distinguishes MacLane from the ordinary undergraduate is that he looks upon his studies as a joy rather than a task. Where others rush out of town in their spare time, haunt movie theatres, or go in for athletics or managerial duties, MacLane prefers his mathematics, his physics, and his philosophy—subjects which, he says, are all basically similar. His interest in these subjects is indicated by the unusually heavy schedule which he is carrying now. He is already studying three graduate courses—complex variables, a division of higher mathematics; algebraic numbers, another division; and an introduction to theoretical physics. This course meets six times a week instead of the usual three. In addition, MacLane is studying the philosophy of religion.

These courses comprise his list of regular studies. Not content with these, he "sits in" on four more courses—group theory (mathematics); foundations of physics; international relations; and English. He does all the prescribed reading in these courses.

The young scholar lives in Yale's most famous dormitory, Harkness hall. His room, on the sixth floor, is in the shadow of the Tower. It looks like any undergraduate's room. Pennants and pictures decorate the walls. MacLane's desk, unlike that of the traditional scholar, has only a few books on it. He has never been a recluse and lived alone. His present room-mate is Donald D. Wright of New Haven, also a high scholarship man and a member of Phi Beta Kappa, of which MacLane is president.

MacLane, who is called by his friends "Mac" or "Sandy," does not look particularly like a scholar. He is of medium height, dark haired, and not particularly serious in expression. When possible, he goes to his home in Norwalk for week ends. He is an interested spectator at all of Yale's football games. He does not participate in athletics himself, not because he dislikes them, but, he says, because he has no aptitude for them.

He studies naturally, he says, and though the heavy schedule which he is carrying takes a good deal of time, he does not think that "the time he puts on his books is 'excessive'." He finds plenty of time to participate in "bull sessions" with his friends and to indulge in these endless undergraduate arguments.

The Montclair Yale cup for 1929 will be presented to MacLane at the annual party in Nick Roberts' Old Yale Barn at Montclair, N. J., on December 7. At the same time, the Montclair Yale Bowl will be presented to President Hutchins of the University of Chicago. This award is given each year to a Yale alumnus who has made his "Y" in life.

COMMUNITY SYNAGOGUE SERVICES TO CONTINUE

Last Friday evening at the Community house, the Community synagogue held religious services that were conducted by Rabbi Harry W. Katchen, of New York city, a recent graduate of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America and of New York university, in accordance with the conservative Jewish form of worship that were declared to be very inspiring. The congregation of over 100 Jewish residents of Norwich voiced its approval and after the services were over, it was unanimously voiced in an open forum to continue to have the services every Friday evening and Saturday morning. They will be held at the B'nai Brith home, which was offered free.

The Community synagogue was started about two months ago and has within this time grown to such an extent that the congregation is now planning to widen its scope of activities with the formation of a women's auxiliary next week and a young people's league and Sunday school soon. The synagogue now has a membership of over 50 towards its goal of 100. When this figure is reached, it was announced that the congregation will think of building its own synagogue.

The Friday services are held at 7:30 in the evening and the Saturday services at 8 in the morning, and are open to the public.

STRUCK BY TROLLEY; UNCONSCIOUS AT HOSPITAL

A man believed to be Albert Boucher of New London is in a serious condition at the W. W. Backus hospital, suffering from injuries about the head that were received when he was struck by a northbound trolley car at Uncasville early this (Monday) morning. He was rendered unconscious in the crash, which occurred about 12:15 o'clock. Up to 1 o'clock he had not regained consciousness and it could not be definitely established what his name was.

The hospital authorities were led to believe that he was Albert Boucher of New London by finding a card with that name and the address of a New London photographer's studio on his person. There is a possibility that the injured man may have had his picture taken at this studio and that he is not Albert Boucher.

RAID AT TAFTVILLE ON LIQUOR VIOLATION CHARGE

Declaring that a sale of liquor had been secured at a store, No. 164 Norwich avenue, Taftville, a raid was made there early Sunday evening by State Policemen Whitmarsh and Murphy, who arrested Anthony Falcone, 21, of 58 North Main street, on the charge of violation of the liquor law. He was locked up at police headquarters and later secured his release on bonds of $1,000.

The officers seized a quantity of alleged liquor, including eight pints of gin, five pints of moonshine, five quarts of whiskey and five cases of beer.

Upset On Curve At Flanders

A Cadillac phaeton, which was returning from Yale-Dartmouth game was upset on a curve at Flanders on the Boston post road, landing on its side with all four wheels in the air. So far as could be learned none of the four occupants of the machine suffered anything more than minor injuries. The machine had registration N-6723, which, according to the state motor vehicle department, is in the name of Harold Von Hasslacher of 42 Nathan Hale street, New London.

Pretty Halloween Party

A halloween party for Eileen Welsh was held Thursday evening at her home, No. 869 Boswell avenue, with the color scheme in the dining room in orange and black. There were favors for the 15 children present, who played games and came in pretty and horrible costumes. Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Welsh assisted by Mrs. M. J. Kirby and Mrs. M. Geary.

Dismissals At Backus Hospital

Patients dismissed over the week end at the Backus hospital were: Anthony Sadowski, Jewett City; Mrs. John Pillar, 416 Asylum street; Mrs. Lewis Button and infant son, Glasgo.

COLOSSAL WORK GIVEN TO YOUNG N. Y. ARCHITECTS

Friends of L. Andrew Reinhard, who married Ruth E. Rush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rush of 252 West Main street, have learned with great stisfaction that the architectural firm of Reinhard & Hofmeister of New York city has been selected to prepare plans for the development of the three city blocks leased by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., from Columbia university between 48th and 51st streets and Fifth and Sixth avenues. On this site Mr. Rockefeller plans to erect an ideal unit, with the Metropolitan Opera house as the possible center. It is a colossal enterprise that represents an outlay of more than $200,000,000 in real estate.

L. Andrew Reinhard, senior member of the architectural firm, is only 39; Henry Hofmeister, his partner, is only 38. Thus overnight, so to speak, they scale the highest pinnacle of professional fame, for rarely has so magnificent a building project been undertaken in this country. There was no advance competition. The young men were merely chosen upon information of their abilities that had impressed Rockefeller and his associates.

Several other prominent architects have been named as consultants to the firm which will make the plans.

GIVEN SURPRISE SHOWER WITH HALLOWEEN DECORATIONS

Miss Marion E. Larsen was tendered a surprise shower at the home of Miss Eleanore O'Neil Friday evening, the house being attractively decorated in Halloween colors. Games were played and music enjoyed, after which a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by Miss Eleanor Kaminski. Miss O'Neil received many pretty and useful gifts.

Among those present were Mrs. Charles Tatro, Mrs. Gordon MacLeod, Mrs. Alvin Barrows, Mrs. William Day, Mrs. Michael Murphy, Mrs. Edward Marjkle, Mrs. Joseph Gendron, Mrs. Timothy Murphy, Mrs. Ernest Bizelow, Mrs. P. J. O'Neil, Miss Julia Shea, Miss Eleanor Gadbois, Miss Katherine Johnson, Miss Eleanor Kaminski, Miss Eleanor O'Neil and Miss Geraldine O'Neil.

Miss Larsen is soon to be married to P. Witter O'Neil.

MOHEGAN HILL HOUSE BURNED TO THE GROUND

About 8 o'clock Sunday morning the frame dwelling house owned by John Nazaruk and located at the foot of Mohegan hill in the town of Montville was completely destroyed by fire. The loss is placed at $5,000 by the owner, who constructed the house himself and recently finished a paint job on it.

All the furniture in the house was saved by neighbors, who were attracted to the scene. It is believed that the blaze started near the chimney. The Yantic fire department was summoned, but did not respond as the building is located outside of the town limits.

PARKING SPACE KEPT FOR CHURCH ATTENDANTS

Members of the congregation at the Central Baptist church registered a vote of appreciation of the Norwich police officials Sunday night when the church members found that the curb parking space at the church was being reserved for those who were to attend the church service.

An officer stationed in Union square inquired of car owners who would park there whether they were going to church and if the answer was in the negative the driver was advised to seek some other parking space so that the curb spaces could be reserved for church attendants.

MADE SUPERINTENDENT OF BIG NEW HAVEN COMPANY

Richard W. Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Arnold, of 90 Cliff street, who has been with the Economy Concrete company of New Haven since 1925, has just been made superintendent of plant, a promotion that is a recognition of his record of valuable service for the concern. The company is the oldest and largest manufacturers of cast stone in the United States, doing a business of about three quarters of a million annually.

Mr. Arnold went with the company in 1925 and before the end of the year was put in as production manager, in which capacity he continued until the present advancement. He graduated at Carnegie Tech in 1921 and was with the Southern New England Telephone company in its engineering department for three years before going with the concrete company in New Haven.

GIVES DECISION IN MYSTIC PROPERTY CASE

Decision in a suit brough by Lucy Latham Boyles of Houston, Texas, against Marion G. White and Martha Van Wyck White of Mystic was handed down Friday by Judge Earnest C. Simpson of the superior court, deciding a question of where there might be the erection of building upon certain property in Mystic so as to comply with a certain agreement not to erect such a building so as to interfere with the view.

Mrs. Boyles sold property to one Adolph Triedler who sold to Marion G. White and the latter conveyed the property to the other defendant named in the suit.

In his memorandum of decision Judge Simpson says:

The judgment to be rendered in this case involves both questions of fact and of law.

The word "view" used in the covenant of the deed of the plaintiff to her original grantee is not otherwise defined than as "the view of the premises or building of this grantee," the "view" referred to, if the covenant is to be given any effect at all, must be construed as meaning a view from "the premises" or building" which the grantor was conveying to said Triedler. The parties, as I understand, are thus far in accord. The "view" not being otherwise described a subsequent purchaser of Triedler is put upon notice of what "view" must have reasonably been referred to upon an inspection of the "premises or building."

Upon such an inspection an intending purchaser would have discovered that from in front of the building conveyed to Triedler, the land sloped to the south over the land retained by the plaintiff and there was a beautiful view of Mystic river, Fishers island sound and Fishers Island beyond. He would have further discovered that this "view" was south and practically upon a line with the points of the compass as shown on the map, exhibit 2. He would also have discovered that this "view" was visible to a less degree as one approached the westerly boundary of the land conveyed.

He would have further discovered that the "view" from in front of the house which stood upon the land when conveyed by the plaintiff would not be materially obstructed by a building built upon the land retained by the plaintiff if built on a line 147 feet more or less from and parallel with Prospect street, which constituted the boundary line of both pieces of property on the east, and that such a building, if built by the plaintiff, might and probably would obstruct the view from a house built on the westerly portion of the land conveyed to Triedler particularly if the house was built on the westerly line of the land conveyed.

It is in view of the foregoing facts and circumstances that the deed of the plaintiff to Triedler must be construed. In this connection the court will call attention to the fact that the covenant as quoted in defendant' brief is slightly but nevertheless materially misquoted. In the original there is no period after the word "grantee" as used in said quotation. The original covenant is as follows "And the said grantor  doth hereby covenant  that the parcel of land lying south of and contiguous to the land conveyed by this deed  shall not nor shall any part of said parcel be built upon by any building whatever which may obstruct the view of the premises or building of this grantee and the said grantor hereby agrees that any building put on the above described land shall not be placed anywhere east of a line running two hundred and thirty (230) feet north and south, said line to be one hundred and forty-seven (147) feet, more or less, on a line with the westerly end of the house west of the Prospect street boundary of the property."

Construing this language according to its ordinary import it would seem without question that the plaintiff grantor covenanted and agreed that the parcel of land lying to the south of and contiguous to the land conveyed by the deed would not be built upon by any building whatever which would obstruct "the view of" (sic, from) "the premises or building of this grantee," and that in no event would a building be put on said land to the south closer to Prospect street than a line drawn 147 feet more or less from said Prospect street and parallel therewith.

With this construction in mind there remains for determination the meaning of the phrase," the view of the premises or building of this grantee." It is to be noted are not "of said premises, or building," nor "of the premises conveyed, or building." It would seem from the phraseology used in the covenant, and especially from the fact that the principal view from in front of the house which was located upon the land conveyed, that the words "premises or building" refer to one and the same thing and that is to the house which stood upon the land rather than that the word "premises" refers to the entire parcel of land conveyed. If the word "premises" refers to the entire parcel of land conveyed there would have been no occasion for referring to the building at all, because "the premises" would have included the building or house. In construing the covenant, however, the court cannot ignore the word "building." The court must construe the whole. It is not to be assumed that the word "building" was inserted in the covenant without some purpose. The only apparent reason in using the word "building" would be for the purpose of modifying or limiting the word "premises," a word of broader meaning or significance and the word "building" being a word of more limited application becomes the controlling word in the phrase.

The court is therefore of the opinion that the true intent and import of the covenant of the plaintiff in her deed to said Triedler to be that the parcel of land lying south of and contiguous to the land conveyed by her deed to said Triedler, shall not, nor shall any part of said parcel be built upon by any building whatever which may obstruct the view from the building on the land conveyed, and in no event shall any building be put upon the land lying south of the land conveyed, anywhere east of the line 139 feet west of and parallel with Prospect street, which line is found to be by actual measurement the line referred to in the covenant as being on a line with the westerly end of the house, west of the Prospect street boundary of the property and described as being 147 feet more or less, west of the Prospect street boundary, and, decree is entered accordingly.

Reckless Driving Charge

Guido Fallevi, 24, of this city, was booked at police headquarters Sunday evening on a charge of reckless driving. He was summoned into court by State Police Officer Johnson of the Groton barracks following an accident. Guido will be presented in the city court this (Monday) morning.

NEW STATE SEED LAW IN EFFECT

For the first time in the history of Connecticut, farmers and seedmen are being notified by the state department of agriculture that an agricultural seed law is now in effect. This new seed law authorizes the commissioner of agriculture to adopt necessary measures to uphold the purity and tagging requirements of all seeds sold in Connecticut.

Commissioner of Agriculture S. McLean Buckingham, in sending out the notices, urges Connecticut farmers to insure their crops by purchasing seeds that bear the required identification tag. The cooperation of the seedmen is sought in order that inspection and certification work may be carried on as rapidly as is consistent and that prosecutions for violations may be minimized.

To comply with the law, all seeds included in the act, sold, offered or exposed for sale shall have a label attached stating: Common name, per cent of purity, per cent of weed seeds, amount of noxious weed seeds per ounce, per cent of germination, date of test, name and address of seller. Mixtures and special seed mixtures require a label giving more complete information as to the contents of the package.

Vegetable and flower seeds are not included in the seed law. Among the seeds which come under this act and require that a label be affixed to the exterior of the package are: The seeds of Canada blue grass, Kentucky blue grass, brome grass, fescues, millets, tall meadow oat grass, orchard grass, red top, Italian rye grass, kaffir corn, perennial rye grass, sorrum, Sudan grass, timothy, alfalfa, alsike clover, crimson clover, red clover, sweet clover, white clover, Canada field peas, cowpeas, soy beans, vetches and other grasses and forage plants, buckwheat, flax, rape, barley, field corn, oats, rye, wheat and other cereals which are sold, offered or exposed for sale within this state for seeding purposes within this state.

Copies of the new seed law will be furnished interested parties upon application to the state department of agriculture at Hartford.

HENRY J. LAFONTAINE ACADEMY INSTRUCTOR

Norwich Free Academy publication, Red and White, says:

Henry J. LaFontaine, talented piano and singing instructor, has taken charge of the Norwich Free Academy class in music appreciation. The class held its opening session Thursday afternoon at Slater hall with a large number in attendance. Extra credit is given to students taking this course. This class is quite an attraction because of Mr. LaFontaine's music ability and popularity i this city. He succeeds Prof. M. R. St. John of Willimantic normal school, who successfully conducted the class last year. By the co-operation of the class and Norwich Music association, students will have the opportunity to hear many of the noted singers. Tuesday, Miss Grace Deems of New York, soprano, rendered a pleasing program.

FINED FOR RECKLESS DRIVING IN MONTVILLE

Myer Rose, of New Haven, charged with reckless driving, was presented in the Montville town court Friday night and fined $[illegible] and costs. Rose was arrested by State Officer McKenzie of the Groton barracks at Derry Hill on Oct. 26. He was alleged to have driven his machine at a rate of 65 miles an hour down the hill before his arrest.

Gave Halloween Masquerade.

A Halloween masquerade party was held Thursday evening at the home of Miss Elizabeth Lieberman, No. 56 Boswell avenue, by the Rubyseal Sewing circle. The house was attractively decorated and the evening was spent in games and other entertainment. The prizes in games were won by the Misses Anna Brooks, Anna Blanchette, Rosalie Terrington, Betty Buckley, Carolyn Hamill, Betty Bamber, Mary Finnegan, Ella Tedesco and Josephine Cirello.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Harold Lieberman, who was assisted by Mrs. Nellie Finnegan. Those present were Miss Anna Mae Blanchette, Rosalie Terrington, Anna Brooks, Betty Buckley, Carolyn Hamill, Betty Bamber, Mary Finnegan, Julia Finnegan, Ella Tedesco, Josephine Cirello and Elizabeth Lieberman.

SUN ROOM NEEDS WASHABLE AND FADELESS MATERIALS

Next to the breakfast room and kitchen the sun room needs washable and fadeless materials to be practical.

The streaming sunlight that enters all day will fade anything that cannot resist it, the constant washing that is necessary will wear out anything that is not made to wash easily. The many windows allow much more dirt to enter here than any other room in the house, and the constant use that is given this cheery place by all the family wears out all but the most serviceable materials.

For all these reasons it is wise therefore, to buy a good quality of wallpaper as your chief element of decoration, and after it is hung to varnish it. The colors in a good paper are able to withstand the sun and the varnished surface may be washed and washed without wearing down or peeling off.

The varnish, besides making the paper waterproof, makes it adhere much more firmly to the walls, and so withstands both heat and dampness.

Pleads Accident

Arguing over his wife's attendance at a dance caused the death of William C. Baldwin, 40, police of Oroville, Cal., declare, contending that his wife, Pearl, 30, shot him. Mrs. Baldwin, above, termed the killing accidental when first degree murder charges were placed against her. Baldwin is a son of Mayor W. T. Baldwin, of Oroville.

YALE'S WIN OVER DARTMOUTH IS BIG UPSET OF SATURDAY'S GAMES

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—(AP)—The smoke of the first desperate battles of November, the zero month of football hopes, drifted away from the eastern sector today, leaving shattered hopes, upsets, grand deeds, and thrilled multitudes dispersing in its wake.

For the first time in the season, the outlines of the 1929 sectional champion, and possibly the national king as well, loomed definitely through the mists and rains of one of the wildest days in gridiron history. Over all the rest stood the triumphant Panther of Pittsburgh, only contender in the east that took a major opponent on the traditional "first Saturday" and whipped it easily and well.

The undefeated Panthers, with fleet little Toby Uansa performing heroically behind a great line in the mud and rain at Pittsburgh, battered down the threat of Ohio State, 18 to 2, while two other sectional aspirants, Dartmouth and Yale, battled doggedly and brilliantly in the wet of the Yale Bowl.

And in the end, the foremost eastern struggle of the day, billed as a test of the individual might of Dartmouth's big Al Marsters and Yale's thrilling little Albie Booth, turned into a duel that brought tragedy and stardom for two substitutes.

In the closing minutes of play, with Dartmouth leading 12 to 10, the unfortunate Tommy Longnecker, filling in for Marsters, tossed a pass that never should have been chanced and "Hoot" Ellis, Yale substitute, tucked it away and raced 60 yards through the dusk for Eli's 16 to 12 victory. That play stole much of the spotlight from the earlier sensational work of the two stars, Marsters and Booth.

This defeat of Dartmouth's high riding Indians lifted Yale again to a commanding position in the east for the Eli's have bowed only to Georgia in the south in addition to beating the Army. Challenging Pittsburgh, too, is another unbeaten crew, the rejuvenated Red wave of Cornell, come back to the top after seasons of despair with a hard fought conquest of Columbia Saturday, 12 to 6. Cornell will be finally tested by Dartmouth later.

Eleven, with less pretentious schedules hold the fort just back of the leaders. Western Maryland, with six straight victories, walloped St. John's of Annapolis, 20 to 0, and a half dozen others, tied once, continued the triumphant march. Davis and Elkins and Duquesne won their games Friday but Boston college conquered Duke, 20 to 13, Villanover beat Ogelthorpe 17 to 7 and Haverford walloped Johns Hopkins, 32 to 8. Fordham, in the tied once class, rested.

Colgate, defeated only by Wisconsin in the "Big Ten," parade through minor opposition, downing Hampden-Sidney 60 to 0, while two of the foremost defenders of intersectional honors did only half a job. Harvard defeated Florida with some difficulty, 14 to 0, but Princeton fell down before the veteran Amos Alonzo Stagg's black clad warriors from Chicago, 15 to 7.

Bitter tussles that overthrew the experts saw Pennsylvania outlast Navy, 7 to 2, Georgetown beat New York university, 14 to 0, Penn State nosed out Syracuse, 6 to 4, and Brown pulled out a 15 to 14 win over Holy Cross. Army had an easy time with South Dakota, 38 to 6.

In the New England sector Bates defeated Bowdoin, 26 to 0, Amherst conquered Mass. Aggies, 13 to 0, Colby edged out Maine, 13 to 7, Connecticut Aggies plastered Vermont, 34 to 0, New Hampshire whipped Lowell Textile, 52 to 7, Tufts beat Boston U., 14 to 0, Wesleyan bested Trinity, 19 to 13, and Williams only could tie Union 7 to 7.

The turmoil in the Pennsylvania district gave Washington and Jefferson a clean-cut triumph over Lafayette, 20 to 0, Bucknell beat Temple, 13 to 9, Lehigh downed Muhlenberg, 28 to 7, Waynesburg bested Grove City, 13 to 7, Swarthmore defeated Delaware, 19 to 6, and Westminster shaded Bethany, 7 to 0. Carnegie Tech went to St. Louis to beat Washington, 19 to 0. Rutgers had no easy time with Ursinus, winning 19 to 13, but Niagara trounced Clarkson, 52 to 0.

BARTLETT TRIMS PUTNAM IN CLOSE ENCOUNTER

(Special to The Bulletin)

WEBSTER, Mass., Nov. 3—A record breaking crowd of football fans gathered at Mancrusty park Saturday afternoon to witness one of the most thrilling games played on the local gridiron in many weeks—namely the second seasonal clash of Coach James H. Finnegan's greenbacks of Bartlett high and the Putnam high eleven, in which the local aggregation by means of a last minute rally succeeded in clinching a 13-12 victory over Coach L. F. Noyes' charges.

The Finnegan rooters for the first time this season were forced to sit tight in their seats and hope that fate would protect their unmarred record. Putnam rolled up a 12 point lead during the first four minutes of play. Sabin, husky Putnam fullback scooped up a fumbled punt and skirted the Webster end clearing all obstructions and running 65 yards for the first touchdown.

The second series of scores were made when Holgerson, brilliant first year man of the Putnam aggregation recovered a fumble and on the first play broke through Bartlett's left side of the line, running 25 yards for the touchdown. In both instances forward passes by the Putnam team failed in the attempt to score the additional goal points.

Totally taken by surprise, Coach Finnegan quickly replaced his second team backfield with the regular quartet in hopes that the crashing Putnam eleven would be checked. Racicot, Webster star backfield performer was responsible for his team losing several opportunities to score when he fumbled the ball in four plays.

In the second quarter Holgerson, scooped up one of Racicot's fumbles and carried the ball to within thirty yards of the scoring stripe. In the following play Sabin tossed a long pass to King, Putnam end, who carried the ball to the two yard line. It was at this time that the Bartlett team succeeded in staving off Putnam's attempts to score.

There was no impressive work done by either side in the third quarter. During the final period of play Bartlett held Putnam in the center of the field, recovering the ball on the fifty yard line. Racicot received a lateral pass, which he hurled thirty yards to Sledzik, Webster quarterback, who crossed the scoring line for the first Webster touchdown. Crazen of Webster's backfield in an off tackle play scored the additional point that spelled defeat for the Noyesmen.

Captain Carpius Tourtellottee of the Putnam eleven entered into a controversy with the umpire disputing the Webster claims to the extra point. Tourtellotte was supported in his argument by scores of Webster and Putnam rooters who claimed that Crazen was several inches from the line when the play was stopped. The umpire's decision was upheld by the field judge and the point credited to the Webster score board.

The Putnam team, made only one replacement during the game and at the opening of the final quarter every player showed the strain under which they were acting. Fighting with every ounce of energy left in them the Noyesmen held the Bartlett chargers on the twenty yard line until a few minutes before the whistle, only to have a pass from Sabin to Holgerson intercepted by Racicot, who in a remarkable feat of broken field running cleared the Putnam line for the second touchdown, thus saving the day for the home team.

Until yesterday the Finnegan men had never been scored against. They are leading the Southern Massachusetts conference league by a margin of four games and are expected to clinch the championship.

The Putnam team on the other hand has experienced several setbacks this season, due mainly to the absence of able substitutes.

BILLY TIRRELL SCORES WINNING TOUCHDOWN

Norwich's four college varsity football warriors again held a place in the sun Saturday with Billy Tirrell and Pheno Tombari commanding especial mention. It was Tirrell who plunged over the line for the touchdown that beat Trinity for Wesleyan, 19 to 13, and it was Pheno Tombari's passing again that helped Connecticut Aggies in their 34 to 0 victory over Vermont. Jim Moore was at center for the Storrsmen and Harold Disco for Trinity opposed Billy Tirrell. Both played left halfback for their teams.

How can you pick winning football teams when the team you pick plays dumb football?

Here I go and pick Dartmouth to beat Yale. And when Dartmouth has Yale beaten 12 to 10 with less than five minutes to play somebody gets the far from brilliant idea of tossing a forward pass into the outstretched arms of a Yale man.

The result is a touchdown. All Dartmouth had to do was to work line plays in Yale's territory and then kick off side and the game would have been won. To pick 'em correctly you gotta know something of the mentality of the players on a team.

Well, it was a good game, worth going many miles to see. Plenty of action both on the field and in the stands. When there was nothing doing on the playing field there was always a good fight being pulled off in the stands.

I never saw such feeling manifested among the spectators before. All anyone had to do to start a fight was to tell a Yale man that Albie Booth was terrible or say to a Dartmouth man that Al Marsters ought to be playing with a grammar school outfit.

But comparing Booth and Marsters as football men there was little to choose from. Booth has caught the popular fancy by virtue of his size for the dear public always likes to see a little fellow outshine a big boy.

Booth in 24 times carrying the ball from scrimmage gained 138 yards while Marsters in carrying the ball 15 times gained 63 yards. This gives Booth an average of 4 yards and 2 and a fraction inches on each try, while Marsters average was 4 yards and 7 and a fraction inches.

Booth punted a trifle farther than Marsters but on the other hand Marsters threw passes farther and with more accuracy. Both are sweet football players and if Booth keeps on he will be as great a star as ever attended Yale.

Not only were the spirits of us Dartmouth rooters dampened by defeat but by the deluge of rain that hit the Bowl just as the game was ending. The fur coats sure caught plenty and business for the cleaners ought to be brisk today.

After the game we went to a popular inn on the Shore road and it looked like half of Norwich had picked the same place to celebrate or otherwise.

One Norwich party was having a little birthday celebration in honor of a popular Norwich doctor, Dave Sussler. The feature of the evening was the presentation of a birthday cake to Doc. And what a birthday cake it was, tastefully arranged by Kopple Markoff.

The lights were dimmed and the orchestra played "Happy Birthday" and in walks a waiter bearing the cake brilliantly decked out in candles. The cake was placed in front of the doctor, who was quite overcome when he found that the birthday cake was a loaf of bread. Happy days, Doc.

A nice time was had by all, only for some it was nicer.

3 FOOTBALL SESSIONS ON SATURDAY'S PROGRAM

Three major intercollegiate football games will be described over large chain hook-ups Saturday.

William C. ("Bill") Munday Jr. will describe the Harvard-University of Michigan game over an N. B. C. hook-up headed by WJZ at 2:15 o'clock. The game will take place at Ann Arbor. An additional N. B. C. hook-up, "keyed" by WEAF, will convey Graham McNamee's account of the Army-University of Illinois clash at Champaign, Ill., beginning at 2:45 o'clock.

The Columbia Broadcasting System, WABC in New York, will feature Edward B. ("Ted") Husing's verbal report of the Northwestern-Ohio State gridiron combat at Columbus. The broadcast will start at 3 p. m.

YALE SUFFERS ONLY ONE INJURY IN GAME

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 3—(AP)—With the exception of Linehan, substitute guard, who was carried off the field on a stretcher, the members of the Yale varsity squad emerged out of the Dartmouth game Saturday with nothing more serious than a few bruises. Linehan, it was announced tonight, tore a ligament in his leg and will be lost to the squad for at least three weeks.

Head Coach Mal Stevens said tonight that the squad will be given a day off tomorrow and that preparations for Saturday's game with Maryland would be started Tuesday.

SPOTLIGHT OF FISTIANA SETTLES ON NEW YORK RINGS THIS WEEK

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Despite the appearance in the middle west of two world's champions, Jackie Fields and Sammy Mandell, the static spotlight this week will center on New York where a flyweight tournament designed to bring about the crowning of a generally recognized champion will begin at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Eight 112-pounders, one of them from France, will participate in the tournament with the winners of the four ten round bouts on tomorrow's card meeting in the semi-finals. The two survivors of that round will clash over the 15-round route in the finals.

Chief attention has been directed toward Eugene Huat, of France, European title-holder, who meets Izay Schwartz, of New York in the windup. Midget Wolgast, of Philadelphia, battles Johnny McCoy of Buffalo; William Davies, clever Charleroi, Pa., midget, takes on an old foe in Black Bill of Cuba; and Ruby Bradley, Holyoke Negro, clashes with Ernie Peters, of England.

Huat and Davies are favored by most experts to reach the final round with the Frenchman expected to take the title, now lacking any generally recognized holder.

Out in Chicago tomorrow night, Mandell, the lightweight champion, meets Jimmy McLarnin, Los Angeles slugger, in a ten round bout at 145. Mandell gave McLarnin a boxing lesson when Jimmy sought to relieve the champion of his laurels at New York last year but he might find the coast lad harder to beat at the heavier weight. Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, meets Charlie Smith of England in the second ten on the same card.

Fields, the welterweight champion, takes on Dummy Mahan, tough deaf mute boxer from the Pacific coast in a ten rounder at Kansas City tomorrow night.

Another all-star card will attract fans to the Philadelphia arena tomorrow. Sammy Baker, erstwhile welterweight contender, meets Young Ketchell of Chester; Leo Dundee, former 147-pound champion, takes on Billy Angelo of Leiperville, Pa., and Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle, N. Y., Negro lightweight faces Pinkey Kauffman of Hartford, Conn., in the three main ten round bouts.

George Godfrey, the Negro heavyweight menace from Leiperville, Pa., returns to the ring at Boston Thursday night in a ten rounder with Jimmy Byrne, of Boston. Another Negro star, Kid Chocolate, Cuban featherweight sensation, returns to the ring wars in a ten rounder with Johnny Erickson of New York at the Olympia A. C., New York, Saturday night.

Other bouts on the national schedule:

Monday at San Francisco, Joe Glick, Brooklyn, vs. Frankie Stetson, lightweights, ten rounds; at Chicago, stadium, Harry Dublinsky, Chicago, vs. Tony Caragliano, New York, lightweights, six rounds.

Tuesday —At Los Angeles, Ward Sparks, Detroit, vs. Ignacio Fernandez Philippines, featherweights, ten rounds.

Wednesday—At Cincinnati, Steve Smith, Bridgeport, Conn., vs. Freddie Miller, Cincinnati, featherweights, ten rounds.

Friday—At Cleveland, Armand Emanuel, San Francisco, vs., Rosy Rosales, Mexico. Ted Sandwina, Sioux City, Ia., vs. Big Boy Peterson, Minneapolis, and Tom Kirby, Boston, vs. Emmett Rocco, Elwood City, Pa., all heavyweights, each ten rounds.

STAMFORD'S WIN FEATURE OF STATE HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL

The big event in state high school football over the week end was Stamford's 13 to 0 victory over New Britain Saturday at New Britain, which practically eliminated the Hardware City eleven from the state title chase. New Britain was undefeated until this ame although tied by the Academy. Stamford, by winning, kept in the front running for the championship. Naugatuck plastered a 34 to 0 defeat on Wilby and also remained as a contender. West Haven is still another team that has a chance for the mythical award, this team shading Fairfield Saturday to remain unbeaten.

In the Hartford sector Weaver sprung a surprise and held Bulkeley tie to a scoreless tie, while Hartford high trimmed Bulkeley of New London, 20 to 6. Bristol beat Meriden, 7 to 0, in a Central Conn. league game, the championship of which was won Friday by East Hartford.

Stonington beat Chapman Tech, 9 to 0 and took undisputed possession of third place in the Eastern Connecticut conference. Westerly leads with Windham in second position.

Evening Game at Providence

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 3—(AP)—Postponement of the Steam Roller-Chicago Cardinal pro football game here today because of rain will bring what is believed to be the first night professional contest in the country next Wednesday night, when the two teams meet at 7:30 o'clock at Kinsley park.

MARSTERS STILL HOLDS LEAD IN EASTERN SCORING

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—(AP)—Although Al Marsters added only six points to his record yesterday as Yale turned back the Big Green team by 16 to 12, the Dartmouth flash remained comfortably ahead of his field in individual scoring. This one touchdown ran Marsters's record to 108 points, 45 more than his nearest competitor.

Morris of Haverford scored three touchdowns and an extra point against Johns Hopkins and assumed second place in the race with 65 points. Hinkle of Bucknell contributed two touchdowns to his team's assault upon Temple, moving into third place with 60 points. Ringle of Gallaudet, who set a season's record by scoring 59 points against Shenandoah last week, failed to add to his total yesterday, and found himself tied for fourth place with Davidowitz of Lehigh, who got nine points against Muhlenberg.

Albie Booth, Yale's miniature bulldog, added four points to his total with a field goal and a point-after-touchdown against Dartmouth, both by drop-kick. Booth's field goal was the first of the season for any of the leading scorers. M. Glenn of West Virginia, near the foot of the list with only 29 points leads with two field goals.

PITTSBURGH OUTSTANDING TEAM AMONG LARGER COLLEGES

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—(AP)—The plunge of Dartmouth from the ranks of the undefeated in that breath-taking 16 to 12 game in the Yale bowl leaves Pittsburgh all but alone in the vanguard of eastern football teams tonight. The Panthers run their string to six straight victories by trouncing Ohio state by 18 to 2 in the Pittsburgh stadium yesterday.

Little Western Maryland, coached by Dick Harlow, matched Pittsburgh's record, so far as mere figures are concerned, by turning back St. John's of Annapolis for its sixth successive victory, but Western Maryland will have nothing to dispute with Pittsburgh even if both should finish undefeated and united, which now seems likely.

Cornell held on to its place a step back of Pittsburgh by rallying against Columbia to win by 12 to 6. That gave the Big Red team five straight triumphs with Dartmouth and Pennsylvania yet to be encountered.

Although dropped from the championship flight by Yale in the New Haven spectacle, Dartmouth retained the lead in team scoring, extending its mark to 268, Syracuse with 238 points, Colgate with 229 points and Pittsburgh with 202 are the only other eastern elevens in the double-century class. No team has an uncrossed goal-line, and two elevens are above the 200-mark in opponents' scores. These are Vermont with 254 points and Hobart with 264.

MANDELL TO GIVE AWAY WEIGHT TO MCLARNIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 3—(AP)—Sammy Mandell, ruler of the world's lightweights, will bite into a task not often accomplished—that of going out of his class to meet a ranking representative in the division above—tomorrow night when he tackles Jimmy McLarnin at the Chicago stadium.

Mandell gave McLarnin a fancy beating a year ago last summer when the baby face from the coast attempted to lift the lightweight title, but McLarnin has contended he suffered from making the weight and keeping it through postponements. Mandell is letting McLarnin come in at 145 pounds, his natural weight, and the added poundage may be just what McLarnin needs to hammer his way through to his famous knockout punch.

Mandell, the master boxer, has his eye on the welterweight championship and is confident that the quickest way to a bout with Jackie Fields is to remove McLarnin, ranked as the most serious contender for the title.

Paddy Harmon has indicated that a title bout with Jackie Fields in the stadium early next year will be the reward for the winner of tomorrow night's ten round bout. Mandell probably will weigh 13 pounds with McLarnin seven pounds heavier.

Theatre Match Tonight

There will be a bowling match this evening at the Aetna Bowling alleys between the employes of the Palace theatre and those of the Broadway theatre. The match will be rolled at 11 o'clock after the theatre and there is keen rivalry between the houses.

WAILS of anguish heard in doleful time from football fields all over the country indicate acute sorrow at penalties nullifying long runs, in some cases touchdowns.

The rules are in the book to be rigidly enforced and officials worthy of the name call them as they see them, making the way of transgressor hard but just.

Violations of the rules of football are comparable to "cutting" a base in baseball. A wise manager told the baseball players under his direction that he would not countenance any man failing to touch a base.

"The bases are there to be touched," he told them. "You know it, the umpires know it and if you miss one, the chances are 100 to one, they will see it. I can forgive a runner getting off base. He is trying to get a lead, a commendable effort, if he succeeds he can make a steal, or go an extra base on a hit, but there is no excuse for cutting a base. You are licked before you start. Touch all the bases."

So is a football player running into almost certain disaster when he charges offside, holds, knocks down a kicker, or violates any one of the hundreds of rules in the book.

Sometimes a penalty is inflicted on a play when the result would not have been changed by the violation, but there are exceptions. A well known official said that three times last season he called holding when runs to touchdown had been made. In each case, he said, the runs were made possible by the offending player holding a member of the opposition who almost certainly would have stopped the runner with slight gain or none at all.

MIAMI is getting all dressed up for a boxing bout next February although no boxers seem immediately available for occupancy of the center of the ring. Stories from the Florida playground tell of great energy being expended by representatives of Madison Square Garden in building an arena that will seat thousands of customers—if some pair can be found to furnish the entertainment.

Jack Sharkey is in line for one nomination but the Floridians frankly say they have no idea who will glare from the opposite corner. In that respect the home folk have no advantage over the prospective customers in other parts of the country—or for that matter the Madison Square Garden executives in New York. They do not know either.

The question may not be settled this year.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team will practice tonight. Any member of the local "Y" is eligible to try for the team. There has been an average of 20 players reporting for practice for the past two weeks. Come out.

The Senior Leader Corps will hold its monthly business meeting Tuesday at 6:45. A supper will be served with the meeting held right after.

The Corps is doing fine work in leading groups on the gym floor and is now preparing for several exhibitions to be put on throughout the winter.

The volleyball team will practice Friday at 5:30. Last year we started late in forming a team. We hope to get started earlier this year and to have more associations on our schedule.

Business men's class 6:15 on Monday and Thursday. Beginning tonight, the first 15 minutes will be taken up with a snappy calisthenic health drill. Sharply at 6:30, volleyball will begin.

There will be four teams and every member is on some team. This league will run for two months, then new captains will be chosen and teams chosen over for the succeeding two months.

The water in the pool is 76 degrees.

There will be a meeting of the Church league tonight at 7:30. All the churches in Norwich and vicinity which wish to have a team in the league this year should have a representative at this meeting. The meeting will be held at the physical director's office. A cordial invitation to all churches in and around Norwich to enter this league.

Last year six teams finished a schedule of two rounds. The Gamma club of the Greek Orthodox church won the championship and was presented with a handsome cup by the league.

SHYMA CLUB TO HOLD AN ATHLETIC EXHIBITION

Tuesday evening at Parish hall the Shyma club of Taftville puts on a real hang up good athletic show. For the main attraction they have signed up Connecticut's strong man who will do his stunts of weight lifting etc. Besides this there will be a number of boxing bouts in which Al Beauregard will take on either Rene Peloquin of Danielson or Johnny Doak of Norwich. Pete Gouin of the Military boxing team will put on the gloves with Al Gauvin of Taftville in another exhibition. Chip Duran Jr. will give an exhibition of clog dancing. This will be followed by Saxon and Horton in an acrobatic act. The real banner bout of the evening is held for the last and will be between Speed Taftville, the pride of the village, and Kid Smoke, the Hill section slugger. There will be an orchestra to furnish music.

LONDON TRIES FLEET OF TIPLESS TAXICABS

LONDON (AP)—Tipless dry taxicabs are being introduced in London, where the problem of how much to tip a driver is as acute as anywhere else.

If the experimental fleet of 50 cabs proves popular the number will be increased.

Unlike many of the 20-year-old taxis still rambling around the metropolis with leaky radiators, the new cabs are powered with air-cooled engines and therefore are perfectly dry.

To make them perfectly tipless the company trains its new drivers carefully in the art of refusing gratuities even on foggy nights, and hangs a notice in each cab asking passengers to take all the change that is coming to them.

TWO MEN DROWNED IN PLANE ACCIDENT

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Nov. 1.—(AP)—While Lieutenant James Flannery, Brooks field aviator, swam a quarter of a mile to shore to seek aid, his two companions, Clifford West, 27, advertising manager for La Prensa, Mexican daily newspaper, and J. C. Brim, wholesale grocery salesman, both of San Antonio, drowned Saturday night, it was learned here today. The three had come to Rockport, 25 miles from Corpus Christi, for a week-end fishing and hunting trip.

MAN KILLED, SHERIFF WOUNDED IN RAID

WHITESBORO, Ky., Nov. 1.—(AP)—One man was killed and a deputy sheriff wounded when a liquor raiding party visited a farm near here today.

Prohibition Officer Creech and Deputy Sheriff Stephen J. Cornett were making a series of raids and had gone to the home of Tom Morton to arrest him when Ashland Collins, a neighbor, entered the argument. The officers said Collins pulled a gun and shot the deputy sheriff, whereupon the deputy sheriff shot Collins, who died almost instantly. Cornett was taken to the hospital in a serious condition.

MAN SUICIDES IN BALCONY OF THEATRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A subway switchman said by relatives to have brooded over the sight of a man killed under a train several weeks ago, shot and fatally wounded himself today as he sat in the balcony of a theatre.

The switchman, Patrick Carolan, 35, was taken to Knickerbocker hospital, was charged with violating the Sullivan anti-firearms law. He died a few hours after admission to the hospital.

ALLEGED HEAD OF CATTLE RUSTLERS' BAND KILLED

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Guillermo Gomez, alleged head of a band of cattle rustlers which had been raiding American-owned ranches in the state of Nuevo Leon, was killed by federal troops set on the band's trail by orders of President Portes Gil.

COLLEGE STUDENT SHOT AND KILLED HIMSELF

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 1.—(AP)—William B. Rogers, of Trenton, 22-year-old student in the University of Missouri and former student at Colorado college, died in a hospital here early today of a self-inflicted pistol wound.

Youngest Air Student

So far as records show, Lawrence Eck, 12, of San Diego, Cal., is the youngest aviation student in the United States. He is learning ground flying since governmental regulations prevent anyone under 16 years of age from piloting an airplane.

ACADEMY MAKES POOR SHOWING IN LOSING TO WINDHAM HIGH ELEVEN

Scoring punch is something that the Academy's football team doesn't possess this year and Saturday afternoon at the campus it lost them another game, their fourth of the season, to Windham high by a 6 to 0 score. The local boys were presented many opportunities by Old Lady Luck to snatch the bacon but flubbed them and consequently, they still have won only one game.

The breaks were with the Academy all afternoon. In the first period the Wildcats marched to the 10 yard line and in four downs they made only five yards. Soon after, Wojtasiak recovered a fumbled punt on the seven yard line and again, the Red and White could not put over the touchdown, losing the ball with only inches to go. They were other times all through the game when a march would start for the Windham goal only to have it stopped short after two or three first downs.

Windham scored on the third play of the last quarter when A. Miseveth, the tall right end, took a short pass from Meikle, over the line. Windham had received the kickoff at the start of the second half and after an exchange of punts, used up the remainder of the third quarter to come from their own 31 yard line to the Academy six yard stripe as the period ended. Three plays and it was over when the teams changed goals. Windham mixed its plays up in good fashion in working down the field and they were also aided by some slipshod tackling by the Academy.

The first half was slightly in the Academy's favor. In the first quarter play was almost entirely in Windham's territory with Windham on the defensive most of the time.

The feature play of the afternoon was pulled off in the last scrimmage of the second quarter when Captain Artie Mejkle of Windham raced from an off-tackle thrust for about 55 yards, after he was seemingly tackled a [illegible] The play [illegible] Barber, the Academy safety man, but in doing so, stumbled and Cotter, halfback, landed on him as the whistle blew. Meikle's play in the first half was spectacular while Chase and A. Miseveth also played well for the winners.

Once again Frank Barber was among the Academy stars and Hertz, at tackle and two new backs, Golombeskie and Cotter, did the heavy work for the locals. Coach Whitney used Brewer at quarter, Cotter and Barber and Golembeski in the backfield Saturday and they worked in better fashion than anything he has tried this year.

The Academy has now lost four, tied one and won one game with three more to go. West Hartford here Saturday and Stonington and Bulkeley away on the next two successive Saturdays.

WESTERLY

BUMPING CAR PUSHES TELEPHONE POLE THREE FEET

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Nov. 3.—Robert E. Burnett, son of Robert Burnett, general manager of the South County Public Service Co., of 55 Granite street, was driver of a Hudson auto Sunday at 1 p. m., which skidded at the junction of Elm and Crescent streets and crashed into a telephone pole. The base of the pole, on which was an electric light, was pushed back about three feet. The only damage to the car was a broken bumper. A number of children in the auto returning home from Sunday school were uninjured. The car, in making the turn, was reported as proceeding very slowly but the wet surface of the road caused the machine to skid.

An emergency crew from the Westerly Automatic Telephone Co. was called to reset the pole and to put in operation the telephone service which had been disrupted when the pole was moved. Patrolman Robert M. Kessel investigated the accident.

ROUGH-HOUSE AT DANCE IN PAWCATUCK HALL

Saturday night and early Sunday morning, at a private dance held in the hall at 6 Mechanic street, Pawcatuck, there were reels and dips not timed to music and blood flowed freely from cracked and cut heads. Clothing was also torn from the bodies of men and women present at the affair. Officer Adin R. Sheldon, of Pawcatuck, was attracted by cries of "Help!" "Murder!" which floated on the damp night air from the second-story windows. Rushing up the stairs, the police officer found 30 men milling and fighting about the hall. There was broken glass in plenty and blood flowed from cuts and blows. A number left the hall or were carried out with clothing torn in shreds. The cause was reported too rich a mixture of O-Be-Joyful gin and ginks. When a semblance of order was restored in the hall, Officer Sheldon went out on Mechanic street, where fights were going on. He arrested Philip Higgins and James McCormick, of Stonington borough, and Theodore Dayon, of Pawcatuck, and took them to the Liberty street lock-up, where they made a break for liberty. With the assistance of Constable A. D. Hill, the men were located in the business section of Pawcatuck and taken back to the lock-up. Sunday, a friend came from Stonington and furnished bail in the sum of $25 each for the Stonington town court appearance of the Stonington men to answer to charges of breach of the peace. Arthur P. Babcock, the chairman of the board of selectmen of Pawcatuck, is looking into the matter. The hall is under lease to the C. B. Cottrell Athletic club but had been sub-let for the evening.

Great Swamp Land Sold

Nov. 1. Alexander C. Thompson sold to Charles H. Crandall, a fifth tract of seven acres in Great Swamp, bounded northerly by land of Peter Stato and adjoining lands of Joseph Pendleton, William Chapman, Jr., and the lands now or formerly of Thomas Brand.

Nov. 1. Carl T. Palsen of New York to Mabel Ellsworth Todd of New York, lots Nos. 25, 26, 27, 28, 65, 66, 67 and 68, Section 7, Shelter Harbor.

PRONOUNCED DRUNK, BUT DRIVER APPEALS

Albert Fraser, of 127 Tower street, was the operator of a Packard car which in making the turn from Cross to Elm street, late Friday night, capsized on the sidewalk in front of the property of Mrs. Lavania D. Hoxie, 41 Elm street, where a section of the stone wall was pushed in. The driver and other occupants of the auto were uninjured. Patrolman Paul McCarthy investigated and brought the driver before Medical Examiner Dr. Michael H. Scanlon, who pronounced him to be under the influence of liquor. He was arraigned in a special session of Third district court, before Judge Oliver H. Williams, charged with driving an auto while under the influence of liquor. A plea of not guilty was entered. The case was continued until a week from Friday.

MATTER OF SEWER SERVICE TO COME UP AT MEETING

This (Monday) morning at the regular November session of the town council, when numerous matters will come before the council fathers for action, as Clerk John J. Dunn of the First Westerly voting district will be unable to be in Westerly on town election day, Tuesday, the council will be asked to fill the vacancy. Superintendent Arthur H. Coy, of Westerly water works and sewage departments, at a previous meeting asked for an extension of time to complete his survey of buildings not connected at present with the sewer main drains. It is expected at this council meeting that a recommendation that Westerly homes and public buildings not connected to the town sewer system be ordered to do so will be handed to the town council by the board of water commissioners. The recommendation will suggest that a blanket order be issued rather than individual notices. A time limit will probably be set, making failure to comply with the order punishable by law. About 146 buildings within the Westerly sewer district are not connected with the sewer system. Practically all of these maintain cesspools. A limited number have outbuildings.

Vermont Driver Fined

Saturday, David C. Deland, of Middlebury, Vt., pleaded guilty before Judge Oliver H. Williams at a special session of Third district court, to operating an automobile without a license and was fined $25 and costs. Troopers of the Hope Valley state police barracks presented him. In court, Deland admitted lacking a license and said he failed to stop at the police signal because of that fact.

EDWARD H. LIHME'S CAR KILLS NEW JERSEY GIRL

The family of C. Bai Lihme, formerly of Chicago, now of New York, whose summer home is Norman Hall on the East Beach, Watch Hill, continue to be involved in automobile accidents. Saturday night, Edward Hetler Lihme, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lihme, was operator of an automobile which struck and killed a 15-year-old girl and seriously injured a 16-year-old boy in Jersey City, N. J., at the exit of the Holland tunnel. Police unofficially have absolved him of all blame for the accident, but he is held for a time on a charge of manslaughter. The young man lives with his parents at 950 Fifth avenue, New York. Harold Lihme, elder brother of Edward, has figured for more than four years as defendant in a $50,000 damage suit growing out of an automobile accident at Westerly in September, 1924. Edwin D. Vennard, a former coast guardsman, filed suit against Lihme in August, 1925, to recover for injuries received when hit by Lihme's car. At the first trial a jury awarded $13,000 to the plaintiff, but a new trial was granted. Since that time a number of postponements have been granted. Edward Lihme's elder sister, Anita, was married three years ago to Prince Edward Lobkovics at a fashionable ceremony at Watch Hill.

FUNERAL

Mrs. Louis W. Arnold

The funeral of Mary E. Chapman, widow of Senator Louis W. Arnold, was held at her home, 7 Maple street, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The service was read by Rev. G. Edgar Tobin, rector of Christ Episcopal church, Westerly, and Rev. William F. Williams, of Stonington, rector of Calvary Episcopal church and former pastor of the Westerly church. The bearers were Dr. C. Grant Savage, Senator Howard E. Thorp, Rogers E. Trainer, Col. Everett E. Whipple, Harry R. Milner and Arthur H. Coy. Burial was in River Bend cemetery.

Charles Dolan, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dolan, of Granite street, who was struck by an automobile on Granite street Friday afternoon, as he was about to get into another machine, was not so seriously injured as at first believed. He will be able to return to school today (Monday). The Dolan boy was hit by a machine operated by A. T. Snooks, of the Beacon Oil Co., New London. He sustained bruises about the head and right leg.

Guy B. Page, engineer on the steam rollers of the Westerly highway department, underwent a successful major operation at Westerly hospital Saturday morning.

Mrs. Hattie Crandall and her son, Lyman Hall, of Avondale, are on a vacation motor tour through Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Selden M. Young have been guests of their daughter at Buttonwood, R. I., during the week.

The S. D. B. society of Pawcatuck Seventh-day Baptist church, Miss Rachel E. Barber, president, held its annual thank offering meeting Sunday evening at the home of Miss H. Louise Ayers, on Maple avenue. Supper was served at 6 o'clock in charge of a committee, Miss Ayers and Mrs. Bessie B. Clark. Mrs. Helen Greene was chairman of the program committee.

Mrs. Julia G. Davis and Mrs. Ada G. Burdick, of Brookline, Mass., are visiting Mrs. William Scott, in Pawcatuck.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac G. Smith and sons, Isaac, Jr., and Gordon, were week-end guests of friends at Warwick Neck.

Prof. and Mrs. C. L. Bristol will leave Tuesday to pass the winter at University Heights, N. Y., after spending the season at their summer home at Avondale.

Cyril Kenyon and Donald Whitford, of Schenectady, N. Y., were week-end motor guests with their parents in Westerly.

James Hemphill, of Pawcatuck, was among the fans who attended the Yale-Dartmouth game in New Haven Saturday.

William J. Phettyplace, of Pawcatuck, was able to be out Saturday for the first time after being confined to his home by illness.

Mrs. Mary Lamson Berthoud was the week-end guest of Mrs. C. Grant Savage.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis H. Alger have returned home, after visiting their son and his family in Pittsburgh.

MYSTIC

GRANGE FAIR CLOSES AFTER SUCCESSFUL RUN

The Grange fair given for three nights, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week, was a great success. The opening night, a chicken pie supper was served, and over $100 was netted. Mrs. Joseph Desley was chairman of the supper committee, assisted by Mrs. Paul Massey, Mrs. Joseph Austin, Mrs. John Meyer, Mrs. Perry Eldredge, Mrs. David Brown, Mrs. Thomas Pollard, Mrs. Carr's Denison, Mrs. William Main, Miss Carrie Chapman, Jesse Stinson and David Brown. Mrs. Walter C. Morgan was in charge of the dining room. Thursday evening, the play "Polly Wants a Cracker," in charge of Miss Hazel Main and Mrs. J. F. Meyer, was a success, over $100 being cleared from this. Compliments were heard on all sides for those taking part. The cast was: Jeffry Wayne, a nervous wreck, Albert Neff, Jr.; Thomas Livingston Pratt, a college boy, James Main; Inspector Dolan, an energetic young man, Chester Gremley; Marian Pratt Wayne, a beautiful woman of 40, Marie Croucher; Mary Wayne, a student from a private school, Elizabeth Gremley; Lucerne Neville, an actress, Dolores Brown; Nora, the housekeeper, Mrs. Lucy Burdick. Several members from other granges were present Thursday evening. On Friday evening the hope chest was awarded, going to Mrs. Martin Hansen, of Broadway. The quilt and centerpiece went to Mr. and Mrs. Clinton LaFerier, of Jackson avenue. Albert Neff, Jr., was chairman of the fair and carried it on in a very efficient way. Harry O. Williams loaned the grange chairs for the three evenings. Dancing was a feature each evening.

Mystic League of Women Voters is planning to hold a whist at the Country club. The committee in charge is Miss Karlska Gates, Miss Annie Greenman, Mrs. Lloyd Moore, Mrs. C. C. Cutler, Mrs. William Donsbach, Mrs. Conrad Kretzer, Mrs. J. C. Crandall, Mrs. Leonard Hermes and Mrs. Fred Godfrey.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Gerda L. Chapman

Funeral services for Mrs. Gerda L. Chapman, of Mystic, were held in the chapel at Elm Grove cemetery, here, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Ernest P. S. Spencer, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, read the service. Mrs. Chapman was well known throughout Connecticut and New York as an organizer of Near East Relief and similar drives. She came to Mystic from New York about two years ago, and has traveled back and forth between the places since. She had left Mystic only two weeks ago for New York. She was fatally injured Thursday morning at Greenwich Village, New York city, when struck by an automobile truck. The driver is being held for a hearing.

Arthur H. Brown

Funeral services for Arthur H. Brown, 76, were held in the chapel at Elm Grove cemetery, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the service being read by Rev. E. P. S. Spencer, rector of St. Mark's. The bearers were Charles W. Foote, Percy H. Morgan, George B. Greenman, Gurdon Gates, S. S. Brown, MacKenzie and George D. Johnson. There was a large number of friends present and beautiful flowers. Mr. Brown lived alone in the downstairs apartment of his home on Church street, and upon the people living upstairs, not having seen him for several days, investigating, they found him dead in bed, having presumably died in convulsions. A letter had been written to some friends in Norwich, saying that he expected to visit them soon, and this letter was on the table. Mr. Brown was a painter and paper hanger by trade. He was well liked by all who knew him. His parents were Pardon Brown and Eunice Brown. He is survived by a brother, Alexander Brown, of Spokane, Wash., who arrived in town the middle of last week.

Mrs. Hugh Walker and small daughter, of Hartford, are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Herbert Davis.

Mrs. Ferguson Hennie, of Groton, has been a caller on her sister, Mrs. Jane Woodbury, in Mystic.

The Cider Mill Farm bureau group met during the week with Mrs. Ray P. Colver, of Old Mystic, and received instructions on the making of sheepskin moccasins, Mrs. Colver and Mrs. William Loftus acting as instructors. Eight pair were partly completed and material for 25 pair was ordered. Several from here attended. The lunch consisted of fruit salad, sandwiches, cookies, cake and tea.

The Sunday school pupils of St. Patrick's church had a Halloween social in Columbus hall, Friday evening. Games were played and the evening was enjoyed by all.

John Fribance, first selectman of the town of Stonington, was in Stonington Friday evening, where he addressed the meeting of the Stonington branch of the Connecticut League of Women Voters, held in the library, explaining Stonington town government.

Word has been received in the village of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wagner, of Philadelphia. Mrs. Wagner was a former resident of Mystic, and is a frequent visitor here.

Mrs. William Hickson and daughter, Miss Catherine Hickson, were in Westerly Saturday.

Many cars passed through the village Saturday, on their way to the Yale-Dartmouth football game in New Haven.

On the lawn of one Old Mystic resident, dandelions are in bloom, a big yellow butterfly was seen the other day and on Friday evening a lightning bug was flickering in the grass. All are afraid they will get a cold reception if they linger too long.

A Halloween prank which was not a bit sportsmanlike was the cutting of a line full of clothes, letting them down into the dirt, so that the woman of the house was obliged to wash them all over again.

NOANK

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL INTERESTS AT THE WEEK END

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butson are visiting relatives in Patchogue, L. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wolverton and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schoonmaker attended a Halloween social given by Stonington council, Jr. O. U. A. M.

Parker Wildes, Edgar Schoonmaker and Walter MacDonald attended the Yale-Dartmouth football game in New Haven Saturday.

There is to be a meeting of Noank Fire company this (Monday) evening.

Miss Laura Caracause entertained friends at a Halloween party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Caracause, on Pearl street. The house was decorated with orange and black crepe paper and fall flowers. The guests all appeared in masquerade costume and included witches, ghosts and gypsies. During the evening, games were played, after which a lunch of sandwiches, cake and punch was served. Those present were Guerinna Bracci, Caroline Fitch, Lucia Bogue, Bernice Burbine, Angeline Hewey, Adele Pezoiesi, Minnie Hewey, Doris and Vivian Meister and Evelyn Cox, of New London.

Edward Mahoney has returned from New York.

Raymond Rossignol has returned to Providence after a visit with local relatives.

Mrs. A. L. Lozier has closed her summer cottage on Groton Long Point and has returned to Westfield, Mass.

School Exercises

When the seventh and eighth grade pupils held a musical and literary program in the room of the eighth grade Friday afternoon, the following program was given: Song, America, seventh and eighth grades; recitation, Duncan Carson; piano duet, Humoresque, Blanche Laffargue and Jessie Beckitt; song, Juanita, four girls from the seventh grade; recitation, Mary Wilcox; song, Blanche Laffargue, Jessie Beckitt and Mabel Bracci; recitation, Arnold Burbine; song, America, the Beautiful, seventh and eighth grades; recitation, Norris Burdick.

Mrs. Cynthia Smith has returned home after several weeks' stay with relatives in Hartford.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph St. Jacques, of Providence, are spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Park.

Scouts Plan Drive

When the Boy Scout troop held the weekly meeting in Harrison Morton Ward post rooms Thursday evening, the meeting was brief, due to the fact that the date was Halloween. The boys were told that if each member brought another prospective scout a surprise would be given them. The local troop is planning a drive for new memberships.

Harold Sweet is ill.

Mrs. Robert Wilson and son, Charles, of Hartford, are visiting relatives in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Thompson have returned after spending several days in the village.

Elihu Spicer, of New York, is at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William I. Spicer.

Mrs. Joseph MacArthur and son, John, of Newark, N. J., are visiting local friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Eccleston entertained a few friends at a Halloween party at the home on Fort Hill road. The house was attractively decorated. Games were played and dancing was enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

All Souls' Day Service

All Souls' day was celebrated in St. Joseph's church Saturday morning, mass being read at 7 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. John P. Kennedy.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank MacDonald have been entertaining friends from New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Valois and family have returned to Providence after a visit with local relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Tourjee were recent callers in Hartford.

Old Lady—You say you were the only survivor of 12 shipwrecked sailors and that all you ate for a week was your shoes. How is it you're alive when all the rest died.

Old Salt—Well, you see, lady, I wore bigger size shoes.—The Pathfinder.

NEWER than screen grid

Model 21950—lowboy console—ideal for small apartment—easily moved—price, $219.50, without tubes.

Lifelike tone—the result of the most modern principle applied to screen grid radio—hear it in the new Grebe. Equalized band pass filter, exclusive development, controls power of screen grid tubes without subduing it—eliminates outside interference—prevents overlapping of stations and power hum.

This latest development is winning the critical "second set buyer"—the listener whose discrimination has been sharpened by having owned a set before. At the same time, it is the radio selected by the "first set buyer" whose ear is musically trained. Four models, $219.50 to $450, without tubes. Highboy, lowboy—walnut, mahogany—choose the one to fit the decorative plan of your home, where 48-hour demonstration will gladly be given.

POETRY FOR THE WIDEAWAKES.

The Cost of Fur.

What is that bloody form, mailgn,
Which 'round our necks we see,
That screams and twists in ghostly sign
Of a bygone agony?

The blood spots fade, the cries recede,
And instead a picture shows—
A figure leaps with grace and speed
In a field of winter snows.
Its beauty is not only shown
By a body live and free:
From out its heart a light is thrown,
Of divine maternity.
It knows the thought of "Home, Sweet Home"
And the clutch of tiny forms;
In search of food, Love makes it roam
O'er the path of winter storms.
But in this field a figure dread,
With a hidden danger fraught,
Besnares the path of daily bread—
And the mother-soul is caught.
Enmeshed in this remorseless jaw,
By a growing coldness stung,
The brave heart gnaws at its own paw,
In the thought of helpless young.
But cold and pain and darkness link
And the struggles fainter grow—
The victim, forced at last to sink,
A dark blot on the snow.
Death bids the shining spirit rise
From its carcass, cast aside;
A frightful horror leaves the eyes
Of another, crucified,
But comes once more to those eyes when,
In the name of so-called art,
The pain-racked pelt appears again,
Of the human dress a part.
—Reid Davies.

A Morning Thought.

Let me today do something that shall take
A little sadness from the world's vast store,
Of joy's too scanty sum a little more.

Let me tonight look back across the span
'Twixt dawn and dark, and to my conscience say—
Because of some good act to beast or man—
"The world is better that I lived today."
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Garden Pool.

Waterlilies and dragonflies
And a swan on a pale gold pool.
Dawn in the water and in the skies
Waterlilies and dragonflies,
And a little ghost of night that dies
Away in a shadow gray and cool—
Waterlilies and dragonflies
And a swan on a pale gold pool.
—Ethel Romig Fuller.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE AWAKES.

How many of the members of the circle took the advice of Uncle Jed and took a trip into the woods. From the number of letters received by him not including one on the subject, it would seem that none did, with the exception of the writer. The next day after the talk was written I went for a walk into the woods adjoining my home and found a wealth of information.

Many things that attracted my attention had not been noticed in previous jaunts and I stopped to investigate them, seeking to learn whatsever I could. Things that really held my attention were gathered and taken home, such as flowers, bits of stone, leaves from trees and shrubs. I decided at the time I would endeavor to learn their names from books or someone acquainted with them.

That, I felt was the only way to secure the desired information. You know the saying is if you don't know a thing don't be afraid to ask, for those who don't ask will never know, that is if they don't seek for it from other sources. This brings to mind a story I was told several weeks ago about a small boy.

He was continually asking questions of his mother about this thing and that, always eager to learn their names and what they were used for. One day it happened that his mother refused to answer him. The consequence was that the boy became silent and quiet and did not take an interest in the things about him.

The person who was telling the story remarked that it was too bad that the mother had taken on so, not meaning to dampen the youth's eagerness to learn, but probably having her own troubles, which absorbed her interest for the time being. As it happened the boy felt the evasiveness of his mother, which was not intentional, it is presumed, and refrained from asking her further questions. He should have continued his questioning despite the fact she did not answer him for perserverance is one thing that will get you somewhere no matter how hard the task may seem.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE-AWAKES.

An Experience in the Dark.

Dear Uncle Jed: Ever since I can remember I have always been extremely afraid of the darkness. For this reason I never went outside alone. Neither would I dare go into a dark room without a light.

One day, however, it was necessary for me to go to bed without a light. I was afraid to go, nevertheless, I picked up courage and proceeded to do so.

Just as I entered my room I heard the rustling of curtains. To add to my fright I imagined I saw some one conceal himself behind the curtains. I was so frightened that I dared not move. I did not know what to do. If I had not been so stupified with fear I might have had sense enough to turn around and go downstairs. Instead I slowly sank to the floor and sat there until I fell asleep. I had a terrible dream. I dreamed a kidnapper was pulling me by the collar and was about to put me into his car when I awoke. There were my sisters trying to wake me. I told them how I came to be on the floor. Therefore, with a light they showed me that no one was in the room and the rustling was caused by the wind. The person I thought I saw was the peculiar manner of the curtains' moving. In spite of this I always took a light with me, or I did not enter a dark room.

Car. Play the Harmonica.

Dear Uncle Jed: Have not written to you and the Wide Awakes for a long time. I am going to tell you and the Wide Awakes how I won a harmonica.

In August, I came up on the farm to stay. My grandmother had a Celestial Echoes harmonica in the key of C. It had three octaves on it. My grandmother played on it and that made me want to play, too. When she went to the city she bought a harmonica with one octave and in the key of G for me. I learned a few songs on that but soon tired of the sounding notes. My grandmother let me use hers for a while. When I got so I could play about 24 songs fair she said I could have her harmonica. I was glad because my sister, two years older than I had one just like it and now we both had one. I did not know how to express my thanks for it.

Her Favorite Season.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to the Wide Awake Circle. I am going to tell you about "My Favorite Season."

Spring is my favorite season. I like this part of the year because so many beautiful flowers are coming up. When the cold, dreary winter is passed, I rejoice greatly. I put my old sled away and go hunting under the melting snow for violets and forget-me-nots. The warm, beautiful, spring sunshine wakes up all the flowers that have been sleeping under "Mother Earth's" coat of snow. They pop out their little heads sleepily, to find out if spring is here yet. I often go picking flowers in the springtime. When I come home laden with "nature's flowers," I put them into pretty vases filled with water. I set them on tables and bureaus. In spring all the birds come back. They fill the air with joyous songs, telling us how happy they are to be back. Yes, dear Uncle Jed, I like spring very much.

My Trips to the Beach.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about my trips to the beach. One day we planned to go to Ocean Beach. We started early in the morning and brought our lunch with us. When we got there the sun was shining bright. The water was high tide. First I did not know how to swim. I tried to swim and went down a few times, but soon kept up. My father swam to the float and told me to come out. At first I was afraid but soon made up my mind to go out. I put on a life waver and swam out.

Then my father told me to jump off and swim in. I was afraid to, so slid off. I soon began to jump off and found that it was fun. We ate our lunch, waited about a half hour and went in again. I did not need the tube to swim to the float any more. The tide went down in the afternoon and I could walk out to the float. We took pictures at the beach. Soon it was time to start for home. We packed our suits and put them in the car and started for home. When we got home it was getting dark. We went to bed early that night.

Two weeks later we went to the beach again. This time it was very low tide. I could walk out much farther than the float. When you went out far and swam the breast stroke the waves would carry you to shore. We ate our lunch and swam again. About 6 o'clock we got dressed, walked about the beach and the streets. We bought ice cream and went home. I hope to go to Ocean Beach again next summer. I hope all the Wide-Awakes will get a chance to go to Ocean Beach.

My Pet Dog.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first line I have written to the Wide-Awake circle. I am going to tell you about my pet dog.

My pet dog's name is Danny. She is black and white. She drives the cows home. She has a little house to sleep in. She is a nice dog. She follows me wherever I go. She plays with me. I hold a stick and she takes it away.

NO NAME.

Poor Girl Marries Prince.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you and I hope you will like my story on Beauty.

There once was a little girl who lived alone in the woods. Her father and mother were dead. The little girl's name was Beauty. Beauty was very poor. Now there lived a king who had four sons. They were gentle, kind and good. The king sent them away to get wives. Beauty was going to market to get food. The elder prince stopped her and asked her who she was. Beauty said she was a poor family's child. The prince looked in her face. He said she was beautiful. "Why don't you come and live with me?" said the prince. You will be happy there! Beauty went with the prince and after the king and queen died Beauty became queen and the prince king.

What a Reward!

Dear Uncle Jed: I will now tell you about the reward John received after he went to a fire. He had been forbidden by his parents to go to fires.

One day while his mother was downtown and John was alone at home he heard a whistle blow. He counted, one, two, three, etc., to 60. It was a fire!

He jumped up; took his hat and quickly ran to follow the crowd to the fire. When he got there the house was burned to the ground. Luckily the house was insured. The owner received a great sum of money from the fire insurance company.

John received something, too. But it wasn't money. He received a good, hard spanking from his mother.

I hope the Wide-Awakes will like my story.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

Peter is Very Miserable.

By Thornton W. Burgess

What sport is there in giving pain?
To hunt and frighten and to maim?
—Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit was up in the Old Pasture, hiding in a hole in a bramble tangle, and Peter was very miserable. Peter was frightened and hurt. He had been shot at by a hunter with a terrible gun. Luckily for Peter, only two of the little shots from that gun had hit him, but those were bad enough. At first they had stung like the sting of a wasp. Then they began to ache.

So Peter was very miserable, indeed. He could hear the hunter tramping about and trying to frighten him out of the bramble tangles. The hunter had not seen just which bramble tangle Peter had darted into, so now he was tossing stones into the different bramble tangles in in the hope of frightening Peter out. One of those big stones landed very near where Peter was hiding But he was wise enough not to be frightened out.

By and by the hunter went away. Still Peter did not move. In the first place he didn't dare to, and in the second place he didn't feel like moving. Those little shots had gone clear through and hit the left shoulder bone. It wasn't a serious wound, but it was a painful one.

"Oh dear!" whimpered Peter. "Oh dear! Why didn't I stay at home in the dear Old Briar Patch. This thing never would have happened there. No, sir, this thing never would have happened there. But I didn't think one of those dreadful hunters would be up here in the Old Pasture. I hope he doesn't shoot any one else up here. I am lucky that he didn't kill me. My, what terrible things guns are!"

Meanwhile the hunter had gone on his way. "I guess I missed that Rabbit altogether," thought the hunter. "It was a hard shot anyway, I thought I hit him, but I guess I didn't. If I did hit him I couldn't have hurt him much from the way he ran. He must have gone into a hole."

Now that hunter had no regrets save the one regret that he had failed to kill Peter. Apparently it didn't occur to him that if he had hit Peter even ever so slightly, Peter would suffer. Hunters never seem to think of the suffering they cause. So this hunter went his way with no more thought for Peter Rabbit and finally left the Old Pasture.

"Oh, dear! Why didn't I stay at home in the dear old Briar Patch?"

Jolly, round, red Mr. Sun had gone to bed behind the Purple Hills before Peter ventured out of his hiding place. That leg that had been hit throbbed and burned. Peter found it easier to walk on three legs. He had no appetite. He felt simply miserable all over. He didn't venture outside of the bramble tangle. You see, he felt too miserable to hop about. Besides, he was afraid to. In the bramble tangle he felt safe, but if he went outside of it he knew that on three legs he would have hard work to get away from Reddy Fox or any other enemy which might happen along.

So Peter sat in the bramble tangle and wished and wished and wished that he were back home in the dear Old Briar Patch on the Green Meadows. Ordinarily, Peter doesn't mind being alone. But he did mind it now. He wished little Mrs. Peter was near. You know almost always when we feel very miserable, hurt or sick, we like to have some one near to tell our troubles to. Peter had no one to tell his troubles to.

Meanwhile over in the dear Old Briar Patch, little Mrs. Peter was worrying because Peter didn't return. She didn't know that Peter had gone up in the Old Pasture, but she had heard the bang of a terrible gun up there and she feared that Peter might have been up there. Then, too, her father, Old Jed Thumper, the gray old Rabbit, made his home up in the Old Pasture. So she worried about him also.

Breed Theatre

College campus and fight ring touch, and their people, presumably opposite poles of human society, prove very much alike under their skins in William Haines' latest and one of his cleverest screen vehicles, "The Duke Steps Out," now playing with dialogue, at the Breed theatre.

Filmed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer from Lucian Cary's Saturday Evening Post romance, directed by James Cruze and with the vivacious Joan Crawford as heroine, the new picture blends the life of the ring and the life of the campus in a rapid fire mixture of comedy and thrills with a very charming love story as the central thread.

The story deals with the hilarious troubles of a prize fighter trying to hide his profession while attending college and at the same time defends his title on the outside. Ringside thrills vie with comedy about college campus in the new picture. A notable case appears including Karl Dane, the famous "Slim" of "The Big Parade," Tenen Holtz, Eddie Nugent, Delmer Daves, Luke Cosgrove, and others of note.

Professor Robert McKinnon of Harvard univeristy is spending a year in the remote Sussana district of Alaska studying Tinnes, or Athabascan Indians.

MOOSUP

CHOIR LEADER SURPRISED AT CLOSE OF REHEARSAL

Friday evening the Baptist choir had understood that Mrs. Hoar, their leader, was to tell the choir something about her trip to Bermuda. They told Mrs. Hoar to get through the rehearsal early in order that she could have plenty of time for her story. After rehearsal, all adjourned to the vestry, to find it decorated. A huge table was set with a light lunch. Mrs. Hoar told of her trip, and games were played. Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Playden, Paul Roper, Harry Denison, Ray Mathewson and Mrs. DeWolf put in a great deal of work which was greatly appreciated. About 25 were present.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sanderson have been staying with Misses Mary and Margaret Hope while Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hope are visiting in Winchester, Mass.

The deacons of the Baptist church met Sunday night at the church. It was voted to purchase another communion tray with glasses, also two plates for the bread and two plates for the communion offering.

Miss Freda Eyers spent the week end in Cambridge, Mass.

Hear Jubilee Singers

The Baptist young people gave up their meeting in order to attend the Boston Jubilee Singers' concert at the local M. E. church.

Tuesday, there is to be an all-day meeting of the Baptist Woman's society at Mrs. Alfred Hyde's.

A fine and largely attended chicken pie supper at Sterling Hill Friday night netted $40.

Linemen strung the electric wires to the church Friday morning and Ralph Hopkins worked all day in order that the lights might be used for the first time.

Seventh Birthday Party

A birthday party was held last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huber, Sr., on Main street in Moosup in honor of their little daughter, Arline Ruth's seventh birthday.

There was a large gathering of her little school friends. The evening opened were awarded to the children Prizes were awarded to the children for the games in which they took part. The prizes were won by Miss Marilen Playdon and Loretta Savoie in the donkey game. Miss June Playdon won the prize in the peanut game.

The home was prettily decorated with black and orange crepe paper, black cats, witches, pumpkins and candies.

Refreshments were served which consisted of cake, fancy cookies, hot chocolate, fancy candies, peanuts, fruit, ice cream and a large birthday cake which delighted the children when it was lighted with its seven candles and which Arline blew out.

After refreshments, the children retired to the living room where piano selections were played by June Playdon which was enjoyed by the adults as well as the young.

Then came he grab bag from which they all received a gift to take home in memory of their evening of pleasure.

Arline was the receiver of many beautiful gifts from her little friends who left at an early hour, wishing Arline a very happy birthday.

MONTVILLE

The funeral of Chester W. Comstock who died Monday at his home in Haughton Park, Uncasville, was held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Uncasville Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theatre

Judging by the enthusiastic houses that greeted the opening of the marvelous all-talking air-epic "Flight" at the Broadway Saturday, Norwich is becoming "air-minded." Aviation terms are a common part of every-day speech since "Flight" came to town, which is little wonder, considering the wonderful production work that went into the film. Depicting in vivid detail the training of Uncle Sam's fledgling flyers, from the entrance of the cadet-flyers into the ground school, to the final glorious day when they win their 'wings," the sudden call to active service against Sandino in Nicaragua, the cold vengeance dealt out by the flying marines in retaliation for the murder and mutiliation of their comrades, and beneath it all the tender romance of two flyers, each deeply in love with the same little nurse, the picture is thrilling to the last degree. Produced with the co-operation of the U. S. Marines, Aviation Section, and under the critical direction of two of their most famous flying officers, the picture is accurate, interesting and thrilling right up to the last flicker. The air manouevres of forty fighting planes en route to Nicaragua, their thrilling air chase of the mountain bandits, hair-raising "crack-ups," the wrecking of a plane in a dismal swamp, infested with white ants, and the final sacrifice of one pilot, with his observer making a pyre of the wrecked plane to save his buddy's body from the ants and the mutilation by the bandits, are but a few of the blood-stirring highlights of this wonderful production, which seems destined to break all attendance records at the Broadway. Jack Holt as a master-sergeant of aviation, Ralph Graves as his rookie-buddy, and Lila Lee as the lovable marine nurse, head a well-balanced cast. Selected short subjects by the latest Paramount Sound News, complete a long and interesting program.

State Normal School Play

The Jitney players, who are to present The Murder in the Rea Barn at Willimantic Tuesday, an organization of socially prominent young people with professional training who tour New England, New York and New Jersey from June to the middle of September with their automobile theatre, playing indoors during the fall and winter months, are a modernized version of the strolling players of old England, which was adapted seven years ago by Bushnell Cheney, the son of Horace Bushnell Cheney of South Manchester, Conn., and his wife, Alice B. Keating, daughter of Mrs. Francis Root Keating, of Buffalo, N. Y.

The plays are produced under the direction of Arthur Sircom; the costumes by Alice Keating and James Reynolds and executed by Tessa Altneritter; and the scenery designed by Leslie Thorne and Frances Keating.

The members of the acting company include David Elliott, Harrison Dowd, Eli Dormont, Sheppard Strudwick, Douglas Rowland, Harvey Fite, Wilder N. Greeley, electrician; J. Edward Shugure, stage manager; Cynthia Blake, Judith Elder, Valerie Cossart, Francesca Bruning and Carmen D. Beehler, company manager, with Richard Skinner at the piano.

Norwich Music Association

Henry LaFontaine, well known local artist, is to offer a piano and song recital, playing his own accompaniments, at Slater Hall Annex tonight at 8 p. m. Tickets for non members of the association may be obtained at the door at 75c each.

GENERAL BUSINESS UNDERGOING MILD RECESSION DURING FOURTH QUARTER

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Industrial leaders generally rose up to assure the public last week that business remained fundamentally sound, despite the collapse of the stock market. That business generally appears to be undergoing a mild recession during the fourth quarter was widely acknowledged, but it was pointed out that record-breaking earnings in many lines during previous months of the year more than compensate for this and nothing appears on the horizon to induce pessimism.

The results of the stock crash are not as yet clear, but the feeling is fairly general that it will result in a certain restriction of holiday buying, particularly in luxury lines. It is pointed out, however, that paper rather than real profits have been destroyed, and that public purchasing power remains large. Employment holds at high levels, save in some industries undergoing seasonal readjustments such as automobile manufacturing. Leading mail order houses reported excellent October sales and are planning for a record holiday turnover.

Three major lines—steel and automobile manufacturing, and building—are operating at levels substantially below last year at this time. Standard Statistics company estimates that automobile manufacturing activity this quarter will average about 15 per cent below the last quarter of last year, steel production five to ten per cent lower, and building construction about ten per cent lower. Earnings for the entire year in the steel and motor industries, however, will be far ahead of 1928, and leading executives in both lines forecast satisfactory operations next year.

With the exception of public works and heavy construction, building operations have been at reduced levels all this year. While early in the year an excess of residential building appeared to be responsible for some of the industry's ills, this situation has largely been corrected, and high interest rates have been regarded as holding operations in check. The lowering of rates as result of enormous stock liquidation may bring a considerable revival of activity within a few months.

More than $1,000,000,000 in brokers loans was liquidated in the week ended Wednesday. The New York Federal Reserve bank reduced its rediscount rate from 6 to 5 per cent and the Bank of England put its rate down from 6 1-2 to 6 per cent. The worldwide credit pinch, widely ascribed to the recent "bull" rampage in Wall street, appeared to have been broken. Bankers' acceptance rates have been lowered in the past fortnight from 5 1-4a5 5-8 per cent to a flat rate of 4 3-4 per cent for all maturities, and commercial paper rates have undergone a corresponding readjustment. Bankers regard these developments as removing a considerable burden from the smaller units in business generally, as well as the building industry, which is financed primarily in mortgages.

Statistical indicators coming to hand last week were generally satisfactory.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The New York stock exchange, curb exchange securities market of the produce exchange, together with the other securities markets of the country, will reopen for business tomorrow morning at the regular hour after having been closed since last Thursday to permit the clearing up of the vast amount of work that resulted from the heavy sales of the past week and to give employes of the exchanges a much-needed rest.

The severe declines in the securities markets last week had their effect on cocoa prices, which declined from 11 to 17 points. Receipts of raw cocoa beans during October totaled 222,465 bags, compared with 68,157 bags in October, 1928.

Net earnings of the Associated Gas & Electric System for the 12 months ending Sept. 30, aggregated $35,636,473, as against $18,603,983 for the preceding 12 months, an increase of 92 per cent.

The Amtorg Trading Corp., soviet commercial representatives in the United States, has contracted with the Austin Co., of Cleveland, for the construction by the latter company of an automobile plant at Nizhni Novgorod in the soviet union. The plant is to produce about 120,000 cars and trucks annually.

Treasury Balance.

WASHINGTON, Nov 2 (AP)—Treasury receipts Oct. 31 were $1,931,086.62; expenditures $117,504.83; balance $704,512,841.12.

COST OF HELIUM CUT AT AMARILLO PLANT

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—The cost of producing non-inflammable helium gas for army and navy dirigibles has been cut more than half in the plant here.

More than $28,700 cubic feet of helium was extracted from natural gas in September, the bureau said, at a cost of $14.01 per 1000 cubic feet, compared with a cost of $34.79 for a similar amount at the old Fort Worth plant.

ORDER OUT OF CHAOS IN A LINEN CLOSET

Modernism is both decorative and practical here

By Elsie Draw Kennedy

Modernism in design, combined with perfect color harmony, is gradually revolutionizing the interiors of smart homes. The wave of color interest swept away the oldtime kitchens and substituted the present idea of gay hues, convenience and perfect utility.

At present the average housewife is focusing her attention on cupboards and their contents, particularly on household linens.

The linen cupboard sketched above is a charming example of design, and, at the same time, a practical solution to the linen-closet problem in the home of a fair sized family. Careful study has been given in designing the various compartments and units in relation to size, space and maximum convenience, as well as to protection for stored blankets, quilts and other woolens.

The cupboard section at the top of the closet is suitable for such storage. It is lined with aromatic redcedar panels. It is interesting to note that panels may be purchased in any dimensions.

The section of five sliding drawers, with the double sized drawer designed to care for the larger pieces, should particularly appeal. Here fine linens, decorative tablecloths and other large pieces may be kept fresh with a minimum of effort.

Wide, spacious shelves line the walls on either side and above the drawer section. This allows ample space for a display of rows of colored sheets and pillow cases, as well as towels. Sheets and pillow-cases in piles of a half dozen or a dozen can be kept in exquisite order by using decorative straps that tie or snap under a festoon of ribbon or a flower effect.

This brings up the subject of accessories for the linen closet, gay and frivolous details that add zest and interest to the most prosaic of closets. In this type of cupboard, long, slim, scented pads in harmonizing hues are suggested for shelves and drawers, while the straps mentioned above may be tailored of satin ribbon and finished with a tailored bow. Again, they may take a more elaborate form in combining ribbon with lace or net and embellishing them by an amusing flower or novelty festoon.

Polish Envoy's Wife Wonders "Why Americans Never Walk"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3—(AP)—Outdoor exercise and social welfare work are the two hobbies of Madame Tytus Filipowicz, wife of the new minister from Poland.

Coming from a land where they raise lady discus-throwing champions, she wonders mildly at the many women rolling by in limousines.

She has heard much of Helen Wills but she has seen comparatively few women here leaping after the elusive ball. On her daily rambles in the parks she meets few women pedestrians outside of the wives and the daughters of diplomatic corps members.

From the windows of the big legation, madame locks out occasionally and asks:

"Where are the Americans who walk?"

Although she has a 16-year-old son attending school in Warsaw, madame's figure is as supple and slender as that of a girl. Her eyes are clear and sparkling. Pink cheeks attest the daily long walk and game of tennis.

Sitting on a gilt and satin sofa beside a tea table, she talked of the women of Poland and was surprised that discus-throwing is not the popular sport here that it is there. A feature of American life which she greatly admires is the country club. Although she enjoys exercise, Madame Filipowicz likes also a game of cards or a chat on a wide veranda or in club rooms.

She craves these luxuries for the women of her own war-torn country.

"Alas, we have few clubs there," she says wistfully. "We have been too busy since the war building apartment houses for living purposes. We have neither time nor money for recreation places like country clubs. I hope the time will come when women of Poland can have those pleasures."

FARMER'S WIFE RESTS 3 HOURS DAILY AVERAGE

MANHATTAN, Kas., Nov. 3—(AP)—If day-by-day records of Kansas farm women are typical, the American housewife may judge herself by this data gathered at the Kansas State Agricultural college:

Women on large farms have more leisure time than those on small farms.

Women in "modern" homes average 3.14 hours of leisure daily; in "semi-modern" homes, 2.92 hours, and 2.3 hours in homes without modern improvements.

Mothers with children under 6 years of age have more leisure than those whose children are older.

Women between 30 and 40 have more leisure than those between 20 and 30, or more than 40.

Farm women, if their homes include conveniences of the city, have as much leisure as their city sisters.

Those conclusions were reached from a survey of 50 Kansas farm women, who kept records of how their time was spent for a month.

A homemaker on a farm, of 640 acres had more leisure time, about eight hours a day, than any other woman included in the project. Another, a more average case, had 117 leisure hours during the month, including 58.3 hours spent outside the home.

MUFFS REINSTATED WITH MODERN AIDS

PARIS, Nov. 3—(AP)—Muffs with handbags concealed in their interior are coming to the foreground in the style picture.

Women who stubbornly refused for several successive seasons to consider reinstatement of the old-style hand-warmers are adopting the new handbag version. It does all the work of the ordinary handbag plus the job of a muff.

Barrel shapes, about the size of a football, pillow muffs twelve by nine inches and little round affairs which can be hung over the arm by a cord, reticule style, are all in vogue. The pillow form is the most popular by far.

Short furs are the only ones used for the all-fur muffs. A few velvet affairs have trimming bands of kolinsky or mink. Black velvet muffs with trimming of ermine bands and tails are seen for afternoon and evening.

Cloth coats trimmed with fur as well as fur coats have their matching muff, made of the trimming fur. It is usually caracul, astrakan, broadtail beaver or seal.

MRS. HYDE IN DEMAND FOR FARM RELIEF TALKS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—Mrs. Arthur M. Hyde, wife of the secretary of agriculture, is much in demand as a speaker among women's organizations interested in farm problems.

Mrs. Hyde owns four farms and has made a study of marketing problems. Club women in Washington and other parts of the country are besieging her for speaking dates not so much as a cabinet officer's wife but as a practical farmer who is an expert on farm produce and economics in food buying.

The city women realize that the farm problem affects them as well as rural women.

WOMAN RANKS SECOND IN LABOR PARTY RULE

BRIGHTON, England, Nov. 4—(AP)—It fell to Susan Lawrence to be the first woman ever to become chairman of a political party in England.

The labor party executive appointed her to this office at its annual conference here. Eight years ago she was in prison.

Miss Lawrence has been a member of parliament from a constituency in the East end of London since 1923.

She went to prison in 1921 with the other members of the Poplar council as a protest against the methods of the ministry of health, of which she is now the second in command.

Cosmetic Bill is High

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—(AP)—Unofficial estimates indicate that women spend nearly $2,000,000 annually on cosmetics and beauty care.

Your Health And Brain

By Dr. Leland B. Alford

Mind and Brain.

There always has been a feeling that mind is independent of the body and free to go its own way without restraint. This may be true of a degree.

Of course the scientific or practical person is fond of repeating, "No brain, no mind," implying that mind is a product of the brain. It certainly is true that specific injuries of the brain profoundly alter or, for particular functions, destroy the mind.

We know the brain is a mosaic of functions, each section having its own job to perform. Thus, the hinder lobes have to do with vision. If they are destroyed we are blind.

The central parts are concerned with sensation and movement. If they are destroyed sensation is impaired and paralysis results. But, however necessary sight and sensation may be, they are not a part of the mind proper.

It is the frontal lobes, situated just above the eyes, which are the seat of the higher mental and moral activities of the brain. When the frontal lobes are injured, a change of character is produced.

The classic case is that of a Boston laborer injured in 1848 in an explosion. A crowbar was driven through the left eyesocket into the frontal lobe. The patient survived many years, but his whole personality was altered.

Formerly equable and cheerful, he now had a very bad temper and was moody. Formerly a steady and reliable workman, he changed constantly from one job to another and roamed from city to city. He became dishonest and profane. These symptoms have now come to be accepted as those of injury to the frontal lobes.

The thalamus, another funny little piece of mechanism, is at the base of the brain as far from the surface as it possible could be. Injury to this section, among other symptoms, causes singular disturbances. The patient alternately laughs and cries when talking about such impersonal subjects as the weather. He passes from one emotion to another without pause and may exhibit both at the same moment. Thus the thalamus appears to be the seat of emotion

Macaroni and Beef With Tomatoes

(Serving Six)

2 cups cooked macaroni, 4 tablespoons bacon fat, 2 tablespoons chopped onions, ½ cup diced beef (raw or cooked), 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup cooked celery, 2 cups tomatoes, 1 cup crumbs, 4 tablespoons butter, melted.

Place the fat in a frying pan: when hot add and brown the onions and beef. Add the macaroni, salt, pepper, celery and tomatoes. Pour into a buttered baking dish and cover with the crumbs which have been mixed with the melted butter. Bake for 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

This is an excellent recipe to use leftovers. Other meats can be used instead of the beef and other leftover vegetables substituted for the celery.

Date Pudding

(Leftover tea to be served for child's lunch.

2 extra, ¼ cup crumbs, 1 cup cloubed dates ½ cup chopped nuts, ¼ teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons milk, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon vanilla ¼ cup sugar.

Mix the ingredients and spread on a shallow baking pan, which has been greased. Bake for 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve warm or cold with cream, hard sauce or lemon sauce.

Lemon Sauce.

(For any baked or steamed puddings)

½ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons grated lemon rind, 1¼ cups water, 1 tablespoon butter.

Blend the sugar, flour and salt. Add the rest of the ingredients and cook slowly, stirring constantly, until the sauce thickens. Serve warm or cold.

When adding dates to mixtures to be cooked, soak the dates in water to cover, remove the stones and the dates will be soft and blend well with the other ingredients.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSSWIFE

Never stretch pie crust to fit a plate as the dough shrinks when baking.

Always keep crackers in paraffin paper in air-tight boxes. This will prevent their becoming soggy.

Never cover bread immediately after it is baked. Allow it to cool slowly before putting it into the bread box.

Potatoes will be more mealy if allowed to stand 20 minutes in hot water before they are put into the oven to bake.

Pears stuffed with chopped nuts and creamed cheese make a delicious salad when served on crisp lettuce leaves.

Dry picking is better than scalding when plucking a chicken or turkey. Unless done very quickly scalding will harden the skin.

Before inserting a screw in hard wood, draw the threaded part across a cake of white soap. The screw will then go in much more readily.

Univ cracks in furniture will disappear if they are filled with beeswax, and then varnished over.

Before repapering a room, go over the plaster to see if it is firm. If loose places are found cover them with white cotton cloth before papering.

A glass preserve jar makes an excellent substitute for an egg beater. Rinse the inside of the jar with cold water, put in the eggs and shake vigorously until well blended.

A teaspoon of granulated gelatine soaked in a teaspoon of water, then melted over hot water and added to one-half pint of whipped cream, will keep it firm until served.

To freshen a faded rug or carpet, wipe it off with a wet cloth wrung out of strong salt water. Sprinkling dampened salt on a rug, then sweeping it off, will give the same result.

The hole in the bottom of a flower pot should never be closed up. A few cinders or bits of broken china should be placed over the hole. This lets the air into the roots and prevents the soil coming through.

PANS.

If food burns to the bottom of aluminum pans, don't waste effort and ruin the pan by scraping with a knife or scouring. Set the pan on top of a hot oven and let stand until the burned portion begins to crack off. Most all of it will come off in this fashion and the rest will easily scour off.

PLANTS.

Plants, as well as persons, require regular cleansing to keep them healthy. Indoor plants are often neglected in this respect, and yet this type plant must also have some sort of spray at intervals to kill the insect barasites which constantly infest them.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

At least eight glasses of water should be drunk each day by every person to keep well.

A common remedy for a cut by broken glass is to pour kerosene into the wound before applying any other remedy. This will prevent soreness and any other trouble.

Housewives, hospital nurses, shop clerks and others menaced by "flat feet" should practice rising on the ball of the foot and sinking back on the heels slowly, several times a day, about a dozen times in succession.

Books that have been used in the sickroom should be buried if they are of little value, or, if they are more valuable, they should be disinfected by thorough airing and sunning and subnected to formaldehyde vapors.

HAND LOTION.

A hand lotion is an absolute necessity in winter if the housewife wants to keep her hands soft and in good condition. The following recipe will make one quart of splendid lotion and will cost about $1: One ounce of quince seed soaked in one and one-half pints of warm water for a day. Strain. Add two ounces glycerine, three ounces alcohol and then drops of rose essence. Mix well and bottle for use.

TO TRIM THIN CURTAINS.

Silk gauze and scrims take on smart airs these days by the simple additions of a band of one of two-tone ribbon sewed along the side and bottom hemlines. Brown or black ribbon treated this way will make the dullest scrim curtain surprisingly effective.

The silk gauzes which come in those lovely powder blues, pale greens, and violets would be lovely with silver or gold ribbons. Powder blue with navy, pale green with deep green, or apricot with Chinese red would be lovely combinations, too.

MATS AND RUGS.

To prevent mats and rugs from slipping on polished floors, New Zealand women make use of quite a novel little devise. A triangular piece of velvet is sewn to the underside of the rug at each corner and a cross-shaped piece is tacked near the center. The effect of these small pads is to keep the rug firmly in place, since the more pressure applied to the velvet the firmer does it grip the floor.

PAPER FROM BREAD.

One woman cuts the waxed paper from the bread into squares and has a pile of them ready when she wants to grease any pans or plates and does not have to waste ranged sections of her rolled wax paper.

SHOES.

Don't try to wear out your old run-down shoes doing housework. Have a pair of sensible oxfords with flat rubber heels. You will have much more energy left when evening comes and fewer complaints about tired feet.

DICTATES OF FASHION

Transparent velvet looms as the favorite in frocks of afternoon type for early wear.

Paris tweeds are tailored but they aren't plain. They invariably have pleats pockets and strappings — and often a cape for good measure.

Bags of velvet are not new, of course but very large bags stitched to match one's hat are a fashion that has the sponsorship of Paris.

In many of the Paris openings it was quite noticeable that black again took a leading place, with a rich new shade of dahlia following as a close second.

Black broadcloth suits with black fur are worn by the smartest young people, but those who prefer a contrast may choose a black suit with beaver or kolinsky.

No woman who chooses her evening wrap of black velvet need feel nervous. Not only does it go with every tone of gown, but it goes with the most fashionable assemblages.

Medium heels win over the very high ones, in new fall lines. A russet colored sharkskin two-button tie has a winged tip of matching calfskin and the lower heel is used.

Purple with a grape blue tone to it is very good now. Battle and sage green promise popularity and, for once, blue is being shown as good for fall as for spring.

In place of velvet frocks for formal afternoon affairs many women are choosing models of chiffon. They follow the new lines and have a graciousness and charm in keeping with the present mode.

Not only are lapin coats in light shades a very "high" fashion, but this youthful and flattering fur is used to trim informal suits of tweed as well as the more formal models of smooth-surfaced cloths.

A pink crepe party frock from Paris has tiny flowers in five shades of pink work out, in conjunction with gold threads, a little bolero effect and a front and back skirt panel.

TWEEDS ARE IMPORTANT

The importance of tweeds can not be overstressed in any mention of fall and winter fashions. Not only are they used for travel coats, for sport and town ensembles, but in practically every collection of note they are used for frocks. These in several instances show the new fitted silhouette.

COARSE NETS FOR AFTERNOON

Evening frocks of coarse nets were a feature of the Paris opening and close. Upon their introduction come afternoon frocks made of the same materials. With graceful long skirts, close-fitting bodices, natural waistlines and long sleeves, they possess all the distinctive features of the 1930 mode.

A JERSEY TUNIC

Striped jersey is much in vogue. One finds it used for entire frocks or, as in a very new model, for a belted tunic and a plain color skirt. This particular model is striped in beige, red and black, with a black skirt.

SEWING HINTS.

When blanket-stitching something you desire particularly even, take a ruler and dot with a pencil all around the article at the intervals that you wish the stitches. Then your work will be absolutely even.

If you buttonhole around a hole in a kid glove before you start to pull the hole together to mend it you will have a neat job and a staunch one, for you can slip your needle through the buttonholing rather than the kid for the actual mending.

When making a slip for the growing girl, make the shoulder straps longer than necessary at the time and overlap the extra length. When the slip becomes oo short, let out the shoulder straps. It will save all that bother with changing the hem.

No matter how clean your hands look, wash them before starting to sew on a delicate article. The sewing is inclined to make the hands perspire and the slightest grime will quickly show on the material.

VOILE CURTAINS.

Because of its infinitely soft texture, voile falls into exceptionally graceful folds when used for curtains, lending an alluring charm and pleasing sophistication to the entire room. Since it may be used for overdraperies, for bedspreads and covers as well as for glass curtains, it is a most useful factor in solving many problems of decorating.

Guiding Your Child

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

Her Underclothing.

Little girls' underclothes used to be nearly as complicated as those of their elders.

In winter every child wore a "combination" which reached from her neck to her ankles and down to her wrists, an "underwaist" which supported a pair of muslin drawers and a pair of long darters, a flannel petticoat for warmth and one or two muslin ones with lace or needlework edging for looks.

The task of dressing and undressing was long and complicated, involving a dozen or more intricate fastenings in inaccessible places. A little girl scarcely could be expected to master them without help much before she was old enough to have learned to do long division at school.

Not only were her undergarments difficult to put on and take off, but they were thick and clumsy and demanded that even a four-year-old bear in mind the need for "modest" postures.

Things are much better today. The universal pantie dress had done away with petticoats and the fashion of bare knees obviates the need for long darters.

At present, thought is being given to further simplification of the little child's clothes which will make them as easy as possible to put on and take off and entirely adequate for warmth, freedom of motion and unconscious modesty.

Many thoughtful mothers today dress their little girls simply in a cotton or cotton and wool shirt with short sleeves and knee length drawers of the same material. These are made with a plain band in front and elastic across the back which insures comfort and does away with buttons and button holes. Additional warmth can be obtained by extra bloomers made in the same style as the drawers.

Envoy's Wife Sits By Trunks As Husband's Status Gyrates

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—International disputes in volatile South America have kept Senora Juan Vicente Ramirez, wife of the former charge d' affaires of the Paraguan legation, from unpacking her trunks for six months.

Ever since last March she has had her ming divided between Paraguay and Washington, not knowing in which place she was going to live.

Trouble was brewing between Bolivia and Paraguay over national boundary lines. Cablegrams flew back and forth. Senor Ramirez was ordered back to Paraguay to take his seat in the house of deputies. Senora Ramirez packed the trunks. She put into them all the heirlooms from South America and the things acquired during four years' stay here.

Echoes of more trouble. More cablegrams. Senor Ramirez to stay here to help straighten out the tangled affairs of the two South American republics by participating in the conference called for that purpose.

Senora Ramirez threw up her hands in despair. The trunks! To unpack them or keep them packed? How long would the conference last? At the end of it where would they be sent?

Sitting in her apartment, stripped of most of her prized personal possessions because they are in "ze trunks" Senora Ramirez told of her hectic life the last six months.

Her shoulders beneath the red and white printed silk dress moved expressively. So did her sleek head of wavy black hair. Her deep blue eyes spoke volumes.

"Moving! It is so much trouble and we have so much to move," she said. "All I know is we stay here through November. After that (shoulders and hands made eloquent movement) who knows? Maybe Paraguay, maybe here. I leave the trunks packed until I know."

And her preference? Paraguay, Paris, Washington?

It matters not. If only she could once get settled and unpack "ze trunks!"

PARIS FORECASTS WIDER SHOULDERS

PARIS, Nov. 4—(AP)—Those narrow tailored shoulders which are the pride of the well dressed woman today are riding to the oblivion of things out of fashion, in the opinion of some people.

Prophets of the clothes world say that wider shoulders, introduced by way of shoulder capes and wide collars which extend beyond the point of the shoulder, are gradually accustoming our eyes to other lines than the high mounted, smoothly fitting sleeve.

Already at one or two of the most influential dress houses sleeves are shown with conservative gathering at the shoulder and modest puffs above the elbow. Many people believe that they are only forerunners and more of the same type are coming.

The puff sleeve is considered a logical development after raised waistlines, since it helps create the illusion of a small waist

Once wider shoulders and ample sleeves are established, the crystal gazers of the Rue de la Paix assure us we will develop hips less rudimentary than those of today.

Hair styles and hats are going to be included in the evolution for the silhouette of the head will change with that of the body, according to the forward looking designers. From loose waves and soft ringlets hair styles will develop fluffy contours and a substantial basis for big hats.

WOMAN SPENDS 62 YEARS IN RADIUS OF FIVE MILES

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Nov. 4—(AP)—For a non-nomadic record, Mrs. Isabel Polle Thompson has this to offer:

She has lived all of her 62 years within a radius of five miles, most of the time in the old adobe house in which she was born. She has never, she declares, ascended the steps of a railroad coach or ridden in an automobile, and with one exception—when she went to school in San Jose—has never visited outside Santa Cruz county.

SPORTSWOMEN WEAR FUR CUFFED GLOVES

PARIS, Nov. 3—(AP)—Fur cuffed musketeer gloves meant to be worn with the fur lining turned outward are favorites with the French sportswoman and motorist.

The fur gloves reach almost to the elbow when pulled up over the arm.

WOMEN'S CLUB OFFERS VARIED SPORTS LAYOUT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—Croquet and archery will be among the diversions offered at the new National Woman's Country club, sponsored by a group of well known Washington women.

Although golf, tennis, swimming and horseback riding will be part of the club's recreational facilities, there are many members who do not go in for strenuous athletics. For these croquet and archery will form milder sport.

TRAINED NIGHTGOWNS NEW LINGERIE PHASE

PARIS, Nov. 3—(AP)—Nightgowns, like evening gowns, trail in back and clear the ankles in front in their most recent form.

Many of the silk and lace lingerie creations shown here have circular skirts attached to semi-snug bodices at a normal waistline defined by inset lace.

Sunburn face on peach colored crepe de chine and satin is still the leading color combination.

FLOOR WAXING HINTS.

Householders are apt to overdo the waxing of floors. Under ordinary circumstances a floor requires rewaxing only two or three times a year. Another common mistake is too great liberality in the use of the wax. This is not only wasteful but harmful to the floor, as the surplus wax forms a soft coating on the surface that collects dust and makes it more apt to be marred.

If the floor needs rewaxing rub it thoroughly with turpentine before applying the wax, using a piece of cheesecloth.

After the floor is waxed keep it in good condition by dusting daily with a broom covered with canton flannel. Always keep a can of wax handy and as soon as you notice worn places in the doorways or other parts of the room apply a thin coat, rubbing it well into the wood. After this has dried for an hour polish the spot thoroughly.

BEDSPREADS.

Worn bedspreads come in handy as covers for mattresses or else placed over the mattresses to prevent wear on the mattress from the wire springs.

Baby Photo Week

In connection with BABY WEEK, starting Monday, we have arranged for with DESMARAIS STUDIOS to take one cabinet size photo FREE of any child up to six years, on presentation of sales check showing purchase of $1.00 or more in the infants' department during Baby Week.

Sittings are to be any time between 9 o'clock in the morning and 4 in the afternoon, including the last day, Sunday, Nov. 10. No free photos taken after that date.

Many special values for Baby Week. Watch Monday's paper.

Register for the Lucky Doll.

Red Arrow money given on all purchases, as usual.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of Martin Durr
Who Passed Away Nov. 4, 1928,
Just a Year Ago Today

Safe and lonely, softly sleeping
Where the flowers gently wave
Lies the one we miss so often
In his lonely, silent grave.
More and more each day we miss him,
Friends may think the wound is healed
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.

Rev. Howard Bushnell, with the assistance of the choir, conducted afternoon services at a Norwich institution Sunday. Stephen Gorski sang a solo.

The C. E. meeting was omitted that the members might attend the union meeting at the Center Congregational church in Lebanon. Sixteen from here were present.

Miss Clara Gillette and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Randall attended the semi-annual ministers' meeting at the United church, Norwich. The pastor and choir from here attended the banquet and service at Park church in the evening, when they heard Miss Seabury and Mr. Leiper.

About fifty attended the Halloween social held in the parsonage Wednesday evening. The rooms were elaborately decorated by the committee, Mary Kostowich, chairman. Alice Faulkner, Jared Hinckley and Stephen Gorski and others. Upstairs the fortune teller held sway in her native haunt with a cauldron in a setting of autumn leaves. The rooms were lighted by Jack-o' Lanterns which later were supplemented by lamps. The best masked characters were Stephen Gorski as a "Follies' Girl" and William Barrows, a realistic South Carolina Negro. Others represented Indian maidens, a ghost wedding party, a lady of fifty years ago, etc. Various games were enjoyed and refreshments were served by the committee.

Miss Annie Gillette entertained the Ladies' Aid society Thursday last at an all-day meeting. A fine lunch was served at noon.

Mrs. Elisha Waterman was hostess to a farm bureau group the past week Thursday. Lunch was served at noon and the time was occupied in making lambs wool moccasins. Mrs. J. A. Thomas was the instructor.

A school demonstration was given by the pupils of the lower room at Goshen Hill, Miss Helen Taylor teacher, when teachers of the surrounding schools were present.

Colds have been prevalent.

Deacon J. T. Thomas, who has been indisposed, is much better.

COLUMBIA

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hutchins and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Wolff and son, Mrs. Clair Robinson and children, Lucius Robinson and two sons had a day at the shore Sunday, at Groton Long Point.

The state highway department has notified the town selectmen to move the boulder at the corner of the Green erected in honor of the local men going to the World war, to a point further back on the Green. The State proposes to widen and make more safe the turn from the Green to the Willimantic road. Everyone will be very glad to see this improvement at the angle of the turn makes it a dangerous corner, with the increased traffic that will go through on the other road on the completion of the Jonathan Trumbull highway. The stone will be moved at once and the state promises to do the work within a week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Porter have received word that their three year old grand daughter, Jean Davenport, of Shelburne Falls, Mass., has diphtheria. Mr. Davenport is just recovering from a bad case of blood poisoning, due to an infected wound.

Mrs Bailey, who has been housekeeper for Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Porter for some time is in the Westfield, Mass., hospital, and has just had a serious operation. Last reports are that she is getting along as well as can be expected.

Miss Eva Collins is having a vacation from her duties in the Willimantic office of D. A. Lyman & Co., and is visiting her sister, Miss Lura Collins of East Hartford.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lyman and family spent Sunday in Wethersfield at the home of Mr. Lyman's mother Mrs. Lyman also spent a few days with relatives in East Hartford recently.

The C. E. ociety held a Halloween party Thursday evening in the chapel, some of the young people appearing in costume. Games were played and doughnuts and sweet cider were served for refreshments.

The Chestnut Hill school held a Halloween party Thursday afternoon, to which the Center school was invited, attending in a body. There were two short Halloween plays, recitations, followed by games, and Halloween candy was passed to all present.

Mrs. Ralph Buell returned home Wednesday evening, after a few days spent in East Orange, N. J., following the death of her mother there.

Mrs. Ruth Jacobs and a friend, Miss Godfrey of Boston returned from Groton Long Point Wednesday. Friday Mrs. Jacobs motored to Boston to take Miss Godfrey to her home there.

ARTHUR HICKS, NEW LONDON, TAKEN ILL WHILE ATTENDING NEW HAVEN GAME

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 3.—Arthur Hicks, 13 Lee avenue, was taken ill while attending the Yale-Dartmouth football game at New Haven Saturday and is now confined to his home, attended by a physician. Hick, with a companion, left New London Saturday forenoon apparently in perfect health. While the contest was at its height and with Hick engaged in the cheering, he suffered a severe hemorrhage, bleeding so profusely that he was given medical attention in the bowl. His condition became such that he was taken to the New Haven hospital and given additional treatment. Hick returned to New London last evening and upon his arrival at his home was attended by the family physician.

NORWICH YOUNG MAN WEDS LOCAL GIRL IN N. Y., JUNE 29

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 3.—Announcement has been made by Mrs. Sarah M. Coyle, 127 Blydenburg avenue, of the marriage of her daughter, Miss Sally Coyle, and James E. Riordan, son of Mrs. Edward Riordan. The marriage was performed June 29, last, by Rev. Fr. Foley, rector of the church of St. John the Divine, at New York.

DOMONICK POOL ROOM ROBBED OF $23 SAT. NIGHT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 3.—Samuel Dominick, proprietor of a pool room at 665 Bank street, reported to the police this morning that his place of business had been entered during the night. Dominick opened the pool room about 8 o'clock and discovered the break. He reported the burglary to Patrolman John Sullivan, who made known the robbery at police headquarters. Detective Sergeant John Cavanaugh investigated and found that entrance to the place was obtained by forcing a rear window and that $23 constituted all of the plunder taken. It is believed that the robbery was perpetrated by one or more youths who frequent the room and who had knowledge of the hiding place of the money.

MERRY CHASE OF DRIVER WHO TRIES HOGGING ROAD

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 3.—Albert Santachoce, 61 Poquonoc road, Groton, requested of the police early today that the driver of an automobile carrying demonstrator's registration, XH-138 be arrested on a charge of violation of the state motor vehicle law, in failing to grant right of way. It was found that the automobile is owned by the Packard Motor company and that the driver was one of their employes. He has been ordered to appear in the police court Monday and defend the charge against him. Santacroce said that he was driving on Main street, at 11.30 o'clock Saturday night and that he narrowly escaped crashing against the demonstartor's auto because of the driver of the latter machine refusing to grant right of way to the Groton man. After the collision had been avoided, Santacroce followed the demonstrator's auto be- Federal street, to Huntington, to Church, to Washington to Tilley, to Bank street, then to Bilmman and back to Bank street in an endeavor to overtake the Packard machine, but was unable to do so. Then Santacroce asked for the arrest of the offending driver.

JOY-RIDERS TAKE CAR—IS ABANDONED LATER

A Reo sedan, owned by Kate Santinella and in possession of James Romano, 18 Belden street, was stolen by joy riders Saturday night or early Sunday morning, for the car, which was discovered missing was later found abandoned. Romano drove the auto home and parked it in front of the house for the night. About 2:30 Romano awoke and discovered that the car was not where he had left it. After making a tour of the neighborhood and not finding the car, Romano reported the theft at police headquarters. Two hours later Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey found the car abandoned on Jefferson avenue, near Rogers street and disabled. It was towed to a garage to be repaired after the owner had been informed of the finding of the car.

ALLEGE LUNDBERG KEPT GAS STATION RECEIPTS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 3—Alberg W. Lundberg, 21, married and residing at 6 Lewis street, was arrested this morning by Detective Sergeant John Cavanaugh charged with embezzlement. He furnished a surety on his bond of $1,000 in William D. Nelson and Amelia Nelson and will be presented in the police court Monday. Lundberg has been employed for several months by Aaron Arrih and Samuel Sullock, proprietors of the Sunoco Gas & Oil company, Bank street. It is claimed that while in charge of the work of dispensing of gasoline and oil to motorists, Lundberg collected $404.00, which he did not deliver to the proprietors, but which he appropriated to his own use. When the alleged defalcation was discovered, complaint was made to Prosecuting Attorney Max Boyer and that official issued a warrant for Lundberg's arrest. Lundberg declared that he is not guilty of the charge and has retained counsel.

William R. Thomas, 88 Willetta avenue, was arrested Saturday night by Patrolman Carlos Stone charged with driving an automobile without having registration. Thomas was ordered to appear in court Monday.

Archie P. Wayside, colored and residing at 33 Hillside avenue, was arrested Saturday night charged with violation of the city's parking law in parking his car on Pearl street, which is restricted to all parking. Wayside furnished a bond of $3 for his appearance in court Monday.

COASTGUARDSMAN FOUND BLEEDING FROM INJURIES

Raymond Kawler, United States Coast Guard, was arrested at 1:30 o'clock this morning by Patrolman Edward Skoczylas for his own safety. The bluejacket was bleeding from injuries sustained, and in what manner he either did not realize, or refused to tell. He was turned over to the custody of a shore patrol and taken back to the state pier. Kawler was found on State street by Mortimer Nott, driver of the post office mail truck and was bleeding from wounds on the face and head. Nott summoned Officer Skoczylas that the sailor could be provided with medical treatment if his wounds were of such a nature that the services of a physician were needed.

Five men were arrested Saturday night and early today charged with intoxication. Three were sailors and were taken in charge by a shore patrol. Two others were civilians. One was arrested at Bulkeley place and was discharged. Another, arrested at the R. P. Learned mansion, will be in court Monday.

OBITUARY

Mrs. David Quinn

Mrs. Julia Mills Quinn, about 68, wife of David Quinn, died this morning at her residence, 164 Green street, after a lingering illness.

Track workers of the New Haven railroad were engaged throughout today laying new and heavier tracks from the north to the south end of the union station, also laying new planking there. During the progress of the work all trains passed through New London on the west bound tracks. Last Sunday the workers installed new iron on the west-bound rails.

TWICE LORETTA WOODS ATTEMPTS SUICIDE AT L. I.

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 3—Miss Loretta Woods, daughter of Mrs. Mary Woods, of Steward street, is a patient at Bellevue hospital, suffering, among other injuries from a possible fractured spine, sustained Friday by attempting suicide by twice jumping from the roofs of buildings. The young woman stated that her mother, resided at 271 Broad street, this city and requested that she be notified of the would-be suicide's predicament. The New York police made the request of the New London police that the mother be informed of the daughter's condition, but Mrs. Woods was not found until the following day for she had moved from Broad street to Steward street, following her daughter's disappearance several months ago. The young woman's mother is now in New York, having gone there Saturday. Miss Woods, who had been residing about two weeks at St. Zita's Home for Friendless Women, Elmhurst, Long Island, went to the roof of the five-story building and jumped, only to land uninjured on the roof of the adjoining four-story house. She then went to the roof of the 'gtter building and jumped again, landing on the roof of a two-story structure. An occupant of the house saw the young woman dragging herself to the roof and had her to be carried to the building. The police were summoned and took the would-be suicide to the hospital. Miss Woods would give no motive for attempting suicide.

Three Connecticut college girls were on Saturday attending a convention of the Women's Intercollegiate News association at Wellesley. The girls are Louisa Kent, 1930, editor in chief of the College News; Dorothy Quizley, 1930, business manager, and Ruth Candy, 1931, junior member of the News staff.

FUNERAL.

Augustus Chapel.

The funeral of Augustus Chapel was held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at 15 Masonic street, the services being conducted by Rev. Charles E. Spaulding, pastor of the Methodist church. Burial was in West End cemetery, Waterford.

Julius Desfosses, of Waterford; Fred Kinney, Waterford; James Fitzgerald, 24 Home street; Mrs. Richard Wade and infant son, 42 Maple avenue; Alex Skowronski, 29 Capt Ann court; Elmer James, 354 Jefferson avenue and Robert McCulleugh, 6 Truman street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged Saturday.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel Saturday ordered the suspension of the drivers' licenses of Harry Gruskin, 27 Shapley street; Vernon R. Cennon, U. S. Coast Guard destroyer, MacDougal, and Joseph M. Rekos, also U. S. Coast Guard and residing at 19 Chapell street. The last named was driver of the automobile in which John Klimberg, former coast guardsman, was killed at Norwood, Mass., recently when the auto crashed against a truck. Commissioned Stoeckel also denied the right to drive to Clarence Barrabrant, submarine base.

Girls Ordered To Leave City.

Two Montreal girls, Theresa Ricaro, 21, and Babe Ray, 22, were ordered to leave the city Saturday by the police an dthey lost no time in doing as ordered. The girls were arrested at 1.30 Saturday morning by State Police Officer William MacKenzie on a technical charge when the officer found the pair loitering near the state pier. The girls were without funds and were given shelter at police headquarters for the night.

Milton S. Clancy has sold a building lot on Grand street to Bessie W. Kendry.

The trustees of the estate of Morris W. Bacon have sold the former Bacon residence, corner of Granite and Channing streets, to Gertrude M. Carlson.

James Frans has filed a notice of intention to sell the business at 8 State street, to George Laios, of New York. The purchase price will be $13,000 and the sale will be consummated on or before the 18th inst. Frans purchased the business but a few months ago.

New Parking Regulations.

City Manager William A. Holt announced additional parking restrictions, which, it is believed, will greatly relieve traffic conditions on the streets affected. On Main street, where the street has been widened, from a point opposite Church street and for a distance of 60 feet north to a point where a new iron pole of the Connecticut Power company has been erected, no parking will be allowed on the east side of the street. Neither will parking be allowed longer than 30 minutes on the street, between State and Shapley street, other than where the parking is entirely restricted. On the southerly side of Prest street, between Blackhall street and Connecticut avenue, parking is entirely restricted.

Astikainen-Karkainen.

Onni Astikainen, Greenfield, Vt., and Miss Ida Karkainen, of this city, were married Saturday afternoon at the parsonage of the First Church of Christ by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth.

Patrolman and Mrs. Louis Wheeler, married a few days ago, have returned from their wedding trip and are residing at 45 Raymond street.

Eugene S. Fulton, 44 Prest street, was in the police court Saturday charged with reckless driving and was fined $10 and costs. Fulton was arrested at 12.30 o'clock Saturday morning by Automobile Patrol Officer Clarence Martin.

Ted Atack, U. S. Coast Guard destroyer Monaghan, state pier, was charged with breach of the peace, but the charge was nolled. He was arrested Saturday morning by Patrolmen Hery Sylvia, Edward Skoczylas and Anthony Turello on complaint of Aubrey Johnson, when the two men engaged in a brawl on Bank street. Johnson, who was held as a witness against Atack, was discharged.

The continued case of Mrs. Felix Mandler, of Brixze street, charged with breech of the peace, was nolled. Mrs. Mandler was arrested several months ago upon complaint of neighbors, who declared that the woman was constantly annoying them by her harsh language.

George T. Jones 888 Bank street, employed as motorman by the Connecticut company, reported to the police Saturday that his automobile, an Elgin touring car, had been stolen. Jones said that he parked the auto in front of his home when he concluded his labors Friday night and when he rose Saturday the car was missing.

Riley Aquilio, 66 Connecticut avenue, arrested in Hartford Friday by State Police Officer Michael Murphy, charged with driving with defective brakes, will be presented in the Waterford town court Monday.

Meyer Rose, arrested 10 days ago in Montville by State Police Officer William MacKenzie charged with reckless driving, was in the justice court at Montville Friday afternoon and was fined $25 and costs.

WILL ASK VOTE TODAY ON BINGHAM CENSURE RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3—(AP)—The senate will be asked tomorrow to place its condemnation upon Senator Bingham, republican, of Connecticut, for placing a salaried employe of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association upon the government payroll.

Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, who has introduced the resolution of condemnation, announced today he would call it up tomorrow and ask for a roll call vote. Friends of Senator Bingham have informed him the resolution is likely to be adopted. Bingham was told that before the resolution was introduced but he replied to intermediaries "I have nothing to apologize for."

Attempts to have Senator Norris modify the resolution to make it impersonal, without direct mention of Senator Bingham's name, and to change the word condemn to disapprove have failed. Amendments likely will be offered from the floor tomorrow seeking such a change.

Senator Bingham has indicated to colleagues that he may make another statement to the senate, explaining the details of his use of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association officer to assist him with the bill. However, it is understood he will offer no apology for it.

Last spring when the senate was about to undertake consideration of the tariff bill, the Connecticut senator wrote to the association asking the "loan" of a man to help in his work as a member of the finance committee which handled the tariff legislation. Charles L. Evanson, the $10,000 assistant to the president of the Connecticut association, was sent to Bingham. He was kept on salary by the association. When the republicans of the finance committee went into secret sessions to start writing the tariff rates, Senator Bingham put Evanson on the government payroll as his secretary. He then took Evanson into the secret sessions as one of his "secretaries." Evanson did not keep the government pay, turning it over to the regular secretary of Bingham whom he displaced on the government payroll.

FRUSTRATED ATTEMPT TO BOMB ITALIAN CHAMBER

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 3—(AP)—An attempt to bomb the Italian chamber of commerce was frustrated last night by a policeman who found the bomb, with smouldering fuse, on the pavement near the entrance to the Italian chamber.

The policeman seized the burning fuse and cut it short, separating the fire from the explosive. Then he carried the bomb to the police station and dropped it into a bucket of water. The bomb contained ordinary black powder. Police submitted the explosive to an expert, and began an inquiry to identy the authors of the outrage.

Anti-fascist activity in Brussels was manifested strikingly last October 24, when Fernando de Rosa, Italian political refugee, attempted to assassinate Crown Prince Humbert, of Italy, while the prince was in the city for announcement of his engagement to marry Princess Maria Jose, of Belgium. Fernando's first shot went wild, and he was captured by police.

BIGELOW-HARTFORD CO. TAKES OVER CARPET MILLS

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—(AP)—The name of the Bigelow-Hartford Carpet company, which Saturday purchased the Stephen Sanford & Sons Carpet mills, of Amsterdam, N. Y., will be changed to the Bigelow-Sanford Carpet and Rug company, directors of the former concern announced today.

It was indicated that John Sanford, president of the Sanford mills, will become chairman of the board of directors of the new company, and John A. Sweester, head of the Bigelow-Hartford company, will continue as president.

The purchase price was not announced, but it was reported to have been in the vicinity of $8,000,000. The announcement made clear that the deal was a purchase and not a merger.

The Sanford company, the oldest rug manufacturers in the country, now produces medium and popular price grades of Axminster rugs while the Bigelow company produces only higher grades of that type. The Bigelow output is mainly Wiltons, a rug which the Sanford mills do not make, while on the other hand the Sanford company is a large manufacturer of tapestry-velvet rugs of which the Bigelow mills produce none.

California's automobile death rate for the first five months of this year averaged five daily. The average of injured was 84 daily.

UP FROM THE GRIND ORGAN WITH SOUND

MECHANICAL music is a modern convenience, not an artistic triumph. When that truth is appreciated the menacing cloud, now hanging over American music will disappear.

Many a fine talking machine enters a home as an honored guest to be played and played for a week or a month, then to be left in silence except for special moods and occasions. The family's habits of attending places of public amusement to hear Real Music are not changed—or at least are not reduced. Rather, the evidence seems to be that the phonograph in the home serves the laudable purpose of exciting greater interest in the music of theatre and concert hall.

But now comes the promoter of "sound" Pictures who imagines that the same Mechanical Music, available at home for nothing, will thrill theatre patrons just because it is "synchronized with a motion picture." Is that a compliment to the theatre-goer?

The motion picture theatre, in the past, has served the cause of good music wonderfully well by embellishing its program with the human touch of the orchestra and organ. Now, with strange perversity, this same institution aims a devastating blow at cultural progress by introducing a substitute, which, however perfect it may become, can never escape the embarrassment of its blood relationship to the grind organ.

DEPOSED USURPER OF AFGHAN THRONE EXECUTED

DELHI, India, Nov. 3—(AP)—Dispatches received here today confirmed yesterday's report that Bacha Sakao, deposed usurper of the Afghan throne, and a number of his followers had been executed.

Nadir Khan, newly elected king, who had pardoned the the prisoners, was described as having yielded to demands of Afghan tribesmen from the south and west, who insisted that the men pay the death penalty. Gaining custody of the doomed prisoners, the tribesmen led them to a spot inside the Shepur cantonment and shot them. The usurper's two brothers Muhammad Sadiq and Saiyed Hussein were named as among those shot.

Saturday afternoon Harold James Dupont, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Joseph and Alice Delaney Dupont passed away at his parents' home, 86 Sixth street after three weeks' illness of diphtheria. He was born January 17th, 1924 at Plainfield. Besides his parents there are two sisters, Minnie and Lillian Dupont, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Delaney, of Plainfield, and Mr. and Mrs. William Dupont, of Pawtucket, R. I. He attended the first grade at Greeneville grammar school. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from his home, 86 Sixth street, with burial in a family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery. Undertakers Cummings and Ring had charge of the funeral arrangements.

REQUIEM MASSES OFFERED AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Requiem masses offered this past week at St. Mary's Memorial church were as follows: Wednesday morning at 7:30 o'clock, for the soul of Mrs. James Matri, and on Thursday morning at the same hour for Rose Brooks. Both masses were offered by the pastor, Rev. William A. Keefe, with relatives and family friends present. Mrs. Michael J. Farrell, organist, had charge of the musical program of the masses.

FUNERAL

Anthony Bozienski

The funeral of Anthony Bozienski, of Central avenue, was held from the undertaking parlors of Cummings & Ring Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock, followed by a requiem mass at St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock, which was celebrated by Rev. William A. Topor. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery where Rev. Fr. Topor conducted the committal service. The bearers were Charles Kaminski, Bronislaw Cwkilnski, John Brokowski, Michael Liszcky, Frank Lsnurkowski and Paul Kranarawicz. The services were well attended and the floral tributes both numerous and beautiful. Mr. Bozienski died suddenly while visiting at North Main street, Thursday morning.

Large congregations were the rule for the feast day masses at St. Mary's Memorial church on Friday, All Saints day. The early mass at 5 o'clock was offered by Rev. Frederick M. Coholan and the low mass at 7 and the high mass at 8 were sung by the rector, Rev. William A. Keefe. Benediction of the blessed sacrament followed the 8 o'clock mass and was given by Rev. Father Keefe. Saturday, the feast of All Souls, the masses were at 5, 7 and 8 o'clock.

Attended Yale Game

Among the local people who attended the Dartmouth and Yale football game Saturday at New Haven were Selectman and Mrs. William Murray, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Semple, Louis Geer, George Morris, Chauncey Geer, Edward Delaney, James Gray, John Dowling and George Swanton.

PLEADED AGAINST ASYLUM TERM TO GET OPPORTUNITY TO DROWN HIMSELF

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, Nov. 3.—About 30 minutes after he had committed suicide by jumping into the Quinebaug river tonight, the body of Theodore Beaugreault, 28, was recovered by men who were working in boats with grappling irons. For nearly an hour after the body was brought ashore A. A. Bonneville and R. C. Hopkins worked with an inhalator in an attempt to restore breathing but this proved unsuccessful. The body was taken in charge of Undertaker L. E. Kennedy.

Mr. Beaubreault has been in a very nervous condition for two or three weeks past, being unable to sleep and unwilling to take medicine. After an examination by two physicians it was decided to take him to the Norwich state hospital for observation and with his brother-in-law, Delor Grenon, superintendent of one of the mills of Powdrell and Alexander, and some other relatives, the trip for Norwich was started early this evening.

Mr. Beaubreault, on nearing the institution, pleaded so pitifully to be taken back home promising faithfully to take his medicine if he returned, so that he influenced his companions to turn about with him.

On arriving back in Danielson at his home, which is close by the river on South Main street, he leaped from the car as soon as it stopped in the yard, ran down between two houses and jumped into the stream. It was raining hard at the time. His brother, Rudolph, immediately leaped into the river after him but Beaubreault kicked and struggled with him to such degree that the brother had to release his hold on him to save his own life. In the midst of the commotion Emil Dugan, of 27 Glendale avenue, Hartford, came along in his car and noting the commotion, stopped. He, too, plunged into the stream, which is deep at that point in a fruitless attempt to rescue the drowning man.

Later at the state police barracks, Dugan left his clothes to be dried out and was given some blankets in which he wrapped himself to drive home to Hartford. Dugan's act was one of the most heroic noted hereabouts in a long time.

Lieut. Ross V. Urquhart, Sergeant G. L. Gardner and State Officers James Carmody and Henry Mayo were at the point of the drowning with grappling hooks and other apparatus from the barracks.

Dr. George M. Burroughs, medical examiner, viewed the body and gave permission for its removal. Beaubreault had splendid physical build, being tall and weighing about 190 pounds. He was universally liked. He had been employed in the machine department of one of the mills of Powdrell and Alexander. He leaves a wife and three children, the youngest a baby about six months.

For Franklin Street Parking.

Two motor drivers were summoned to the city court Saturday night for parking in restricted area on Franklin street. They were Onofrio Amedeo of 171 North Main street, whose machine was tagged by Officer Luke Riley, and Eleanor M. Byrne, who was found without her operator's license, when her car was parked in a no-parking spot.

Caught For Crap Shooting.

State Policeman Smith and Motor Officer Clifford Crary interrupted a crap game Sunday afternoon that was proceeding on the steps of a store at Thamesville. The shooters scattered and ran but Walter Sacilowski, 20, fell into the hands of the police and will appear in the city court.

TAFTVILLE

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Smith and Miss Lillian Laramie, of North B street, were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Laramie, of Plainfield.

A New York paper notes that Saunders MacLane, of Norwalk, a senior in Yale, has been awarded the Montclair Yale cup for 1929, which will be given annually hereafter to the Yale senior in the college of the Sheffield Scientific school who has won his scholastic "Y." The cup, the first to be given by a Yale alumni club for scholastic honors, will be awarded to MacLane at the annual party held in Nick Roberts' Old Barn at Montclair, Dec. 7. MacLane's scholastic record has been the highest in the history of Yale, according to Dean Clarence W. Mendell. He was born in Taftville, the son of the late Rev. Donald Bradford MacLane and Mrs. MacLane, while the former was pastor of the Taftville Congregational church.

Postmaster Edward Adams is in receipt of a communication from Walter F. Brown, postmaster general, advising him that there will be no city delivery, village delivery or rural delivery on Christmas day. It is the desire of the postmaster general that the maximum of employes in the employment of the department be able to participate fully in the observance of the greatest of all holidays and be with their families for their Christmas dinner. To permit of this, there will be no carrier deliveries or window service on Christmas day, and with few exceptions all work will be suspended from 12 o'clock midnight, Dec. 24, to 12 o'clock midnight, Dec. 25.

Following closely upon All Saints day, the holy day of obligation, at which there were special masses at Sacred Heart church, was the Feast of All Souls on Saturday. At the services on that day, which were largely attended, prayers were offered for the repose of the souls of the faithful departed. In the evening there were devotions in honor of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, as is customary on the evening of the first Friday of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle M. Wood, of North Third avenue, gave a Hallowe'en party Friday evening.

RED CROSS PROMOTES WATER SAFETY CAMPAIGN

As evidence of the nation's growing concern in safety first on the water, the life-saving corps of the American Red Cross now has an enrollment of 220,404 members, dating from 1914 to the close of the last fiscal year. The previous year showed an enrollment of 173,506 names, and the year before that of 134,582 names.

These figures, taken from the new annual report of the Red Cross, disclose an enrollment of 1,940 new members in Connecticut in the last year, which brings the total state enrollment to 5,018 members. The life-savers are all entitled to wear the Red Cross emblem on their swimming suits since they have taken the full course of Red Cross instruction and passed the tests.

National statistics on new members show that children led with 28,698 last year, as against 10,350 men and 7,350 women. Knowledge of life-saving among children relieves the anxiety of parents, since their training in rescue methods is supplemented with knowledge of what to do in canoe accidents and general safety measures, such as marking danger spots and maintaining water patrols. Many chapters last summer furnished volunteer patrols and life guards to municipal pools and beaches.

TO HEAR ADDRESS BY DEPUTY SCOUT EXECUTIVE

The members of the executive board of the Eastern Connecticut council of Boy Scouts together with the members of the various standing committees will be hosts to Deputy Regional Scout Executive George Felker and a number of influential men, interested in scouting, from Willimantic, Putnam and Danielson, at a banquet to be held in the Waureagan hotel this (Monday) evening at 6.30 o'clock.

According to Scout Executive John H. Sellman, and Charles Coit, president of the local chamber, Mr. Felkner, who was here for two weeks during the past summer, will deliver an address during the evening and short talks will be heard from the various guests.

Reports from all standing committees will also be heard. It is understood that at least 15 guests will be on hand from the newly acquired territory.

Halloween For Girls' City Club.

The Girls' City club, under the auspices of the Woman's City club, held an attractive and interesting Hallowe'en party Friday evening at the club headquarters, 9 Washington street. The unusually pretty and striking decorations had been put up by George Waterman. The girls present wore very pretty costumes and the prize was awarded to Irene Combies. The evening's program consisted of playing Hallowe'en and other games, also fortune telling under the direction of Miss Priscilla Clark of New London. Light refreshments were served by the committee in charge. The club holds its regular meetings on Friday evening and its management invites all girls between the ages of 15 and 21 to join the club and enjoy an evening of recreation and fun under fine direction.

NORWICH TOWN

"THE NEW CRUSADE"—PROHIBITION SERMON

A congregation of 50 gathered in the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday morning when Rev. William D. Pardee, of Hartford, gave a most interesting address on "The New Crusade." Mr. Pardee is an officer of the Connecticut Anti-Saloon league and his address was based partly on his observations in carrying out of his duties. The junior choir sang an anthem, "Over the Wide, Wide World." Doris Rose was organist in the absence of Mrs. Lewis E. Aldrich. Rev. Mr. Pardee gave a talk in the church school that held the close attention of the children as he explained that all the fairy tales of old have come true and now the rising generation must write a new chapter. Clayton Rose and Arthur Bennett were in charge of the C. E. meeting where the theme considered was "Making Our Body a Temple for God." There was an attendance of 25.

A fair-sized congregation heard the pastor, Rev. George Warren Potter, deliver a book sermon at the evening service. He selected Ernest Poole's novel, "Beggars' Gold." There was a pleasing vocal solo by Harold Rose. The offering was received by Frederick Ross and Leon Ladd, scouts in uniform.

Carl E. Anderson and Edna Chadsey, of Middletown, were dinner guests Sunday at the Methodist parsonage. Mr. Anderson was treasurer of the Epworth league at Portland during Rev. Mr. Potter's pastorate. Rev. Mr. Pardee, of Hartford, was a dinner guest also.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Hawkins, of Oneco, and five children were supper guests at the Methodist parsonage, Sunday. Mrs. Hawkins is cousin of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Potter, and sister of Alice Brown, who resides there.

Y. P. C. E. HOLDS WEEK END HALLOWEEN SOCIAL

About 30 members and friends of Norwich Town Congregational Young People's C. E. society held a masquerade Halloween social in the chapel Friday evening. The program opened with a grand march, led by Miss Esther Durr and Henry Counterman. Little Miss Betty Barber was awarded the prize for the best costume, while George F. Hyde was presented the trophy for the funniest outfit. The judges were Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey and James Gray. Miss Rose Durr, who accompanied at the piano for the march, was acting chairman of the committee in place of Reginald Avery, chairman of the social committee, under whose auspices the social was held: Mr. Avery is attending Wesleyan university, Middletown. Among the games and stunts were Going to Jerusalem, Queen of Sheba, yardstick-relay, bobbing for apples and the Automobile. Other members of the C. E. social committee who assisted Miss Durr in serving sweet cider and doughnuts were her sister, Miss Ether Durr and Miss Louise Sterry, also Carl Oliver and Ernest Nylen, Henry Counterman and Luther Whaley. The evening was brought to a close by all uniting in singing Blest Be The Tie, That Binds. The chapel was attractively decorated with festoons of black and yellow crepe paper, black cats, witches, pumpkin moonshines, etc.

Held Communion Service.

II Corinthians 5:19. To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself, not imputing their trespasses into them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. This was the text on which Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey based his Sunday morning sermon, at the First Congregational church. Following the morning worship, Rev. Mr. Bailey conducted the November communion service.

"Man the Temple of God," was the theme of the Young People's Christian Endeavor service Sunday evening in the chapel.

In preparation for a Harvest supper to be held under the auspices of the League of Service supper committee, Mrs. John L. Browning, chairman, this committee held a meeting Thursday evening at Mrs. Browning's home, West Town street. The other members are Mrs. Walter G. Hitchon, Jr., Mrs. Ernest Washington, Mrs. Charles Barber, Mrs. Harriet Barber, and the Misses Bernice Underwood and Margaret Chapin.

When the state convention of the Kings' Daughters convenes in Hartford, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 5 and 6, at the Central Baptist church, of the 12 delegates appointed by the leader of Home chapter, K. D., Mrs. William H. Whiteman of Norwich Town is on the list. The leader, Mrs. Willard E. Manning is also to represent Home chapter.

WHY MEN GO TO CHURCH EXPLAINED BY FR. GALVIN

To give point to the sermon delivered at the 9 o'clock mass in St. Patrick's church Sunday by the senior assistant, Rev. Myles P. Galvin, the congregation filled every pew in auditory and galleries. His theme was the holy eucharist, defined by the catechism as the body and blood, soul and divinity of Jesus Christ, under the appearance of bread and wine. It is peculiar to the Roman Catholic church that it alone, with the exception of a certain branch of the Greek church, is the only denomination which firmly believes that Christ is really, truly and substantially present in the holy eucharist.

People who do not understand accuse Catholics of being idolatrous; yet this belief is founded on the Bible, which is the whole and only rule of faith for other denominations, said the preacher. Catholics found their belief on a double basis, the Bible and tradition.

The night before Holy Thursday, after He had broken and blessed the bread, He gave it to His disciples and said, "Take ye and eat: this is My body." And taking the chalice, "Take ye and drink; this is My blood. Do this in commemoration of Me". The command is taken literally as in the Bible, and this is what the Catholic church believes, that Christ, Who is God, made provisions for millions through the ages to come. Christ would not permit people to be idolators—to adore a piece of bread, a cup of wine.

The apostles, above all St. Paul, the authority quoted by other churches, believed Christ's promise; and Paul, in his first letter to the Corinthians admonished them as to the state in which Christians should be when receiving this spiritual food. The fathers of the church continued the belief; and as long ago as the Council of Trent the belief was defined and the Christian who would doubt was pronounced by that very fact excommunicated. It is one of our most important articles of faith, the preacher declared.

Catholics may have eloquent preachers, fine music, grand churches, but these would soon grow same, as with others. But it has more—men as well as women and children see the church because of the firm belief that Christ is here, in the blessed sacrament, here as He was at Bethlehem, on Calvary. We can come to Him here, tell Him our troubles, find in Him our consolation. It is Christ in the blessed sacrament that makes Catholic men as well as women and children, come to church, no matter what the weather, or other considerations or conditions. For this gift of the divine presence Catholics render thanks in faith and love, kneeling before their altars and exclaiming with St. Thomas the Apostle, "My Lord and my God!"

Father Galvin assisted Rev. John J. Reilly in administering holy communion to an exceptional number of penitents. For a communion hymn the junior choir, accompanied by the organist, Henry J. LaFontaine, sang "Jesus, Saviour, Come to Me."

WILLIMANTIC AMERICAN LEGION GAINS OVER 400 PER CENT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 3.— Charles F. Batz, of Ellington, was installed commander of the fourth district of the American Legion, comprising Tolland and Windham counties, at the quarterly gathering of the district held here this afternoon. The installation of Commander Batz, who succeeds to Past Commander Edward A. Zimmerman, was by Page E. Seaton of Waterbury, past department commander.

Past Commander Seaton, who presided over the gathering, brought signal honors to James J. Shea post, No. 19, of this city, in the presentation to the post of a national citation noting an increase of over 400 per cent in the post membership during the national campaign.

Mrs. Helen Macfarlane, of Mansfield, member of Earl W. Green post, No. 52, was installed as president of the fourth district of the auxiliary. This installation was conducted by Mrs. Lillian Yerrington, of Hartford, past department president of the auxiliary. Commander (Dr.) W. P. S. Keating of James J. Shea post, was re-named on the rehabilitation committee of the district.

The gathering, held in the local post quarters on Jackson street, was a most enjoyable one. There was an attendance of over 125 legionnaires and auxiliary members from Ellington, Rockville, Stafford, Danielson, Mansfield and Coventry and this city. Lunch was served by the women of the local auxiliary. It was voted to hold the next gathering in Danielson.

GIRLS TO HIKE 100 MILES FOR N. F. A. LETTER

Miss Agatha Billodeau was chosen president and Miss Anna Leone secretary of the Girls' Hiking Club of Norwich Free Academy at its organization meeting last week. In order to secure a letter the girls must hike 100 miles before January, the mileage to be made up of hikes of five miles each. After the meeting the girls walked to Mohegan park accompanied by the Academy gymnasium teachers, Miss Sigrid Manty and Miss Marjorie Sibley. At the park the party split into two groups with Miss Helen Lewitz and Miss Phyllis Kslazek, as leaders and then continued the hike.

HEARD NORWICH VIOLINIST THROUGH RADIO STATION

Norwich friends of Henry Bryan, violinist, of this city, tuned in on Station WOR, Newark, N. J., to listen to a pleasing program broadcast by the Amati trio, of which he is a member and conductor. The program was from 8.30 to 9 o'clock on Saturday evening. Mr. Bryan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. Bryan of 50 Ward street and a graduate of Norwich Free Academy, class of '25, and of the Institute of Musical Art of New York.

UTILITIES COMMISSION RESERVES DECISION ON BOZRAH ELECTRIC RATES

Before the public utilities commission in the capitol at Hartford, an all-day hearing was given Friday on the petition of Rev. George W. Borden of Leffingwell and others in protest over the rates charged for electricity by the Bozrah Electric Co. The hearing opened at 10 in the morning and was not over until 3 in the afternoon, with Attorney Charles L. Stewart presenting the case for the petitioners and Mr. Gilman, a student at Yale Law school, appearing for the Bozrah company.

The commissioners reserved decision.

There was an attendance of about 20 at the hearing, from among whom Attorney Stewart called upon about ten to give testimony. These were residents of the towns of Montville and Franklin and the Leffingwell section of the town of Bozrah, being patrons of the Bozrah company for the electric light and power service which it renders.

The electric company's side of the case was presented in a financial statement by which it was shown that the company was making no profit in its business.

It was brought out that the Bozrah company has never filed with the utilities commission a schedule of rates and the commissioners directed that such a schedule be filed with them. With that in hand, and the testimony given at the hearing, the commissioners will give their decision in due time.

DIES SUDDENLY WITH CEREBRAL HEMMORRHAGE

Henry C. Zimmerman, 80, retired gardener died suddenly Sunday morning about 9:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Bennett, of 12 Penobscot street, with whom he was making his home. His death was caused from cerebral hemmorrhage, according to Medical Examiner Dr. C. C. Gildersleeve. Mr. Zimmerman was seized with the attack as he was sitting on the edge of the bed in his room, as he was about to arise for the day. He toppled over onto the floor and by the time that Dr. J. W. Callahan, who was called, arrived, he expired.

Mr. Zimmerman, a native of New York, was a resident of this city for about 40 years and was employed as a gardener about town until a number of years ago when he retired. He is survived by a sister, living in Keene, N. H., a nephew in New York and a niece, Mrs. Oramel J. Brockway of the Salem turnpike, East Great Plain. His wife, Rachel, died here about eight years ago. For the past five years he has lived with Mr. and Mrs. Bennett.

SUCCEEDS BERGSTRESSER AS SILK MILL SUPERINTENDENT

As successor to M. L. Bergstresser, superintendent of the silk mill of Schwarenback Huber company on Mechanic street, W. Keller has come here from Union City, N. J., and has taken up the duties at the local mill. Mr. Keller returned to Union City over the week end. Mr. Bergstresser has been transferred to the company's plant at Union City.

TRUCK EDGED BETWEEN TROLLEY AND CURBING

While trying to pass in Main street near the Postal Telegraph office about 9:45 o'clock Saturday morning, a Mack truck owned by William Ryan and son, sand and gravel dealers, and an eastbound trolley car came together and tied up traffic for 10 minutes before they were separated. The truck, traveling toward the West Side, was wedged between the trolley and the curbing, the street at this point being very narrow. For some time neither vehicle was able to proceed forward or backward, but they were finally gotten apart near the Manhattan building, where the street is wider. The trolley and truck received scratches.

For Connecticut Women Voters.

The first day of the annual convention of the Connecticut League of Women Voters to be held in Hartford, Nov. 13-14, will have as its keynote the subject of adult education. Edward C. Lindeman, well-known professor of social philosophy at the New York School of Social Work, will address the delegates at the dinner at the Hotel Bond on the "Significance of Adult Education." Hiram Percy Maxim of Hartford, as president of the American Radio Relay league and the International Amateur Radio union, will give the luncheon address on the subject of the radio and its adaptation to the purpose of education.

How the League of Women Voters is an instrument of adult education will be shown by the demonstration of a round table on taxation, a study group on paying for school in Connecticut and a mock interview with a legislator on jury service for women.

POETRY

The Puzzled Census Taker

"Got any boys?" the marshal said
To a lady from over the Rhine;
And the lady shook her flaxen head
And civilly answered, "Nein!"

"Got any girls?" the marshal said
To the lady from over the Rhine,
And again the lady shook her head,
And civilly answered, "Nein!"

"But some are dead?" the marshal said
To the lady from over the Rhine;
And again the lady shook her head,
And civilly answered, "Nein!"

"Husband, of course," the marshal said
To the lady from over the Rhine;
And again she shook her flaxen head,
And civilly answered, "Nein!"

"The devil you have!" the marshal said
To the lady from over the Rhine;
And again she shook her flaxen head,
And civilly answered, "Nein!"

"Now, what do you mean by shaking your head,
And always answering 'Nine?'
"Ich kann nicht Englisch?" civilly said
The lady from over the Rhine.

November

Days winged so fast instead of June
It was frost-rimed November!
Ripe wheat was threshed, the late fall moon
Glowed red on stubble fields rich strewn
With corn in shocks; dusk came so soon
I knew I must remember
Days winged so fast—instead of June
It was frost-rimed November.

Stay, changing years of shade and sun,
Some tears—a little laughter;
How quickly turning seasons run
It seems that June has scarce begun
Before the autumn days are done!
And winter follows after . . .
Stay, changing years of shade and sun,
Some tears—a little laughter.

—Anne M. Robbins, in New York Herald-Tribune.

Attendant—This is the Dead Letter Office.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mrs. Shopalot—You say this material is the very latest in fashion?

Clerk—Yes, madam, and it's shrink proof.

Mrs. Shopalot—But will it fade in the sun?

Clerk—No, madam. It's been in our window for two years.—Exchange.

The District Attorney was determined to shake the evidence of the attendant.

"Now my man," he thundered, "you have stated that you made a 200-mile journey to New York to look for a job. I say that another and stronger motive brought you."

"Quite right," admitted the defendant.

"Ah, now we are getting on," exclaimed the pleased District Attorney, "and what was that motive?"

"A locomotive."—Boston Transcript.

SEN. BINGHAM EXONERATED OF ANY CORRUPT MOTIVE

Senate, in Voting, 54 to 22, to Condemn Connecticut Senator For Employing Eyanson to Aid Him in Tariff Work, Adopted Amendment Clearing Him of Corruption—Senator Bingham, in Defense Statement, Denied Any Guilt of Wrong-Doing—Substitute Resolution by Chairman Smoot of Lobby Committee, to Soften Blow, and Amendment by Senator Edge to Change Word "Condemned" to "Disapproved" Both Voted Down—Thirty-Two Democrats and 22 Republicans Voted For Censure Resolution.

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4—Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, was exonerated by his colleagues of any corrupt motive in the employment of Charles L. Eyanson, an official of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association to aid him in his work on the tariff bill, before his colleagues by a vote of 54 to 22 adopted a resolution of condemnation, the first such vote of censure passed in twenty-seven years.

He was exonerated through the adoption of an amendment offered by Senator Glenn, of Illinois.

Senator Bingham has no thought of resigning from the senate, and expressed regret tonight that the resolution did not also exonerate Mr. Eyanson.

Before the resolution was adopted Senator Bingham made a statement on the floor of the senate in his own defense, in which he said:

"Whatever mistakes in judgment I have made, however, indiscreet, or overzealous I may have been, the fact remains that whatever I did was done in an effort to obtain the most complete information." He denied that he had been guilty of any wrong-doing.

Efforts to soften the blow at Senator Bingham centered in a substitute resolution offered by Senator Smoot, chairman of the finance committee for the Norris resolution, and this was defeated by a vote of 34 to 32. Another amendment offered by Senator Edge, proposing to change the word "condemned" to "disapproved" was rejected by a vote of 43 to 34.

Senator Gillett of Mass., while frankly declaring that he did not approve of the employment of Eyanson, by Senator Bingham, insisted that the incident was not such as to demand formal action by the senate. He said that he had seen men in the house when he was a member of that body taking part in legislation under the influence of liquor. He said that there were plenty of rumors that senators had bottles of liquor in their offices. These things, he said, were wrong, but he added that no effort was made by senate action to condemn them, nor would he join in any such action.

The resolution was adopted on vote of 32 democrats and 22 republicans. No democrat voted against the resolution.

The complete text of Senator Bingham's defense statement will be found on page 5.

NEW ENGLAND DELEGATION VOTED AGAINST RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—Condemnation was voted upon Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, today by the senate, for his relations with the Connecticut Manufacturers' association while formulating the tariff legislation.

Obviously hurt but still defiant, the republican senator, a former Yale professor and World war aviator, replied as he left the chamber that he would "certainly not" resign.

Through four hours of debate, he had maintained his right to use an officer of the Connecticut association to help him in his work of framing the tariff bill and to take that officer into the secret tariff rate mak-

LABOR PLANS INTENSIVE ORGANIZATION IN SOUTH

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—President Green of the American Federation of Labor today called upon presidents of 105 labor unions to send representatives to Washington November 14 to plan an intensive organization campaign in the south.

"There is a basis for the social unrest and industrial discontent which is so apparent in the south and which is attracting attention of the nation," Green and Secretary Morrison said in the letter addressed to the various unions affiliated with the federation.

"The officers and members of the American Federation of Labor must respond to the appeal of the southern workers for assistance and help. We must give to them and to the industrial situation in the south the constructive service which the American Federation of Labor is prepared to give. Let us accept the challenge which comes to us from those extremists among employers of the south who classify the American Federation of Labor as communist and destructionist."

Calling of the conference was an aftermath of the Toronto convention of the federation last month, at which recent events in the southern textile industry were recalled and the presidents instructed to press for unionization of workers in this section.

DAWES TO CONFER WITH PRES. HOOVER TODAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—President Hoover and Charles G. Dawes, American ambassador to Great Britain, meet tomorrow for the first time since the former vice president began the conversations with Prime Minister MacDonald out of which grew the invitations for the five-power naval limitation conference in London next January.

The ambassador, accompanied by Mrs. Dawes, will arrive early tomorrow from Chicago and will be a guest at the white house until Thursday evening when he will proceed to New York en route to London to resume his duties.

Mr. Dawes also will confer with Secretary Stimson, who is to head the American delegation to London. Besides the secretary of state, Ambassador Dawes and Senators Reed, of Pennsylvania, and Robinson, of Arkansas, the delegation will consist of one or two members who will be selected by the president after his talks with the ambassador.

"MILLION DOLLAR" BOOTLEGGER TO PAY $100,000 INCOME TAX

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—Staten Island's "million dollar" bootlegger, John J. Dunne, has compromised for $100,000 the $493,727.11 income tax and penalties assessed on his bootleg profits by the government, it was announced today.

The announcement was made by Assistant United States Attorney James E. Wilkinson in Brooklyn federal court when Dunne pleaded guilty to an indictment returned against him for failure to report his bootleg earnings. He was fined $2,000 and sentenced to a year in prison, the prison term being suspended.

OTTO PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO PERJURY

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)— James L. Otto, one of the owners of the Albany baseball and stock pool, today pleaded not guilty to a perjury indictment in federal district court today. His case was tentatively put on the trial calendar for Nov. 18.

The probation of George Carde, an employee of the pool, was revoked by Judge Alfred C. Coxe. Carde will be sentenced Wednesday

MISSING FLIERS SAFE AT CAMBRIDGE BAY

WINNIPEG, Man., ov. 4—(AP)—Believed to have been found by wandering Eskimos called to the search by the voice of the radio, Col. C. D. H. McAlpine and his party of seven prospectors, who have been missing for eight weeks in the Arctic barrens, were safe tonight at Cambridge Bay, away up on the northermost rim of Canada.

From Bathurst inlet radio station, on the north coast—1,000 miles due north of Regina, Sask.—was flashed to the search headquarters late this afternoon the following message:

"Fort James station, at Gjoahaven, King William Island, advised me 10 a. m. mountain time that McAlpine party arrived safely at Cambridge Bay across the ice from Dease Point. Fort James will forward me instructions as soon as possible."

Colonel McAlpine, head of the Dominion Explorers, and his party went into the north country on an aerial exploration trip. When they failed to return a widespread search was organized.

COS COB DRIVER HELD RESPONSIBLE BY CORONER

GREENWICH, Nov. 4—(AP)—Following an inquest into the death of Yvonne Demousaudome, 21, a local domestic, Deputy Coroner Henry C. Stevenson announced today that his finding would hold Louis Enright, of Cos Cob, driver of the machine in which Miss Demousaudome was a passenger, criminally responsible for the accident.

Enright, who was injured in the accident, is at the Greenwich hospital and was unable to testify at the inquest. Police Captain Flanagan, however, presented a sworn statement which Enright is said to have made and in which he admitted that he had had three drinks before the collision. Wallace Hood, another passenger in the machine, also testified that Enright had had three drinks at various times during the ride.

RASKOB DENIES HE WAS STOCK MARKET "PLUNGER"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—A formal denial by John J. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee, that he was a stock market "plunger" or had advised others to speculate was read today to the senate.

The statement was in a letter to Senator Harris, democrat, Mississippi, and was presented by him for hearing. In reply to accusations several days ago by Senator Robinson, republican, Indiana, Raskob characterized the senate speech as "a political attack."

"The answer is that I do not gamble in the stock market," he said. "I have always purchased stock outright, investing in the securities of those companies that I thought had an attractive future and have held the stocks until such time as I felt they were selling for all they were worth."

FEAR FOR SAFETY OF DETROIT MAN

DETROIT, Nov. 4—(AP)— Definite fear for the safety of William J. Scripps, 24-year-old president of Gliders, Inc., manufacturers of gliders, and son of W. E. Scripps, publisher of the Detroit News, became manifest today as a search for the young man, missing since October 23, by Detroit and Canadian police continued to be fruitless.

Missing since October 23, when he was last seen in Windsor, Ont., his associates now believe that either he has met with an accident which prevents him from communicating with his home or that he is being detained by force

Turned Bandit To Recoup Stock Losses

Man Forces Realty Official to Turn Over Rent Collections At Point of Gun

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—A man who explained that he had lost heavily in the stock market went out with a pistol today to recoup his losses.

He forced Oscar L. Trister, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., treasurer of the G. S. J. Realty Corp., to the roof of an apartment house in which Trister was making rent collections, and robbed him of $1,332.

The robber returned $188 which Trister said was his own money, and ignored checks worth $2,000. Trister said he explained he wanted the cash to cover losses in the market. He escaped after handcuffing Trister to a steel post on the roof.

Four Mexicans Killed When Plane Crashed

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 4—(AP)—Four men, including Governor Manuel Carpio of Aguas Calientes, were killed today when an airplane of the Corporacion Aeronautica de Transportes crashed near Villa Carbon in the state of Mexico.

The others killed were the secretary of the governor, Pilot John Carmichael and Traffic Superintendent Lowry of the air line. The plane was bound from Mexico City to Juarez.

WETHERSFIELD "LIFER" IS GIVEN UNCONDITIONAL PARDON

HARTFORD, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Harold B. Page, 35, sentenced to life imprisonment for murder when he was 17 years old, was granted an unconditional pardon today when he appeared for the eighth time before the state board of pardons. The board in a six-hour session at the Wethersfield state prison heard the petitions of 48 prisoners, granted pardons to three and commuted the sentences of three others. Gov. Trumbull presided.

Guy M. Tressler, 43, brother-in-law of Roger W. Watkins and an accessory in his Hartford stock swindle, was granted a pardon after Assistant State's Attorney Donald Gaffney had recommended clemency. Tressler has served one year of a two to four years term for conspiracy to defraud. His brother Maynard, sentenced with him in October, 1928, completed his minimum sentence of one year on October 15 and is on parole. Watkins is serving a sentence of 9 1-2 to 14 1-2 years.

Harold Page shot and killed Harold Ford, of Meriden, a youth of about his own age, while the two were hunting in the Madison woods in 1911. He was convicted of second degree murder, his years, so Assistant State's Attorney Abraham S. Ullman, of New Haven county told the board last May, saving him from the death penalty. He entered the prison April 17, 1913.

The third prisoner to gain his freedom today was Jack P. Segall, 25, of New York city, sentenced to serve three to five years in September, 1927, for statutory arson. Segall was involved with Jacob Kirschbaum, convicted fire brand, in an arson case at Bridgeport and turned state's evidence to testify against his fellow conspirator.

Harry Bloom, alias Moe Gross, of New York, was granted a pardon on a conviction of assault with intent to kill alleged to have taken place during a strike fracas in Colchester, August 29, 1926. He proved he was in New York on the date in question.

NORTHCUTT REFUSES TO OFFER EXPLANATION

BREMERTON, Wash., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Refusing to discuss his predicament and disdaining the offers of fellow naval officers to act as his counsel, Lieut. Harold Wilson Northcutt, listed as missing from the naval station at Norfolk, Va., since Oct. 22, was in custody here tonight.

Northcutt was discovered by United States authorities at a rooming house in Vancouver, B. C., and came to Seattle voluntarily. There he was arrested and brought to the Puget Sound navy yard here for further orders.

Admiral H. J. Zeigmeier, commandant of the navy yard, into whose custody Northcutt was placed, had no official information as to the status of his prisoner. He indicated he would take no action, even to question Northcutt, until he received instructions from the navy department in Washington, D. C.

BRIDGEPORT VOTERS WILL BALLOT TODAY FOR MAYOR

BRIDGEPORT, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Two candidates of the major parties, neither of whom has been defeated for public office in many appearances before the electorate, face one another in the city election tomorrow, when Mayor F. William Behrens, republican, seeks election for a fourth term, being opposed by former Mayor Edward T. Buckingham, democrat. Buckingham was elected mayor just 20 years ago, after serving a term as city clerk. He retired from the mayoralty when the democrats nominated a successor two years later, who was defeated at the polls by Clifford S. Wilson.

BRISTOL LIQUOR OFFENDER SUICIDED IN JAIL

BRISTOL, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Stanley Pirog, 45, arrested earlier in the day as a sixth offender of the prohibition law, committed suicide in the local jail by hanging this afternoon. He used a belt, tying one end to the grating of his cell.

Pirog was placed in the cell after being unable to post a $2,000 bond for his release. He was to have been arraigned tomorrow.

Pirog's wife was also arrested as a liquor law violator, but she was released without bonds, so that she could care for her three children.

ALBANY GIRL KILLED BY HIT-RUN DRIVER

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Struck down today by a car whose driver disappeared, Gertrude S. Peters, of Schodack Center, a student at New York State College for Teachers, died in Albany hospital tonight.

The license plate on the car abandoned by the driver was issued, said the Rensselaer sheriff's office, to Harold M. Hyde, of Greenwich, Conn.

"[illegible] Killed In [illegible]ttempt To Escape

Convict Who Made Daring Break For Liberty Shot Down by Guard.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Arthur Brooker, of Findlay, O., 23, one of three convicts who made a daring break for liberty over the walls of Ohio penitentiary today, died in the prison hospital tonight from bullet wounds inflicted by a guard.

The other prisoners, armed with shotgun and a pistol, were at large, hunted by a posse of 30 policemen and deputy sheriffs.

The fugitives were Guy R. Tennent, 32, of Celina, O., and William Miller, 21, of Lawrence county.

Brooker had been serving a life term for first degree murder. Tennent and Miller were serving 10 to 25-year sentences for robbery.

AMERICAN CAN NOT ENTITLED TO REFUND

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(AP)—A decision of the United States circuit court of appeals today kept approximately $6,500,000 in the United States treasury.

The unanimous ruling of the appellate court upheld a directed verdict by Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard, who had ruled that the American Can Co. and three subsidiaries were not entitled to a return of $3,902,936 which they paid in income tax for 1917. Interest on the payment would have brought the total to $6,500,000.

BROOKHART TO BRING UP PROHIBITION QUESTION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—More and more the attention of senators is being attracted by charges of liquor drinking by those who write the laws of the country.

Senator Smith Wildman Brookhart of Iowa, who startled his colleagues in September with an account of a dinner to senators at which liquor was served, gave notice in the crowded chamber today that he would "discuss prohibition enforcement in general and Wall street booze parties in particular" soon after the gavel bangs tomorrow. A republican dry, he has been subpoenaed to tell a grand jury Wednesday what he knows about the alcoholic propensities of Washington.

Hardly had the Brookhart flurry subsided before Senator Gillett, republican, Massachusetts, informed the senate he frequently had seen representatives legislating in the house "under the influence of liquor." For three terms he was speaker of the house.

Gillett's remarks occurred during debate on the resolution to censure Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut. He observed it would keep congress busy to attempt to censure all indiscretions by members, and said the alleged intoxication of house members had been obvious to those present—although unknown "to the great American public."

COLLEGE STUDENT HELD FOR POSSESSING LIQUOR

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Harold McKee, of Pittsburgh, Pa., University of Michigan junior, was held in jail here tonight in default of $2,500 bond on a charge of possession of liquor, while police sought two other students for questioning about a case of wine and a case of whiskey confiscated Saturday night in a men's dormitory.

Police charge that the three students were paying their ways through the university from the profits of the liquor sales.

An investigation of the affair by university authorities was expected to get under way tomorrow. Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the university, said tonight that he possessed little information concerning the raid, but that "the university will take full cognizance of it."

Dean of Students J. A. Bursley was in conference today with Prosecutor Carl Stuhrberg and Chief of Police Thomas O'Brien, but made no public statement.

McKee has declined to talk since his arrest Saturday night when he walked into the dormitory room where the liquor was found, while the raiders were there.

Police are seeking Charles Fitzpatrick, of Flushing, N. Y., and Alexander Gow, of Windsor, Ont.

COURT NAMES "DRY" AGENTS AS PROBATION OFFICERS

HAMMOND, Ind., Nov. 4.—(AP)—A new policy in prohibition enforcement—that of naming federal prohibition agents as probation officers, for alleged offenders of the law, was started here today by Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick.

The action was taken in the cases of several defendants whose sentences were suspended following pleas of guilty, and was the result of a suggestion by Gus Simons, assistant prohibition administrator for the Indiana-Ohio district.

Judge Slick at first hesitated about naming the dry agents as probation officers, saying he thought the defendants might feel as though they were constantly under surveillance and be deprived of their liberties as citizens. Later, however, he accepted the suggestion, cautioning the agents that they were not to devote all their time to watching their charges, but were rather to see that they kept out of the liquor business.

POST $5,000 BOND FOR BEAL TODAY

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Thaddeus A. Adams, Charlotte attorney, who defended Fred Erwin Beal and six other National Textile Workers' union members during the trial which led to their conviction of second degree murder in connection with the slaying of O. F. Aderholt, Gastonia chief of police, said tonight that bonds of $5,000 would be posted for Beal tomorrow pending his appeal to the state supreme court.

WOMAN MUST PAY ALIMONY TO HUSBAND

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 4—(AP)—Mrs. Rebecca Finkler must pay her husband $10 a week alimony. Circuit Judge Otto H. Dreidenbach ordered today as he reviewed divorce proceedings, instituted by Finkler.

The husband testified that his wife nagged him continually until he placed all his property in her name.

SENATE TO SPEED UP DEBATE ON TARIFF

Informal Conferences Continue But No Definite Future Programme Has Been Decided Upon.—All Sides Determined to Reduce Wrangling to Minimum in Hope of Passing Bill Before Special Session Ends—Three Amendments Sponsored by Republican Tariff-Framers Were Approved, Two Providing For Increases and One a Decrease in Rates.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)— Determined to reduce wrangling over secondary rate changes to a minimum, the senate returned to consideration of the tariff bill today after devoting four hours to the Bingham case and approved both increases and decreases in duties affecting commodities in the chemicals and earths schedules.

Informal conferences looking to speeding action on the measure continued but no definite future program was forthcoming. All sides reiterated determination to hasten debate, however, in the hope of passing a bill before the special session ends with this month.

Principal arguments today revolved around the proposal of the finance committee majority to retain the existing six cents a pound duty on synthetic camphor, a product used in the manufacture of pyroxylin or non-shattering glass. The house bill provided a cut in this rate to one cent and after considerable debate the senate adopted an amendment by Senator Lafollette, Wisconsin, a republican independent, providing a one-cent duty.

Opposing the reduction, Senator Edge, republican, New Jersey, a member of the finance committee, said a group of men in his state had spent $500,000 to produce synthetic camphor on the basis of the present tariff and were prepared to turn out 500 pounds daily after December 1.

Lafollette contended the question was whether the senate was going to extend a "tariff in advance, thereby taxing the American consumer before the American producer is ready to supply American needs."

The finance committee republicans also lost an attempt to keep the existing rate of fifty cents a pound on menthol, which the house raised to seventy-five cents. An amendment by Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, ranking democrat on the committee, cutting the levy to thirty cents was approved.

Three amendments sponsored by the republican tariff-framers were approved, two providing for increases and one a decrease.

The duty on vanillin, an aromatic chemical used in the manufacture of perfumes and flavoring extracts, was raised from 45 per cent ad valorem based on foreign valuation, to seven cents a pound and 45 per cent based on American valuation.

The rate of seven cents a pound and 45 per cent based on American valuation on synthetic indigo and sulphur black, chemicals used in the production of dyes that are now on a heavy exporting basis, was cut to three cents a pound and 20 per cent with the same valuation retained.

An increase from $1.40 to $3 a ton in the existing rate on ground or calcined gypsum, used in the manufacture of wall plater, tiles, building blocks and pottery, also was approved. Several democrats announced they would attempt at a later date to place crude gypsum, now free, on the dutiable list.

The controversy over the bill's retention of the American valuation bases for coal tar was postponed. Senator Lafollette announced he was preparing a lengthy speech in opposition to this formula.

JURY FREES MAN IN "MERCY KILLING"

DRAGUIGNAN, France, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Amid exhibitions of the wildest enthusiasm, Richard Corbett, son of an English father and a French mother, was acquitted today by a jury of charges of murdering his mother to put her out of pain.

Corbett, who would accept no lawyer and spoke in his own defense, frankly admitted that he had shot his mother last May to relieve her sufferings from an incurable case of cancer.

He made a dramatic plea to the jury, declaring that he felt that he had done right even though he had broken the law.

The public prosecutor in a brief and impassioned speech demanded a verdict establishing Corbett's guilt.

When the jurors, after an hour's deliberation, returned to the crowded and excited courtroom and announced their verdict of "Not guilty," men and women rose as one mass of cheering and sobbing humanity.

The judge, whose attitude was sympathetic to the defendant throughout the trial, ordered the courtroom cleared immediately but the police had a difficult job doing it. There were hundreds of people massed in front of the building.

The trial, which was the latest in a series of "mercy killings" that have come up in France in the past few years, excited interest throughout the country.

Corbett, who sat with head bowed during the proceedings and took little interest in them, killed his mother on May 9 and then shot himself. He recovered in a hospital and was brought to trial.

NEW HAVEN TO ELECT MAYOR TODAY

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Voters of this city will decide at the polls tomorrow whether they will retain in office Mayor Thomas A. Tully or put into office in his stead former Postmaster Philip Troup. Mayor Tully, republican, who has been in public office for nearly 10 years, is completing the unexpired term of John B. Tower, who died in August, 1928. In the Tower administration, Tully was president of the board of aldermen.

Troup, his democratic opponent, has attacked the mayor on five issues—taxation, school congestion, city financing, sewage disposal and street improvements. These issues, both candidates say, will decide the election tomorrow. Both Mayor Tully and Troup prophesied victory for themselves tonight, Tully and his adherents foreseeing a 3,000 marjority.

In opposition to both is Charles H. O'Connell, socialist, who is running on a "clean government" platform, charging both parties with inefficient administrations in the past.

UPHOLDS CONVICTION OF USING MAIL TO DEFRAUD

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.— (AP)— The United States circuit court of appeals today upheld the conviction of George Graham Rice, Walter K. Yorston, the Idaho Copper corporation and the Wall Street Iconoclast, Inc., on charges of using the mails to defraud in the sale of Idaho copper stock.

Under this judgment Rice faces a term of four years in federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., and Yorston a nine months term, while the Wall Street Iconoclast will be forced to pay a $10,000 fine. Sentence upon the Idaho Copper corporation was suspended by Federal Judge Knox, who presided at the trial.

HALF HUNDRED ALLEGED STRIKERS UNDER ARREST

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.— (AP) — Fifty-four alleged strikers, including 37 girls, were arrested today, charged with rioting in a picket-line at the dressmaking factory of the Charles Raub Co.

Most of the prisoners accepted five-day jail sentences rather than pay the $5 fine imposed by Magistrate Fitzgerald.

BRITISH LABOR QUESTION IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

LONDON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—With Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and the full array of the labor cabinet on the government benches, the house of commons today began a week of important deliberations with a speech from J. H. Thomas, lord privy seal and minister of employment, on the all-important question of unemployment.

The blight of unemployment in England will not be wiped out by any magic cure, Mr. Thomas declared in a review of the labor government's efforts to reduce the number of more than a million unemployed during four months of office.

After Mr. MacDonald had received an enthusiastic and a noisy welcome, Mr. Thomas brought a hush in the house with his outspoken admission that in "some districts of the country there is no hope whatever of work for thousands and hundreds of thousands of our fellowmen, no matter what is done."

The prime minister's mission in America, Chancellor Snowden's achievements at The Hague reparations conference, and Foreign Secretary Henderson's work at Geneva, were real contributions to the solution of the unemployment problem, he said.

"In fact, anything that substitutes peace for war is a contribution."

He outlined schemes of the labor government for spending 42,000,000 pounds sterling ($210,000,000) on unemployment grants and improvements in railways and roads.

Bridges over the river Thames and tunnels under it, together with other schemes under consideration, called for the expenditure of many more millions.

CREDITORS HAVE RIGHT TO ENFORCE LIABILITY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—A decision that creditors rather than the government have the right to enforce the liability of stockholders in failed joint stock land banks stood out among the few cases acted on today by the supreme court.

The government had contended in a case arising in connection with the failure of the Bankers Joint Stock Land bank of Milwaukee, that the federal farm loan board, acting through the receiver it had appointed, had the right to levy an assessment upon the stockholders, and to force the payment of their liability by proceedings in court. Holding that the stockholder's liability should not be "summarily disposed of behind his back in Washington," the court—in an opinion by Justice Holmes—stated the creditors of the failed bank should be permitted to enforce the liability.

The court experienced difficulty in obtaining a quorum of six justices to open its sessions today but got under way after 15 minutes delay.

It announced that it would decide whether empty barrels, bottles, corks and other articles which might be used in the illegal manufacture of liquor may be seized and forfeited by the government under the national prohibition act, in a case from Pittsburgh, brought by Ike Danovitz.

HARTFORD TO VOTE ON SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION

HARTFORD, Nov. 4.—(AP)— Hartford voters will go to the polls tomorrow to express a preference for republican or democratic candidates for office, to make a choice between the consolidation of the city's schools and a continuation of the district system, and to accept or reject the proposal for a metropolitan district.

A vote in which the majority will probably be less than 1,500 is freely predicted by the leaders in the campaigns of both mayoralty candidates—Mayor Walter E. Batterson as the republican aspirant for re-election and John F. Gaffey, defeated in 1928, as the candidate for the democratic party. With the organization work of both parties and the sponsors and opponents of consolidation completed, estimates of the probable vote to be cast range from 70 to 80 per cent of the electorate.

SUPERIOR COURT TAKES ADJOURNMENT TO DEC. 3

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 4, — The Windham county superior court was adjourned this afternoon by Judge Edward M. Yeomans until Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 10 a. m., in this city, the adjournment being ordered at the conclusion of a short calendar session held here today. Prior to the short calendar, members of the county bar held a meeting to act on the applications of Miss Elsie A. Gallant of Putnam, John B. Sullivan and Legrand J. P. Fichthorn of this city, Ernest T. Racicot of Webster, Mass., and Adolph H. Goldwater of Danielson. The applications were favorably received by the seven lawyers present. Attorney William A. King acted as chairman.

Court convened at 1 o'clock for a session that lasted about 20 minutes, during which the following cases were declared off the list for the term, this being done by interested attorneys: A. Joseph & Bros. vs. Thomas Solomon; J. Frank Dee vs. Camp Lincoln, Inc.; Paul Locrasto vs. Jennie M. Farnham, administratrix; John D. Prince vs. George L. and Margaret M. Shepaum; Joseph F. Coombs vs. Herbert L. Fortune.

An answer was ordered filed within one week in the case of Benjamin Prague vs. Herman Prague, et al. In the case of Carl Kothe vs. Sadie Rosenthal, et al., the plaintiff was instructed to file a bill of particulars within one week. A hearing on a motion that a prior verdict be set aside in the case of Samuel Choquette of Danielson vs. Herman L. Bennett of Webster, Mass., was allowed to stand. Judge Yeomans stated that he would probably hear the motion in Middletown about the middle of this month.

In the case of N. Stuart Campbell, et al., vs. the Quidnick-Windham Manufacturing Co., papers were filed with the court on three points, a petition for allowance of the report of the ancillary receivers for year ending Sept. 30, 1929, a petition of the ancillary receivers for authority to sell and convey certain real estate and a hearing on the petition of the ancillary receivers to pay a third dividend.

State's Attorney Howard C. Bradford requested indefinite suspension of probationary terms in six old cases, this being granted by the court, which reopened for criminal business just before adjourning.

WEDDING

Graf—Cour

Miss Wilhelmina K. Cour of South Coventry became the bride of Daniel A. Graf of Storrs at a ceremony performed in St. Mary's rectory, South Coventry, at 10 o'clock this morning. Rev. Dennis F. Moran, the pastor, who officiated, was also celebrant of a nuptial high mass in St. Mary's church following the wedding. The attendants were William Maloney of Storrs as best man and Miss Margaret Smith of this city as bridesmaid. The bride was charming in a gown of white satin with tulle veil, lace trimmed. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Her bridesmaid wore a gown of rose beige georgette crepe with a gold hat trimmed with velvet. She carried yellow chrysanthemums.

Raymond O'Brien presided at the organ during the mass. Mrs. William O'Brien sang O Promise Me and Arthur Bergeron, Ave Maria, another solo being rendered by Miss Lillian Carpenter.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Katherine Cour of Wall street, South Coventry, with an attendance of nearly 50 guests. The couple left by automobile on a wedding trip to Atlantic City, N. J., and other points. For traveling the bride wore a brown ensemble with hat and shoes to match. The groom is farm manager at the Connecticut Agricultural college and the bride has been employed at the Windham National bank. They will reside in Storrs.

Maheu—Gagatek

Victor Maheu, son of Octave Maheu of 55 Main street, and Miss Antoinette Gagatek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gagatek of 21 Brook street, were married in St. Joseph's church at 8 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. Henry E. Quinn, who was also celebrant of the nuptial high mass. George Guay of Chaplin was best man and Miss Mary Gagatek, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The ushers were Walter Szot of New Britain, Stanley Klapik and John Chibosz. The bridesmaids were the Misses Mary Brania and Catherine Kogut. The bride wore a pretty gown of white satin trimmed with Spanish lace and a Rose Marie veil. She carried bridal roses and chrysanthemums. Her maid of honor wore pink satin trimmed with Spanish lace, with a picture hat to match. She carried a shower bouquet.

The reception was held at the home of the bride, followed by dancing and entertainment at the White Eagle Polish-American hall. Guests came from East Hampton, Derby, New Britain, Norwich, Chaplin, Hartford, Taunton, Mass., Torrington, Manchester and this city. Mr. and Mrs. Maheu left on a wedding trip to Canada. Upon their return they will reside at 9 Mayo street. The groom is employed at the American Thread Co.

The Jitney Players, who are to present one of their novel plays here this week, are a modernized version of the strolling players of old England. The players are young people, socially prominent, and, with professional training. During the summer they tour in an automobile theatre, playing indoors during the fall and winter months. Their plan of travel was adopted some years ago by Bushnell Cheney, the son of Horace Bushnell Cheney of South Manchester, and his wife, Alice B. Keating, daughter of Mrs. Francis Root Keating, of Buffalo, N. Y.

The plays are produced under the direction of Arthur Sircom; the costumes by Alice Keating and James Reynolds and executed by Tessa Altneritter; and the scenery designed by Leslie Thorne and Frances Keating.

The members of the acting company include: David Elliott, Harrison Dowd, Eli Dormont, Shepperd Strudwick, Douglas Rowland, Harvey Fite, Wilder N. Greeley; electrician, J. Edward Shugure; stage manager, Cynthia lake Judith Elder, Valarie Cossart, Francesca Bruning, and Carmen D. Beehler, company manager, with Richard Skinner at the piano.

Mrs. Mary Jane Parker, 86, who died at St. Joseph's hospital Sunday, was born in Black Rock and for a few years resided in Waterford, having made her home in this city for the past six months. She was the widow of George Parker, Civil war veteran, and leaves two daughters, Mrs. Mary J. Potter of this city and Mrs. Frank Avery of Putnam; one grandson, Amos T. Potter, also of this city; two granddaughters, Mrs. George Richards and Mrs. Lillian B. Sweet of Providence, R. I.

Charles Mazzola of this city was discharged by U. S. Commissioner Earl Mathewson at Norwich this afternoon of a liquor violation charge. His brother, Mariana Mazzola, was bound over to the federal court on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor. Bonds of $500 were named and furnished. The men, who were represented at the hearing by Attorney A. T. Kelley, were ordered to appear before the commissioner following a raid at their place of business here, during which officers headed by Agent Stanton L. Briggs, chief of the Connecticut prohibition enforcement forces, found several cases of beer and a quantity of liquor.

Additional names have bobbed up into the limelight of tentative choices for a democratic nominee for mayor. While that of T. Frank Cunningham continued to meet with general endorsement today; the names of Alderman-at-Large John Reilly, ex-Alderman Pierre J. Laramee and James H. Hurley received mention. Frank M. Lincoln and James H. Hurley are said to have been approached for the office of alderman of the second ward, while Herbert I. Sanderson and James E. Lynch head the list of prospects for the first district representation on the council.

The police investigated two automobile collisions Sunday evening. The first was at Elm and Main streets, where a sedan operated by Ernest F. Olsen of New Britain and a roadster driven by John Dubansky of Manchester collided. Officer John Kilbourey conducted the investigation. The other collision, investigated by Officer John A. Lutton, was at the corner of Bridge and Main streets. A coach owned by Theodore J. Rivard of 74 Hayden street and driven by his son, Hector Rivard, and a machine owned by William Healy of Bridgeport and operated by Carroll B. Allen of Devon, collided. Only slight damage resulted in both accidents.

Two of the three local ice plants report the year's harvest as virtually consumed with the advent of the next winter season. At the Brown houses on the old Eaton place, the owner has been buying five carloads of ice a week for the past three weeks from Massachusetts and Rhode Island companies. This ice is resold to local retail dealers, including those who have been securing ice from the Louis N. Ayer plant on the Willimantic river, this plant now being empty. At the municipal plant in Mansfield about one-third of the 6,000-ton harvest of last year remains unused.

A special town meeting will be held in the town hall Tuesday night to reconsider the vote passed at the annual meeting last month empowering the selectmen to close the old Bush Hill road, leading from the old Warner district schoolhouse to the Lebanon town line in the south part of Windham. Residents of the Warner district, who hope that this vote will be rescinded and the road put into condition, are expected to turn out in numbers at the meeting. Opposition may be presented, however, as it is stated there is but one house on the road, which is but little used, and that the cost of putting it into repair would be over $500.

Real estate sales of interest recently consummated through the Tryon Real Estate agency, include the following: Turgeon property of 40 acres at Perkins Corner to C. T. Wheeler and sisters of Clinton; state road property of four acres in Chaplin by Charles Small of Providence, R. I., to Nile Ketola of Madison avenue, New York city; country place of Emily O. Butler, consisting of 12 acres of land in Woodstock Valley to William C. and Marion W. Lawrence of Meriden.

Applications from men and women of the town seeking to be made voters for the city election, Monday, Dec. 2, will be received by Registrars of Voters A. Linn Weatherhead and Thomas A. Shea at a meeting in the town building Tuesday from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Robert J. Lincoln, younger son of Louis B. Lincoln and grandson of M. E. Lincoln, a graduate of Natchaug grammar school and now a senior of Lehigh university, is one out of ten boys in Lehigh to be elected to membership in O. D. K. This is a national organization of electrical engineers and is an honor bestowed only to worthy seniors, being the highest fraternal honor at Lehigh.

Postmaster Frank M. Smith was a guest at the annual banquet of the Service Relations council of the local postoffice, held in East Hampton Saturday evening. Dennis F. Haggerty was toastmaster. Remarks were made by several of the 80 present.

A police alarm, received at local headquarters, gave notice that two boys, 17 years old, had escaped from the Mansfield Training school and hospital. They were believed to be headed towards New London. One of the boys is a resident of Waterbury and the other of Bridgeport. Both are 5 feet, 7 inches tall.

Commissioner Clarence Knox of the Connecticut Aviation department and Benjamin W. Ellis, head of the extension service at Connecticut Agricultural college, will be the speakers at the regular meeting of the Willimantic Rotary club to be held in the Nathan Hale hotel Tuesday noon.

Miss Anna F. Stanek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Stanek of Hebron, is possessor of a silver pin for speed typewriting given in a test at Bay Path institute, Springfield, Mass., where she is taking a combined business course.

Mr. and Mrs. Darius M. Bennett, who have been visiting his nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Bennett of New Haven, for a week, have returned to their home at The Ridges. Mrs. Bennett is much improved from an illness.

Mrs. William H. Latham had as Sunday dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Latham and son, Richard, of Yonkers, N. Y.

Rev. and Mrs. Arthur S. Wheelock and infant son are in Boston, Mass., where he is attending a meeting of the executive committee of the Seamen's Friend society.

ROWLAND ROSCOE BARBER DIES AT THE AGE OF 85

Rowland Roscoe Barber, 85, died Sunday evening at his home on the River road, Lisbon, where for several years he and his daughter, Miss Martie, have made their home together. Mr. Barber, the son of Rowland R. and Mary Lillibridge (Barber), was born on Plain Hill, in 1844.

The family lived for many years in Griswold, on the farm now owned by Daniel Morgan. He was born into the farming industry, followed it all his more than four score years, and death came without his ever having branched out into other business, on his own place, reckoned one of the finest farms in Lisbon, with a half mile southern frontage on the state highway. Mr. Barber married Jeanette Browning, daughter of Stanton Browning and the present Barber home was locally known as the Stanton Browning place. Of the five children, three survive, Rowland R. Jr., of Westminster, Vermont, Miss Martie, of Lisbon, and Claire, of Waterbury. Two daughters, Lillian and Leona died in Lisbon. A brother, Frank W. Barber lives at the old home on Plain Hill; a brother Thurston, died several years ago. There are five grand children, Mrs. Samuel Cathcart, Jr., of Jewett City, Mrs. Harold Shattuck, Buck Hill Falls, Penn., and Miss Mary Barber, Westminster, Vt., Rowland R. Barber the 4th, and Dorothy, of Waterbury.

Mr. Barber was an old-line republican and a member of the Baltic Baptist church. His wife was enrolled in the membership of the Jewett City Baptist church, and for many years the family were regular attendants here.

Walnut Crop Fails

The walnut crop all through this section was a complete failure, it being the off year. Last fall 25 bushels were picked up in Griswold, and found ready market at $1 per peck. Farmers who have corn stacked up in the fields, say, that an "off-nut" year, the shocks are raided by gray squirrels to a greater extent then when nuts are plenty. The red squirrels and chipmunks, which one may see on the roadside wall, are interested any year in the success of the farmer's crops.

POLISH FARMERS SUCCEED IN TURKEY RAISING

Turkey buyers have been looking over the local flocks, and are finding that Griswold has probably close to 500 fine birds. The Polish farmers are away ahead this year, with one family at the top of Crooked hill having performed the seeming miracle of bringing 100 to market weight. A hunter crossing a strip of woods last week on the Pendleton hill road, came upon five handsome turkeys, and no house within a mile. The source of supply of the home turkey market, must each year be largely from outside the local territory. Strangely, it seems, outside buyers handle a lot of Griswold turkeys to be shipped away, while the borough markets purchased last year, around a half ton of fancy northern birds.

DANIELSON

TWO DRAW DOWN FINES IN LOCAL POLICE COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Nov. 4—Judge W. Fenner Woodward presided at a session of the town court this morning at which there were several presentations of accused charged with various misdemeanors. Joseph Kuszas, resident in this town, was charged with killing in excess of the bag limit of three rabbits allowed any hunter for one day. He was fined $10 and costs, $5 of this fine being remitted, and costs of $11.10, a total net assessment of $16.10. Kuszas was ordered into court by County Game Warden Thomas G. Daniels of Plainfield. The rabbit hunting season opened Nov. 1, and this prosecution was the first in this part of the county this season for killing too many rabbits, now far less plentiful than formerly was the case hereabouts.

Arthur Sherman, whose home is in Philadelphia and who has been employed for some time on state road work between Brooklyn and Pomfret, was in court to answer to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while he was intoxicated, to operating without a license and without a registration. He was fined $100 on the first count and $10 each on the other counts, a total of $120 and costs. He was unable to pay and went to jail, facing for the time being at least the prospect of spending the greater part of the winter in custody.

An aftermath of the rather vicious celebration of Halloween that this town experienced last Thursday night was the appearance in court this morning of five boys charged with breach of the peace in connection with their celebration activities at Attawaugan. Their cases were continued until next Saturday.

Judge Reserves Decision

After hearing the arguments by counsel in the petition of Frank M. Bedard of the West Side vs. the Town of Brooklyn in the superior court at Norwich this morning, Judge Allyn L. Brown took the matter under advisement and will render his decision later.

This case has to do with an incident of the annual town meeting in Brooklyn on the first Monday in October, when Moderator F. E. Cunneen did not declare Mr. Bedard elected a grand juror. Mr. Bedard, on the republican ticket, received a lesser number of votes than any of the six candidates for grand jurors, three of these being on the republican ticket and three on the democratic. From time out of memory Brooklyn has elected six grand jurors, but this year only five were declared elected. This morning Attorney Harry E. Back, Danielson, defense counsel for the town of Brooklyn, argued that the warning for this year's annual town meeting in Brooklyn contained a clause setting forth that no more than five grand jurors should be elected, and that in accordance with the warning Moderator F. E. Cunneen declared only that number elected. Attorney E. L. Darbie, representing Mr. Bedard admitted this, but pointed out in his argument that under the statutes of Connecticut, towns shall elect not less nor more than six grand jurors, and that if it is desired to elect a lesser number of grand jurors than the town has been accustomed to electing that a vote to that effect must be passed at either the annual or a special pointed out further that Brooklyn has vote would not apply until after the meeting at which it was passed. He points dout further that Brooklyn has not so voted to reduce the number of grand jurors and held that Mr. Bedard should have been declared elected.

There was no testimony by witnesses, though Mr. Bedard, Moderator Cunneen and Town Clerk Oscar F. Atwood of Brooklyn were in court.

When the members of the Windham County Agricultural society assemble for their annual meeting next Saturday at Brooklyn they will hear encouraging reports, including the announcement that the profit from the fair last September were about $1,300. This is of interest in view of the special and temporary handicaps under which the fair association labored this year, making the outlook for success the week before the fair anything but rosy.

Stormy weather is proving something of an obstacle for the decorators who are putting up flags and bunting for the Armistice day observance in Danielson, but the forecast is that there will be a mass of color about town for the holiday, which will be general in Danielson.

Before cold weather really sets in eastern Connecticut motorists through the activities of the Rhode Island board of public roads, will have an additional and optional route to shore resorts along Narragansett bay. Out of Danielson this route will be over the Providence road to North Scituate, thence southward via South Scituate to Hope, thence skirting the string of villages in the Pawtuxet Valley, to Washington and thence by a choice of routes to any destination in that section of the neighboring state. This new route is through a region of real scenic beauty, it is said.

Girl bookkeeper and typist wanted. Address Box 452, Danielson.—Adv.

Numbers of farmers in territory hereabouts where corn borers appeared during the past growing season are reported to be plowing under all stubble in their corn fields and in some instance burning this refuse in an effort to check the spread of the pest.

Gregoire A. Beausoliel of Central Falls is visiting with relatives in Danielson for a few days.

Alton Eldridge of Broad street, received first award for having the funniest costume and Miss Lillian Potvin of Putnam first award for the most attractive costume at the week end Halloween dance at Bonneau's dance hall. Other winners were Leo Potvin of Putnam and Cora Adams of East Killingly.

Raymond E. Bolles of Dorchester has been a recent visitor here on a business mission.

It was said today that there was comparatively little change since yesterday in the condition of Russell Chapin, 13 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Chapin, who was injured when struck by an automobile last Thursday night, on Broad street.

State highways through this area are receiving what are to be the final applications of road oil for this year, that they may be in good condition to stand the rigors of the frost season.

Coroner Arthur G. Bill said this afternoon that he plans to resume his inquest in the death of Thomas Moran, Sr., of Dayville, fatally injured by a hit and run driver, during the latter part of this week. The statements of several persons already have been taken in this case.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Andre Maindon

Mrs. Marie Antoinette Maindon, 76, wife of Andre Maindon, died this morning at the home of her son, County Sealer Gaston A. Maindon, on Winter street. She had been in failing health for a long time. Mrs. Maindon was a native of France, born in the city of Nantes. With her husband, she emigrated to Canada as a young woman, and after a period of residence in Montreal the family came to Danielson. For years the family had a farm on the Green Hollow road and later lived for a long time on the West Side. Mrs. Maindon, a woman of many fine traits of character, leaves her husband, her son, both resident here, and a grandson, in Canada.

Applications for automobile numbers are going into Hartford from this town from those who would retain during 1930 the numbers they have held this year, and in many cases for as long as a decade. Nov. 15 is the time limit for filing applications if one would be assured of keeping present registration numbers.

The amount secured here in Saturday's Civic federation Tag day was $444.48, not $44.48, as appeared in this morning's issue of this paper. Officers of the federation today expressed their appreciation of the generosity of the public.

New uniforms for the members of the fire department are expected to arrive here Tuesday. The firemen will appear in them for the first time in public in the Armistice day parade next Monday.

Approximately an inch and a half of rain that had fallen between Saturday night and this afternoon has materially lessened the problems of those who have been dealing with a water shortage since mid-summer. However, streams remain throughout this territory below their normal level for this time of year.

Crews of workmen in the employ of the town are engaged in clearing gutters and drains of the season's accumulation of waste matter against the coming of the cold weather season. Fallen leaves make up a percentage of the matter being removed.

Danielson, where a number of Brown university alumni are resident, will be well represented at the Brown-Dartmouth game to be played in the stadium in Providence Saturday of this week.

Next Sunday, a few minutes after midnight will find the 24-hour observance of Armistice day underway in Danielson. A midnight dance is the first feature announced on the official program.

Fat Girls! Here's A Tip For You

All over the world Kruschen Salts is appealing to girls and women who strive for an attractive, free from fat figure that cannot fail to win admiration.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one-half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat."—Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

Get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts at Lee & Osgood or any drug store (lasts 2 months) with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

BOSTON JUBILEE SINGERS ENTERTAIN LARGE AUDIENCE

Miss Rose Paranzino and Miss Veer, formerly of Sterling, were with Mr. and Mrs. Paranzino over the week end.

Negro Spirituals Please

Sunday evening a very large audience overcrowded the Methodist church auditorium to hear the Jubilee Colored Singers from Boston. The general public had been invited and especially the neighboring churches. There was a devotional service in which the Baptist pastor assisted and in which Mr. Tingley gave a short address on the text, "They were all of one accord, present in one place." The program of Negro spirituals was presented by a quartet, two men and two women, assisted by a man at the piano. The program was unusually good and a real service was rendered the community by the Methodist men in securing such good music. The singers gave the following numbers: View the Land; My Lord What a Morning; Seek and Ye Shall Find; Every Time I feel the Spirit; A Little Talk with Jesus; No Hiding-Place Down There; Were You There?; Lord, I Can't Turn Back; My Way's Cloudy; Free at Last; Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray; King of Kings; Sinner, You'd Better Get Ready.

The audience showed its appreciation in contributing a very generous offering to help defray expenses.

Baptist Church to Incorporate

Last week at a business meeting of both the Ecclesiastical society and the church, held in the new Baptist vestry, it was voted by both organizations to continue the committee on incorporation and to instruct it to proceed immediately to secure a charter of incorporation. It was voted to provide for the members of non-Baptist churches who are society members, and others interested, by making them members of the church but not of the denomination. Such persons do not drop their former denominations, nor do they become Baptists. They are entitled to all the privileges and responsibilities of the church but, not being Baptists, have no vote on strictly Baptist policies or policy. This was done by unanimous vote. It is expected the church will be incorporated by the first of the new year. Lucius Cranska, N. A. Denison and Thomas Hope are the committee on incorporation. T. J. Seaton presided at the society meeting and Rev. R. W. E. DeWolfe had charge of the church business.

WESTMINSTER

The halloween entertainment given by the pupils of Westminster school under direction of the new teacher, Miss Happy Tracy, proved thoroughly enjoyable. School room was filled with relatives and friends having the pretty hand-decorated invitation cards which had been distributed by the children. The room was decorated in orange and black. Jack-O'-Lanterns cast a weird glow over the room and black cats peered from various places. A feature of the evening was a ghost dance by the entire school, led by Miss Louise Soderburg as the witch. A party of merry-makers in grotesque costumes made their appearance during the evening causing genuine hilarity. Home-made fudge in tiny baskets was distributed, a number in each basket; the number entitled the holder to share in the award of a prize. Little Pauline Green drew, it proved Robert Joselyn entitled to a box of chocolates.

PUTNAM

KING MENTIONED AS CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Nov. 4—Rumors became current this afternoon that Walter N. King, president of the chamber of commerce, will be a candidate for mayor at the republican general city caucus to be held on Thursday evening. A leading supporter of Mr. King granted two local newspapermen an interview at 4 o'clock this afternoon and authorized the publication of Mr. King's candidacy. It was intimated that Mr. King would be away from the city and it would be impossible to obtain a statement from him. However, a Bulletin representative was successful in reaching Mr. King late this afternoon. When asked whether he would be a candidate, Mr. King stated, "I do not choose to say at this time as I am awaiting further developments." When asked if he was considering entering the race, Mr. King replied, "Yes, many of my friends have approached me and encourage my candidacy. However, I wish more time to consider the situation before returning a definite answer."

Until today the name of Mr. King is the only one which has been mentioned as a possible opponent for Mayor Charles A. Richard, who has already announced his candidacy for renomination.

Mr. King is publisher of the Windham County Observer, a local weekly; president of the Putnam chamber of commerce, and a member of the Putnam Rotary club. He is a successful business man and a progressive citizen of the community.

Among the important developments beneficial to the city, which have transpired during his second term as president of the merchants' organization, is the location of the silk manufacturing plant of M. Salzberg & Son of Paterson, N. J., within the borders of this city. Mr. King's efforts were largely instrumental in securing the new and much-needed manufacturing concern for the city. Mr. King politically is affiliated with the republican party and has always been a loyal supporter of that party.

In the event Mr. King decides to enter the race he will be pitted against an equally strong figure in local public affairs, as Mayor Richard's candidacy for re-election is being warmly received in many sections of the city. The present chief executive's victory in the now famous Putnam water question and controversy has won for him many supporters, who were not in harmony with his views on this subject—during the early stages of the controversy.

When informed that opposition to his renomination was brewing today, Mayor Richard's only comment was, "I sincerely hope that my friend, Mr. King, decides to run."

JUDGE SUSPENDS PROBATION PERIOD OF D. S. ELLIOTT

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Nov. 4—Upon a recommendation from Special Probation Officer Mahalon H. Geissler of this city, Judge Edward M. Yeomans of Danbury, in a session of superior court today, suspended the period of probation of Dyer S. Elliott, former treasurer of the town of Thompson.

Attorney Geissler's recommendation and report presented to Julge Yeomans indicated that the former town official had made complete restitution to the town of Thompson of money, for the misuse of which he was convicted on an embezzlement charge.

Following his conviction, Mr. Elliott was sentenced to serve a year in jail. The execution of the sentence was deferred in favor of a year's period of probation, to enable him to make restitution of the town funds.

Mayor Charles A. Richard, chairman of the speaking committee of the general committee in charge of the Putnam Armistice day observance, at a meeting of the committee held this evening announced that the speaker of the day will be Rev. S. A. Iciek, pastor of St. Joseph's Polish church in Norwich. Rev. Father Iciek is well known in eastern Connecticut as a public speaker and the committee feels extremely fortunate in being able to secure his services on this occasion. Father Iciek is a former army chaplain, having served in France during the war. At the committee meeting tonight other details of the celebration on Nov. 11 were completed.

Miss Elsie Gallant was in Willimantic today, where she attended a session of superior court. Miss Gallant's application for permission to take the examinations for admission to the state bar association was approved by the court.

Miss Marjorie Bralford, assistant clerk of superior court, was in Willimantic today, acting at a session of superior court.

Superintendent of Schools Leon M. Farrin and Walter N. King, president of the chamber of commerce, were in Norwich Monday on business.

Probation Officer Peter A. Gardner, juvenile investigation official of city court, continued his work of checking up acts of vandalism committed last Thursday evening by mischievous boys. No arrests have been necessary as yet in connection with the destruction of property on Halloween night, Officer Gardner said today.

From the headquarters of Rear Admiral Philip N. Andrews of the Boston navy yard, there has come to the merchants of this city and interested individuals, letters soliciting contributions to complete the fund needed to place the old frigate "Constitution" into commission. The naval authorities in their letter say that while the rebuilding of Old Ironsides was made possible through the generosity of the American public, there is still a large amount of money to be raised before the ship can once again throw her sails to the winds. Several local people, anxious to see the historic war vessel refloated, have forwarded additional checks to naval officials at Boston to aid the cause.

Monday marked the third day of rain. Frequent showers over the week end were of sufficient intensity and duration to practically put at an end all fears of a water shortage in the rural districts this winter. Until Saturday, before rain started to fall, there were still many farmers in this section hereabouts who have been forced to draw water for cattle and even domestic purposes, the result of the summer drought. So little rain came during the summer and fall weeks that wells which dried up were not replenished until this week. The rain spell likewise has lessened the chances of forest fires being caused by careless hunters.

Terence J. McGarry, a student at the General Electric school in Lynn, Mass., returned today to his studies after spending the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McGarry, of Grove street.

Superintendent of Schools Leon M. Farrin said this afternoon that encouraging progress is being made by the students of Putnam high school who have banded together to form a school band. The organization is being carried on by L. A. Frink of Lee street. At a recent rehearsal several more musically inclined members of the student body signified their intentions of becoming part of the Putnam high school band.

The band has the endorsement of the school committee and many prominent citizens in the city who hope that the attempt will be successfully carried out, and that a musical organization worthy of the interest of the citizens of the community will result.

PEMBLETON HILL

Mrs. Ellsworth Gray, assisted by Miss Lela Thompson and Mrs. Jennie Thompson were giving a moccasin demonstration in the name of the Farm bureau at the parsonage Saturday. This was an all-day session.

The halloween ghost walk was led by Miss Mildred Johnson.

Miss Amelia Palmer attended a halloween party given by Miss Mildred Taylor, of Westerly.

Birdsey G. Palmer, Jr., has so far recovered as to attend Plainfield high school during the week. Although present but two weeks of October's school sessions, he had so far made up his work as to be able to take the monthly test.

Richard Palmer has been confined to his bed, ill with a severe cold.

Through an error, Marion Palmer and his dog Rover, instead of Richard Palmer, should have been credited as champion of the coon season with ten coons bagged to date.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertha Brooks and nephew, Robert Milne, Jr., spent Wednesday with Mrs. Brooks' aunt, Mrs. Anne Cook of Rose cottage.

The committee for the 4-H club, Birdsey G. Palmer chairman, has just cashed a check for fifteen dollars, prize money which the 4-H club won at North Stonington Grange fair, and still more money is due them, they say. This is a very successful club of which Harry Pierce is leader. The club won the majority of athletic events at the county athletic meet at Amos lake, Preston, late in the summer. There is an equally active and successful girls 4-H club under the leadership of Mrs. Clifford B. Thompson.

Teachers attending the Rhode Island and Connecticut Teachers' institutes, report each of unusual interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheaton are making their home in Thomas E. Wheeler's extra tenement for the present.

Thomas E. Wheeler spent Monday and Tuesday as the guest of Clarence Coogan and family of Mystic.

The chrysanthemums which adored the altar table Sunday morning grew in Mrs. Emil Gladfelers' garden.

It seemed unfortunate that Monday evening's town meeting was adjourned without accomplishing the purpose for which it was called.

Successful in the West

Friends of Rev. Arthur W. Barwick, a former pastor of the First Congregational church, are interested in knowing that during this week a complete new set of church buildings at his new parish in Des Plaines, Illinois are being dedicated. The services will last through the entire week beginning Sunday, November 3.

Mrs. Effie Jencks returned home Friday after spending October in Providence.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Buell and daughters left Saturday for a week's motor trip to Pennsylvania.

When Gladys Opperman entertained friends at a Halloween party at her home, games were played and lunch was served.

The calendar of the First Congregational church was given Sunday by the Ladies' Aid society. The decorations were furnished by the Senior Bible class. The C. E. service was held in the vestry it being a consecration meeting. Subject, Making My Body a Fit Temple for God. Leader, Mrs. John C. Kingsley, pianist, Miss Lena Pipher. Educational movies were shown. They were "Land of Evangeline," and "The Crossroads." Organist, Mrs. William Krauss. The pastor was assisted by the Boy Scouts: Ernest Plassman gave a report of the meeting of the Older Boys Conference at Norwalk. Donald Gallup read the Scripture, John Dodge assisted.

The Boy Scouts will meet Wednesday on account of the basketball game Friday evening.

SOUTH WILLINGTON

Leon Woodworth, of Bay Path institute, Springfield, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodworth.

Miss Mazzie Brownlee and Mrs. Nora Johnson were week-end guests of Miss Rena Essex, of Willimantic.

Over 100 attended the reception given Rev. and Mrs. Robert Hueston at the social hall of the Clara Hall Memorial church Friday evening.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

ACTION AGAINST BINGHAM

When Senator Bingham obtained the assistance of a representative of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association as a tariff expert he got help which he considered necessary in dealing with the tariff question. He wanted someone in touch with Connecticut conditions and needs and he made use of his services in a manner which was calculated to aid this state.

It is not believed that there will be any doubt about the sincerity of the senator's statement when he declares that what he did, and the manner in which he did it, was for the whole-hearted purpose of serving the people of Connecticut, or that there will be any question as to the honesty of purpose or of the straightforwardness of his acts. It has been made evident that what he did, called by himself a possible mistake of judgment or indiscretion, gave those who were opposed politically and personally an opportunity to make a mountain of a molehill, to magnify the situation and to create the impression that some real scandal had been uncovered. For that reason there was point to the statement by Senator Gillett, that "if we would pass upon all the indiscretions of our fellow senators our time for the transaction of regular business would be very limited."

In the statements which he has made to the state in explanation of his criticised acts, Senator Bingham went carefully and fully into the details. His explanation covered the whole matter and clearly established the fact that there was no corruptive motive behind it. The senate has strained at a gnat in an endeavor to magnify what could as effectively have been accomplished through a resolution expressing itself upon the occurrence without mention of the senator's name.

It was unfortunate that Senator Bingham gave the coalition a chance to indulge in such a political inquiry and vote, but the position he has occupied through it all, the complete statements he has made of what was done and his refusal to be drawn into self-condemnation through an apology will not detract from the high regard in which he is held by the people of Connecticut.

AUTO LIGHTS

In connection with the subject of automobile headlights, the statement is made that some drivers are courteous enough to dim their headlights on the approach of another automobile. This would indicate that the driver who dims his lights recognizes that they are bad and he is not desirous of imposing any uncertainty upon the driver going the other way.

Dimming the headlights is a practice which has been frowned upon by the motor vehicle department. Inasmuch as lights are supposed to give a clear view of the highway, the dimming of the lights fails to accomplish what is required, so that it is not a disregard of courtesy but compliance with safety requirements when lights are not dimmed.

On the other hand, there are those machines on which lights cannot be dimmed as easily as on others. Reaching to the dash for that purpose, losing sight of the road for a moment and the throwing of the switch, which may mean that there will be no light at all for a jiffy in going from brights to dims, is but a minor operation but with the car in motion the control of the car can be lost quite as easily as the switch can be turned. The simplicity of dimming on some cars does not apply to all.

Lights are unquestionably bothersome, especially the powerful ones which are not properly focused. When their rays are thrown into the eyes of the driver coming in the opposite direction they make uncertain the path ahead even though the lights have approved lenses. If those rays were projected to the roadbed, instead of straight ahead or upward, there would be removed the most of this trouble from annoying lights. The old-time glaring lights have gone but the strong lights which run a close second are plentiful and it would be a great relief to those who drive at night, either by necessity or choice, if all headlights could be focused correctly. It is on the highway that the light is needed and not up in the air or in the eyes of the other drivers.

With auto lights properly regulated and with the pedestrians using the highways guarding themselves by wearing reflectors, a much higher degree of safety on the roads at night would be assured.

ITALY RECONSIDERS

A decision of much importance to former citizens of Italy, if the semi-official statement is correct, is that which is made by the Italian embassy in this country to the effect that naturalized citizens of this and other countries need have no further fear of being penalized for failure to serve during the war or of being seized and thrown into the service upon returning to Italy for a visit.

Italy is one of those countries which has refused to concede that naturalization severed the tie with that country. As long as natives and their descendants remained away from Italy there was little to fear, but when they went back for a visit then they were subjected to military rules and caused much embarrassment and trouble, even though they were eventually released.

The statement by the Italian embassy would indicate that Italians naturalized in this country and their children will have no further need to fear molestation for military service upon returning to Italy. Evidently Italy appreciates that there are many who would like to return to Italy for visits and who would do so if they did not object to being treated as if they were still subjects of the Italian government. This keeps many out of Italy and when they stop out it means that they are not spending the money in Italy that they otherwise would. It keeps down the number of visitors to that country and Italy, like other countries, cannot fail to be mindful of the value of the tourist trade.

This new declaration of policy comes soon after several Americans, who were formerly subjects of Italy, had been under arrest in that country because they failed to answer the call to service during the war. They were detained, put to much bother and expense and forced to wait long court procedure before they were given their freedom. Each and every one of those instances cannot fail to reflect adversely upon Italy and it is surprising that it has not reached the same view taken by other countries where those who pledge allegiance to new countries are at once regarded as aliens. It was a practice that went with other days which it is hoped will not return.

RECOGNIZING MERIT

When it comes to recognizing the accomplishments of the Russian fliers in crossing the Pacific by way of the Aleutian islands and then crossing this continent, it does not in any way include a recognition of the soviet government. It is the individual accomplishments of these fliers, who are endeavoring to advance aviation in their country, that are getting attention, and there is no reason to suppose that they would be given the cold shoulder just because they are subjects of an unrecognized nation.

Thus far there have been fliers from many countries who have landed here from one direction or another. There will be many more of them. In each instance they are properly welcomed and feted and made to understand that their work is recognized on its merit whether it is so that they have broken any records or not.

Fliers from this country have been making trips around the world, long distance flights and trans-oceanic hops, and it has been the expectation of this country, as well as the fliers themselves, that they would be duly recognized and assisted in their endeavors. With that goes the formal matter of welcoming, whether the demonstration is large or small. It would, therefore, be hardly consistent should we not do as much when fliers come to this country as a part of what may prove to be the first of the airplane fliers to make the circuit headed toward the east and the first from Russia to reach this country.

The reception to the Russians along the west coast was in no way slighted and they must certainly feel that their arrival on the east coast has not suffered from lack of due recognition and attention. It was a fitting thing that Colonel Lindbergh should make it a point to drop down and hand to them that cordial welcome which he has experienced in so many instances in other countries.

THE NEW FRENCH CABINET

France has a new premier and a new cabinet. Tardieu has succeeded in a comparatively short time in getting together a ministry that will endeavor to guide the affairs of that government. He is no novice as a member of the cabinet although this is the first time that he has been called to the responsible post of premier. Long since regarded as one upon whom the responsibility would fall sooner or later, he has jumped into the task and accomplished what two others were unable to do.

He has managed to retain Briand in the post of minister of foreign affairs, which was the plan of the other two who were asked to form a government, and he has also managed to regain many of those who served in the recently resigned Briand government. By drawing upon the radical socialists and increasing his under-secretaries, he has endeavored to secure sufficient support in order to get needed support, but how long it can command confidence is a question which time will answer.

France has a number of problems which ought to be passed upon without further delay. The importance of Briand in carrying through certain matters involving other countries cannot be overlooked. His ability in that direction is fully recognized and confidence is placed in his policies as a general thing.

If the make-up of the new cabinet is such as to corral and hold the allegiances of the various parties there is hope for good results, but when it is realized that his support is dependent upon conditions over which he has uncertain control, it is quite evident that there is no expectation that there is a long life ahead for the Tardieu government. He is going to have a chance to disclose his policies and to show what he can do for France. That is more than some others were able to do.

EDITORIAL NOTES

"Woman Claims Record Drop in Parachute," says a headline. Did it beat the stock market?

Now that Tardieu has formed his cabinet, it remains to be seen how long he can hold it together.

This is the day when New York decides whether it wants four more years of city government like the last four.

The man on the corner says: Remember how you rejoiced a year ago this morning over the outcome of the election?

It has been a long time since anything has been heard of the Chinese-Russian war, but possibly it is raining in China.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—Vice President Curtis has not forgotten the days when he roughed it far out west, on the Indian reservation. He is a man of dignity and poise, but never "toppy". As vice president he is the official diner-out of the administration. A president rarely, if ever, accepts a dinner invitation outside the cabinet ranks. This is because it would stir up jealousy and unfriendliness were the chief executive and the mistress of the white house to accept social attentions from one friend, and then turn down similar ones from others. It just isn't done. So it falls on the vice president, as the second highest official of the United States, to represent the president at dinners, receptions and other private functions whether in the official or diplomatic set. Such dates are made months in advance, in order that just the right company may be assured by ambitious and zealous hostesses.

All the same Mr. Curtis likes nothing better than to be his own cook once in a while. At least that is what folks say about it. He hasn't yet confessed what is his favorite specialty, but may be some day we can get him to tell the world.

They do say, however, that the vice presidential appetite shows a decided leaning towards home cooking. Once in a while Mr. Curtis leaves the chair, makes a motion to Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, president pro tempore, that he is to preside, then slips away saying in an undertone to those nearby, "I am going home to cook my dinner." Maybe that is only an excuse to go home; maybe we could take it literally, anyway, the vice president has the reputation of being a cook "in his own right." Mr. Curtis takes far more kindly to dining out than did Mr. Coolidge when the latter was vice president. I recall one time when Mr. Coolidge said, with that well known, quiet drawl: "I don't see why so many folks I don't know ask me to dinner to eat things I don't like". Yet Mr. Coolidge lived up to vice presidential tradition and formality just as he never failed to live up to presidential tradition and custom. He was always a very pleasant and courteous guest, and if he had to eat things he didn't like, he never showed it.

Some one recently suggested in view of the rather shocking conditions now existing in the senate, that a really worth while constitutional amendment would be one that compelled the senate to perform the duties for which it was created; viz, that of making federal laws, instead of resolving itself into a self constituted "smelling committee" a self constituted grand jury, and a self constituted court without appeal, sitting in judgment on self constituted cases, while it let the government of the United States "go to grass," as far as performing the important functions for which the senate was created. If one had time to closely scan the pages of the Congressional Record, since the convening of the extra session last April, it would be found that practically nothing had been done toward securing the passage of the measure for which the session was specifically called and, that nine-tenths of the time had been spent by opponents of the administration in denouncing, investigating, using inquisitorial methods, threatening, rehashing old campaign controversies, and pestering the administration.

Some how that old fashioned term "law makers" or dubbing the senate the "highest legislative body in the world," hardly fits under present conditions.

Once upon a time there was either a republican or a democratic majority that controlled the senate and was responsible to the country for legislation enacted. Now it is the political free thinker; the man who jumps his party reservation; feels he is responsible to no one, and who today teaches the world is round and tomorrow teaches the world is flat, who holds the balance of power. Such men form an alliance with the democratic party leaders in the senate, and carry on policies repudiated last fall by a majority of seven million voters when they elected President Hoover.

Senator Cole Blease, democratic, South Caroline, says he is ashamed of his party and the co-alition move. "Why should the democratic party switch like a horse's tail, from one side to the other?" Blease fiercely demands. "I am disgusted and the country will be disgusted," he adds.

Blease was governor of South Carolina. He resigned shortly before his term expired, and signed his resignation in bright red ink. He is that type of man. Fiery and always ready for a scrap, he is now turning his attention to attacking those led round by the nose by insurgent republicans, yet he votes with them. Blease is always ready to cut up Cain and he doesn't mince his words. Sometimes they are not words that sound pretty to the ear, but they are never uncertain as to their meaning. Blease is still hopeful that some day the democratic party will stand on its own legs, in the senate and not lean on the crutch of republican insurgents, as is now the case.

There has been considerable side talk about a national coalition of democrats and insurgents in the coming election and also in 1932, in the latter Borah to be picked as presidential candidate for the two-in-one party, but apparently there is nothing more to the rumor, than that Borah longs to be president.

Madam Filopowicz is especially interested in the development of industries among her people. Also in the home life and upbringing of the children of the Polish people.

Our modern methods of housework are a revelation to her and she is especially impressed with the new fangled electric contrivances, which are not as yet common in Poland. She states very frankly that domestic conditions in Poland are serious in the way of obtaining help in housework. "Women and girls no longer care to do housework," she is quoted as saying. So it is a matter of great importance that the women themselves, who are heads of families and households, acquire American methods and whatever will aid them in doing their household duties with the least effort."

The Polish lady then told of the trials that befell Poland after the war and described very fully how Poland and its people are treating child welfare with the purpose of self-support and self-reliance as strong features.

Like the wives of other diplomats, Madam Filipowicz is a gifted linguist, speaking besides her own language, French, German, English and Italian. Her hobby is fine needlework.

President Hoover has an eight-reel film of his trip to South America and a big book describing his visit. There has been a private showing of the film, to which all guests on the trip were invited.

The war dispatches from Julius Caesar's campaign in Gaul were posted for the Roman populace by scrawling the messages in charcoal on a background of whitewash in the Forum.

SPRING FEVER.

Warm sunshine slanted across the breakfast table. Aloud Dot budgeted her intentions for the forthcoming day.

"I ought to have Alex wash the windows and Mrs. Blount sweep the house," she said. "And measure the sun parlor for new draperies. Then there's the papering. I should call in a paperhanger before another day goes by and get an estimate on this spring's work. And a morning like this is excellent for airing clothes. Things get so stuffy packed in a wardrobe all winter long. This afternoon I ought to run out to the sanitarium to see Mable Meyers. On my way home I can return Marie Cassell's book just as easily as not. It's been here all winter and I've not even peeped inside of the cover. I can take a short cut through the park from the sanitarium to Marie's. That will be a nice little walk.

"Talk about things that need to be done," interrupted Bob. "I've got to buy a new lightweight coat. And there's the problem of the car. Are we going to have it painted or trade it in on a new one? Charlie Hassler said if I'd drop around some noon—"

"Why don't you stop in today and see what he has to offer?" suggested Dot.

"I think I will and, by the way, Art Rinker mentioned something a while back about a bunch of us clubbing together and getting a wholesale price on some shrubbery."

"Better look into that, too," advised Dot.

"I'll manage to see Art this morning," he promised.

Presently Bob left for the office. Dot turned to the telephone, thumbed the pages of the directory in search of Alex's number, yawned, thought "Oh, what's the use? He's probably already engaged today." Then she thumbed for Mrs. Blount's number, thought, "But if I measure for the draperies and call in the paperhangers, I shan't have time to watch her, and if I don't watch her she neglects the corners."

Smothering this decision in another yawn, Dot thumbed for the paperhanger's number. But his telephone was busy, so she turned her efforts to dishwashing. Having completed this task, she thought of measuring for the new draperies, but while she was looking for the yardstick she noticed the postman turning in at the front walk.

He left a new copy of a magazine. The cover looked so interesting, and the sun shone so invitingly through the windows, that she yielded to the temptation of the moment, snuggled comfortably in one corner of the davenport, and lost herself completely in the lure of the magazine. Much later, the impelling chime of the clock brought her to a drowsy realization of material circumstances.

"Dear me, I'm going to Mable's," she cried aloud, and stumbled to her feet, making flurried movements, remembering that she had not even aired the clothes.

She took the bus to the sanitarium, but got off by the park, saying to herself: "It's as short to walk across as to ride around." But as she walked other inhibitions assailed her. "It's such a pretty day. No doubt Mable will have other company and I might be in the way. Maybe I should not go." A bench near by loomed invitingly.

"Perhaps I'd better sit down here and read Marie's book." Dot made her way to the bench, but instead of opening the book she watched some children playing ball. Gradually her attention was attracted by other moving objects: A woman strolled by wheeling a baby cab; another woman strolled by carrying a dog. "Everybody's outside," thought Dot. "Marie's a gadabout anyway. She'd never in the world would be home today."

That evening Bob sauntered up the walk and sank down on the back door step. Dot came out of the kitchen and sat beside him. Bob mopped his forehead with his handkerchief.

"Spring's surely here," he grunted.

"How do you know? yawned Dot.

"I didn't do a darned thing I started out to do today. That's why." And Dot purred softly: "Darling, I'm so glad." And they sat together in a limp, exhausted silence.—Chicago News.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—Announcement by Attorney General Mitchell that anti-trust laws are to be enforced vigorously under his administration ought to interest Senator King.

The Utah senator has been contending, day in and day out during tariff debates, that these statutes have become virtually dead letters on the books. He has made a dozen speeches on the subject.

Yet if you look closely at what Mr. Mitchell did say to the American Bar association at Memphis, the impression grows that what has been going on has been formulation of a Hoover administration anti-trust policy, shaped in the light of conditions created since those statutes were written.

Just before Mr. Mitchell's statement, and while the stock market was engaged in the seeming process of funning off the deep end, Prof. Irving Fisher, Yale economic sharp, was telling the Bankers' association of Washington that the level of stock prices prevailing before the downward plunge was quite justifiable, economically.

He answered his own inquiry, "Is the stock market too high?" in the negative and cited his reasons. And third among those reasons for economic justification of price levels on a new post-war "plateau" that had doubled even the war time inflation, Professor Fishers placed "new mergers."

Old Sentiment Lapses

"A third reason why expected earnings in the future are greater is that we are living in the age of mergers under the Coolidge and Hoover administrations, and the old trust-busting sentiment has lapsed almost completely, as is shown by the inability of the opponents of these administrations to get the public excited on the subject," Professor Fisher said.

"These mergers have effected great economies and have therefore increased profits of corporations to a great extent."

Turning back to Mr. Mitchell, you find him saying he had waited from March until October to make his first pronouncement on Hoover administration anti-trust policy in order to study the situation.

You find him saying also that his department was not the place to "amend" anti-trust statutes and adding that his department frequently was quite confused itself as to the legal situation in attempting to advise prospective mergers whether their plans would bring them into conflict with the law.

Indeed, Mr. Mitchell said, this confusion was so great that the former practice of Attorney General Sargent in answering such inquiries had been revised.

Hereafter the department of justice will say so if it sees a clear case of law violation in prospective merger plans. It will also say so if a border line case is indicated.

It will give no advice when in doubt itself, on Mr. Mitchell's contention that it has no authority to "license" mergers. Only in the "clearest cases" will it say there is nothing in the plans to suggest anti-trust litigation.

And then comes the nubbin of the matter, for Mr. Mitchell added:

"In no case as yet have we felt justified in declaring that the department sees no objection to the transaction."

Clearly what is foreshadowed is an administration plan to modernize anti-trust laws, perhaps when the regular session of congress opens in December.

YOUR HEALTH

The A B C D of Vitamins.
By Roger S. Dennett, M. D.
Professor, N. Y., Post-graduate Medical School and Hospital, New York, N. Y.
(From Gorgas Memorial Institute)

The average mother has a keen sense of duty toward her children, and it is only her lack of knowledge, when this duty is first thrust upon her that prevents her from bringing up the baby in model fashion. The baby whose digestion is ruined by wrong feeding may grow up to be a dyspeptic adult, who can neither do his share of work in the world nor receive his share of pleasure out of it.

Proper diet is of the utmost importance to everyone. Therefore supply the body with substances known as vitamins in addition to the regular food elements.

Science now recognizes five different vitamins, but the first four may be considered the most important. A, B, C, and D each possess definite parts to play in nutrition and proper growth, and one vitamin may not be substituted for another.

Vitamin A has a most important influence on growth and the general development of bone and muscle. It is found in the majority of animal fats, such as cream, egg yolk, cod liver oil, and in the leaves of green vegetables.

Vitamin B is found in the germs of grains and seeds, in yeast, nuts, and to a certain extent in milk, fruit juices and some green vegetables. This vitamin is best supplied to the young child in cereals and breadstuffs which have not been too finely milled. The symptoms of Vitamin B deficiency are loss of appetite, failure to grow, inability to digest the food properly, sluggish bowels, decrease in resistance to disease.

Vitamin C occurs in fruit juices, particularly orange and lemon, raspberries, tomatoes and some fresh vegetable such as turnips and cabbage. In the absence of Vitamin C a condition known as scurvy occurs.

Vitamin D found chiefly in cod liver oil along with Vitamin A, is the one which governs bone development, and the proper distribution of lime.

Supply your child with Vitamin A by giving daily one egg and the cream that is contained in a quart of milk. See that he is not starved of Vitamin B. Give him flour and cereals that contain the germ and husks of the grain, such as whole wheat and graham flour, cracked oats, brown rice, and other unrefined cereals, and feed him plenty of fresh green vegetables. Bottle fed infants who cannot digest these coarser foods may have a sugar made from the germ of wheat, which is rich in Vitamin B. Give fruits and fruit juices in plenty from infancy up, to supply vitamin C and cod liver oil throughout the winter months for its Vitamin D.

Right eating, begun at birth and carried on through infancy and childhood, is the best possible foundation in which to build the sort of happy, useful life you pray for for your children.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

Reddy Fox Finds Peter Rabbit.
By Thornton W. Burgess.

Misfortunes of another may
To my good fortune pave the way.
—Reddy Fox.

Reddy Fox is a clever fellow. Indeed, he is. There is very little escapes the keen eyes and the quick ears of Reddy Fox. And his wits are quite as keen as his eyes and ears. You know, Reddy is one of those of whom we sometimes say, he lives by his wits. As you know, Reddy and Mrs. Reddy had made their home up in the Old Pasture. Reddy was taking a nap on his doorstep that morning when a hunter shot at Peter Rabbit. Instantly Reddy Fox was wide awake.

The Old Pasture is large. It is rocky and brush-grown and there are many bramble tangles. The place where Peter Rabbit had been shot at by the hunter was a long way from Reddy's home. However, Reddy knew by the sound just where that hunter was when he fired the shot.

"So there is a hunter up here in the Old Pasture," muttered Reddy. "I had hoped that hunters would keep away from here. I know Farmer Brown will not allow any hunting up in the Old Pasture, but I've noticed that every year one or two hunters do steal in here for a little hunting. Now, I wonder what that fellow shot at. I don't know of any one living over there jus tnow. Of course a Grouse may have come over to the Old Pasture and I not know it. I think a little later I'll have a look around over there. I hate these hunters with their terrible guns, but sometimes they do me a good turn without knowing it. I have found more than one good dinner killed for me by their terrible guns. They wound some one and then cannot find the victim. The latter creeps off to die, and that means a meal for me."

Reddy remained right where he was for some time. Then he lazily rose to his feet, stretched, yawned and then trotted off along an old cowpath. Presently he reached that part of the Old Pasture where the hunter had been. His keen nose soon found the scent of the hunter. Then Reddy began a systematic search. With his ears pricked forward to catch every faintest sound, with his eyes watching for every least movement and with his nose testing every Merry Little Breeze that came along, Reddy began his search.

"That hunter was right here," said Reddy to himself, as he found the empty cartridge the hunter had dropped from his gun "Whatever he shot at could not have been very far away. If he hit it I will find some feathers or some hair. Hello! This smells to me like Peter Rabbit. Can it be possible that that hunter shot at Peter Rabbit? I wonder what brought Peter up here to the Old Pasture. He ought to know enough to stay at home in the dear Old Briar Patch during the hunting season. To! I do believe it was Peter that that hunter shot at!"

Reddy had found Peter's scent and was following it along the cowpath. So it was that presently he came to the bramble tangle into which Peter had dashed for safety. It was a very thick bramble tangle. Reddy knew better than to try to make his way into it. So he sat down and began to peer between the brambles and bushes. So it was that he discovered Peter Rabbit. Reddy grinned when he saw Peter. Those sharp eyes of his told him at once that Peter was feeling very miserable. Peter was sitting with his eyes half closed. He had neither seen nor heard Reddy Fox.

"Hello! This smells to me like Peter Rabbit"

"A little patience and I think I'll have a Rabbit dinner," muttered Reddy Fox to himself."

IN DAY'S NEWS

Sandringham

Sandringham, the summer home to which King George of England has recently gone, is the subject of the following bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"Sandringham estate lies in Norfolk county, or what the Saxons called East Anglia, about 105 miles northeast of London," says the bulletin. "The district was once entirely wild heathland although a present-day visitor seeing the velvety lawns, the luxuriant gardens and woody park would never suspect the fact.

"Sandringham house itself is a large structure of red brick built in conventional Tudor style. It is preeminently not a castle but a house. The approach winds through the famous Norwich gates, structures of wrought iron, which were presented to King Edward VII on his marriage as a gift from the city of Norwich.

"Numerous gardens dot the grounds surrounding the house. There is a Dutch garden, entered through gilded gates, whose rows of flowers have the quaint stolidity of a true Netherlands garden. Many kinds of flowers and plants are found in the Maze which was designed by the present king and his sisters when they were children. Fountains and pergolas and an artificial lake beautify the grounds, while clipped yews and shrubbery trace a formal pattern on the lawn in front of the house. On the premises are acres of planted pine trees where pheasants and jays make a medley of sound.

"Sandringham is not far from the Wash, a bay which indents England's east coast. Thus the king benefits doubly from pine breezes and sea breezes.

"King George and Queen Mary have been exemplary landlords of Sandringham estate. The village of West Newton which lies on the estate, and which is connected by a footpath to Sandringham, is a model village; and there the queen has instituted many reforms in farming and dairying. The farmers and servants live in model cottages and the stables and barns are miracles of scientific neatness.

"The railway does not reach Sandringham so the last few miles of the journey from London are made by automobile from Wolferton. Near Sandringham lies Castle Rising, a very old village, famous for its Norman castle where Queen Isabella, the 'she-wolf of France,' expiated her part in her husband's murder. The church in this ancient town dates from the twelfth century.

"But the most interesting place in Castle Rising for visitors is the Bede house or Trinity hospital. Here, since 1614, has been established an almshouse for 12 poor spinsters over 50 years of age, who are not 'scolds, drunkards, or haunters of taverns.' On holidays and Sundays, the 12 spinsters may be seen wending their separate ways to church in enveloping red cloaks and tall, peaked hats, the costumes of the house inmates since Jacobean days."

Halloween.

In a rural school a teacher asked her pupils what discovery occurred in the month of October, 1492.

A small lad who was quite eager to give the information was called on and said: "Halloween was discovered by a man with a false face like an Indian."

One Drawback.

Two 12 year olds were discussing the various phases of airplaning, including parachute dropping. Said Jimmy: "Gee, but what if you should forget to pull the old rip cord!"

"Aw, I wouldn't worry about that," asserted Jack. "You know it's right over your heart, and I bet my old heart thumping would joggle it loose!"

"Well, mine wouldn't!" returned Jimmy, "cause my heart would be in my mouth!"

SWEETEN ACID STOMACH THIS PLEASANT WAY

When people experience distress two hours after eating—suffer from heartburn, gas, indigestion—nine times out of ten it's excess acid that's causing their trouble.

The best way—the quickest way to correct this is with an alkali. And Phillips Milk of Magnesia is an alkali, in the harmless, most pleasant and palatable form. It's the form physicians prescribe; which hospitals use; which millions have come to depend upon in over 50 years of steadily increasing use.

A spoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water neutralizes many times its volume in excess acid; and does it at once. In five minutes, the symptoms of excess acid disappear. To know this perfect way is to be through with crude methods forever.

Be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. A less perfect product may not act the same. All drug stores have the generous 25c and 50c bottles. Full directions for its many uses are always in the package.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of Pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. Produces New Spinach.

Seeking a more productive variety of spinach that would mature early and not go to seed so fast, Dr. Donald F. Jones, plant breeder of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station, has evolved a new spinach which is what human progeny so often neglect to be. It is superior to all of its ancestors. Seeds are now drying in the red barn of the Experimental Farm at Mount Carmel and next spring they will be offered to Connecticu farmers for trial.

More spinach is raised today than ever before. A few years ago it was first advocated for its food value by biochemists who discovered it to be one of the richest sources of certain vitamins.

FINE AND JAIL SENTENCE IN TAFTVILLE LIQUOR CASE

On charges of selling liquor and keeping a gambling device at a store at 164 Norwich avenue, in the Taftville section, Anthony Falcone, 21, of 68 North Main street, who was arrested in the place, was found guilty in the city court Monday morning. On the liquor charge he was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $200 and costs. On the other court he was fined $20. A punch board with a jack pot of several dollars which was found in the place by the police was the evidence of the gambling device.

The arrest of Falcone was made early Sunday night by State Policemen Whitmarsh and Murphy, one of whom is reported to have got inside the place and bought a drink and then blown his whistle to bring the others in to clinch the evidence. The officers seized a quantity of bottled goods, including eight pints of alleged gin, five pints of moonshine, five quarts of whiskey, and five cases of beer.

PETITION FOR UNDERTAKING PARLORS ON CLIFF STREET

The joint zoning board of appeals of the city and town of Norwich has set Thursday of this week as the time for hearing the petition of Louis L Gotthelf, Rosa G. Hutzler and Charles M. Hutzler for a modification of the zoning regulations so as to allow the use of the premises at 82 Cliff street as a memorial home for undertaking purposes. The hearing has been set for 11 o'clock in the morning in the mayor's office.

FUNERALS

Charles W. Harris

At 2 o'clock Monday afternoon the funeral of Charles W. Harris was held at his residence on Gardner Lake road, Salem, with an attendance of relatives and many friends, which filled the house and included a delegation from The Norwich Bulletin Co. The services were conducted by Rev. William D. Barnes of Hartford and Rock of Ages was sung by a quartet, comprising Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Clark, Clarence Capron and Mrs. Lillie Turner. There was a profusion of beautiful floral forms. Burial was in Rogers cemetery, Salem, and the committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Barnes. The bearers were Fred Winchester, Adelbert S. Winchester, Arthur Coffey and Earl Lewis. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Cummings & Ring.

Frank Piotrowski

The funeral of Frank Piotrowski of 226 South Thames street was held Monday morning with services at the house at 8:15 conducted by Rev. S. A. Iciek and a high mass of requiem at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church which was celebrated by Rev. Father Iciek. The music was in charge of J. Heinein at the organ and Chopin's funeral march was played as the processional. Burial was in the family plot in St. Joseph's cemetery where Rev. Father Iciek conducted the committal service at the grave. The bearers were grandchildren and sons-in-law: Frank Gwiazdowski, Ralph Lafamime, Boleslaw Labacz, John Pianko, John Labacz, and Wladyslaw Pianko. There was a large number of very beautiful tributes. Among those attending the funeral were friends from Webster, Mass.

Mr. Piotrowski was born in Poland and was married there to Pauline Budzycka. They came to this country 35 years ago and had lived here ever since. Besides his wife, he leaves three daughters, five sons, 34 grandchildren and four great grandchildren. He had many friends in this city who will sorrow at his passing away.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Samuel Carr

Catherine O'Connell, wife of Samuel Carr, died at 9 o'clock Monday evening at the W. W. Backus hospital following an operation for appendicitis. She was admitted to the hospital Sunday evening. Her home was at No. 35 Elizabeth street.

Mrs. Carr was born in Baltic Jan. 2 1861, the daughter of John and Hannah O'Connell, but was a resident of Norwich since her youth. She was united in marriage with Samuel Carr in this city in May, 1891. She attended St. Patrick's church.

Besides her husband she is survived by two brothers, Dennis O'Connell of Lyndhurst, N. J., and John O'Connell of this city and a sister, Mrs. John C. Brooks of Elizabeth street, this city.

WEDDING

Zalenski-Flot

Miss Mary Flot and Kasper Zalenski, both of Jersey City, N. J., were united in marriage at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning by Justice of the Peace John H. Barnes in his office in the Thayer building. Attorney Thomas M. Shields and William Flot, the bride's brother, witnessed the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of John and Mary Flot. The groom, who is the son of Joseph and Marguerite Zalenski, is a machinist.

Halloween Masquerade in Garage

A Halloween masquerade party was enjoyed last week by a group of 15 girls in the garage at the home of Miss Rosalind Rasin on Grant court. Those in charge were the Misses Rasin, Arlene Doyle, Louise Herring, Anna Foley, Jeanette Mendell and Augusta Markoff. The garage was prettily decorated with black and orange streamers and Japanese lanterns. Games were played, prizes being taken by Miss Edith Billings and Miss Olga Hurinowich. At 9 o'clock all the girls in their pretty, funny and hideous costumes sat down to three decorated tables, where sandwiches, fancy cookies, cake, candy and cold drinks were served.

Those present were the Misses Rosalind Rasin, Arlene Doyle, Eleanor Phaneuf, Louise Herring, Anna Foley, Jeanette Mendell, Augusta Markoff, Rita Cayen, Frances Mott, Edith Billings, Gertrude Schwartz, Olga Hurinowich, Helene Dougherty, Helen McCloskey and Marion Walker.

Believes Boys Steal Radio Wires.

The disappearance of radio aerial wires on houses in the Greene avenue section of the city is causing the residents considerable anxiety because without them they can not secure reception. Lately several wires have been removed from the houses in that section. It is believed that the thefts were perpetrated by boys, who sell the copper wire.

SENATOR BINGHAM DEFENDS HIMSELF IN STATEMENT READ BEFORE SENATE

United States Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, replied to charges made against him in the senate at Washington and defended his course in employing Charles L. Eyanson, assistant to the president of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association, as secretary to the senator during consideration of the tariff by the senate finance committee.

Senator Bingham read his prepared statement Monday before the senate voted on condemnation resolutions. The statement was as follows:

"The resolution asks for the condemnation of my having placed Mr. Eyanson, secretary to the president of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association, on the senate rolls on three grounds: First, that it is contrary to good morals; second, that it is contrary to senatorial ethics, and third, that it tends to damage the honor and reputation of the senate. In view of the fact, Mr. President, that I have previously explained at some length the whole transaction, both on the floor of the senate and once before the special committee charged with investigating lobbyists, I shall not go into the matter in detail at this time.

Reply To Three Charges

"On the other hand, I do desire to be heard briefly in regard to the three charges which have been brought against me.

"In the first place, it is claimed that the employment of Mr. Eyanson was contrary to good morals. It is difficult, Mr. President, to know exactly what is meant by this expression 'contrary to good morals,' but if it means anything at all, it must mean there was something in this employment which was immoral in the sense of being dishonorable or corrupt. To this charge, Mr. President, I plead not guilty. There was nothing in his employment which was dishonorable or corrupt. Not one dollar of the public money was wasted. Not a single taxpayer's dollar was employed for any sinister purpose.

"I did not profit to the extent of one dollar by any part of this transaction. It happens that I have not a single dollar invested in any of the Connecticut companies seeking an increase in tariff rates, which might be presumed to be represented by an official of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association.

No Money On Fingers

"Not a penny of the public money stuck to my fingers, nor to the fingers of Mr. Eyanson. On the contrary, whatever he received, while on the government payroll, was turned over to the clerk who continued to perform the same functions in my office as he had done previously and as he has continued to do since.

"There was nothing about the transaction that was dishonorable or corrupt. The Connecticut Manufacturers' association did not seek any unfair advantage. In loaning me one of their highly paid officials they did so at my request, in order that I might secure that person in Connecticut who was best posted on all sides of the tariff problem.

"Mr. Eyanson behaved throughout in an examplary manner, endeavoring his best to present to me the facts as to why certain increases or certain decreases in the tariff schedules were necessary. In no case did he attempt to deceive me. In all cases did he make an effort to bring the facts to my attention. There is no evidence whatsoever that he misrepresented the facts or attempted to becloud the issue, or in any way whatsoever attempted to gain any unfair advantage for the Connecticut manufacturers by a misconstruction of the facts or a faulty presentation of them.

"He is a highly trained business executive. He has a splendid war record and has a splendid record in business. Of all my constituents I believed him to be the best posted on the bill passed by the house of representatives. In all his relations with me there was nothing dishonorable or corrupt in the slightest degree.

Senatorial Ethics

"Now let us take the second point. It is claimed that his being placed on the rolls of the senate was contrary to senatorial ethics. It is fair to assume, Mr. President, that the expression senatorial ethics relates to what is considered by senatorial practice to be right or wrong. Every profession has its ethics. There are what is known as newspaper ethics. There are what is known as business ethics. There are what is known as the ethics of the medical profession. This action of mine in placing Mr. Eyanson on the senatorial rolls is called 'contrary to senatorial ethics.' Again Mr. President, I plead not guilty.

Clerks For Senators

"Everyone in the senate knows that to each senator, no matter what his

CAR BADLY DAMAGED BY SUDDEN BLAZE

A Chevrolet sedan owned by Peter Anderson of Mohegan park, off Rockwell street, was badly damaged by fire Monday evening on North Main street, opposite Mueller's garage, No. 265. The alarm to the fire department was sent in by telephone at 7:15 o'clock, bringing out Engine No. 2, and Squad A, together with Deputy Chief Dennis Brennan. The loss was placed by the owner at about $100.

On the arrival of the fire department the machine was a mass of flames, necessitating the use of 28 gallons of chemical before the blaze was put out. The heat was so terrific that the glass in the doors and the windshield melted and fell out. The flames swept through the upholstery, destroying it, and burned the top of the car off, besides blistering the paint.

The machine was parked on the west side of the highway, where Mr. Anderson, a mechanic for Mueller's, was repairing the clutch. He reported that his foot accidentally came in contact with the starter, quickly followed by a flare. The blaze was evidently caused from a short circuit in the starter.

The machine is reported to have been purchased by Mr. Anderson for $30, and that he had spent considerable money in putting it into first class shape. No insurance was held by him on the car.

TAKEN TO STATE HOSPITAL AFTER TERRORIZING MYSTIC

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 4.—Hans Hennig, 23 Church street, Mystic, was arrested there this afternoon by state police officers in charge of Sergeant George Webber after Hennig became violently insane and threatened to kill residents of the village. He was later committed to Norwich State hospital, when examined by physicians to determine his sanity, being taken to the hospital by three officers. Hennig displayed unmistakable signs of insanity when he appeared on the streets brandishing a fully-loaded revolver. He terrorized the pedestrians, who fled to escape possibility of getting shot. Telephone calls were sent to the state police barracks and Sergeant Webber and Officers William MacKenzie, John Smith, Charles Hill, Frederick Johnson and Arthur Whitmarsh went to Mystic in automobiles, where a search finally resulted in Hennig being found at his home. Officers entered the home and disarmed the mentally afflicted man and subsequently escorted him to the hospital.

SIREN CLEARS STREETS FOR FIRE APPARATUS

The effectiveness of the new traffice siren located at the corner of Bath and Franklin streets was shown Monday morning about 11:50 o'clock, when the fire apparatus was called out for a chimney fire in the tenement owned by Paul Baron at 146 Central avenue. No difficulty was experienced by the fire apparatus in making the run through the business section of the city, as has been the case in the past when they have been hindered to some extent by traffic.

With the sounding of the siren the majority of the traffic almost came to a standstill, so that the apparatus had a clear lane through which to pass on the way to the fire. Engine No. 2, Squads A and Chief Henry R. Taft responded and extinguished the blaze with little damage resulting. The call came by telephone.

AUSTIN CASE TO COME BEFORE SUPERIOR COURT

When Malcolm Austin of New London was presented in the city court here Monday morning on a continuance of the case in which he is charged with manslaughter for causing the death of Charles Muench of West Thames street, a demurrer entered by his counsel, Earl Mathewson, was overruled by Deputy Judge H. H. Pettis, who found probable cause and bound Austin over to the next term of the criminal superior court. Bonds were set at $2,500 and were furnished by Mr. Austin.

The case had been continued a number of times to await the finding of Coroner E. G. McKay in regard to the fatal accident in which Muench was struck on the night of Sept. 21 by an automobile driven by Austin on the Norwich-Montville road near the Golf club entrance. Last week Coroner McKay made a finding that Austin was criminally liable

FORM RIFLE LEAGUE WITH FIVE TEAM MEMBERSHIP

Five organizations were represented at the organization meeting of the Mohegan Rifle league held Sunday afternoon at the Pioneer Hose Co. quarters in Groton, when Allyn M. Brand of this city was elected president of the league. The following were the other officers chosen: Vice President, Capt. Warren of Mystic; secretary, A. M. White of Norwich; treasurer, Joseph A. French of Norwich.

A committee, Boatswain L. L. Heath of the Coast Guard, New London, A. M. White of Norwich, and Mr. Ducas of Taftville, was named for drawing up a schedule for the league, which is expected to get under way by the latter part of this month. Eight organizations are expected to participate in the league. Any type of 22 calibre rifle may be used this year. In the past only military rifles were allowed.

The five organizations represented at the meeting were the Mystic Rifle Club, Pioneer Hose Co., Coast Guard, Taftville American Legion and Norwich Rifle club.

WILLIMANTIC MAN FOR U. S. DISTRICT COURT TRIAL

Marian Mazzola, alleged proprietor of a pool room at 824 Main street, Willimantic, was before U. S. Commissioner Earl Mathewson Monday afternoon at the commissioner's office in the Thayer building on the charge of violation of the federal prohibition act. Probable cause was found and Mazzola was bound over for trial in U. S. district court. He furnished bonds of $500 for his appearance.

The Willimantic man was arrested over a week ago when federal officers found 11 cases of beer and other intoxicating fluids when they raided the pool room in Willimantic. Commissioner Mathewson directed the release of Charles Mazzola, brother of the accused, who also had been arrested.

NORWICH BARITONE GIVES DELIGHTFUL PROGRAMME

The appearance of Henry LaFontaine on the programme for the November meeting of the Norwich Music association at Slater hall annex Monday evening brought out such a large attendance that many extra chairs were placed for those who were drawn to hear this talented Norwich baritone. Mr. LaFontaine gave the entire programme himself, doing the unusual feat of playing his own accompaniments, to the great pleasure of the audience of music lovers who showed the warmest appreciation of his excellent work.

Mr. LaFontaine was in fine voice, singing with rich, well rounded tone and perception of values in the numbers of his interesting programme, while his self-rendered accompaniments provided a most satisfying background for his vocal work.

The programme was given as follows:

Three Italian Songs	Selected
Why so Pale Fond Love?	Suckling-Moore
Passing By	Old English
Captain Stratton's Fancy	Masefield-Taylor
Plaisir d'Amour	Old Fr.-Martini
Pauvres Fous	Old Fr.-Tagliafico
La Charmante Marguerite	Old Fr.-Lehman
Der Asra	Anton Rubinstein
Weyla's Song	Morike-Wolf
Der Schmied	Uhland-Brahms
Trees	Kilmer-Rasbach
Kashmiri Song	Hope-Finden
Glory! Oh God	Buzzi-Peccia

Encore responses were given after the Old English group and the German group and when the assigned programme had come to an end with the last group, which included two of the high spots of the evening in the rendering of the setting for Kilmer's "Trees" and the Kashmiri Song, the audience continued to applaud until Mr LaFontaine had responded by singing Mother Machree and then the humorous bit, Sweet Kitty.

Members of the club expressed their pride and satisfaction that Norwich musical circles could rejoice in possession of so talented an artist whose entire musical education had been obtained in Norwich with a summer aboard with Charles J. Dyer through whose sponsorship Mr. LaFontaine enjoyed many musical advantages there.

NORWICH BOYS TO GO TO YALE-MARYLAND GAME

About 150 grammar school members of the local Y. M. C. A. are planning to attend the Yale-Maryland football game at New Haven the coming Saturday. These boys will be the guests of Yale University A. A. on this happy occasion. The university admits all grammar school children of Connecticut to this game free, providing application has been made previously. The university also insists that these children shall have tickets and that they shall be supervised by adult leaders.

The big problem is transportation. Already 15 cars have been donated by local business men, but 10 or 15 more are needed. The driver of each car gets a free ticket to the game, too. If anyone is interesting in taking boys to this game arrangements can be made by communicating with the boys secretary of the local Y.

Every boy is expected to take ample lunch to last him until he returns after the game and should also take a good heavy overcoat or its equivalent, as it gets cold in the Yale bowl during the latter part of the game and is very apt to be cool coming home. Most of the cars that will take the boys to the game will be closed machines.

BOUCHER HAS SISTER LIVING IN VERMONT

Early this (Tuesday) morning, it was reported by hospital authorities that Albert Boucher, 45, who was injured early Monday morning at Uncasville, was in a semi-conscious condition and that little was known concerning him. It was learned, however, that he has a sister living in Vermont and his mother in Canada, but as yet his address has not been ascertained. He is a patient at the Backus hospital.

The identity of the injured man, who is suffering from concussion of the brain, numerous lacerations and abrasions and contusions, was definitely established about 10 o'clock Monday morning, when he regained consciousness for the first time since the accident and gave his name as Albert Boucher, aged 45. In spite of further questioning his address could not be learned as he gave a different one each time that he was asked for it.

From what could be learned of the accident it appears that Mr. Boucher was visiting at the home of residents in Johnson lane, Uncasville, and came out the lane to catch the trolley. As he ran towards it, it is believed that he slipped and fell against the side of the car near the front door, being hurled forcibly to the ground. He was attended by Dr. J. H. McLaughlin of Jewett City, who was passing by, and then rushed to the hospital in the ambulance. It was at first believed that he suffered a fractured skull, but upon examination it was discovered that he had received concussion of the brain.

Will Visit Elks' Lodge

Norwich lodge of Elks is to have an official visit from the district deputy at its first meeting in December. Bro. P. E. R. Edward C. Cox is the district deputy who will come here and will probably be accompanied, by a large suite of officers from other lodges. The entertainment committee is making arrangements for a special programme for the evening.

Two Uncontested Divorces

Two divorce cases that are on the uncontested list are on the assignment list for trial in New London at the short calendar session of the superior court with Judge Earnest C. Simpson presiding. They are Louise Horton Caswell vs. William L. Caswell, and Winfield M. Sewell vs. Olive Ball Sewell.

Condition Is Improving

The condition of Joseph Pusateri, 19, of No. 297 Central avenue, who attempted to take his life by drinking iodine last Tuesday morning, is improved, it was reported at the W. W. Backus hospital this (Tuesday) morning.

SHYMA CLUB STAGE ATHLETIC NOVELTY AT PARISH HALL TONIGHT

At Parish hall, Taftville, this evening the Shyma club will put on a novelty athletics show for the benefit of the club. The Shyma club, which is a young men's organization connected with the Sacred Heart church of Taftville, is a progressive organization in which the young men of the church are taking a very active interest. Through the summer the club devoted its time to baseball but with the close of the outdoor season a basketball team is to be sponsored as well as boxing bouts.

These entertainments are being put on not for any personal gain but for the club. The athletic entertainment this evening is the first venture of this club and a large attendance is expected. The committee has been working hard to make this a success and the program they have arranged will be a real treat. The program will include, a strong man act, two or three boxing bouts, an acrobatic act and a dancing exhibition. There will also be an orchestra to furnish music during the evening.

Young Appolo, Moosup's strong man tops the program with his act which includes weight lifting and other strong man feats in which he challenges any other strong men of the state to duplicate.

Al Beaurecard of Taftville who boxes Dodo Jackson of New York on the boxing card next week, will give a three-round exhibition against Rene Peloquin or Johnny Dosh; both of whom appear on the Shyma card next week. Al Gauvin and Pete Gouin hook up in another three rounder, both boys being members of the Military boxing team. These youngsters are keen to get at one another even though it is an exhibition.

The feature bout of the boxing program is a bout between Speed Taftville of the village and Kid Smoke of the Hill section. This is an honest-to-goodness scrap as there is bitter feeling between the two lads as to their ability to give and absorb punishment.

Following this there will be a hard and soft shoe dancing exhibition by Young Chip Dugas, who is a pocket edition of his talented and versatile father who was on the vaudeville stage for several seasons.

The acrobatic act will be stared by Young Saxon of Moosup and Young Horton. This act is really worth seeing as the boys have worked up a real novelty in their line.

There will be plenty of music during the evening, the club having engaged a local orchestra for the evening.

MANY TEAMS HAVE ONLY LIGHT DRILLS

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—Football practices for Monday, a light day since the start of the season, are getting even more easy as the season approaches its climax. Drills on eastern gridirons today ranged in general from nothing at all to light and brief workouts. But there always are a few exceptions to the rule.

Arnold Horween of Harvard, Andy Kerr of Colgate and Armsby and McMagnon, assistants to Joe McKenney at Boston college provided the important exceptions. Horween gave the Crimson its first taste of practice after dark in beginning preparations for the Michigan game. Drills on tackling and blocking occupied much of the time, while signal practice and preparation of new plays took up enough time to bring the ghost ball into play.

Kerr varied his usual procedure to give his men a chance to use a wet ball, sending them through a hard scrimmage, the first preparations for the Columbia game. Two regular halfback, Hart and Dowler, were missing from the drill while two more, Conroy, and Stollwerck, are on the injured list. Columbia's drill was little more than a lose around the field and a talk from Coach Crowley, in which he said to forget the defeat by Cornell and buckle down to work for another tough opponent.

While Head Coach McKenney was on his way to New York to scout Fordham in tomorrow's game with West Virginia, his assistants handed out a stiff drill. Much time was devoted to signal practice to perfect new plays.

Fordham and West Virginia, each with two hard games this week, wound up their preparations for their annual election day battle with light workouts. Major Cavanaugh kept his Fordham drill secret while the Mountaineers practiced at the scene of the battle, the Polo Grounds.

Two of the old Big Three, Yale and Princeton, topped the list of teams which got a day of complete rest. Mal Stevens plans to begin Yale's preparation for meeting Maryland tomorrow, but Bill Roper extends to let his Princetonians rest until Wednesday before working out for Lehigh. Others which had no drill were Brown and Pennsylvania.

Mello Kayoes Baldie

Canzoneri-Berg Bout Cancelled

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri was forced today to cancel his match with Jackie Kid Berg, English lightweight, scheduled for Madison Square Garden, Nov. 15, because of eye injuries suffered in recent matches. The bout may be staged Nov. 29.

YALE MAN ON DEATH BED PRAISES MARSTERS AND TEAM

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—A death-bed letter from "Bear" Olcott, who was all-American center on Gordon Brown's football team at Yale in 1900, to Alton Marsters, star of this year's Dartmouth eleven, will be published by the New York Times tomorrow.

It praises the Dartmouth team for its sportsmanship. Olcott died at his home in Wallingford, Conn., last night. A copy of the letter was sent to the Times by George St. John, headmaster of the Choate school.

It follows:

"Dear Alton Marsters:

"I am so much of an invalid that I cannot write myself, but, as an old Yale center and a coach of many years, wish to give my admiring homage to such a sterling exhibition of good sportsmanship and good football as Dartmouth showed on Nov. 2.

"I saw you play two years ago—that was the last time that I was able to see any game—and I then picked you for one of the best backs that I have ever seen.

"I can't tell you how glad I am that you have so superbly justified that opinion and how sorry I was to see so gallant a team meet defeat in the way it did after so great a battle.

"I send my best wishes to you and the Dartmouth team for the rest of the season and through life.

"Sincerely yours,

"P. OLCOTT, Yale 1901."

"BIFF" JONES HOPES ARMY AND NAVY WILL PLAY

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 4—(AP)—Speaking over the Columbia Broadcasting system chain tonight, Captain Lawrence M. (Biff) Jones, who gives up his post as head coach of Army football teams this year, expressed the hope that the Army and Navy would resume athletic relations broken off in January, 1928.

"They (the Army and Navy) should again engage in athletics," Capt. Jones said. Army wants other great football contests with the Navy. It should be a game between the two government service schools, a game in which any Cadet or Midshipman who is not deficient in his studies can participate."

It was on this very point that the Army and Navy broke off relations. The naval academy insisted on the Army adopting the three-year eligibility rule while the military academy stood pat on its policy of permitting any Cadet to participate in collegiate competition regardless of how many years he had competed before coming to West Point.

Speaking of Army and Navy athletic relations Capt. Jones said:

"While I consider the 1922 Army-Navy game the most interesting I have ever witnessed, there is something in every football contest between the two government service schools that makes it of really far more interest than the average well played, close, exciting game. This annual football classic which the Navy discontinued after 1927, brings together the two fighting arms of the service in embyro. These Cadets and Midshipmen, who will in time lead their respectives services in both peace and war, fight in these games for their Alma Mater as they will in the future for their country. They never quit. They keep up their wonderful spirit until the final whistle has blown.

"These games appealed to the citizens of the country. It made them better officers. It taught them how to train men. They are fine examples of young healthy manhood, the flower of the country as they often are termed. They should again engage in athletics. It is but natural that they set examples for the other youth of the land. Army wants to renew athletic relations with Navy. Army wants other great football contests with the Navy, contests that will go down in the history of football, but it should be a game between the two government service schools, a game in which any Cadet or Midshipman who is not deficient in his studies can participate. Both should be striving for one thing, to make better officers for their country."

Army began its preparations for an intersectional game with Chicago with the usual talk on Saturday's contest by Coach Biff Jones. A brief scrimmage in which the first and second teams opposed the Plebes followed. New York university, which also tackles an intersectional opponent, Georgia, stazed a signal drill in which Chick Meehan began his search for a capable substitute for Charlie Marshall, star end and punter, whose leg was broken in the Georgetown contest.

Pittsburgh, leader of the eastern array, worked but briefly in a signal drill in preparation for meeting Washington and Jefferson. Cornell had a long but not very hard practice. The Red team meets Western Reserve on Saturday.

Rutgers and Lafayette, old rivals, got off to easy starts in their preparations for their clash.

White Sox Buy Jolley

CHICAGO, Nov. 4—(AP)—The White Sox made another move to strengthen their team today by purchasing Smeed Jolley, heavy hitting outfielder from San Francisco of the Pacific Coast club. Jolley batted .335 and rapped out 28 homers for the Seals last season.

HUAT GETS DECISION OVER SCHWARTZ

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—Fresh from a sensational campaign in foreign fields, Eugene Huat, flyweight champion of Belgium, made his debut in Madison Square Garden tonight with a stirring ten round victory over Izzy Schwartz, best of the American 112 pounders. The battle featured the first series of matches between leading contenders for the vacant world flyweight title.

So soundly did Huat, a slim, calm, solid socking workman, trounce the widely recognized American champion, that Schwartz announced from the ring immediately after the decision his permanent retirement from fisticuffs. Huat failed to floor the game Jewish midget but gave him a hearty cuffing every round.

Several times Huat, knockout victor over Spider Pladner, the French ace, and Frenchy Belanger, champion of Canada, had Schwartz reeling and all but spent from slashing punches to the head. Izzy barely weathered the fourth, sixth, seventh and final rounds.

The Belgian seemed slow in the early rounds as Schwartz clever and fleet, bounced around the ring. But every time Huat pulled Izzy to close quarters, or caught him on the ropes, solid jarring belts to the head and ribs robbed Schwartz of some of his speed. In the closing rounds Izzy had nothing left but courage that kept him erect despite the steady drumfire of the Belgian's leather. Huat weighed 112, Schwartz, 111.

The first two matches of the tourney, designed to discover the successor to Fidel Labarba as the flyweight king, did little to solve the problem. Ruby Bradley, Negro from Holyoke, Mass., received the referee's decision over Ernie Peters, of Chicago when most of the 6,800 spectators thought he had lost and yelled lustily about. The din of disapproval was even greater when Midget Wolgast, Philadelphia's bouncing boy, was given the award over Johnny McCoy of Buffalo.

There was no question as to the superiority of Black Bill, Cuban stablemate of the crack featherweight, Kid Chocolate over Willie Davies of Charleroi, Pa., one of the favorites in the tourney. There was not one knock down on the entire four ten rounders. The winners will be paired later, with the ultimate victor promised the recognition of the New York state athletic commission as 112 pound king.

All this rain ought to do the gardens some good and make 'em nice and green for the inspectors.

Didja ever go to an auction with absolutely no intention of buying a thing and then come home with a lotta junk that'll find its way to the ash pile in a week?

Them auctioneers sure have personality plus if you get what I mean. Why, them boys could get a bunch of eskimos to bid on a lot of palmleaf fans.

Can you imagine what persuasive powers an auctioneer has when he gets one of the Fancy Corner boys to bid on a decrepit old cow? Especially when the boy has no more use for a cow than he'd have for a flock of submarines.

But that's what happened not so long ago. A few of the boys from around Fancy Corner went to an auction up in the country the other day. If you don't know where Fancy Corner is we'll tell you it's up in Taftville—that section near Tafts station.

And believe me, there's more action there in ten minutes than there is in the entire town in 24 hours. As I was saying these Fancy Corner boys took in the auction.

They stuck around for a time watching the farm implements be knocked down to this one and that. Finally the auctioneer got around to the livestock. One of the Fancy Corner boys has a liking for livestock apparently.

A very ancient cow, a cow of about 1908 vintage, was being sold. It was an even break whether the cow would ever live to be sold or not, but it took the fancy of one of the boys.

"How much am I offered?" asked the auctioneer. "Ten dollars," pipes up the Fancy Corner boy. He probably hadn't heard that old saying that it's cheaper to buy milk than own a cow.

The bidding went up slowly, the boy adding a dollar to every other bid until it got to $24. The boy had made the last bid and the auctioneer knowing that he had got an outrageous price was just starting that well known line about "going, going, gone."

The boy from Fancy Corner had taken account of cash on hand and his total assets were 24 cents. He was a trifle perturbed when the auctioneer started to close the deal. By the time the second "going" had resounded through the barn he was frantic.

He was going to be the owner of a cow that cost $24 and he had but 24 cents and he was frantic. He looked at the other boys and they offered no solution to his problem.

He took a chance and says to a farmer boy side of him, "Go ahead, bid $25, it's a good cow." And like a sap the farmer boy says, "Twenty-five dollars," just as the auctioneer had started to say "Gone."

The Fancy Corner boy heaves a big sigh of relief and turns to his friends and remarks, "Let's get the H—l outta here."

FIELDS FLATTENS MAHAN IN THE SECOND ROUND

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, tonight knocked out "Dummy" Mahan, San Francisco, challenger in the second round of a 10-round go. Both fighters entered the ring over the weight limit. Fields weighed 147 1-2; Mahan 150 pounds.

Mahan charged out at the bell in the first round and landed many blows to the head and body of the champion. Fields seemed surprised at the aggressiveness of the mute boxer and was on the defensive most of the round.

At the start of the second round Fields beat a steady tattoo of lefts and rights on Mahan's body which soon had the mute boxer groggy, a short left uppercut was the deciding blow.

Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion, was the referee.

In the semi-windup Bobbie Herman, Los Angeles, won a decision in ten rounds from Louis Avery, Tulsa, Okla. Each weighed 128.

FRANTZ MAKES LONGEST RUN FOR TOUCHDOWN

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—To Edward Frantz, of Ohio Wesleyan goes the credit for the longest scoring run according to the records of Parke S. Davis, of East Pennsylvania, noted football statistician.

Playing against Heidelberg, Frantz caught a kick behind his own goal line and ran 109 yards for touchdown. Harris, of Brown, ran 97 yards to score against Holy Cross and Ed Wittmer, Princeton ace, dashed 90 yards for a touchdown against Cornell.

The longest scoring run from scrimmage thus far noted by Davis was Lecoin's dash of 96 yards for Tufts against Bates. The lengthiest scoring passes were 50 yard tosses, made by Wood, of Harvard against Army; Codert, of Boston college, against Villanova; and Marsters, of Dartmouth, against Yale.

Two players have booted 45 yard place kicks, Cook, of Lafayette, against Penn State, and Corry, of Miami, against Wittenberg.

Shikat Throws Garabaldi

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Richard Shikat, who is recognized in New York and Pennsylvania as heavyweight wrestling champion, had little difficulty in defeating Gino Garabaldi in their decision bout at the 71st Regiment armory tonight. Shikat scored the one fall in 26 minutes and 36 seconds of wrestling. A crowd of about 8,000 turned out.

Goldstein Wins

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Phil Goldstein, 131, of Pittsburgh, won a decision over Roger Bernard, 128, of Flint, Mich., in a ten-round bout tonight.

ALBIE BOOTH BEING CONSIDERED AS AN ALL-AMERICAN PROSPECT

By BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—In the best resin circles of pugilism it has long been held sound reasoning that a good big man will beat a good little man. The same axiom was supposed to hold good in football too, until little Albie Booth came along to do his bit for Yale.

The good little man in the person of Yale's best back for a generation has beaten two good big men on successive Saturdays, Keener Cagle of the Army and Al Marsters, of Dartmouth.

As the open season approaches for selecting All-American teams, the diminutive Booth's name will be placed well to the front. The 144 pounder will be outweighed by all his rivals but outclassed by none.

When Albie of New Haven was only fair to middling against Georgia in classic Athens, his friends were chagrined and the scoffers went into a huddle with "I told you so" expressions. The failure of the Milford lad to star in his first real varsity chance, however, did not shake the faith of the home folk for Booth.

The small package of elastic and dynamite combined responded. Against Brown and Army he scored all of Yale's touchdowns from scrimmage. With two touchdowns against Brown, three against the Army, with the accompanying points after touchdown, and a field goal against Dartmouth he scored 38 consecutive points for the Blue, the sum total of Yale's scoring from the beginning of the Brown game to the start of the second half of the Dartmouth set-to.

As good as he is, Yale's modern Frank Hinkey, on the basis of ability per pound, has plenty of company when great backs are being catalogued for future reference.

In spite of the fact that they were outshone by the remarkable Booth, Cagle and Marsters remain experts on any field. Cagle can outpass Booth by a wide margin and Marsters will plunge through a line where Booth cannot use even his eel-like tactics. Walter Masters of Pennsylvania can match kick for kick with him and not often does the game find a better all-around man than Octavius Uansa, of Pittsburgh.

In any enumeration of all-star backfields Purdue will be found on the front seat. Few better trios have performed under one tent at the same time than Yunevich, Harmeson and Welch. Art Pharmer, of Minnesota, is another great middle western back and supporters of Detroit will tell anyone who asks that Lloyd Brazil is an all-American back if there ever was one. Iowa has the big Glassgow of the "double S" Glassgows, described by Bob Zuppke as the smartest back in the Big Ten.

The south can name among others, Bill Banker, of Tulane and Gene McEver, of Tennessee. In a galaxy of star performers in the far west Benny Lom of California and Marshal Duffield, of Southern California stand out, but they are pressed by a husky crew of Stanford ball carriers, where the players are classed by groups. Not quite so far west, "Powerhouse" Pomeroy, of Utah and Dutch Clark, of Colorado, are furnishing thrills.

ACADEMY STARTS PREPARATION FOR WEST HARTFORD

With the chance still remaining of getting an even break on the season by winning the final three games, the Academy football squad will get down to work this afternoon at the campus for the last home game of the year Saturday with West Hartford. By winning from West Hartford, Stonington and Bulkeley, the Academy could bring its season's record to four wins, four defeats and one tie. Every game so far has been on home territory, the record being four defeats, one win and one tie.

MARYLAND PREPARES FOR GAME WITH YALE

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 4.—(AP)—The Maryland varsity rested today while the rest of the squad went through an hour's workout for the Yale game Saturday. The varsity suffered no injuries in Saturday's clash with Virginia. The squad was reported to be in the best condition of the season.

KOZIOL LOSES VERDICT TO JOE MACHADO

FALL RIVER, Mass., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Eddie Holmes, 140, of Providence, pounded out an eight round decision over Nat Kawler, 140, of New York, in the main bout of a boxing card here tonight. Young Lefty, 138, Fall River, outpointed Henry Janco, 134, of Lawrence, in another eight rounder.

In the preliminaries, Joe Machado, 135 1-2, Fall River, defeated Al Koziol, 137, Norwich, on points; Joe Venuti, 152, Boston, outpointed Joe O'Donnell, 149, a brother Bostonian; and Kid Cuffe, 128, Fall River, won the decision from Buster Mello, 127 1-2, New Bedford. All went six rounds.

MARSTERS MAY NOT PLAY AGAINST BROWN

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Al Marsters, Dartmouth's high scoring quarterback, was sent to the college infirmary here today to be treated for the back injury he received in the Yale game. He was said to be in considerable pain and Harry Hillman, football team trainer, doubted that he would be in condition to play against Brown next Saturday. Marsters has played in each of the Green's six games to date.

Most of the other varsity players spent the afternoon in the rubbing room, where Hillman and his assistants attended to their bruises and injuries. Len Clark, regular halfback, who is also resting in the infirmary, is definitely out of the Brown clash. Andres, Boonn and Sutton, however, will probably be available.

HARVARD USES GHOST BALL FOR FIRST TIME

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 4.—(AP)—The Harvard football team used the "ghost" ball for the first time this season here today, when Head Coach Arnold Horween worked his squad long after darkness fell on the first preparatory session for next Saturday's Michigan game at Ann Arbor.

Much of the time was spent on tackling and blocking drills.

It was announced that Art Huguely, who has been one of the regular halfbacks during most of the season, would be unable to play against Michigan, or until the Yale game. He injured his hip playing against Florida.

COFFEE LOST TO OHIO FOR THE REST OF SEASON

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Charley Coffee, Ohio State's brilliant halfback, has been suspended for the remainder of the season for breaking training rules on the Pittsburgh trip last Saturday, Coach Sam Willaman announced today.

The suspension came at a time when Ohio State launched upon an intensive training for this week's game with Northwestern, one of the toughest on Ohio's schedule. Coffee was the offensive star against Pittsburgh.

ON THE SIDELINES by BRIAN BELL

CLARK GRIFFITH, president of the Washington Senators, watched the world's series with as much interest as any spectator, rooting, of course, for the champions of his league, the Athletics, but with no cause to love the team of Connie Mack.

With high hopes for a great season, the Senators of "Griff" and Walter Johnson ran into the A's at the start of the playing schedule and lost 12 of the first 13 games played between the two teams. That finished Washington, and Barney's boys had to come home in a driving finish to close the season at the head of the second division.

Hopes are high, however, for next year. "We have some fine young players," said President Griffith. "Cronin and Hayes are outstanding. What a double-play combination. If we can only put about ten pounds more on Hayes, what a whale of a player that Alabama boy will be.

Goslin had a terrible year this season but it will be different in the spring. He is a great hitter and he never will go two seasons in a row without hitting right up among the leaders. His arm is completely recovered from the previous season. First he couldn't throw but could hit, then he got so he could throw but couldn't hit. Next year he'll do both.

AN official who has been assigned to several night football games does not know yet whether he likes it or not. "In some ways it is very interesting," he said, "but there are some difficulties. For instance, on high kicks. If a ball is punted high in the air, it passes beyond the range of the lights. I worked in one game where a clever lad knew just how far the light belt extended and he spent the night kicking the ball up where we couldn't see it. At that, I think it's a good idea to play at night."

Another contribution on night football came from a man who has been a spectator at several games. He thought the absence of the color offered by the game in the light of day was a disadvantage.

GOOD news for football fans who double in baseball. There will be little conflict next autumn between the two great sports. The baseball clubs are recovered from the attack of late sesonitis. The 1930 baseball season will be brought to a close on the last Sunday in September and starting the world's series promptly will permit the curtain to be lowered on baseball before the football players take the field for any serious contests.

President E. S. Barnard, of the American league, is an advocate for an early baseball closing and will receive the unanimous support of his circuit. President John A. Heydler, of the National, also believes in closing up shop at a seasonable time and he will have practically all his club owners on his side.

STOCK EXCHANGE TO SHORTEN DAILY SESSIONS

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—Trading in the New York securities markets returned to nearly normal proportions today after a brief flurry of selling, representing the execution of a vast accumulation of orders over the week-end, took place at the opening of the exchanges. Prices slid off $1 to $12 a share at the opening, rallied moderately before the end of the first hour and then extending their initial declines in a fresh selling movement which carried nearly two score issues down $10 to $25 a share below last week's final quotations. Closing quotations generally were around the low levels of the day.

For the first time in about a fortnight, the stock exchange ticker tape caught up with the market in the early afternoon trading and printed the final quotation within half an hour after the close.

Governors of the New York Stock exchange voted before the opening of the market to shorten the daily sessions on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from five to three hours, opening at 10 a. m. and closing at 1 p. m., and to suspend business all day Saturday. Similar action was taken by the New York Curb exchange, and the securities division of the produce exchange. All exchanges and banks also are closed tomorrow, election day, a legal holiday in New York.

Despite the fact that the exchanges were closed last Friday and Saturday, this further suspension of business was deemed necessary because brokerage firms found it impossible to catch up with the tremendous accumulation of work that piled up last week and to give their employes sufficient rest.

RANCHER LISTED AS VICTIM OF BLIZZARD

LARAMIE, Wyo., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Charles F. Sommer, 62, rancher of Albany and Platte counties, was listed today as a victim of the blizzard which swept this section of Wyoming Saturday. Sommer died of exposure and exhaustion, after shoveling drifts to release his stranded automobile when he and Julius Morrow were caught in the storm. Morrow walked to a ranch house and telephoned for aid. Sommer's frozen body was brought here today by officers.

SELF DEFENSE PLEA MAY FREE WOMAN

DETROIT, Nov. 4—(AP)—A self defense plea which Mrs. Louise Stein made to police today in connection with her confession to stabbing to death her husband, Meyer Stein, veteran "crounier" in the Recourse gambling house of "Lefty" Clark, may result in no charges being made against Mrs. Stein, Duncan C. McCrea, assistant prosecuting attorney, said today.

KEANE WITHDRAWS NEW YORK FRANCHISE IN HOCKEY LOOP

HARTFORD, Nov. 4—(AP)—The New York franchise of the American Roller Hockey league was withdrawn from that city tonight by President A. W. Keane of the league, who refused to sanction its transfer from Waterbury to the metropolis because he did not believe that the conditions under which the sport would be presented in New York would permit the sports public to fairly judge its value as a thrill producer.

Keane announced that the New York team would play but one game this week, that contest being at Providence, next Saturday night. Two cities have already applied for the New York franchise and it is said that it will be operating next week.

"Inability to secure proper seating arrangements for a crowd of more than 2,000 could see roller hockey in New York and the fact that the sport must have a definite hook-up with a roller skating proposition there led to the decision not to permit the transfer of the Waterbury team," Keane said.

SCHALK BEING CONSIDERED AS MANAGER FOR DODGERS

LITCHFIELD, Ill., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Ray Schalk, catcher for the Chicago White Sox for years and recently released by the New York Giants as coach, admitted today he was under under consideration as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Schalk's home is here and he started his career on local sandlots.

AGGIES HAVE ONLY LIGHT SIGNAL DRILL

STORRS, Nov. 4—(AP)—The Connecticut Aggies were deprived of their usual Monday rest today when Coach Dole sent the squad through a light workout in preparation for Saturday's game with New Hampshire.

The game, the Aggies' big clash of the football season, is expected to attract hundreds of alumni for the annual "home coming."

Bruin Hockey Squad Cut

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Manager Art Ross today cut his Boston Bruins hockey squad to 14 players, retaining but two of the new men added to the roster since the club won the Stanley cup last season. They were Bob Taylor, the American-born star of the Boston Tigers, champions of the Canadian-American league, and Martin Barry, who played with New Haven in the same circuit.

Flowers Beat Kaufman

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Bruce Flowers, shifty and hard-hitting Negro of New Rochelle, N. Y., took the decision from Pinky Kaufman, Hartford, Conn., in the 10-round main event at the Arcna tonight. He scaled 137 pounds, Kaufman 140. The bout was moved up ahead of the semi-windup between Joe Dundee and Billy Angelo, which was won by Dundee on points.

Paquette Loses

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Armand Levine, 132, of Burlington, Vt., won a decision over Lou Paquette, 125, of Bridgeport, Conn., in an eight-round bout here tonight.

McLarnin Beats Mandell

CHICAGO, Nov. 4—(AP)—Jimmy McLarnin defeated Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight champion, in a ten round non-title contest tonight.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Murder In The Red Barn

Several bows are due to Alice Keating for digging out this rare old museum piece—"The Murder in the Red Barn"— which is supposed to be a transcript of the actual murder of Maria Marten in 1927. And the part is played with a nice variety and feeling for the frantic Maria and her long winded betrayal that are perfect.

All the roles are excellently played and especial mention must be made of the divertisements between the acts, which keep the audience in a gale of laughter.

The settings are splendidly conceived, particularly the one in the woods and the rapidity with which the scenes are changed is one of those marvels of precision. Especially beautiful is the one really sombre note in the whole production at the end of Act 2 where in Corder's barnyard some neighbors stand in silhouette against a red sky over the body of Ishmael Lee, the vengeful gipsy and only witness to Corder's crime.

The cast will be as follows:

William Corder, son of the Squire (Heavy Lead), David Elliott; Mister Marten, an honest rustic (Heavy Father) Douglas Rowland; Ishmael Lee, a Gipsy (Second Heavy Man), Shepperd Strudwick; Pharos Lee, his son (juvenile lead), Eli Dormont; Mark and Amos, Gipsies, (walking gentlemen), Harvey Fite and Eli Dormont; Tim Bobbin (first low comedian) Harrison Dowd; Flatcatcher, 2nd low comedian, Tobersloper, 3rd low comedian, showmen at fair, Eli Dormont and Harvey Fite; Jacko and Giles Whackstraw, village boys, (utility gents), Harvey Fite and Wilder Greeley; Yvette, servant to Corder, Francesca Bruning; Maria Marten (leading lady), Cynthia Blake; Dame Marten (character old lady), Judith Elder; Anne Marten, (chamber maid) Valerie Cossart; Lily (utility lady), Francesca Bruning; pianist, Richard Skinner.

"Womanless Wedding" Cast

Interest is growing in the coming home-talent comedy, the "Womanless Wedding" to be staged in this city on Thursday and Friday, November 14th and 15th at the Masonic Temple, under the auspices of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The men who have agreed to take part will meet at the Waurasan ballroom Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The various parts will be assigned at that time.

Miss Bulamae Sympson of the Sympson LeVie company of Bardstown, Ky. arrived in town the first of the week and will direct the play. The ladies of the club are meeting with most satisfactory results in securing the prominent business and professional men to take parts. The men, as well as the women are enthusiastic and are aiding to make the "Womanless Wedding" the out-standing event of the season.

There will be eighty men in the cast and up to the present time the following have consented to take a part.

Joseph C. Worth, F. Russell Smith, William G. Park, Flint Brayton, Ebenezer Learned, Eben Learned, Jr., Lawton Brayton, Frank R. Murdy, Edward W. Jewett, A. G. Lillibridge, Harold P. Hull, Philip A. Johnson, Chas. B. Gilbert, Walter T. Camp, Raymond Camp, L. Goffe Briggs, Edward Rich, Clinton E. Atterbury, Lyle H. Fillmore, Wm. A. Lund, Bruce F. Rogers, Mayor Lee Roy Robbins, Howard L. VOTERS BALLOT TODAY IN DOZEN STATES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Campaigns of a far more intensive character than generally are conducted in off-year elections ended tonight with many of the principal candidates making last-minute appeals to the voters in a dozen states in which there will be balloting tomorrow.

In the only gubernatorial contest, that in Virginia, both William Mosseley Brown, coalitionist, and John Garland Pollard, regular democrat, made their final bows as candidates on the hustings, Brown speaking in the mountain section and Pollard in the tidewater.

Mayor James J. Walker, democrat, of New York city, broke his rule for an election-eve speech to answer his opponents, who number three—Fiorello H. LaGuardia, republican; Norman Thomas, socialist, and Richard E. Enright, former police commissio

ESTIMATED COST OF NEW BUILDING DURING OCTOBER IS OVER $55,000

October proved to be a good month for building in Norwich as indicated by the monthly report of Fire Marshal Henry R. Taft. The report shows that during the month there were 54 permits issued for new building and alterations to present structures. The estimated expenditure for the new buildings as given by the applicants amounts to $55,149.04, which sets a new record for October, which is normally one of the slack months of the year.

Included in the 54 permits issued during October are eight for new dwelling houses, which is also a record for the month. With building holding as it has during the past month there is every indication that 1929 will be a record year as far as the number of permits issued is concerned. The cost of the new work may fall below the high figure set two years ago.

During the last week in October there were five permits issued, including one for a new dwelling house on Starr street for Mary N. Worski.

Good progress has been made on local building projects during the past week. The work of remodeling the block at 16 Broadway has been rushed along by Contractor W. S. Spencer and is practically complete with the exception of some interior work on the stores on the grounh floor. Another ten days will see this work completed and the stores ready for occupancy.

At the Norwich Inn work is rapidly going ahead. It is expected that the building will be closed in by another month if weather conditions remain favorable. The walls on one side of the structure have been brought to the roof. The contractors were delayed to some extent by the large ledge that was encountered at the rear of the building.

Other projects in and around Norwich have made satisfactory progress during the past week. In Baltic the addition to the Academy of the Holy Family is well along, having been rushed to completion by Contractor Patrick F. Sweeney.

The permits issued during the past week are as follows:

To Fred Wood to alter present frame building on Tyler avenue so as to provide for a one-car garage. Double garage doors will be installed. The estimated cost is $50.

To Contractor P. F. Sweeney to make alterations to the store at 189 Main street for J. Henry Shannon. The present glass front will be removed and a new front 18 inches higher will be installed. The leaded glass will also be extended across the front. There will be no changes to the steel or masonry work. The estimated cost is $225.

To Charles C. Perry, Jr., to alter the attic in his house at 652 Boswell avenue to make a number of extra rooms. Several partitions will be erected and sheetrock walls put in. The estimated cost is $325.

To Mary N. Worski to build a frame dwelling house on Starr street. The house will be 24x28 feet and two stories high. There will be six rooms and bath and a porch, 7x22 feet. The foundation will be of stone with brick underpinning. The superstructure will be of frame. The exterior finish will be in clapboards, while the interior will be finished in hardwood and plaster.

To Marion W. Crowell to build a frame two-car garage one story in height in the rear of 54 Lincoln avenue. The garage will be 22x22 feet. The estimated cost is $500.

The report of Fire Marshal Taft for the month of October is as follows:

New frame houses	8
New frame garages	14
New frame henhouses	2
New frame platform	1
New frame and stucco garage	1
New cement vault	1
Alterations to frame buildings	22
Alterations to brick buildings	2
Alterations to frame and brick buildings	1
Alterations to brick and concrete buildings	1
	54

Total cost—$55,149.04.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

In Norwich, during the past week there were 13 sales of real estate, one more than during the same week in 1928. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $51,975 and $56,100.

There were seven sales of real estate in New London during the past week as compared to five sales for the corresponding week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $58,157 and $47,343.

NEW LONDON.

That the new city plan as submitted by Herbert S. Swan will have a direct bearing on the future plans for the construction of buildings in this city is a matter which was receiving much attention among contractors and prospective builders this week. In a measure Mr. Swan outlines exactly what districts will be best suited for residential purposes in his proposed plan for developing and controlling the future growth of the city.

Of significant importance in the plan is the proposed new highways through sections which at the present time are not considered attractive building sites but which would become attractive with the proposed developments.

A complete map, which shows better than the columns of words on the subject what these plans for further development of thoroughfares is, is to be found on another page of this issue.

It can be seen at a glance that most prominent of these proposed new highway developments will open up much land on the outskirts of the city.

After the map has been considered by the city officials and definite action taken toward the adoption of rejection of the many features it proposes for the development of the city the map will become valuable in that it will probably form an important part in the plans of future builders.

Work has been practically completed on the construction of a new house built in Colman street for Frank Emmual. The new dwelling is a two-family frame structure, containing six rooms and bath and sun porch on each floor. The sun porches are located in front with arched doorways connecting with the living rooms. A bay window is provided for the dining room, behind which is located the kitchen and a large enclosed pantry. The bedrooms are located on the opposite side of the house, a hallway connecting them all with the bathroom.

A construction feature is a large steel girder which runs through the middle for support. This in turn is supported by round steel columns set in concrete, preventing danger of the house settling in the middle. Modern steam boilers for each apartment are located in the basement. These boilers are of the square type with asbestos insulation covered with steel jackets. The house has oak floors and all other modern improvements and conveniences. The exterior is finished with Colonial clapboard on the lower half and green stained shingles on the upper half. The roof is finished with heavy asbestos material. In the rear there are open porches for each floor.

The contract has been awarded for the construction of a new house which is to be built for Robert R. Congdon in Ridgewood park, Waterford. The new house is to be of frame construction arranged for single family occupancy and is estimated will cost $15,000. Plans specify modern improvements and conveniences.

Building Permits.

Mrs. Tillie Tourjee, garage, 144 Blydenburgh avenue, $300.

W. R. Hick, garage, 426 Broad street, $200.

T. F. Moran, residence, Ocean avenue, $7,000; garage, $600.

George Marquardt, residence, Plant street, $7,000.

Edwin Cruise, et al, frame dwelling, Coleman street, $6,000.

Peter Woviotis, store alterations, 341 Bank street, $2,000.

William Kingdom, alterations, 175 Lincoln avenue, $600.

Total number of permits issued for the week, 10; estimated cost of buildings, $24,100.

WESTERLY.

Westerly Building Inspector Thomas Wills and Zoning Inspector Louis S. Rossie have issued the following building and zoning permits for the last of October:

Oct. 29. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore D. Picard, 64 Beach street. Erect two-car garage, 20 feet by 24 feet, at 64 Beach street.

Oct. 29. James Fiddes, 32 Chester avenue. Reshingle house at 32 Chester avenue with slate-coated shingles. Nu Art Tile Roofing Co., Norwich, contractor.

Oct. 30. E. B. Langworthy, Weekapaug road. Build garage, 18 feet by 20 feet on Weekapaug road.

Oct. 31. John L. Breen, Watch Hill road. Build addition, 2 feet by 10 feet to garage on Watch Hill road and reshingle with slate coated shingles.

Nov. 2. Fiske Rubber Co., Canal street. Tear down three-story wooden mill building, 40 feet by 96 feet, overhanging river in Stillmanville.

EASY TO MAKE SELECTION OF PAINT FOR HOME

For the average house owner, the selection of a color combination for the exterior of his house is a serious and sometimes troublesome problem which, if properly analyzed should present little difficulty in the proper selection of a harmonious and pleasing combination.

The selection of a color treatment for the exterior of the house should be an agreement between personal preference and the requirements of the particular situation. The fact that a certain color or combination of colors looks attractive on one house does not argue that it will be pleasing on a house of an entirely different type in an entirely different location. The size and shape of a house, its natural surroundings and the colors of neighboring buildings are important factors to be considered.

This does not mean that for any one house there is only one ideal color combination. As a matter of fact there are often several alternate arrangements of color that conform with good taste and at the same time allow for the satisfaction of personal likes.

There is actually so much to be gained in added pride and satisfaction through a color selection in accordance with the simple, fundamental rules of color harmony as against the haphazard method of "I like green and buff, let's paint it that way" that the slight extra effort of careful choosing is well worth while.

The fundamentals of decoration as applied to the exterior of the house may be classified under three groups, each of which is a controlling factor in the selection of a color treatment. These three groups or factors are the size of the house, the type of house and the surroundings. The influence of size is of prime importance in the selection of colors for the house. Small houses are made to appear larger if painted with light tints. On the other hand, dark shades make a house appear smaller and there are times when their use on a large house is desirable to bring its apparent size into proportion with the surroundings. In all cases white lead and linseed oil should form the base for these coatings; it can easily be retinted with the regulation color-in-oil in any desired shade or color.

The tall narrow house is brought into better proportion when accorded a two-color treatment. In carrying out such a treatment it is well to bear in mind that too great a contrast will look awkward and that the two colors should not contrast too greatly.

Certain types of houses have become associated with certain colors such as the Colonial house being painted white with green blinds and the English half-timbered house being associated with a dark trim and natural concrete or stucco in order to give a pleasing contrast.

These treatments while always in good taste are not necessarily the only ones which can be used in houses of these types. Grays and light greens, for example, can be employed to good advantage on the Colonial and by painting the stucco on the English type in shades such as buff, light tan or warm gray an effect can be obtained which will be pleasing and out of the ordinary.

BRONZE BUTTS ARE BEST HINGES

Cast bronze butts, commonly referred to as hinges, for doors of homes as made by the oldest hardware manufacturer in this country, have steel bushings at all bearings. Thus is the rust-resisting quality of bronze supplemented with the durability under constant wear of steel. Even the screws used to attach these butts are of bronze. The steel pin is bronze-plated.

These materials fabricated so accurately that the tolerance of variation is but three one thousandths of an inch or less produce butts said to bear evenly at all friction points with the result that doors hung with them function smoothly through the years. For exterior doors more than one and three-quarters inches thick ball-bearing butts should be used. Doors over seven feet high need three butts, the third not being needed for carrying capacity, but to keep the door from warping.

Hinges proper are divided into two general classes: First, those that are screwed to the face of the door or shutter, and called hinges, and secondly, those which are screwed to the butt-edge of the door and against the frame, and designated "butts". The latter are almost invariably used for hanging doors in all but inferior buildings.

RATINGS OF BOILERS ARE GUARANTEED IN WRITING

Competitive conditions in the heating industry have, according to one manufacturer, brought such inflation of ratings that it is not unusual for a heating engineer to divide by two or more the rated capacity of a boiler, to be on the safe side of comfort and fuel economy.

Seeking to remedy conditions, this manufacturer offers guaranteed heating, substituting uncertain choice with boilers the ratings of which are guaranteed in writing. This bond, it is stated, assures the purchaser that the boiler will do all that is paid for, that even on the coldest days it will deliver ample heat economically. In round and square smokeless models, these boilers are equipped with insulated jackets, blue trimmed with red.

BUILDING AND PLUMBING CODES BEING DISTRIBUTED

The bureau of standards is distributing copies of a building code and plumbing code tabulation to building officials and others who request it. The returns show 858 cities and towns having building codes and 840 cities and towns having plumbing codes.

Of these 281 reported that revisions of building codes were under way and 191 were revising their plumbing codes. Sixty-seven cities reported that their building codes had not undergone a major revision for twenty years, 85 for fifteen years and 159 for ten years. Over 200 cities reported the use of the recommendations prepared by the building code committee and half this number reported use of the recommendations on plumbing prepared by the sub-committee on plumbing.

PAY NO MORE THAN TWO AND A HALF TIMES INCOME

A house, completely finished, costing two and one-half or three times one's annual income is reasonable, and the carrying charges per month should not exceed one week's income.

Thus a man with an income of $4,000 a year and good prospects, with no unusual financial obligations, may safely plan on a home that will cost, when completed, $10,000 to $12,000.

American Colonial House at East Great Plain

The pleasant American colonial house built for Robert Binns on the Salem turnpike by Contractor Francis M. Toomey is one of the most attractive houses in the East Great Plain section. The house is located on a large lot well back from the road and is surrounded by a bank of evergreen shrubs and trees.

The exterior is finished in wide clapboards with shingled roof. The windows are of the 6-over-1 type and are fitted with colonial green shutters. There is a colonial entrance at the front of the house and a large porch facing the southwest is at one end.

There are six rooms and bath in the house, all modernly finished and equipped. The large living room is in hardwood and plaster with a large open fireplace. The other rooms are equally as attractive, the kitchen and dining room having many of the built-in features. The bath is of tile with built-in tub and fixtures. The basement is of cement with heater room and vegetable cellar. The plumbing is brass throughout.

SENATOR BINGHAM DEFENDS HIMSELF

position, whether he be chairman of a committee or the newest arrival with a few duties, there are assigned four clerkships. If he is the chairman of a committee they bear the title which relates to that committee. If he is not a chairman of a committee then they bear a title as being related directly to him. If he is chairman of a very important committee with a large amount of work to be done, more than four clerkships are allotted to him. In any event, Mr. President, every senator has an allowance of four personal clerkships.

"Every senator knows that these clerkships are allotted to each senator for such use as he chooses to make of them, it being taken for granted that he is the best judge of such employment and that they are given him to enable him the better to serve his constituents; to take care of his correspondence, to attend to business of his offices; in a word, to enable him the better to carry out his duties as a senator from the state which sent him here.

Is Sole Judge Of Workers

"It may not be generally known to the public but it is known to every senator that the senator himself is considered the sole judge as to the nature of the employment to which these clerks should be put, and the character of the persons appointed to those positions. They are not for the general use of the senate. They are not appointed in the general public interest. There is no restriction on who should be appointed or how he or she will be employed. That is the custom of the senate. That is the nature of senatorial ethics so far as those positions are concerned.

"According to senatorial ethics no senator is to be criticised if he chooses to place members of his family in these clerical positions. He is not to be accused of nepotism if he appoints cousins, nephews, nieces or sons or daughters in these positions. He is not accused of doing something contrary to senatorial ethics if he uses one of these positions to pay a salary to the wife of his chief clerk, who herself does nothing directly for the government but indirectly serves the senator and his constituents by helping to keep her husband well and happy and enabling him to give better service to the senator and his constituents.

On Business Ethics

"According to business ethics such employment might be regarded with askance but it should be remembered that according to senatorial ethics those four clerical positions have always been considered to be part of the prerequisites of a senator to be used by him in whatever manner he deems to be best for the interest of his constituents.

"If the four clerks are inefficient, lazy, indifferent, or absent from their post of duty his constituents will suffer and he himself will be answerable to his constituents in the long run. So far as I have been able to learn, according to senatorial ethics no official of the government, no official of the senate, no committee of the senate has ever held that a senator was answerable as to whom he appointed or as to how the clerk was used. In view of this fact, Mr. President, I do not see how my placing of Mr. Eyanson on the rolls as one of my four clerks can possibly be held to be contrary to senatorial ethics.

"The third charge is that my action tends to bring the senate into dishonor and disrepute, Mr. President. In order for this action to bring the senate into dishonor and disrepute, it must have had some sinister motive and must have been directed against the interest of the people of the United States.

Wanted Expert Help

"Obviously it is felt by those who favor this resolution that my motives in this action were evil or else that the action itself had resulted in some public calamity or was adverse to the public interest. Mr. President, I do not believe that those who have done me this honor of listening to or of reading my previous statements will accuse me of having had dishonorable or unpatriotic motives. My sole desire was to secure the best possible information on a difficult and intricate subject, particularly as it related to the people who elected me to the United States senate. Since this episode occurred I have learned that four or five senators have had tariff experts assigned to their offices by the tariff commission. I have learned that it is considered entirely proper and ethical to take government employes away from their regular employment and from the desks which they ordinarily fill and bring them down to the senate office building and give them desks in the private offices of senators where they can furnish statistics to be used in arguments against a high protective tariff.

Other Experts Available

"Had I known that this practice was considered proper it is possible that I should have asked the tariff commission to assign a similar expert to me to work in my office at public expense, furnishing me with facts and information to be used in arguments in favor of a high protective tariff. Not realizing, however, Mr. President, that that was considered a normal procedure, I asked that association in my state which is most intimately concerned with the process of manufacture, with the problems of employment and unemployment with the actual costs of production, to lend me the best man they had who knew these facts.

"Mr. President, I believe in a high protective tariff. I believe that the prosperity of America depends on tariff rates sufficiently high to equalize the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad. After having gone through several campaigns as an active participant and notably the campaign of last November, I believe that the majority of American people believe in protective tariff sufficiently high to enable the American manufacturer successfully to meet foreign competition and to enable the American workingmen to be employed at wages which will enable him to live according to the American standard of living in contra-distinction to foreign standards of living.

Needed More Protection

"The president in his message called attention to the fact that certain industries needed additional protection. In order that I might know clearly and definitely what those industries were, I felt the reputation of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association is such that I know they could be trusted to give me a reliable expert and one that would not deceive me or give me any arguments which could not be used in open court. The very fact they did not seek this arrangement, the very fact that no offers of any kind were made to me as to any advantage that might accrue to me if I used their employe; the very fact that the whole arrangement as conceived and as worked out was in the interest of a tariff policy which I believe the majority of the people in this country want, makes me feel confident that what I did in securing his services should not be held as tending to bring the senate in disbonor or disrepute.

"On the contrary, had I endeavored to undertake my duties in the finance committee without securing the service of a tariff expert, without acknowledging that my previous experience had not qualified me to act on all these thousands of schedules, without frankly recognizing that I needed at my elbow the constant help and advices of the most reliable and the best posted man I could see, then Mr. President, I might be willing to admit that my action would bring the senate into disrepute. That there was anything dishonorable in the employment of Mr. Eyanson I am sure, Mr. President, no one will believe. That there was anything disreputable or dishonorable in my actions in so employing him I deny.

Was For Good Of Measure

"Mr. President, whatever mistakes of judgment I may have made, however indiscreet or over zealous I may have been, the fact remains that whatever I did was done in an effort to secure the most complete information regarding the needs of those whose present conditions and whose immediate prospects brought them within the bounds of the message to congress as being in need of the results of tariff revision.

"No state in the union is more dependent on adequate tariff protection than the state of Connecticut. The facts in regard to the textile industries in Connecticut are true also in many other states. So are the facts in regard to many other industries. My sole object, my sole purpose in placing Mr. Eyanson on the official rolls of the senate was so that I might be the better prepared to present the case of my constituents in Connecticut; both employers and employes, both producers and consumers, that I might be the better prepared to meet in committee and on the floor of the senate, the arguments of those who are opposed to a high protective tariff and who are inclined to disbelieve the stories of unemployment in certain industries and the threat of unemployment in other industries.

Nothing Dishonorable

"Mr. President, this was my motive, this was my sole object. In carrying it out not a dollar of the public funds was used. No misrepresentation regarding unemployment, no distortion of the facts regarding our industries was practiced. Nothing dishonorable or disreputable was attempted. Nothing was done contrary to good morals or to senatorial ethics. My judgment in the way in which I endeavored to use this tariff expert may have been at fault. On the other hand, my motives in doing so were based on my whole-hearted zeal for a protective tariff and my whole hearted desire adequately to represent the interests of the state of Connecticut to promote the prosperity of the United States."

STOCK MARKET SHARPLY PRESSED BY PROFIT TAKING MONDAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—It was a day of anti-climax on the stock market today, as trading was resumed after the three day recess—a day of sagging prices, and waning speculative enthusiasm.

Contrary to expectations in many quarters, the market was sharply pressed by profit taking at the opening. Despite momentary rallies as the session progressed, the list was persistently heavy, and closed around the lowest levels of the day, with leading issues off 3 to 17 points.

Although commission houses had reported a huge influx of buying orders during the three-day suspension of trading, these orders proved to be largely for odd lots, and failed to lend support resistance to the price level, as professional traders who had accumulated huge blocks of stocks at last week's low levels, took their profits. There appeared to be considerable liquidation of stock bought for support purposes, and renewed short selling as well. Furthermore, brokerage houses had discovered many more marginal accounts which had to be liquidated.

Failure of last week's vigorous rally from the low level's reached on Tuesday, to carry over the three-day interval, proved a far-reaching disappointment, and a fairly steady stream of selling poured into the market during the afternoon, while the volume of trading tapered off to normal proportions for the first time in more than a week, and the ticker was able to catch up with the market. The days transactions totaled 6,202,930 shares, of which approximately 3,700,000 shares changed hands in the first two hours. The turnover compared with 7,149,390 shares during the three hours of trading on Thursday.

Leaders of the banking group which was hastily organized to deal with the selling crisis 13 days ago, held no further meetings at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., believing that market conditions had finally been stabilized and called for no further action. The extent to which Wall street's physical trading facilities had suffered, however, became evident when the stock exchange board of governors decided to resume trading on a three-hour daily basis after the legal holiday tomorrow, election day, and to close all day Saturday. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday the exchange will close at 1 p. m., instead of 3.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Nov. 4—(AP)—Surprise over fresh piling-up of the United States wheat visible supply did much to send wheat values reeling down fast at times today, anxiety in connection with renewed unsettlement of the stock market tended further to plunge wheat prices lower. Meanwhile, export demand for wheat from North America was practically at a standstill, and it was current talk that there is little chance of moving out Chicago's big stock of wheat before navigation on the Great Lakes is at an end for the season.

After a maximum fall of 4 1-2c a bushel, closing quotations on wheat here were nervous 3 1-2c to 3 7-8c below Saturday's finish. Corn closed 7-8c to 1 1-4c down, oats 3-4c to 3-4 and 7-8c off, and provisions varying from 12c decline to a rise of 2c.

Sharp setbacks in wheat prices began as soon as trading started. It was known beforehand that the stock market today had suffered a severe tumble instead of scoring general advances which in many quarters here had been looked for. Attention of wheat traders also was being called to the fact that, temporarily at least, the export demand for wheat from this country and Canada remained at virtually a complete halt, and that wheat at domestic shipping points on the Atlantic seaboard was almost going begging at 15 1-2c a bushel less than parity with Chicago so that in view of the season for lake navigation being near at end scant likelihood appeared to exist for prompt removal of wheat at present overcrowding Chicago elevators.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—The "bull market" in bonds stepped back into its stride today and prices moved up briskly in response to substantial demands for higher grade fixed income obligations.

Easy time money, the reduction in loans used for stock market purposes and the cut in the New York Federal Reserve bank's rediscount rate were favorable factors whose effects were felt for the first time in today's trading session. Also, the necessity for liquidation of bonds for the benefit of stock accounts had disappeared and investors who believed that bonds looked attractive at the lower levels established in last week's declines placed buying orders for the best issues.

The gains covered the entire list, with the exception of the convertibles which moved lower in sympathy with stocks and, to a lesser extent, in the foreign group, where some irregularity developed after a period of early strength. United States government securities were leaders of the advance. Listed Treasury certificates touched new highs, with an extreme advance of 4 1-4 points shown by the 4 1-4s on a small sale of registered obligations. The 4s and the 3 3-4s each rose more than a point, while Liberties closed half a point higher on the average.

The Associated Press averages showed that the utilities had scored the broadest advance among the domestic corporation issues. Their rise of nearly a full point was almost duplicated by the industrials, while the first grade and secondary rails moved up about half a point. It was the best improvement in many months, and brought the combined average to 94.56 compared with 95.20, the level attained at the height of the October rise, most of which had been eliminated by last week's slump.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The New York stock exchange, curb exchange, securities market of the New York produce exchange, and the various commodity markets here will be closed tomorrow, election day.

One large manufacturer of typewriters and bookkeeping machines reports that the recent deluge of business in the financial district has resulted in large orders for various types of machines and a rush by leading banking and brokerage houses to provide surplus mechanical office equipment for use in future emergencies.

Stockholders of the By-Products Coke Co. have approved an increase in the capital from 800,000 to 2,500,000 shares. About 1,200,000 of the new shares will be used to acquire the plant and assets of the Toledo Furnace Co., of Toledo; Zenith Furnace Co., of Duluth; Perry Iron Co., of Erie, Pa., and an interest in the ore properties of Pickands, Mather & Co.

CURB MARKET

The United States Envelope Co. has acquired the property of the Consumers Boxboard & Paper Co., at Lints, Pa.

WESTERLY

SATURDAY NIGHT RACKET BRINGS FINES FOR THREE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Nov. 4—An added number to the dance held Saturday evening in Peckham's hall, 6 Mechanic street, in the building owned by M. Soloveitzik, was the Stonington town court appearance Monday morning before Judge William A. Wilcox of Theodore Dayon of Pawcatuck and James McCormick and Philip Higgins, of Stonington borough. They answered to a complaint brought by Prosecutor Henry P. Hammacher, charging breach of the peace which resulted from a general roughhouse and free-for-all-fight by some dozen or fifteen of those present.

Dayon, of 24 Prospect street, Pawcatuck, pleaded not guilty to the charge and represented to the court that he was passing the dance hall about 12:30 a. m. Sunday, returning from the Dixon street state armory. Officer Adin R. Sheldon, of Pawcatuck, who had difficulty in making the arrests, testified that the three men locked up by him and before the court were engaged in a fight on Mechanic street, using loud and boisterous language. The accused was found guilty and fined $25 and costs which totalled $37.45 which he paid.

James McCormick, 22, pleaded guilty to the complaint. He paid a fine of $25 and total bill of $37.45.

Philip Higgins, 19, was represented by his brother, Lester Higgins, and on admission of guilt was fined $37.45 which he paid.

An extra added number to the doings of Saturday night is a hearing ordered for Thursday by First Selectman Arthur F. Babcock of Pawcatuck, to show cause why the dance hall permit should not be revoked.

LAST BUSINESS SESSION OF PRESENT TOWN COUNCIL

The last regular business session of the present town council was held Monday morning, with all councilmen present. The final session will be Wednesday night, Nov. 6th, when the council will hold session as a returning board and officially declare their successors elected. The last special session of the council, on Oct. 29th, that of a boar dof canvassers to pass upon the check list of qualified electors to participate in today"s (Tuesday(election for town officers.

Director of Public Aid Oliver P. Crandall presented a bill as of Nov. 1927, amounting to $260 for services rendered by Dr. M. H. Scanlon for 9-year-old John Derico, who was struck by an automobile on Oak street and was given hospital treatment for a fractured skull. On motion of Councilman Farquhar Smith the bill was voted paid on its recommittment to Director Crandall who stated it was a just account.

Miss Mary C. Jolly was voted $52.50 for attendance at the town hall office of the town treasurer while the annual taxes were being paid.

Upon the furnishing of an adequate bond, a lost check of Annie M. Pendleton was voted repaid.

Council President Horace E. Burdick declared his belief that all bills against the town should be presented within 60 days.

The council heard and approved the following town officers' reports: Building Inspector Thomas Wills who reported 46 permits granted by him during the past month. There were 48 applications, 19 were for frame buildings and 29 for additions. Fifty inspections were made by him.

Council President Horace E. Burdick was voted a permit to erect a two-story frame addition to his property on Wauwinnet avenue at Watch Hill. The addition will be 16 by 26.

As directed by the state statute the council will assemble at 9 o'clock this (Tuesday) morning at the opening of the polls.

There will be an extension of time in the forcing of sewer main drain connections by property owners for Superintendent Arthur H. Coy of the Westerly water department and the sewerage department of the town of Westerly, made it known to the council that there are 160 property owners within the sewerage drainage districts of the town, who have not made connections with the system.

Mr. Coy made the suggestion that warrants be issued against those who have not connected their property with the sewerage system after a reasonable time. The council in voting to enforce the sewerage ordinance instructed the town clerk to have personal service made upon the property owners whose names appear on the list presented by the head of the sewer department.

The monthly police bills of the town were voted from the budget amount and a balance of some $1100 or $1,200 remaining in the miscellaneous account, it was voted by the council that the amount of $663 for the installation of traffic signal lights and equipment be taken from this account. This will leave a sufficient balance in the police account to enable the police officers to be paid for the last month of the year's services, a matter which in previous years has caused trouble which through lack of funds.

Red Cross Roll Call

BINGHAM

ing sessions of the finance committee republicans.

Twice the senate had voted down attempts to modify the resolution of condemnation but then Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, its author, yield to pleas from both sides of the chamber that Bingham be absolved of corrupt motives. That specification went into the resolution.

As the senate was finally about to vote, the gray haired Nebraskan turned to the tall Connecticut senator slumped in his seat just behind him to assert the "pity is that the senator has not yet grasped that the action he did was injurious to the senate."

The text of the resolution as adopted read:

"That the action of the senator from Connecticut, Mr. Bingham, in placing Mr. Charles L. Eyanson upon the official rolls of the senate and his use by Senator Bingham at the time and in the manner set forth in the report of the sub-committee of the committee on the judiciary, while not a result of corrupt motives on the part of the senator from Connecticut, is contrary to good morals and senatorial ethics and tends to bring the senate into dishonor and disrepute, and such conduct is hereby condemned."

It was the first time in 27 years that the senate voted to censure a member and an atmosphere of solemnity prevailed. The chamber and galleries were crowded when the resolution was brought up by Norris at the outset of the session. Members of the house crowded about the rear of the chamber.

Bingham opened the discussion after the resolution was read presenting a long prepared defense of his use of Charles L. Eyanson, the $10,000 assistant to the president of the Connecticut association, as an aide during his work with the finance committee majority in drafting the bill. His friends pleaded for a softening of the wording of the resolution. Senator Gillett, republican, Massachusetts, cautioned that the senate did not have time to censure all indiscretions of its members, but no one defended Bingham's actions.

Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, called upon the "old guard" to express itself and finally Senator Gould, republican, Maine, who had taken a seat beside Bingham, arose to answer.

"The senator from Connecticut has made a four square statement here of just what he done and why he done it," said the Maine senator, and the prevalent tension was relieved momentarily by laughter.

The entire New England delegation, with the exception of Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, voted against the resolution condemnation. Senator Walsh voted for both substitutes of modification which failed. Senator Bingham, who kept count of the roll calls as they were being taken, voted "present."

The Norris resolution was supported by 32 democrats and 22 republicans. No democrats voted against it. Two democrats—Blease, of South Carolina, and Walsh, of Massachusetts—voted for the efforts to modify the censure.

The roll call follows:

For condemnation:

Republicans—Allen, Blaine, Borah, Brookhart, Capper, Couzens, Cutting, Frazier, Glenn, Goldsborough,

N. LONDON COUNCIL GETS CITY PLAN PREPARED BY EXPERT HERBERT SWAN

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 4. —At the city council meeting of two hours' duration this evening, a score of building permits was granted. The city voted to buy fire hose from Eaton and Wilson and the Alling Rubber Co. at 73 cents per foot. Mayor Twomey called Councilor May to the chair; he then opposed the purchase of that quality of hose. He said he had been advised by the fire chiefs of Norwich, Hartford, Meriden, Stamford and New Britain that it was economy to buy a higher grade of hose, $1.40 cents a foot.

Fire Hose Quality

City Manager Holt pointed out that an established grade had been fixed by the fire underwriters and that the hose New London is about to use is similar to that which has been used and is satisfactory. The quality of double-jacketed and waxed treated hose was gone into at some length but the council finally decided to approve the recommendation of the city manager and buy the hose as suggested.

A proposition looking to the development of the Riggs property was submitted and a vote passed accepted the report of the planning board on that property and the approval of plans on its layout followed; a former plan being corrected in important particulars.

Alexander Serves Without Pay

Tax Collector Alexander submitted his report from April 28 to Oct. 29. It was shown that he had served from Oct. 1, without salary, desiring to close up some matters which he had undertaken to complete.

W. Z. White was appointed auditor at compensation of $750 for the year. He is to serve the city at any time in that interval.

Damage Suit For Fall

Dolly Annette Hirsh gave notive of a claim for damages of $10,000 for injuries she sustained when falling on a walk on Post Hill.

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Stoeckel gave notice of a petition to establish a gas station on Truman street near Blinman street.

The matter of the proposed widening of Glenwood avenue was referred to committee for hearing. John J. Ryan and Donald MacIntosh were awarded contracts for curbing.

Civic Medal Of Honor

City Manager Holt reported on a suitable medal to be presented city officials for distinguished service in their duties. The adoption of the medal was referred to the committee on administration.

The council voted to pay $1,016.50 to replace property of the Learned mission on the corner of Main and Hempstead streets, where the corner had been widened.

City Plan, 115 Pages

The city plan, provided by Herbert Swan, expert, was presented to the council and referred to the committee on public works. It is a very comprehensive report, in book form, about 115 pages, and covers the whole zone of city planning, providing for street changes, continuation of avenues, etc., also to regulate manufacturing whereby the city will be extended, etc. also to regulate manufacturing in residential zones.

It was voted to lay a sewer on Coleman street and in Shirley lane.

A stranger in New London was arrested at the Union station this afternoon by Automobile Patrol Officer Augustus Ray and Patrolman Louis Tock, charged with begging. The man was making a nuisance of himself by soliciting alms from passengers awaiting trains. He will be in court tomorrow. The only other cases awaiting court disposition are those of two men charged with intoxication. One was arrested on North Bank street by Patrolman Dennis Murphy and the other was arrested on Bank street by Patrolman Frank Linehan.

Harry Peck, formerly of New London, now employed in Boston, was a visitor in New London today.

Lundberg Case Continued

Albert W. Lundberg, 21, residing at 6 Lewis street and until recently employed as clerk by the Selleck Gas and Oil company, Bank street, was in the police court today charged with embezzlement, but the case was continued until the 9th inst. Lundberg furnished a surety on his bond of $1000. William D. and Amelia Nelson qualifying on the bond. Lundberg, it is claimed by Aron Agrin and Samuel Selleck, proprietors of the gasoline station, that while Lundberg was in their employ he collected $484.09 of funds of the firm and instead of turning over the money to his employers, appropriated it to his own use. Lundberg denies the accusation and has retained counsel to defend him when the case goes to trial.

William R. Thomas, 92 Willetts avenue, a sailor stationed at the submarine base, was charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law in driving without a license. The case was continued until tomorrow.

Archie P. Rayside, 33 Hillside road, was charged with violation of the city's parking ordinance in parking on Pearl street, which is restricted to all parking. He did not appear in court and his bond of $3 was forfeited.

Stanley Winiski, 15 Tenth street, a laborer, was charged with non-support. The case was continued to the 9th inst.

MONTVILLE DRIVER PAYS FINE OF $50 WITH COSTS

Alfred Vallieri, Montville, charged with reckless driving, was fined $50 and costs. Vallieri was arrested Sept. 28 last. He was driving his automobile from the American Fisheries where he is employed and together with Stephen Owezec, also of Montville, started for their home. When the car was on Williams street, near the city line, an automobile driven by Frank Woodworth, 771 Williams street, was guided towards a driveway. Vallieri instead of waiting till the Woodworth automobile made the turn, attempted to drive around it and a crash resulted, causing Vallieri's car to overturn. Owezec was thrown out and landed on his head.

GIANETTI CAUGHT HIDING SIX CASES OF BEER IN ALLEY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 4.— Eugene Gianetti, 18 East street, was arrested by Patrolman Dennis Murphy today charged with violation of the liquor law. He furnished a surety on his bond of $1000 and will be in court tomorrow. Gianetti, who is employed by Victor Frederick, Walbach street, as a truck driver, drove to Railroad avenue and was observed by Murphy. The officer followed the truck, but when he arrived where the vehicle was parked there was no evidence of liquor being on it. Satisfied, however, that the truck had contained home-brew, the officer made a search of the vicinity and came upon six cases of the beer in an alleyway, about 100 feet from where the truck was parked. He accused Gianetti of having secreted the beer where it was found and then ordered the driver to load the beer on the truck and convey it to police headquarters. Gianetti and Frederick have been arrested several times within six months, charged with violation of the liquor law.

William H. Reeves President

William H. Reeves was elected president of the National Bank of Commerce today at a regular meeting of the institution. Mr. Reeves succeeding the late Benjamin A. Armstrong.

Mrs. Gabriel Sargent, 12 West Celt street, a patient at Home Memorial hospital, was discharged today.

THREE CARS LEAVE RAILS— TRAINS ROUTED VIA PUTNAM

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 4—Traffic on the New Haven railroad was interrupted about two and one-half hours today when three cars of an eastbound freight were derailed in the Fort Neck yard. During the tie-up, all the noon trains were dispatched between New Haven and Providence via Putnam and Hartford. The train H-B-3, bound from Harlem river and Boston and composed of about 100 loaded cars, was proceeding through the yard at a slow rate of speed when three of the cars, one laden with lumber, left the rails, the cars coming to a stop only when they went across both east and west bound rails. The wrecking train from Midway worked until after 3 o'clock before both main lines were cleared so that normal traffic was resumed.

A Second Theft

Mrs. William Bauer, 30 Jefferson avenue, complained to the police today that during last night a clothesline thief entered her premises and stole numerous articles of bedding and linen. When Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey questioned Mrs. Bauer regarding the theft, she informed the officer that two weeks ago a thief obtained entrance to her home by means of a duplicate key and stole $9. Mrs. Bauer did not report the theft of the money at that time.

Rob Harbor Craft

Antonio Aquiar, 80 Howard street, today reported to the police that several boats, including yachts that are moored in Shaw's cove had been entered recently by thieves and that numerous articles had been stolen. The thefts, it is believed, were perpetrated by youths, who experienced but little difficulty in forcing windows.

Struck By Nurse's Car

Mrs. Minnie Toolin, 74 Connecticut avenue, today requested the police to assist her in ascertaining the identity of the driver of an automobile which struck her Oct. 31. Mrs. Toolin said that on that date she was attempting to cross Bank street at the corner of Montauk avenue when the automobile driven by a nurse, hit her and knocked her down. Mrs. Toolin was taken home by the nurse, but the former was suffering from pain and nervousness to such an extent that she failed to obtain the name and address of the driver.

COLONNADE APT. SOLD AT AUCTION FOR $19,100

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 4.—The Colonnade, an apartment building, 216 Pequot avenue, a part of the estate of J. N. Lapointe, was sold on order of the superior court at public auction this afternoon by Auctioneer Samuel Prince to Louis Lubchansky for $19,100. The building has a frontage of 150 feet on Pequot avenue and overlooks the Thames river. There are 12 apartments in it and it is in a desirable location. Other buildings which the court has ordered sold are the Chateau Bellevue and a building lot, both on Pequot avenue. The auction was started at 2 o'clock, and George Whittlesey, representing the Savings Bank of New London, was the first bidder, with $15,000. Lubchansky then bid $17,000. Barnet Lubow made a bid of $17,800 and then Joseph Connelly and Lubchansky alternated with additional bids, each outbidding the other until Lubchansky's final bid was accepted. The Savings Bank of New London holds a mortgage of $12,500 on the property.

FUNERAL

Miss Ida C. Howard

The funeral of Miss Ida C. Howard was held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at her residence in Graniteville, Waterford, the services being conducted by Rev. George H. Strouse. The bearers were Wilson Dolbeare, Alonzo Beebe, Thomas Wood and George Gallup. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Forfeits Bond

John H. Lynch, of Westerly, charged with failing to stop at an automatic traffic signal failed to show up in court and forfeited his bond of $5.

GROTON WOMAN PARTS WITH OVER $210 FOR SELLING

Mrs. Jennie Cesario, Denison avenue, Groton, was presented in the Groton town court today, charged with violation of the liquor law. Through counsel the women entered a demurrer, which was overruled and a fine of $200 and costs of $10.55 were imposed. Mrs. Cesario was arrested by state police officers Oct. 27, when her home was raided after evidence had been obtained that she was selling liquor.

Drove While Drunk—Fined $100

Walter J. Lewers, Groton, was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor and was fined $100 and costs of $12.55. Lewers was unable to pay the fine, but was released after he had made arrangements with the court to make regular specified payments until the entire amount had been paid. He was arrested Wednesday last by State Police Officer John Smith.

James Delpaggio, submarine base, was charged with failing to comply with an order to send his registration to Hartford. The charge was nolled upon payment of costs of $4.55.

Herbert Hardy, Thames street, Groton, was fined $10 and costs of $11.55, on a charge of improper use of registration.

Harry Weinstein, Shaw street, New London, was fined $10 and costs of $12.55 on the same charge.

Both Drivers Injured

Automobiles driven by Samuel Muscarella, 35 Moore court, a Bank street clerk and Joseph Musgovero, 417 Montauk avenue, an automobile mechanic, collided near the Harkness estate in Waterford Sunday afternoon when the machines skidded on the slippery surface, made doubly so because of leaves. Both cars were damaged and both drivers injured. Muscarella sustained lacerations of the forehead and Musgovero received an injury to his arm. They are patients at Lawrence Memorial hospital.

Camille Burnett, 27 Namesaug street; Mrs. Clyde Hargrove, 641 Main street; Mrs. Martin Isaacs and infant daughter, 39 Franklin street and Mrs. Austin Murphy and infant daughter, Station 6, Waterford, patients at Lawrence Memorial hospital, were discharged Sunday and today.

OBITUARY

Frederick Batch

Frederick Batch, 61, died Sunday at his home, 114 Baker avenue, Groton, after an illness of about three years. He is survived by his wife and three children. Mr. Batch, who was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Jan. 21, 1868, was for many years employed by the New Haven railroad.

Annie Louise Strauss has caused a release of attachment to be made against two building lots owned by the Ocean Beach Park Development company in that section of Ridgewood park, Waterford, and known as "Happy Day Island."

Kiril LaPutz, of Waterford, reported to the police today that the automobile he was driving collided with a parked auto on Bank street, the latter machine being damaged. LaPutz said that he endeavored to ascertain the name of the owner of the damaged car, but was not successful.

COLLECTOR SELLS HOUSE WHEN TAXES ARE UNPAID

Hibbard N. Alexander, tax collector, has sold a house and lot on Fitch avenue, formerly owned by Daniel E. and Kate P. Crouch, to Michael L. O'Connell. The house was recently attached by Collector Alexander when Mr. and Mrs. Crouch failed to pay back taxes of several hundreds of dollars, which amount represented the non-payment of taxes for seven years.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre.

Offhand you would think that two young sailors, with the best intentions in the world, would have no trouble in reaching their homes after being given shore leave when their ship reaches harbor. That's what Alan Hale and his buddy thought, but that isn't the way it works out in the new all-talking comedy screamer "Sailor's Holiday," which opens at the Palace theatre tomorrow for a three-day run.

Alan, a big burly fellow, just after receiving a lecture by the captain, for having engaged in an unseemly brawl with a bo'sun down in a South American port, is cautioned about his behavior, before being given shore leave.

Adam Pike (Alan Hale) is shocked at the language his parrot uses in a big scene in Fox's sensational picture "Sailor's Holiday".

Carrying the parrot which he bought for his mother, Alan starts for home. They do pretty well until they meet one particular girl. She is straight but they don't know it, so consequently, when she asks them if they know her brother Ethelbert Jones of the U. S. navy, they grow very suspicious, for that very same question, coming from another girl a few minutes earlier, got them into a fight.

The young lady gets into trouble, and true to form, our sailor lads are right in there with her. Before the melee is over, a sleek restaurant proprietor has been knocked punch-drunk, the parrot has escaped, and the sailor boys are scattered in flight. How they finally extricate themselves from the dilemma is an enjoyable treat to watch, but wait till you see Ethelbert, the lost sailorman. That will be your biggest howl.

Today for the last time, the Palace is offering Ronald Colman in that fast and furious all-talking drama of London adventure, "Bulldog Drummond." Come and see the film that has been called the "greatest of the talkies."

Broadway Theatre

Rightly termed "the Big Parade of the air," the all-talking picture "Flight," which has been delighting thousands at the Broadway with its scenes of daring and action, will close with today's showings. Jack Holt and Ralph Graves as the U. S. marine flyers, bosom pals but estranged through their mutual love for a dainty marine nurse, Lila Lee, put across a performance even more thrilling than their famous "Submarine." Beginning tomorrow, Clive Brook will appear at the Broadway in his latest all-talking picture, "The Return of Sherlock Holmes," in which has one of the finest roles of his varied career as the beloved detective of Conan Doyle's famous stories. Always immaculate, suave and polished, Mr. Brook finds an ideal character in that of Sherlock Holmes, who though created some 40 years ago, stands today as the favorite detective of fiction. Again confronted by that arch-fiend of criminals, Dr. Moriarty, the sleuth follows his man to the United States and some of the most thrilling scenes are enacted aboard the S. S. "Aquitania," one-time "queen of the seas." The latest Fox movietone news with up-to-the-minute shots from the headlines, will be supplemented by El Brendel, the rib-tickling comedian of the "biz features," with his charming partner, Flo Bert, in "Beau Night," Douglas Stanbury and a "Buddies" chorus of 50 in a heart-stirring episode of Armistice day over there, and a laughing all-talking comedy, "Man of War," with Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, that irrepressible team of mirth-makers. Following the engagement of Sherlock Holmes, the Briadway screen will be graced by the appearance of Harold Lloyd, king of jesters, "the man whose smile made teeth famous" in his first talking production, "Welcome Danger," which is even now playing in New York at $2.00 prices. The first Lloyd "talkie" has swept every theatre by storm, and it is expected that he will succeed in chasing the blues from every home, whether it be furnished room or mansion, for many miles around Norwich.

Breed Theatre

William Haines, in the role of a prize fighter who goes to college, is the attraction which will be at the Breed theatre today and Wednesday, in "The Duke Steps Out," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's vivid comedy romance with dialogue adapted from the Lucian Cary Saturday Evening Post story.

GWEN LEE, WILLIAM HAINES and JOAN CRAWFORD in "THE DUKE STEPS OUT"

James Cruze, who directed Haines in "Excess Baggage and "A Man's Man," directed the new play and the heroine is Joan Crawford, sensational hit of "Our Dancing Daughters," who last appeared opposite Haines in "West Point."

Sore throat to a giraffe means a long siege.

GREENEVILLE

C. E. SOCIETY HELD HALLOWEEN SOCIAL FRIDAY EVENING

About 40 members and friends of the Christian Endeavor society of the Third Baptist church gathered in the chapel on Friday evening and held a Halloween social. The chapel was appropriately decorated in crepe paper streamers of orange and black, pumpkin moonshines, skeletons and other symbols of Halloween. Miss Mabelle Brothwell won the prize for the children's costumes, Miss Kitty-cat, and Reginald Pardy won the prize in the grown-up group, as he represented a flapper of 50 years ago. It was only after a great deal of deliberation on the part of the judges that the prize-winners were announced. Miss Eileen Hill deserves special mention as Little Red Riding Hood, and Clayton Gallup as Miss Sweet Sixteen. A number of Halloween games were played and a lunch of doughnuts, cheese and coffee served by the committee, Henry Sebastian, chairman, with Miss Doris Lund, Miss Elinor Howard and Chris Wunderlich assisting.

The Ladies' Aid of the Third Baptist church entertained the ladies of the church last week in the chapel. There were 23 ladies present and after devotional exercises led by the president, Mrs. William A. Lund, a short business session was held. It was voted to have their annual meat pie supper and Christmas sale the first week in December and also to hold a food sale in November. After the business session, a social time was enjoyed and one of the members was given a shower of gifts. Sandwiches, pickles, cake, doughnuts and coffee were served to the ladies by Mrs. Harry Conklin, Mrs. James Spicer, Mrs. Herbert D. Peckham and Mrs. Henry Sebastian.

Mrs. Alice Cousins, of Boswell avenue, spent the week end as the guest of Miss Lillian Hayfield in Killingly and Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. William Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Saunders and son and Mr. and Mrs. George Saunders and daughters, of Westerly, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Howard, of Central avenue, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marthers, of Hartford, and Mrs. Willis Clark and daughter, Barbara, of Jamestown, R. I., were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. George Howard Saturday.

Mrs. James P. Clark and daughters, Miss Grace Clark and Mrs. Mexton Darrow, of Niantic, spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. George A. Howard, of Central avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Sweet, of Central avenue, spent Sunday in Lyme as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morgan.

Mrs. Joseph Casey and two sons, of Berryville, Va., are visiting with Mr. Casey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Casey, of 500 Boswell avenue.

Thomas Tracy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Tracy, of 63 Seventh street, is a patient at the Backus hospital.

Mrs. Peter Tracy, of 63 Seventh street, and her daughter, Theresa, visited the New Haven hospital last week at the request of the doctors of the hospital.

GIANT PLANES LEAVE FOR BUENOS AIRES

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 4.—(AP)—The Giant amphibian planes, the Tampa, christened here today by Mrs. D. B. McKay, wife of the mayor, and the Bahia, left here today for Buenos Aires to be used in the South American service of the New York, Rio and Buenos Aires line. The Bahia left at 11:30 a. m., the Tampa at 2:30 p. m. The pilots of the two planes hoped to overtake the amphibian Pernambuco that left here yesterday and race each other to their destination.

COUNCIL ACCEPTS INVITATION FOR EXERCISES ON ARMISTICE DAY

The common council accepted an invitation from Capt. Charles Colt, chairman of the Armistice day committee, to attend the Armistice day exercises to be held in front of the court house on Union square on Nov. 11, and also voted an appropriation of $50 towards defraying the expenses of the same, at its November meeting held Monday evening in the council chambers. The meeting which lasted only 11 minutes, was called to order by His Honor, Mayor Lee Roy Robbins at 8:25 o'clock. The minutes of the previous meeting were accepted without reading, according to custom.

These petitions were received:

From Minnie F. Noyes, et al, asking for a bus light at or near No. 25 Garfield avenue. Referred to the police commission, with power.

From Frank Szczesuig asking that Page street extension be accepted as a city highway. Referred to public works committee for investigation.

From Catherine Skiendzer asking to have a drain pipe laid from Hamilton avenue through her land to the river. She stated in the petition that due to stormy weather the water cuts deep drains in her land. Referred to the public works committee for investigation.

The council voted a settlement for $350 of the claim of Rose Hertz against the city for injuries she received in a fall through the cover of the catch basin at the intersection of Fairmount and Colt streets. The city treasurer was directed to draw a check for the amount and the suit which had been brought against the city in the superior court is to be withdrawn.

Mayor Robbins announced that a communication had been received from Capt. Charles Colt, chairman of the Armistice day committee, asking the council to attend the Armistice day exercises on Union square and that an appropriation of $50 be made towards defraying the expenses of the celebration. The communication was read by the clerk and it was voted that the council attend the exercises in a body. It was also voted to appropriate the sum of $50.

The appointment of Henry Swatzburg as a member of the supernumary force of the Norwich police department was made by the clerk casting one ballot, favoring his appointment.

This fills up the supernumerary quota which had been decreased by one by the suspension of Leon Brackner following charges made against him in an alleged attempted extortion case in the town of Plainfield on which he has been bound over to the superior court.

The quarterly report of the auditing committee of the water department, the monthly reports of the city treasurer and of the street department were received and accepted and ordered printed in the council journal.

Department bills were approved as follows:

Fire department, $7,345.28; finance department $86,276.39; police department, $7,169.99; department of cemeteries, $754.93; department of public works, $22,084.57; gas and electric department, $54,851.19; water department, $4,587.05; Deep River reservoir, $270.15; recreation commission, $70.70; park department, $710.13.

The council adjourned at 8:36 o'clock.

FLOCK OF AM. PIPITS TARRIES NEAR STATE HOSP.

Norwich bird students are more than interested in the unusual occurrence of the arrival of a flock of American pipits, or wagtails, so named from their habit of wagging the tail. These birds have been reported feeding in fields near Norwich State hospital.

They are graceful walkers, constantly wagging their tails. When startled, they rise together and show the white tip of the outer tail feathers, uttering a faint, twittering note and finally settling again near the spot from which they took flight.

The pipit is an Arctic bird and while migrating does not often stop hereabouts. Fully twenty have been seen this week in the cabbage field at the foot of the hill below the site of the new county home. The tip of their arrival was passed along to Norwich bird lovers and a number at once started out to inspect the unusual visitors.

Horned Larks Again

Furthermore, there comes the interesting news that horned larks have been seen again this year in the fields at Preston Plains, unusually early and in great numbers. They are in the potato fields this side of the birch mill, near the Dawley farm. These rare visitors, also are the object of keen interest to Norwich bird students.

ACADEMY NEWSPAPER A WELL EDITED ISSUE

There is much interest among Norwich Free Academy alumni in the first fall issue of the Academy's new publication, Red and White. Travelers' Old Timers' Night

The first meeting of Thames Valley council, No. 3, in November, is to be old timers' night with "old timers" among the commercial travelers filling the officers chairs, which gives promise of a highly interesting meeting.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

The meeting of the Monday Sewing club was held with Mrs. Henry F. Parker, of McKinley avenue.

During the absence in Europe of Mr. Morrow, Mrs. Herbert S. Morrow and little daughter Janet, of Providence, have been guests of Miss Audrey Gernon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. James and children motored to Boston for a visit at the week end.

Mrs. Archibald Main and daughter Flora, of Eastern Point, have accompanied Mr. Main's mother to Bath, Me., where they have joined Mr. Main and son Archibald, for the winter.

Miss Mary A. Aiken and Mrs. Frederick W. Lester were guests at Lighthouse Inn for a brief stay during the past week.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry E. Higgins motored to Waterbury Sunday to pass the day with their daughter, Miss Louise Marion Higgins, who is attending St. Margaret's school.

Miss Anne E. Vaughn, of Broadway, entertained the Fesma Auction Bridge club Monday afternoon. The prizes were won by Miss Isabel H. Mitchell and Mrs. Herbert M. Lerou.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Wightman and Miss Marion Wightman, of Elmwood avenue, attended the Yale-Dartmouth game at New Haven Saturday.

Grosvenor Ely, Jr., of New York, has been at his home at Norwich Town for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund W. Perkins and Eric Perkins attended the Berkshire-Kent game Saturday.

An anniversary high mass of requiem for Mrs. Caroline Curta was sung in St. Patrick's church Monday at 8 o'clock by the rector, Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May.

VARIETY OF CASES IN THE CITY COURT

In the city court Monday morning Walter Sacliowski, 20, and John Toomey, 18, both living in the West Side section of the city, were presented on the charge of gambling with dice. The former was arrested Sunday afternoon when State Policeman Smith and Motor Patrolman Clifford Crary broke up a crap game on the steps of a Thamesville store, and Toomey was pointed out in the court room by the state policeman as one who had been in the crap game.

Toomey denied this, saying he was out riding with his girl at the time, and the court discharged him. The other man was fined $5 and costs, paying a total of $20.01.

A Yantic man, charged with breach of the peace, had a continuance for six months in his case, and two men before the court on intoxication charges were fined respectively $5 and $10 with costs.

For parking on the no-parking side of Franklin street Onofrio Amedee was fined $1 and costs, a total of $5. Eleanor Byrne, who had been summoned into court on a parking violation charge, did not appear as she had been discharged by the prosecuting attorney. F. Beebe. Llewellyn Golden and Morris Moskowitz each paid the usual $2 charge in settling for violation of city ordinances and Deputy Judge H. H. Pettis dismissed the case against Guido Fallevi, 24, who was charged with failure to grant the right of way because of a collision at Bushnell place and West Thames street early Sunday morning. He was arrested by a state policemen.

WILLIMANTIC EMBEZZLER GETS SENTENCE REDUCED

HARTFORD, Nov. 4.—Before the board of pardons this afternoon, James J. Donohue, Willimantic city clerk, convicted of embezzlement, received a reduction of one year in his sentence of two to five years. John Formisano, of New Haven, sentenced to serve ten to 15 years for manslaughter, was granted a decrease to six years. Thomas Gaffney, of Fairfield, serving five to eight years for attempt at rape, was given a reduction of two years.

TAFTVILLE

Miss Edith R. Adams of North Third avenue has been the recent guest of Miss Velma Atkins of Gales Ferry.

Mrs. Amede Richard of South A street is spending several weeks in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Linderson of North Third avenue spent the week end at their country place Pine Tree cottage, at North Stonington and had with them as a guest Miss Helen C. Ahern.

The members of the Dramatic club of the Taftville Congregational church are making plans for their annual play, which is usually given in connection with the church fair and bazaar.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Heselton and children Kendall and Revela of North B street and Mahlon E. Wood of North Third avenue spent the week end in Killingly.

Eugene O. Lambert of Jewett City spent Monday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lambert and family of North B street.

Miss Dorothy Hunt had the soprano solo part in the anthem sung after the offertory at the Taftville Congregational church Sunday morning. Rev. William Penner, the pastor, preached. In the evening there was the regular meeting for the members of the Young Peoples society of Christian Endeavor in the church vestry.

Saturday night was "Surprise Night" and the closing night of the carnival which has been conducted at Ponemah hall for the past two weeks under the auspices of Peter Gallan Post, No. 104, American Legion. The booths were well patronized, and surprise novelties were introduced during the evening. Humphries' orchestra played for the dancing which continued until midnight. Napoleon J. Pepin, commander of the post, was the general chairman which arranged for the affair, in which the post had the co-operation and assistance of the Ladies' auxiliary.

The rain over the week end and on Monday was welcomed by people who live in the outlying districts. In the village of Blissville the water shortage has been acute, practically every well in the district being at a low ebb, with most of them out of commission entirely. Old time residents state that they never saw the Lisbon pond at such a low level as it has been this past few weeks, and the Shetucket river has also been very low. Farmers have had to go long distances for water for their cattle.

Miss Mary Malone and Miss Agnes Malone of South B street have returned from New York where they have been spending several days.

The monthly business meeting of the members of St. Jean Baptiste society was held Sunday afternoon at Parish hall.

CONNECTICUT MUST REPEL ADVANCE OF CORN BORER

Whether the entire state of Connecticut will be placed under quarantine for the European corn borer is to be discussed at a meeting of growers and others Wednesday at Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station.

Scouts this summer found the corn borer, which is one of the most dangerous pests in the United States, in every county of Connecticut. Previously it was known only in the eastern and south eastern parts of the state. A large middle section of the state, including much of Litchfield and Hartford counties, is still untouched and the gathering has been called by Dr. W. E. Britton, state entomologist, to determine the advisability of bringing that part of the state under federal quarantine. Invitations have been issued to corn growers, seedsmen, dairymen and county agents, and anyone interested may attend. The meeting will be at 2 o'clock.

The corn borer problem is additionally complicated by the fact that there are two kinds of corn borers. If the whole state is treated alike, the more dreaded two-brooded strain of eastern Connecticut will drift into the territory which has thus far been infested only by the kind which raises one brood in a season and so on to western states. The "clean" middle section of the state serves as a dividing line between the two strains of the borer.

Rhode Island, New Hampshire and the eastern parts of Massachusetts and Connecticut have the two-brooded strains, Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania and other states west are infested only by the one-generation strain.

CONVENTION PROGRAM OF KING'S DAUGHTERS, HARTFORD

The Hartford Union of the International Order of The King's Daughters and Sons will be host Tuesday and Wednesday to what will probably be the largest convocation of delegates ever assembled in the society when the 33rd annual convention of the Connecticut branch of The King's Daughters and Sons will open at the Central Baptist church Tuesday at 2 p. m. Mrs. Morris W. Leibert, world president of the organization, will be the special guest of honor and will address the convention Tuesday evening.

Delegates will arrive Tuesday morning and report at the Central Baptist church. Mrs. A. J. W. Myers, president of the Hartford King's Daughters Union, will make the address of welcome at the opening of the Tuesday afternoon session. The minutes and report of the 1928 convention will be read by Miss Jessie Whittlesey, secretary of the state organization of The King's Daughters and Sons. Committees will be appointed and the annual report of state activities read. A portion of this afternoon session will be given over to an account of county activities. Mrs. Delos Hart will report for Litchfield county and Mrs. J. E. Pendleton of Guilford will report for New Haven county.

Rev. Dr. John Newton Lackey, pastor of the Central Baptist church will open the evening session Tuesday, at 7:30 o'clock with a devotional service. Hartford county activities in the organization will be told by Mrs. Kirby C. Fratt of West Hartford, president of the Hartford County King's Daughters. Mrs. Josephine Simpson of the Central Baptist church, will sing.

Leaders from all King's Daughters circles throughout Connecticut will attend a special leaders' meeting at the church Wednesday morning at 9:25 o'clock to be addressed by international President Mrs. Leibert. The convention activities for Wednesday will be opened at 10 o'clock that morning with devotional service conducted by Miss Elizabeth G. Day of Colchester. Rev. F. H. Jacobs, pastor of the Fourth Congregational church, will make the principal address. A special memorial service for all King's Daughters who have died during the past year will be conducted by Miss Ada L. Shelley of Windsor, first vice president of the Hartford King's Daughters Union.

Luncheon will be served at the church. Further reports of county activities, plans and invitations to the 1930 King's Daughters convention, and the annual election of officers will form the major part of Wednesday's business and will conclude the sessions. Mrs. Myers will sing at Wednesday's meeting.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCHES IN STATE CONVENTION

Dr. Fred B. Smith, of New York, N. Y., moderator of the National Council of the Congregational churches, will speak on "The Church of Tomorrow," Tuesday night, at the 62d annual meeting of the general conference of the Congregational churches of Connecticut to be held at Ansonia. The conference will open Tuesday morning and adjourn Wednesday afternoon.

A net gain of 1,100 in membership by the 321 churches of the conference will be shown in the annual report which will be presented by the registrar and statistical secretary, the Rev. Dr. William F. English, of Hartford. The present total membership is 84,460. The five largest churches are: New Britain, South, 2,080; Bridgeport, United, 1,936; Waterbury, Second, 1,683; Hartford, Second, 1,501; West Haven, First, 1,453. Seven other churches have more than 1,000 members each.

The five leading churches under various statistical items are:

Total number of new members received: West Hartford, 216; Hartford, Second, 129; Waterbury, Second, 121; Hartford, Immanuel, 113; Bridgeport, 108.

New members received upon confession of faith: Hartford, Second, 97; West Hartford, 3; Bridgeport, United, 69; Waterbury, Second, 61; Bristol, 56.

The total amount reported raised for all purposes by the churches of the conference was $2,462,741. The amount raised for local expenses was $1,960,235; the total amount for missions and benevolences was $502,506 of which $371,482 was for the regular denominational budget.

The property of the churches in sites and buildings is reported valued at $17,678,294. The invested funds held by the churches amount to $6,670,462. Forty-nine churches received legacies during the year amounting to $233,137. The average pastoral salary, exclusive of parsonage, is reported as $2,180 an increase of $41.

The conference will hear reports Tuesday morning. Group discussion meetings will be held on Tuesday afternoon for rural life, evangelism and missions. Tuesday night in addition to the address by Dr. Fred B. Smith, there will be an address by Rev. Dr. D. Drewer Eddy, secretary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign missions (Congregational), Boston, Mass., on "New World Conditions and the Missionary Challenge."

Wednesday morning there will be four addresses: "Influence of Congregationalism on the Colored Race," by Rev. James A. Wright, of Talcott Street church, Hartford; "Over Devil's Hopward Way," by David S. Kelsey, Lic., pastor of Hadlyme and Millington; "A Two County Triple Church Parish," by Rev. Dr. Sherrod Soule, Hartford, superintendent and state missionary. Spirituelles will be sung at the morning session by the quartet of Talcott Street church.

Addresses Wednesday afternoon will be: "The Conference and the Council of Women," by Miss Sylvina C. Norton, Westchester, vice president, Council of Congregational Women of Connecticut; "Winning American Mohammedans to Christ," by Rev. Matias Cuadra, Mindanao, Philippine Islands; "America is Calling," by Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Halliday, New York, N. Y., general secretary, Congregational Church Extension boards; "The Challenge of India," by Mrs. Katherine V. Gates, Bombay, India. Rev. Otto W. Buttner is pastor of the Ansonia church where the general conference will meet.

POLICE SEEK MAN ON DOUBLE MURDER CHARGE

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Nov. 4.—(AP)—George Hostetter, once freed on a murder charge and a neighborhood suitor for the hand of a cousin of Mrs. Albert Weddle, tonight was sought as the alleged assassin who slew Mrs. Weddle and her husband with a shot gun as the couple sat rocking in the sitting room of their farm home near here last night.

Miss Mary Hunter, the cousin, said she and Hostetter planned to marry. Mr. and Mrs. Weddle, officers said, had opposed the match.

Tom Rinacka, a neighbor to all the principals in the case, told deputy sheriffs today that he was with Hostetter an hour or so yesterday and that the missing man then carried a shotgun.

E. C. SCOUT LEADERS HEAR ADDRESS FROM DEPUTY REGIONAL EXECUTIVE

The regular session of the executive board of the Eastern Connecticut council of the Boy Scouts on Monday evening, opened with a dinner at the Wauregan hotel, given in honor of George S. Felker, deputy regional scout executive, and a score of guests from Danielson, Putnam, Stafford Springs, Willimantic, and Woodstock.

The dinner opened with singing of America and the invocation, following which President Charles Colt welcomed the guests from the several cities. At the plate of each man present was a Boy Scout diary, as a souvenir. Throughout the meeting Nicholas Spellman played and led the men in singing.

The business meeting opened with reports from committees. Vice-president Max Hanover spoke on cooperation and what the scout program means to boys. H. D. Larrabee, reporting for the territorial committee, called upon the delegations from the several centers to stand up. Each group was warmly applauded.

Charles V. James reporting for troop organization told of four troops now being organized. Charles B. Gilbert, chairman of training, reported on the attendance at the training course, commented upon the enthusiasm manifest in the meetings and urged other centers to start training courses. Principal H. A. Tirrell reporting for the court of honor committee told of the last session of the court and of the large number of tests passed, and of the number in attendance at that meeting. Ex-Mayor H. M. Lerou spoke on the civic service being performed by the scouts. He said the boys were now colecting magazines for the hospitals and distributing Red Cross posters. Rev. A. H. Abbott, chairman of reading, told of the installation of the new service library at the Otis library, of the hundred and more pamphlets and books placed at the entrance to the library. Scout Executive Sellman reported briefly upon some of the work passing through the scout office, speaking of trips made in territory, nature of service rendered, etc.

President Colt introduced the principal speaker of the evening, Deputy Regional Scout Executive George S. Felker, who gave an address declared to be the best ever heard locally from any scout man. Mr. Felker told the men of the relationship of the home-church-school-work to the boy and of the eight hours of leisure and of how the Boy Sout program takes care of that leisure. He spoke at length upon the nature and purpose of area council organization. The meeting was closed by the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Following the meeting, the guests from the territory met with H. D. Larrabee, and his territory committee at the scout office in the Thayer building, where the functions of the office were explained and the men from the different cities talked to Mr. Felker personally about the problems of scouting in their communities.

The training course rooms were thrown open for inspection and many of the men showed interest in this phase of the scout work.

A vote of thanks was extended by the men from the territory to the men in Norwich for the excellent dinner and cordial reception. Forty-two men attended the dinner of whom more than 20 were from centers in eastern Connecticut. Heading the delegation from Willimantic of eleven men was John J. O'Rourke, secretary of the chamber of commerce; from Danielson, was William Sanster, chairman of the district committee there; from Stafford and Staffordville was Dr. Bean, heading a group of six or seven men; from Putnam was Rev. Fr. Casey. Walter King heading a group of men from that district. Scoutmaster Frank Gleason with several men came from East Woodstock.

DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE FOR MAYOR WALKER

Sweeping Victory For Tammany Candidate For Re-Election as Mayor of New York—LaGuardia, Republican Opponent, Sends Congratulatory Telegram to Walker—Heavy Vote For Thomas, Socialist Candidate, Exceeded Party Expectations—Enright, Former Police Commissioner, Ran Poor Fourth as Candidate of Square Deal Party—Walker's Plurality Close to Half Million Votes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Mayor James J. Walker was re-elected mayor of New York in the quadrennial municipal election today in a great democratic sweep.

He had a lead of 430,000 votes over Congressman Fiorello LaGuardia, republican-fusion candidate, with only 121 districts missing out of the 3,411 in the city.

The democratic landslide was indicated in the first returns. Thereafter, every district vote count added to the mounting total.

Major LaGuardia, who had conducted a fiery campaign, conceded the mayor's re-election soon after 8:30 o'clock and sent a congratulatory telegram to him.

"I am licked," he added grimly to a circle of close friends as he listened to the returns, "but there is no rancor and I hope the election is all for the best."

Mayor Walker withheld formal comment until later but was plainly elated. He received an ovation at police headquarters where he watched the vote being counted early in the evening. Later he motored to Tammany hall in Union square where the "braves" were jubilantly celebrating.

The republicans gained a shred of comfort in the apparent re-election of George U. Harvey as borough president of Queens. This was one of the hottest political battles this borough has ever held in its stormy history.

Out of the 634 Queens districts, 450 of them gave Harvey 101,592 and Edward W. Cox, democrat, 32,599.

Until last fall, when Maurice E. Connolly, democratic borough president, was convicted in connection with graft in a $16,000,000 sewer construction, Queens had been a democratic stronghold. Harvey was the first republican to be elected to the office. In the primaries he encountered opposition from the republican organization. Cox was also opposed by two others in his primary campaign.

The heavy vote for Norman Thomas, socialist mayoralty candidate, exceeded the expectations of the conservative prognosticators. The socialist registration was only 4,457. The political dopesters, searching for a reason for this abnormal vote, attributed it to various causes. The majority maintained it was a personal tribute to the former minister, author and student of government, who last year carried the socialist standard in the presidential campaign. Others claimed his heavy vote came partly from conservative republicans who did not take kindly to Congressman LaGuardia because of his former socialist connections. He was once elected to congress on a socialist ticket.

Richard E. Enright, who was police commissioner under Mayor John F. Hylan, ran a poor fourth as candidate of the square deal party, which he created. He devoted most of his campaign to virulent attacks on the Tammany administration, particularly the police department.

John F. Curry, new leader of Tammany hall, said:

"It is a great and deserved victory. The overwhelming vote of approval given the Walker administration shows that the democratic party has enshrined itself still deeper in the affections of the people of this city. It is their answer to the campaign of calumny and slander which was carried on by our opponents. New York city can look forward to four more years of humane and progressive government."

ELECTION RESULTS IN NEW YORK STATE

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Alexander Caven, republican, defeated Mayor John K. Sague, democrat, seeking re-election, by a plurality estimated at 2,300 today.

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Mayor John H. McGaulley, democrat, was re-elected today, defeating the republican candidate, John Healey, by a plurality of between 700 and 1,000. The contest was three-cornered, Bert F. Spencer being entered as an independent candidate.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(AP)—John Boyd Thacher, democratic mayor of Albany, was re-elected today by a vote of more than two to one over his republican opponent, Roland B. Easton, with three districts unreported. The vote was:

Thacher, 40,634; Easton, 18,606.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Charles E. Roesch, republican, was elected mayor of Buffalo today by a plurality of 7,532 over the present mayor, Frank X. Schwab, a republican running on the democratic ticket, and Frank C. Perkins, independent. The vote: Roesch, 77,125; Schwab, 69,593; Perkins, 9,031.

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Charles S. Donnelly, democrat, today defeated the republican mayoralty incumbent, Fred J. Rath, by the narrow margin of 138 votes at the climax of a hotly-contested campaign. The vote was: Donnelly, 16,579; Rath, 16,442.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(AP)—The republican organization wrested control of the city government from the City Manager league which has been in power for the past two years, in today's election of candidates to the common council.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Republicans increased to 34 their seats in the Westchester county board of supervisors in today's election despite charges of irregularities that caused a state investigation of the old board's approval of a $94,000 purchase of an additional court house site.

The republicans made a net gain of two seats, which cut the democratic membership from 10 to 8.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—(AP)—The incomplete returns from the 21st congressional district, Manhattan, showed that Hubert T. Delaney, Negro, a republican, was running far ahead of his opponents.

Joseph A. Guvazan, white, was the democratic candidate. The district, in the heart of Harlem, is normally democratic.

LATE RETURNS FROM MASSACHUSETTS ELECTIONS

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 5—(AP)—Dwight R. Winter, democratic candidate for mayor, seemed a certain winner over Carlos B. Ellis, republican, tonight when 37 precincts out of 45 gave Winter 15,075 to Ellis, 12,520, a lead for the democrat of 2552.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 5—(AP)—After 12 successive years of office Mayor Edward W. Quinn was apparently beaten for re-election by Richard M. Russell tonight with returns complete from all but two of 53 precincts. Russell had 17,850 votes, and Quinn 14,164. Both are democrats.

SOMERVILLE, Mass., Nov. 5—(AP)—John J. Murphy, democrat, was leading William S. Howe, republican by 4028 votes to 3440 with returns in from eight out of 31 precincts in the mayoralty election here tonight.

WORCESTER, MASS., Nov. 5—(AP)—Complete returns in the municipal election todway gave Mayor Michael J. O'Hara, republican, a majority of 2,056 over his democratic opponent, John C. Mahoney. The vote was: O'Hara, 29,224; Mahoney 27,168. Republican candidates at large rode into office with their standard bearer.

WALTHAM, Mass., Nov. 5—(AP)—Mayor Henry F. Beal defeated Patrick J. Duane, former mayor, by one vote in the city election here today. Beal received 5,727 votes and Duane 5,726.

TO PROBE ALLEGED ELECTION LAW VIOLATIONS

LONG BEACH, N. Y., Nov. 5—(AP)—Charges that 35 men had been sent into Long Beach today to attempt wholesale violations of the election law caused 12 arrests, and brought from District Attorney E. N. Edwards a promise to conduct a John Doe investigation into the alleged conspiracy.

BOSTON GIVES CURLEY PLURALITY OF 20,000

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—James M. Hurley was elected mayor of Boston for the third time today with a plurality of 20,000 votes. Curley was given a close race by Frederick W. Mansfield and both Curley and Mansfield far out-stripped Daniel H. Coakley, who was credited with only a few thousand votes. All were democrats.

WHEELER ACCUSED OF FIRING FATAL SHOT

GASTONIA, N. C., Nov. 5.—(AP)—B. L. Case, a chance passenger on the mob-beleaguered truck, in which Mrs. Ella May Wiggins, National Textile Workers' union member, was riding when she was shot to death, today charged that Horace Wheeler, Loray mill worker, fired a shot into the truck an instant before the woman fell dead.

Case, who is working for a cotton mill at Mount Holly, was testifying in Judge Pender A. McElroy's committing magistrate inquiry into the slaying of Mrs. Wiggins. The hearing, which formally got under way today with 16 men under arrest on charges of conspiracy to murder and murder, was the third inquiry and the first in which any person has been named as actually having fired into the truck. Only 14 were on hand at the outset, but H. West and Roy Carver surrendered late today, making it 16 custody.

In the inquest, Case and another witness testified that a red-haired man with a bald spot had fired the fatal shot. This description fits Wheeler, who is held in $5,000 bond, while the others accused prior to the hearing were held in $2,500 bonds each.

BEAL LEAVES CHARLOTTE FOR LAWRENCE, MASS.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Freed from jail this morning on bond, pending appeal to the supreme court from his conviction of second degree murder in connection with the slaying of O. F. Aderholt, Gastonia chief of police, Fred Erwin Beal, former southern organizer for the National Textile Workers' union, left late today for his home in Lawrence, Mass.

Bond of $5,000 for the labor leader's release was posted by the American Fund for Public Service, Inc., of New York. Before leaving for his home, Beal addressed strikers from the Leaksville woolen mill at Homestead, five miles from here.

The trip to Lawrence was begun in an automobile with friends.

GUARDSMEN SEARCH WOODS FOR ESCAPED PRISONERS

UNION, Me., Nov. 5.—(AP)—A man hunt for two convicts, one a lifer, who escaped today from the Maine state prison at Thomaston, shifted to this vicinity tonight after a taxi driver reported that men answering the descriptions of the escaped prisoners had attempted to hold him up near here.

Word immediately was relayed to officers heading a posse of national guardsmen and civilians, which had surrounded a patch of woods near Thomaston earlier in the evening in the belief the convicts, Alan Twitchell, serving a life sentence for murder, and Herman L. Cronkite, sentenced for violent assault, had concealed themselves there.

TEST PILOT KILLED IN 6,000-FOOT FALL

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Pat Love, 35, Richmond, Ind., test pilot for the Alexander Aircraft corporation here, was fatally injured this afternoon when an Eaglerock Bullet plane with which he was making a load test, crashed from an altitude of 6,000 feet.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

ROME, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Cardinal Cerretti, who was papal delegate to the last eucharistic congress held in Australia and who is well known in the United States, gave a dinner at his home this evening to Cardinal Hayes of New York.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Three hundred and fifteen holders of the Victoria cross have accepted an invitation to attend a dinner in their honor over which the Prince of Wales will preside. The dinner will take place Saturday in what is known as the long gallery of the parliament houses.

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Serge Oldenburg, one of the most prominent of Russian scientists, was dismissed from his post as permanent secretary of the Academy of Science today by the government. He was accused of concealing from the government documents of extreme importance which would have aided the authorities in liquidating counter-revolutionary activities on soviet territory.

BROOKHART TELLS STORY OF "WALL STREET BOOZE PARTIES"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—(AP)—Senator Brookhart of Iowa thrust his heralded expose of "Wall street booze parties" before a keenly attentive senate today in an atmosphere alive with suspense generated by the recurring furore over drinking among the nation's lawmakers.

His eyewitness account of a dinner held for some republican senators in the Willard hotel three years ago occupied more than an hour. Throngs in the galleries who had expected names of all the legislative guests to be revealed were disappointed, however. The Iowan mentioned none of his colleagues as having imbibed from the "beautiful silver hip flasks" which were the dinner favors.

The only word he gave about any senator's use or non-use of the attractive containers of "Scotch" was that Senator Smoot of Utah and the late Senator Goodine of Idaho had not availed themselves of the refreshment.

"As to whether the other boys did, they can answer for themselves," Brookhart told the tense senate. He named Walter J. Fahy, New York broker, as the dinner host.

While the Iowan condemned alcohol as an "evil" and "poison" and in last words told his story of Washington liquor parties and prohibition enforcement in general, another mid-western prohibitionist—Senator Howell, of Nebraska—was busy preparing an address on his research into lawlessness in the capital.

Up in the gallery sat Judge William S. Kenyon, a member of President Hoover's law enforcement commission, and beside him was Senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas, the "father" of the eighteenth amendment. Judge Kenyon later conferred with Brookhart, said he "enjoyed" the talk and remarked about the commission's interest in the situation.

Telling his story of the "Wall street booze party," Brookhart said he was urged to attend by our distinguished president pro tem. The president pro tem is Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, and he was presiding at the time.

The Iowan said Otto Kahn, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., had sat on his right at the dinner and E. F. Loomis, of Morgan & Co., on his left.

Senator Moses had to ran severely for order when Brookhart read a letter to himself which said "to broadcast tales about his host, the suspicion that you are a charter member of the great American Polecat club seems amply confirmed." The chamber roared with laughter.

As for law enforcement in general, Senator Brookhart said Secretary Mellon should be removed as the chief prohibition law enforcement officer and "a Smedley Butler or somebody like him who means business to enforce this law" put in his place. Butler, now in command of the marine barracks at Quantico, Va., became widely known for his attempts to enforce the prohibition law while director of safety for Philadelphia several years ago.

Brookhart said he thought enforcement conditions, however, had improved some. He congratulated President Hoover, Vice President Curtis and Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, upon their personal attitude toward the dry law. He warned that he would be in favor of forcing other diplomats to cease serving liquor unless they voluntarily followed the lead of the British ambassador.

THOMAS N. PERKINS ELECTED PRESIDENT B. AND M. ROAD

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Thomas Nelson Perkins, chairman of the executive committee, was elected acting president of the Boston and Maine railroad today, shortly after the funeral of George Hannauer, who at the time of his death occupied that office. Perkins said he intended to carry on the policies of the man he succeeds.

The Hannauer services were conducted by Rev. Edward Taylor Sullivan, rector of Trinity church, Newton Center. The eulogy was delivered by President Ernest M. Hopkins of Dartmouth, a close friend of the late railroad president.

PREMIER TARDIEU TO SUBMIT DRAFT TODAY

PARIS, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Premier Andre Tardieu today completed his draft of the ministerial declaration which he will submit to the cabinet council tomorrow for suggestions and approval. On Thursday morning, it will be submitted to the council of ministers presided over by President Doumergue and will be read to parliament that afternoon.

The premier was said to have decided to demand a vote of endorsement or rejection by parliament on Thursday evening before agreeing to fix a date for discussion of the interpellations of which various deputies have given notice.

FIFTEEN PERSONS ARRESTED IN TORRINGTON RAIDS

TORRINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Fifteen persons were arrested and three truckloads of distillery paraphernalia, liquor and mash, were confiscated in liquor raids, made by local police tonight. Nine of those arrested were women. All were released on bond and ordered to hearing in city court tomorrow.

HALE RE-ELECTED MAYOR EAST CHICAGO, IND.

EAST CHICAGO, Ind., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Raleigh P. Hale, recently indicted by a federal grand jury for conspiracy to violate the liquor law, was re-elected mayor of this city today on the republican ticket, defeating Allen F. Twiman, citizen's candidate.

LABORITES AND LIBERALS CONGRATULATE MACDONALD

LONDON, Nov. 5—(AP)—Carefully reading word for word from a prepared statement, an unusual procedure for him, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald today told the house of commons of the success of his mission to the United States and Canada. He received the warmest congratulations from laborites, conservatives and liberals for his efforts on behalf of Anglo-American amity and naval disarmament.

Mr. MacDonald put the results of his conversations with President Hoover before the house in a brief speech. He lauded the open-minded and open-hearted way that he had been met by the president and by the American people and expressed the hope that the new relationship between the two nations, based on mutual understanding, would have far-reaching and beneficial effects.

He said that such contingent questions as belligerent rights, fortified bases and so on had been raised. A mutual agreement had been made to examine them but no committments had been entered into.

With a warmth of feeling that moved the house deeply, former Premier Baldwin congratulated his successor on his success in a mission that he said, it had always been his ambition to undertake.

In adding the tribute of the liberal party, former Premier Lloyd George raised a storm of protest on the labor benches by pressing the prime minister to say whether he had discussed war debts with President Hoover or entered into commitments.

Commander J. M. Kenworthy, labor, said that Lloyd George's demands were mischievous, but Mr. MacDonald insisted on replying. He declared emphatically that "the question of debts was not discussed" and assured the house that there had been no committments on the other questions.

AMBASSADOR DAWES GUEST OF PRESIDENT HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—(AP)—Questions likely to arise at the approaching naval disarmament conference in London were discussed by Ambassador Dawes today with President Hoover and Secretary Stimson.

The ambassador arrived before breakfast with Mrs. Dawes and their daughter, Mrs. Carolyn Ericson. They will be guests at the white house until leaving Thursday night for New York to embark on the Homeric for London.

While no official information was given out regarding the conversations, it was indicated that the president took advantage of his first visit with General Dawes since Prime Minister MacDonald was in the United States to assess the progress made in the naval negotiations and to discuss probable additions to the American delegation to London.

The president is expected to name two more delegates to the delegation for which he has already selected Mr. Dawes, Secretary Stimson nad Senators Reed of Pennsylvania and Robinson of Arkansas.

M'CULLOCH SUCCESSOR TO LATE SENATOR BURTON

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5—(AP)—Governor Cooper today appointed Roscoe C. McCulloch, Canton, as United States senator from Ohio to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Theodore E. Burton, a week ago.

For the past year McCulloch has served as chairman of the state utilities commission, a position to which he was appointed by Governor Cooper.

Governor Cooper said McCulloch was selected because he was in sympathy with the policies of the Hoover administration.

The governor pointed out that McCulloch's three terms as representative in congress from the Canton district and his work in public offices in Ohio, had fitted him to take over the unfinished work of Senator Burton.

McCulloch's appointment is for a period of one year. He must seek election in November 1930 for the unexpired two years of the six year term of the late Senator Frank P. Willis.

RUSSIAN AVIATORS PLAN TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The four Russian aviators, members of the crew of the Land of the Soviets which flew from Moscow to New York, have wired soviet officials for permission to fly across the Atlantic ocean to England. They hope to leave in two weeks from Harbor Grace, New Foundland.

If permission is obtained from the Russian air ministry for their trans-Atlantic hop, and it is successful, they will be the first to make a west-to-east flight around the world in a heavier-than-air machine.

The Russians completed their Moscow-to-New York flight of 12,500 miles last Saturday. The trip took 70 days but they were delayed frequently by adverse weather conditions and once by motor trouble.

By flying the Atlantic they hope to continue on around the world with two more stops in England and France before returning to Moscow.

FRUSTRATED ATTEMPT AT PRISON ESCAPE

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Five prisoners of the New Mexico penitentiary were locked in their cells today by Warden Pat Dugan, who frustrated an attempt on the part of the men to go over the wall.

Dugan found a number of knives on the men and one of them had fabricated a ladder out of wire.

Hartford Re-elects Batterson Mayor

Republican Candidate Gets Majority of 930 Votes Over Democratic Opponent — School Consolidation Defeate

HARTFORD, Nov. 5—(AP)—Mayor Walter E. Batterson, was re-elected mayor of Hartford by a majority of 930 votes over John F. Gaffey, democrat, in today's mayoralty election, carrying the republican ticket into office with him except in the case of city treasurer where former Sheriff George H. Gabb, democrat, defeated Edgar F. Waterman. The vote for mayor was: Batterson 22,356; Gaffey 21,426.

School consolidation, the most agitated question of the election, was defeated by 2347 votes. The metropolitan district charter was adopted by 6529, which means that Hartford, Windsor, Bloomfield, Wethersfield and Newington will start operating as a district with the appointment of the first board by the governor, the other towns having approved the charter last month. The republicans elected three aldermen at large to two for the democrats and carrying nine of the wards which will give them control of the council, 12 to 8.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY SWEEPS BRIDGEPORT CITY ELECTION

BRIDGEPORT, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The democratic party swept the city in the municipal election here today, Edward Taylor Buckingham, defeating Mayor F. William Behrens, by a plurality of 6,335 and carrying with him into office, 11 out of 12 aldermen, Robert T. Cherry being the only republican alderman elected. As nine democrats and three republicans hold over from last year, the common council will consist of 20 democrats and four republicans, the greatest strength the democrats have had in the legislative body in 20 years.

The vote for mayor was: Buckingham, (d) 20,995; Behrens, (r) 14,660.

NEW HAVEN RE-ELECTS REPUBLICAN MAYOR

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 5—(AP)—By unofficial count, Thomas A. Tully, republican, was re-elected mayor of this city today. Final estimates of the votes in the city's 33 wards gave Tully a total of 25,478 as against 21,338 for Philip Troup, former postmaster and democrat. Tully's plurality was 4,140.

It was Mayor Tully's first actual election to the office, as he has been filling the unexpired term of Mayor John B. Tower, who died in August, 1928. Tully was then president of the board of alderman.

Mayor Tully took into office with him his entire supporting ticket. The board of aldermen for the next two years will be composed of 22 republicans and 11 democrats.

PARIS CONFERENCE DISCUSSES NEED OF BUSINES TREATY

PARIS, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The representatives of fifty nations met here today to consider the text of a treaty by which discriminations against foreigners established in business in various countries might be abolished.

The conference, held under the auspices of the league of nations and presided by Albert Deveze, of Belgium, opened with a general discussion of the situation of foreigners.

The general trend of the discussions was that a treaty was necessary, though some of the delegates maintained that complete understanding on such questions would not be attained without bilateral agreements.

Guillermo De Blanck, Cuban jurist, called attention to the theory that if foreigners enjoyed all the privileges of citizens they ought not to expect to have the privilege of choosing international jurisdiction to decide contentions that might arise between them and nationals of the countries where they were doing business.

George Gordon, first secretary of the American embassy, represented the United States, sitting at the conference table in a "consultative capacity."

The draft convention, the fruit of many years of study and based on principles approved by many governments, deals primarily with the status of persons or corporate entities of one country doing business in another.

TWO MURDER WARRANTS ISSUED AGAINST HOSTETTER

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Search for George Hostetter, alleged assassin of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Weddle, slain Sunday night in their farm home northeast of Independence, widened late today with issuance of two first degree murder warrants naming the fugitive.

Deputies continued combing the hills of eastern Jackson county, but professed belief that Hostetter had made his way to a nearby railway and boarded a freight train.

He is alleged to have slain the couple with a shotgun because of their opposition to his proposed marriage to Miss Mary Hunter, cousin of Mrs. Weddle.

A year ago, Hostetter was freed of a charge of murdering James Bolland, a prospector with whom he had bunked near Elko, Nev. A grand jury ruled evidence was insufficient for his trial on the charge.

WOMAN ORDERED RELEASED FROM INSANE HOSPITAL

MIDDLETOWN, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Jennie Zarzicki, who was tried for murder in New Haven and acquitted on the ground of insanity on April 1, 1925, and committed to the Connecticut state hospital, was ordered released today after Judge Edward M. Yeomans, in superior court, had been informed that the woman had regained her mental balance.

The report of the changed condition of the woman's mind was made by Dr. Roy L. Leake, superintendent of the hospital.

WOMAN ON TRIAL FOR KILLING HUSBAND

OROVILLE, Cal., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Pearl Baldwin was placed on trial here today on a charge of murdering her husband, William F. Baldwin, because he objected to her going to a dance.

The defense indicated a plea of self-defense would be made, with Mrs. Baldwin as her own principal witness.

SENATE LIMITS DEBATE ON TARIFF AMENDMENTS

Agreement Reached to Allow Each Senator Ten Minutes of Debate on All Remaining Amendments to Earths, Earthenware and Glassware Schedule—Senator Dill Had Blocked Earlier Move to Hasten Debate—Proposed Increases in Duties on Pottery and China Wares Were Eliminated From Bill.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—(AP)—After reaching an agreement to accelerate action on the tariff bill by limiting the time individual senators may talk on amendments, the senate today proceeded with little ado to eliminate proposed increases in duties on pottery and china wares around which a stiff dispute had been promised.

Earlier a move to hasten debate had failed, when Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, objected to such a request by Chairman Smoot of the finance committee. He contended this struck at the very root of the time-honored practice of permitting free and open discussion in the senate.

Later, however, Smoot proposed that each senator be limited to talk ten minutes on each committee amendment to the pending rate schedule, that embracing earths, earthenware, and glassware. Senator Dill was not present when this motion was put and it carried without discussion.

Senator Blease, democrat, South Carolina, offered a resolution to lay the tariff bill aside until after disposition of the Vare case in the regular December session, but there were little indications it would be brought up. Republican leaders expressed the view that the tariff would be kept before the senate without taking an adjournment before December 2, when the regular session opens.

After failing to hold their lines on two previous votes on committee amendments proposing reductions in duties on china clay and crude silica, the democrats and republican independents joined again in helping to eliminate the committee recommendations for higher levies.

After accepting, 33 to 31, the committee's proposal to strike out the house rate adding ten cents a dozen pieces to the existing duties of 45 and 50 per cent ad valorem, respectively, on undecorated and decorated earthenware and pockery ware, the senate, without record votes, restored existing rates on these and china and porcelain products.

This rejected committee amendments proposing to add ten cents a dozen pieces to the ad valorem rates now in effect on earthenware and china ware cups, saucers and plates valued at not more than 50 cents a dozen.

Senators Norris, republican independent, Nebraska, and Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, opposed the higher duties proposed for the cheaper grades of imported pottery and china products on the ground that they would affect persons who could not afford to buy higher-priced pottery and china.

Senator Reed, republican, Penn., arguing for the higher tariffs' said the competition was keener in the low-priced wares and to add 10 cents a dozen to the costlier goods would have provided no additional protection to speak of.

Senator Goff, republican, West Virginia, urged higher duties, contending it was obvious that from 50 to 60 pottery plants in the United States would be forced to close down if cheap Japanese and German wares were not given higher rates.

ARGUMENTS TODAY IN HAMILTON MURDER TRIAL

WEATHERFORD, Texas, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Testimony in the trial of R. H. Hamilton, prominent Amarillo lawyer, for the slaying of his 21-year-old son-in-law, Tom Walton, Jr., was completed today after the defendant had testified in rebuttal and the mother of the young man had taken the stand for the state. Arguments are to begin tomorrow.

Less than two hours after Mrs. Grace Walton, clad in black, had told of her last few minutes with her son, Hamilton again took the stand to deny Mrs. Walton's testimony.

The state in rebuttal, after assailing the stories of Hamilton and two defense eye-witnesses, called Mrs. Walton as its closing witness. District Attorney Edward Thomerson helped her to the witness stand.

Mrs. Walton testified that the morning of the killing her son came to the tourist inn at Amarillo where she was manager and placed a telephone call. She told of hearing Walton say: "Is Judge Hamilton in? Is this Judge Hamilton? This is Tom Walton."

Then, she said, her son left the inn and within half an hour she was at an Amarillo hospital beside his body which was pierced by four bullets fired at him in Hamilton's Amarillo law office.

Hamilton took the stand only to deny state rebuttal evidence.

TWO AVIATORS KILLED AT EAST BOSTON AIRPORT

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Two aviators, Henry G. Carter, 26, of Lebanon, N. H., and Clinton D. Johnson, of Boston, and Stratford, Conn., were killed today in a crash of a biplane from a 150-foot altitude at the East Boston airport.

Johnson was an aircraft factory inspector for the United States department of commerce and Carter, who held a commercial pilot's license, was taking a transport license course with Skyways, Inc.

An explosion of the gasoline tank enveloped the plane in flames and prevented airport attaches from extricating the men from the wreckage immediately. A volunteer squad formed a bucket brigade to extinguish the flames, wading into the harbor to fill its buckets.

The plane had taken off only a few seconds before the crash, with Johnson at the controls. They were to fly to Bridgeport, Conn., from which city Carter was to proceed to New York alone.

THREE-YEAR SENTENCE FOR STEALING AUTO

MIDDLETOWN, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Alfred St. Lawrence, 27, of Providence, R. I., was sent to state prison for three years by Judge Edward M. Yeomans, in superior court this afternoon for theft of a motor vehicle at Westbrook, a few months ago. A brother, Leo, was given a suspended reformatory sentence.

C. S. Huntley, who was bound over here on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses in connection with an airport scheme at Darien, was given his freedom after the state's attorney had recommended a nolle of the case against him.

Royal Guyer, 26, of South Norwalk, charged with seduction, was given sentence of one year in jail.

POLLARD'S ELECTION AS GOVERNOR VIRGINIA CONCEDED

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 5.—(AP)—John Garland Pollard, former professor of law at the College of William and Mary, was elected governor of Virginia tonight in what turned out to be a landslide for the democratic party.

The democratic nominee led his opponent, Dr. William Moseley Brown, nominee of the anti-Smith democrats and republicans, in every congressional district. With less than two-thirds of the total vote tabulated, he had amassed a lead of close to 50,000 votes. Pollard's election was conceded by Brown headquarters at 10:40. At that hour returns from 1,080 of the state's 1,683 precincts gave: Pollard, 99,038; Brown, 51,457.

HEATED EXCHANGE BETWEEN ARNOLD AND SEN. BLAINE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Records were produced today by the senate lobby committee to show that $77,924 of the $209,585 received last year by the Southern Tariff association and the American Taxpayers league was turned over to four employes of the organizations.

The figures were read into the record by Senator Blaine, republican, Wisconsin, during the examination of J. A. Arnold, vice president and general manager of the Tariff association and manager of the Taxpayers league.

Arnold insisted the figures did not represent the facts, asserting that the four employes, including himself, actually received only a regular salary and that most of the money went for organization work.

The examination became heated at times and once Arnold accused Blaine of ridiculing the work of the organizations instead of seeking information.

"I must confess that I am ridiculing the work," Blaine retorted, adding that he was going to show that contributors to the associations were used "as a sucker list from which to obtain collections and that a large portion went into your own pockets."

"That's not true," Arnold shot back angrily.

The witness said he had made up out of his own pocket a deficit of $13,843 in the funds of the Tariff association and the Taxpayers league for the year ended August 31.

"They owe me that money," he said.

Figures read into the record by Blaine showed collections for the Taxpayers league during the period were $156,416, and those of the Tariff association $53,169, with disbursements of the former $159,975 and for the latter $63,453.

COMMONS VOTES TO RESUME RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA

LONDON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The house of commons late tonight voted 324 to 199 for resumption of diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia after a long and somewhat acrimonious debate.

Earlier the house defeated by the same vote an amendment offered by former Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, deploring the "failure" of the new labor government to maintain the conditions which the prime minister and the foreign secretary had laid down for the resumption of diplomatic relations.

The vote of the house paves the way for restoration of the diplomatic ties severed in 1927 during the premiership of Mr. Baldwin. The Anglo-Russian trade agreement was terminated at the same time. The break followed a raid on the London headquarters, Arcos, Ltd., the Anglo-Russian trading organization. It was alleged that espionage and propaganda had been carried out under guise of the trade organization.

The next step toward resumption is an exchange of ambassadors which is expected to follow quickly. Soon thereafter new negotiations will begin for the settlement of outstanding questions and probably including drafting of a new trade agreement.

JURY CONVICTS WARDER ON BRIBERY CHARGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—On a single ballot taken after slightly more than three hours deliberation, a supreme court jury today convicted Frank H. Warder, resigned superintendent of the state banking department, of receiving a bribe.

Warder's conviction on one of eight indictments accusing him of receiving $106,000 in cash and expensive gifts for himself and his family for withholding state examinations of the defunct City Trust Co. was the first such verdict returned in the prosecution of ten men in connection with the wrecking of the bank.

"There will be an appeal, absolutely, and a reversal," said James I. Cuff, defense attorney, after Justice Arthur Tompkins had continued Warder's bail of $35,000 until Friday when sentence will be imposed if all motions are denied.

TENTATIVE PROGRAM FOR ARMISTICE DAY ANNOUNCED

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 5—Details of the tentative program being outlined by James J. Shea post, No. 19, American Legion for a city-wide celebration of Armistice day next Monday, were announced today as preparations near completion. Captain Ellison S. Smith, commander of Company C, 169th Infantry, Connecticut National Guard, will be marshal for the parade that will get under way from the legion quarters on Jackson street at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The procession will form along Valley street with the right resting on Jackson street. The line of march will be down Jackson, up Union and Main, over Bridge and Mountain streets down Pleasant street to the state armory.

Upon arrival at the armory Armistice day exercises of impressive nature will be carried out with Rev. Richard H. McLaughlin of Hartford, chaplain of the 169th Infantry as the speaker. At the close of the exercises the paraders will be served luncheon in the armory basement.

The R. O. T. C. unit of the Connecticut Agricultural college, Storrs, under Captain Thornton Chase will take part in the parade with their band, provided that the weather is fair. The formation of the parade will be as follows: First division: R. O. T. C. band; marshal and aides; Company C; R. O. T. C. battalion; Boy Scouts and Garde Sacred Heart. Second division: World War veterans, local and visiting posts; Veterans of Foreign Wars; B. P. O. Elks band. Third division: Delegations from various patriotic organizations, Spanish War veterans and allied societies; members of the G. A. R. and Gold Star mothers in automobiles.

There will be a dance given under the auspices of the Legion post at the Al-Pierre Tabarin in the evening with music by "Cliff" Donnelly and his Masters of Melody.

"A community airport is your Main street of the air and you derive business from it much as you do by having good highways through your town," said State Aviation Commissioner Clarence Knox in a talk at the weekly meeting of the Willimantic Rotary club held with a luncheon in the Nathan Hale hotel this noon. Commissioner Knox who was introduced by Roland B. Jordan, chairman of the civic aviation commission, was in the city today to meet with the commission which is assisting the board of selectmen toward the establishment of an airfield here.

The main speaker of the day was Benjamin W. Ellis of the extension service department of Connecticut Agricultural college who spoke interestingly on the service work, illustrating his talk with lantern slides. He was introduced by Professor Albert E. Moss, chairman of the rural-urban acquaintance committee of the club. A significant fact brought out by Mr. Ellis was that with the increasing wealth of the agricultural element there is a definite corresponding increase in the commercial business of the city merchants. Mr. Ellis traced the tremendous increases gained in all departments of agriculture, much of this being made possible by the assistance given through the extensive service branches of the state. Connecticut has an investment of $230,000,000 in agriculture and products are valued at $60,000,000. Windham county, especially the town of Windham, were cited as among leading districts where poultry raising and dairying has increased by leaps and bounds within the past decade, the town of Windham showing a definite increase of 100 per cent within the past five years.

The session was in charge of President Louis H. Arnold who introduced the following guests: Rotarians Frank Murdy, president, C. W. Davis and E. D. Van Tassell, Jr., of the Norwich club; Dixon VanZandt, past president of the Exchange club; Cassius Barstow of South Windham and John Travers of Worcester, Mass. President Arnold spoke of the departure of John C. Tracy who has been a loyal member of the club for over six years. Ex-mayor Tracy, who is leaving next Monday to make his home in California, addressed the members, stating his regret that conditions forced his resignation. The names of 38 members are to appear in the district gold book in recognition of their having been perfect in attendance at meetings for the month of October, or having missed but one meeting during that period. An announcement by Secretary Gerard E. Loiselle was to the effect that all but four of these 38 members were 100 per cent for the month.

A total of 13 claims against the city of Willimantic were heard by the claims committee of the board of aldermen at a hearing in the council chambers Monday night. Aldermen Eugene B. Lewis and Cyril A. Lamoureux of the committee, Corporation Counsel William A. King and Street Superintendent Edwin O. Sumner were present at the session. The committee will file reports on several of these claims at the November council meeting next week.

The claims considered were: Mrs. George Thompson, 248 Walnut street, damages for injury to a relative on Railroad street footbridge, October; Amory R. and Amy P. Brown, 179 Jackson street, rebate of taxes on property owned by the petitioners on Greystone street in October, 1928; Annie F. Storrs of Mansfield, injuries received in a fall on the sidewalk opposite the Hibbard block Main street, February 1, 1929; Hiram G. Williams, injuries from a fall on greasy sidewalk in front of Gulf Refining station on Main street on December 29, 1928; Mrs. Theodosia Allen, 148 Church street, fracture of left wrist in a fall on slippery sidewalk in front of 87 North street, February 23, 1929; Zenherin Coutu, 139 Valley street, flood of cellars of his property at Pearl and Valley streets, during March freshets; George F. Adams of 24 Hewitt street, injuries to his wife in a fall on slippery sidewalk at corner of Jackson and Prospect streets, March 3, 1929, in which Mrs. Adams sustained a fracture of the arm; Mrs. Grace L. Sadd and H. F. Sypher, both of Jackson street, damages to property and furniture at their homes last spring when sewerage backed into their homes. Mr. Sypher had a bill of $100 and Mrs. Sadd a bill of $88.76; George Morin, Sr., 54 Hewitt street, damages to his automobile August 1, 1929, during heavy rain when his car was partly submerged in water under railroad bridge at foot of Jillson hill; Max Linovsky of Springfield, Mass., alleging damage to mechanism of his car to extent of $13.75, September 8, by bolt of iron on Main street; Ben Prague, 734 Main street, damage to his automobile, October 9, 1929, when window was smashed by stone hurled by a passing car; Nathan Hale hotel, through Manager Charles E. Mavo, seeking reduction on city water bill against hotel from January 1, to April 1, 1929, the bill of $306.40 being considered excessive in comparison to other quarterly bills.

Two petitioners who had filed claims but weren ot represented at the hearing were Mrs. Ella M. Mitchell of Bridgeport, bill for the storage of sand on her land on Watson street at the rate of $20 a month for two months to June 1, 1929; and V. R. Skoglund of Brooklyn, N. Y., a bill of $3.75 for having automobile towed out of soft ground on upper Bolivia street on October 2.

FUNERALS

Isaac N. Turner

Services for Isaac N. Turner were held at 62 North street at 10 o'clock this morning with Rev. Harold H. Critchlow of the Methodist church officiating. The establishment of a ground school in aviation during the winter months is being considered by General Secretary Albert B. Smith of the Y. M. C. A., who was in conference on the matter this week with Clark E. Withers, New England manager of the Curtiss Flying service. Similar schools, giving a course in all features of aviation prior to actual flight, are being conducted in several cities in New England.

CUNNINGHAM NOT TO BE CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 5—T. Frank Cunningham, considered by many as one of the "best bets" for the democratic nomination for mayor in the city elections, December 2, today officially stated that he would not throw his hat into the ring. Mr. Cunningham, who came within a meager seven votes of defeating ex-Mayor John C. Tracy for the mayorality four years ago stated that the pressure of business forbade his accepting the nomination in the event that he received it at the caucus next Friday night. Chairman George W. Hickey of the democratic city committee said today that progress was being made in the selection of a candidate, however, although he was unable as yet to report definitely. A somewhat similar condition exists in the republican ranks, a statement being made today by Chairman Nelson A. Daniels of the republican committee that while a number of well known members of the party were under consideration the final choice remained to be made. Constable John T. Meikle came forth with an announcement today that he would seek the nomination at the democratic caucus for city sheriff.

OBITUARY

Mike Wilke

Mike Wilke, 51, a native of Russian-Poland, died at his home in the Hop River district of the town of Columbia Monday afternoon after a long illness. He had resided in this country for 20 years and at Hop River for the past 14 years. He leaves, besides his wife, seven children, four sons, Henry, Michael, John and Donald Wilke and three daughters, Mary, Annie and Sophie Wilke, and a sister, Mrs. Tessie Clemock, of Colchester.

The organization of the Hebron Community band with A. E. Lyman of Columbia as instructor was perfected at a meeting of 40 Hebron young men held in the town hall there Monday evening. The officers of the band are: Clarence P. Rathbun, president; Frank Rathbun, vice president; Howard Porter, secretary; Clarence Porter, treasurer.

Donation day will be observed at St. Joseph's hospital Wednesday from 9 a. m. to 6 o'clock in the evening. Members of the auxiliary will receive donations of cash, fruits, vegetables and all other articles of hospital use at the Nurses' home. This annual event has always met with generous response by the public.

The Tri-Functional Telephone council of this city held a Halloween masquerade at the hall of the Catholic Daughters of America Monday evening with an attendance of about 100. The event, which was a delightful one, was in charge of a committee composed of: Yetta Chasen, chairman; Frances Foley, Catherine Sugrue, Andrew J. Carey, Rufus Ives and John Lucy. A business meeting following the masquerade was in charge of Miss Claire Foley, president.

Nearly 200 applications from men and women seeking to be made voters for the city election, December 2, were received by the registrars at a session held in the town buildings today. The applicants who qualify will be made voters at a session of the selectmen, town clerk and registrars Saturday, November 16.

Rustproof steel is easily welded by the acetylene-oxygen process and is even more rustproof after welding than before due to loss of carbon, silicon and manganese during melting. These findings by W. Hoffman, German metallurgist, have been announced by the national advisory committee for aeronautics in Washington. The physical characteristics of rust-proof steel welds are better than those of soft steel welds but the hardness of the metal due to welding must be removed by heat treatment. The rustproof steels most used contain large percentages of chromium or chromium and nickel.

ELOQUENT PAULIST FATHERS GIVING ST. EDWARD'S MISSION

The mission which is being conducted by two Paulist fathers at St. Edward's church is being largely attended. The inspiring sermons and helpful instructions are attended not only by parishioners but are attracting many people who are not members of the parish.

Firm Goes Under

S. Katzowitz & company, Inc., who have conducted a clothing store on Main street for several years are in financial difficulties. An assignment has been made to Samuel Weider of 752 Broadway, New York, for the benefit of creditors and the store has been closed. The business was conducted for several years by Samuel Katzowitz and Himie Kuslansky. Later a corporation was organized under the name of S. Katzowitz & company doing business in clothing, shoes and men's furnishings. Several months ago Mr. Katzowitz withdrew from the firm and since then the store has been in charge of Himie Kuslansky. Collections have been slow and for some time the company has been unable to meet its obligations.

BUSH HILL ROAD TO REMAIN A TOWN HIGHWAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 5—The one-mile stretch of the Bush hill road, leading from the Warner district of the town of Windham to the Lebanon town line, will remain a town highway pursuant to a vote of a special town meeting held tonight. The road was voted closed at the annual town meeting held last month, the special meeting being called to rescind this vote. When Moderator Charles B. Pomeroy called the meeting to order, a motion to take no action was made by John M. Bransfield, but was defeated. A motion to rescind the previous vote was introduced by Attorney John B. Harvey and carried almost unanimously. In explanation of the reason for inserting of a clause to close the road in the warning of the annual meeting, Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton read a letter from Andrew F. Gates, of Hartford. Attorney Gates, who is an extensive property owner along the road, owns the only house on the stretch, the letter stating that the house is now vacant. He recommended the abandonment of the road as an economic step. Speaking in favor of the motion to rescind the previous vote, Arthur F. Arnold said that he formerly occupied the Gates house and that the thoroughfare was used considerably as an outlet to South Windham and Lebanon. He told of its use by lumber dealers and lovers of scenery. George D. Wells said that the closing of the road would inflict a financial loss on him in hauling large quantities of lumber of adjoining land to the South Windham station. The meeting was attended by about 50 persons, most of them residents of the Warner district.

COLCHESTER

GOLDEN RULE SOCIETY TO BEGIN ITS SEASON

The Golden Rule Junior Missionary society is to have its first work and social meeting of the winter season this (Wednesday) afternoon at the home of its leader, Mrs. H. H. Tompkins. As the result of their last year's work, a large box of books, games, crayons, clothes, toys, etc., was sent to the Udivil girls' school in Ceylon. A similar program is to be carried out for the coming months.

Supt. Louis R. Chapman, of the local state highway repair division, had his men at work Tuesday, repairing the surface of the roadway through the village Main street.

George N. Lyman was a week end visitor with friends in Hartford.

Drove Blindfolded

A large crowd was in attendance Monday afternoon when Prince Sigmund, the far-famed mind-reader and hypnotist, drove a new Graham-Paige car loaned by Chapman's garage through the village streets with his eyes blindfolded. In the evening, he hypnotized a young lady in the window of the E. R. Holmes store and an hour later awakened her on the stage of the local theatre. A large crowd filled the theatre to witness his feats of mystery.

Roy Sanford, of Rockville and East Hampton, called on friends here, Tuesday.

Lloyd W. Brown and John W. Goodrich went coon hunting on the outskirts of the village Monday evening.

A family doctor's laxative is the sensible choice!

YOUR health is too important! You can't afford experiments with your delicate bowels when a coated tongue, bad breath, gas, headaches, nausea, feverishness, biliousness, lack of appetite, and no energy, warn of constipation. This applies not only to grown people; it is particularly the case where young children are concerned.

That's why a family doctor's laxative is always the safe choice! Only a doctor knows just what will cleanse the system of men, women or children without harm.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is prepared today under strict supervision from freshest herbs and other pure ingredients, and exactly according to Dr. Caldwell's original prescription.

He was a family doctor for more than forty-seven years. He specialized in the disorders of the digestive tract. He tested this prescription in thousands of cases. Men liked its quick and thorough action; the children liked its pleasant taste; old people praised it because it never gripes.

Today, millions of families rely on Dr. Caldwell's judgment in the selection of their laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is now sold in all drug stores. It is the world's largest selling laxative.

QUALITY so fine that half the world doesn't realize that Buick is priced so low!

It is an impressive fact that men and women are buying from two to five times as many new Buicks as any other car priced above $1200.

Moreover, during August and September, Buick monopolized its market to such a degree that it won 41% of the total sales of the 15 makes of cars in its price class.

And yet this marked preference for Buick would be still greater if all motorists realized that they can obtain this magnificent new Buick at such remarkably low prices.

Six of the fourteen luxurious Buick body types may be purchased for less than $1300, f. o. b. factory—simply because of the manufacturing economies resulting from Buick's tremendous sales leadership in the fine car field.

Certainly, only Buick volume production could make possible prices so low. For these are Buicks through and through—built with the finish and precision for which Buick is world-famous—and endowed with the full array of Buick quality features.

Here are Buick's new and surpassingly beautiful Bodies by Fisher. Here is the masterly Buick Valve-in-Head engine—most powerful engine of its size in the world. Here are Buick's new Controlled Servo Enclosed Mechanical Brakes—the new Buick steering gear—new Road Shock Eliminator—and Buick's new, longer rear springs with Lovejoy Duodraulic Shock Absorbers. Here are all of the features which have enabled Buick to win the greatest measure of public preference attained by any automobile in any price class.

The new Buick, with these features, will introduce you to new and unequaled performance, driving ease, riding comfort and reliability on any day you put it to the test. And yet six Buick models are offered at the price of cars which motorists never think of comparing with Buick!

Visit our showroom. Bring your present car. Learn how easily you can obtain one of these new Buicks. All are available on the extremely liberal General Motors Time Payment Plan.

In addition to these lower priced models, Buick offers eight other distinguished body types, representing the ultimate in luxury, and priced from $1465 to $1995, f. o. b. factory.

S. H. ROBBINS DIES FROM SELF-INFLICTED RAZOR SLASH

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Nov. 5—Charles H. Robbins, aged resident of the Westminster section in the town of Canterbury, died today at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam from a self-inflicted wound, the second suicide in eastern Windham county within 48 hours.

Mr. Robbins, 77 years of age, became ill on the farm place where he lived with his wife in Canterbury during Sunday night. It is rather an isolated section, and the home without telephone service. Mrs. Robbins kept vigil over her husband during the long hours of the night and at break of day set forth across the fields to a neighbor's home to summon a physician by telephone. Her call was to a Danielson physician, Dr. W. A. Tanner. Having completed this mission, Mrs. Robbins returned to her home and to the horrifying discovery that during her absence her husband had slashed his throat with a razor and was in imminent danger of death. Upon his arrival at the home, Dr. Tanner ordered Mr. Robbins removed to the hospital, and the ambulance of the institution was summoned. Mr. Robbins lingered until this morning, when he passed away. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker L. E. Kennedy and removed to his funeral home here.

Mr. Robbins rash act in slashing his throat was unforecast. Though a man well along in years, he appeared normal mentally. He was a native of the town of Plainfield and had spent his life in or near that territory. He is recalled by the older residents of Danielson as the man who, a number of years ago, hauled cord wood here, his team drawn by a yoke of oxen led by a horse.

FUNERAL
Eucher Prairie

This morning the funeral of Eucher Prairie was held from the home in Wauregan with funeral services at the Sacred Heart church in that place at 9 o'clock, Rev. J. H. Quinn, the pastor, and Rev. J. C. Mathieu of North Grosvenordale, for years pastor in Wauregan and Rev. Philip Masicote, pastor of All Hallows church at Moosup, were the officers of the solemn high mass of requiem. Many relatives and friends attended the services of Mr. Prairie, who for years was a sexton of the parish. Burial was in the Sacred Heart cemetery, where the committal service was conducted by Rev. Fr. Quinn and Rev. Fr. Mathieu. The bearers were Arthur Pellerin, E. Pellerin, Alexander Darby, Peter Baillard, Lionel Brodeur and Lionel Tetreault. L. E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

The 100th anniversary of the Ladies' Benevolent society of the Westfield Congregational church of Danielson is to be observed at the monthly Church Family night at the church Thursday evening of this week. It is to be made an occasion of special interest and appeal to all interested in the activities of the church. At 6:30 a supper is to be served in the vestry. At 7:15 there is to be a period during which there will be games for boys and girls and a social period for the adults. An assembly period in the vestry is to open at 7:45. At 8 o'clock the formal program of the evening will be inaugurated with consideration of the "Comprehensive Program," and followed by reports by young people on the summer conference at Storrs. The 100th birthday party of the Ladies' Benevolent society will be in charge of Miss Marion D. Collard and will include a look at the past, the present and the future. At 9:00 there will be a period for family worship, led by the pastor, Rev. Harding W. Gaylord.

Commenting on the anniversary to be observed Rev. Mr. Gaylord says: "For this impressive period of time our church has had a group of women banded together to work for its interests and for the wider enterprises of our denomination. And when I say 'work' that is just what I mean. These women have, indeed, met for sociability, but they have not confined their efforts to consuming tea and wafers and making use of the gift of speech. They have filled boxes and barrels and sent them to places and persons in need. They have made and solicited food and sold it, and thus have secured money for the church. They have fashioned aprons and worked fancy articles. They have 'tacked' quilts. They have served toothsome suppers in number as the sands of the sea, and appetite-destroying dinners in great multitudes. Their religion, you see, has got down into their hands and feet. When I say that the women of the Ladies' Benevolent society have worked, I speak advisedly and deliberately, and I speak truly."

"On their 100th anniversary I wish to express my appreciation of their practical accomplishments and of their fine spirit of loyalty to our church. And along with this feeling goes the wish to our women for continued and enlarging usefulness and prosperity as the increasing years bring their new tasks and their new opportunities for service."

Elmer Rice, the young man who ran down and seriously injured Russell Chapin Halloween eve, came into the town court this morning and pleaded guilty before Judge W. Fenner Woodward to operating an unregistered motor vehicle. Judge Woodward fined him $25 and costs, remitted the fine and placed him on probation for a period of four months. Prior to going into court Rice signed a confession in which he admits that there were no markers on the car at the time the machine he was driving ran down the Chapin boy. This is in line with the contention of Ray W. Pellett, owner of the car, and of Nathan Blumenthal, who loaned markers to Rice to use on the car, that there could have been no markers on the machine at the time of the accident, which happened between 8:35 and 8:40 last Thursday night. Rice did not get the markers from Blumenthal until 9:25, nearly an hour after the accident.

With the opening of December the general offices of the Quinebaug company and the Wauregan company, located in Providence these many years, will be removed from that city to Danielson. For months past remodelling and re-equipping operations have been underway to make what is known as the Quinebaug store building on the West Side ready for occupancy by the office forces. The Quinebaug company ceased doing a general store business about two years ago, and the large three-story building since has been idle. However, the changes that have been made will make close to an ideal general office building for the interested and allied mill companies. The offices are on the second floor. They are nicely and conveniently appointed. New heating and lighting systems have been installed and various other things for the comfort of the forces to be employed there and to expedite business.

This morning Henry Derosier was before Judge W. Fenner Woodward in the town court to answer to a charge of operating an unregistered automobile. He was fined $5 and costs, a total of $15.50. He was ordered into court by state officers making a checkup at the week end for defective equipment and inadequate lighting systems on cars being operated through this territory.

Two dogs that went on a rampage and killed $60 worth of rabbits, according to the claim, are being sought in Danielson. The rabbits were killed at a home on East Franklin street, where breeding of rabbits is made a source of income. The dogs are said to have made their way into the coops and to have slain the rabbits without mercy, merely with a lust to kill.

The church-school workers of the churches included in the Danielson Federation of Churches are to meet in the Baptist church Friday evening, and, following a supper period, will take up a program having as its subject Training in Worship.

Squirrels in numbers apparently are making ready to spend the winter in residential sections of Danielson, and are to be seen daily in thickly populated sections, unmindful of people or traffic.

Girl wanted for stenography and accounting. Dec. 1, in general offices of Quinebaug Co., Danielson. Apply to J. Arthur Atwood, treasurer. Box 1425, Providence, R. I.—Adv.

Last evening at the high school building members of the faculty arranged a shower and informal dinner in honor of Miss Priscilla Brooks, teacher of history and girls' athletic director, whose engagement to J. A. Brandenburg, captain of the Yale track team last year has been announced. Mr. Brandenburg is at present in Danielson.

Today a meeting of the stockholders of Powdrell and Alexander, operating six mills in this town, was held in Boston, one of the principal matters coming before them being ratification of the plan approved by the directors for splitting up the stock of the company on a basis previously announced.

Miss Grace Martin has returned from a visit with friends in Springfield.

Morin lodge, refitted as a dormitory for a group of employes in the offices of Powdrell and Alexander here, was formally opened last night with a dinner and other features.

More decorations for Armistice day were put up today, and the display is destined to grow throughout the week.

HOPKINTON, R. I.

The Ladies' Aid society, connected with the First Hopkinton Baptist church, served a roast chicken supper at the parish house in Hopkinton City last week Wednesday evening which was very well patronized.

Mrs. Harriet Pashley and daughter, Miss Lucille Pashley, moved from the Cundall house on High street, Ashaway, which they have occupied for many years, to the house formerly occupied by Charles I. Blake and Sarah F. B. Hood on the corner of High street and Maple avenue.

The young people of the First Baptist and Second S. D. B. churches at Hopkinton City are conducting interesting Sunday evening services.

A number from this town attended the lectures of Miss Fannie Hamilton in the town hall, Westerly, and received many practical suggestions in cooking and household management.

Mrs. Steadman, of Westerly, called on her sister, Mrs. Alonzo P. Kenyon, Saturday.

Charles F. Berry and others, of Westerly, called at the home of Mrs. Harriet Pashley, Sunday.

The young people and children observed halloween night with the usual costumes and pranks, but no serious damage has been reported.

More than 13,000 species of birds have been classified and more than 1,400 species are found in the United States and Alaska alone.

PUTNAM

ARMISTICE DAY PLANS HAVE BEEN COMPLETED

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, Nov. 5.—At a final meeting of the general committee in charge of the Armistice day observance, held last evening in the chamber of commerce rooms on Main street, plans for the annual celebration in commemoration of the end of the World war were completed. A very fitting program of events has been planned, the feature of the day's observance being a parade which will form at the Soldiers' monument on Grove street at 10 o'clock. Major A. D. McIntyre, U. S. A., retired, will be marshal of the parade assisted by Commander E. J. Durand of the A. J. Breault post, of V. F. W., and Joseph Flagg, who will act as aides.

The line of march will be from Grove to South Main, to Front, to Main to Providence to Marshall streets; to Woodstock avenue to Church to Pomfret streets, across the memorial bridge to Union square, where the marching bodies will disband. Exercises will take place in Union square. The balcony of the Putnam inn will serve as a platform for the speakers.

Harvey Grinsell of Providence street, chairman of the general committee announced the formation of the parade this morning which will be as follows: Platoon of police, marshal and aides, Albert J. Breault Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, druum corps, Headquarters company of the 43rd Division, National Guard, commanded by Captain John J. McGarry. A. Wilder Merriam Post, United Spanish War Veterans, Albert J. Breault Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars, Anslem Mayotte Post of American Legion, ex-service men, Garde Foch drill team, St. Mary's Boy Scout band, St. Mary's troops of Boy Scouts, school children, automobiles carrying disabled World War veterans, the eight surviving members of the A. G. Warner post, Grand Army of the Republic, town and city officials and speakers.

Mayor Charles A. Richard will deliver an address of welcome and will act as master of ceremonies, introducing the various speakers. Rev. S. A. Icick, pastor of St. Joseph's church, Norwich, well known public speaker and clergyman, will be the speaker of the day.

As the townspeople in town meeting last month voted down a clause to provide the general committee with an extra appropriation to be expended on the Armistice day celebration, the luncheon and banquet for ex-soldiers, which in past years proved to be one of the outstanding events on the program, will be eliminated in the 1929 observance. A football game between the professional Belding Bulldog team and a Worcester professional gridiron organization will take place in the afternoon. The Armistice day festivities will draw to a close with a brilliant military dance to be held in the evening at the state armory on Harris street. The final event of the day will be given under the direction of the local national guard units.

The people of Putnam and vicinity are invited to the Congregational church next Sunday evening to listen to an address by James T. Nicholson, assistant manager of the eastern area of the National Red Cross movement. Mr. Nicholson during his service with the Red Cross has taken part in the relief work of many catastrophes which have occurred in this country since the war. He is well known in the east for his leadership in work for under-privileged boys and is nationally known in connection with social work which began in New York. Mr. Nicholson will appear on the Friendly evening service program at the Congregational church Sunday evening, November 10.

Members of the Putnam Teachers' club will hold a banquet Tuesday at the Vernon Stiles inn in Thompson. This gathering of the educational staff of the town will be the first of a series to be held during the academic year, the purpose of which is to bring the teachers together socially. Supt. of Schools Farrin said this morning that about 35 of the club members will attend. The entertainment committee has arranged to furnish a delightful period of diversion following the banquet. The committee in charge of the affair consists of Miss Jessie S. Mitchell of the Israel Putnam schools, Miss Mary J. Millard of the Sawyer district school, Miss Marjorie McGillicuddy of Putnam high school and Miss Ella I. Ballard of Smith street school.

Mrs. Jane E. Lewis of Thompson, an aged resident of that town died this morning at her home following a prolonged illness. She was 79 years of age. Mrs. Lewis was born in Thompson and with the exception of a few years, resided there practically all of her life. She was a member of the East Thompson Baptist church and was until recently active in church affairs. She is survived by two brothers, Marcus Lewis, of Railroad street this city, a Civil war veteran, and James Lewis of Pawtucket.

Clayton Hurlburt of Proctor Academy, N. H., has been spending a few days at the home of his parents on Woodstock avenue.

The annual convention of the New England association of school superintendents will be held in Boston Thursday and Friday, Nov. 7 and 8. Supt. of Schools L. F. Farrin of this city and other school officials from towns surrounding Putnam will attend in a body.

MANSFIELD CENTER

MATTER OF SCHOOLHOUSE STILL NOT DECIDED

Mansfield's school question is not yet settled in spite of the vote taken at the town meeting last week to appropriate $25,000 to be added to an equal sum from the state, to erect a schoolhouse at Storrs. Upon a petition of the minority another town meeting to reconsider the matter has been called to be held at the armory at Storrs Saturday at 10.30.

The Ladies' Aid society will meet with Mrs. Paul Benson Thursday afternoon.

The annual meeting of the Mansfield Center branch of the Hartford chapter of the American Red Cross was held at the library Tuesday evening.

The Ladies' Aid and Women's church guild held a well attended and financially successful harvest supper at the Congregational church last week.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorne Jones attended the state Congregational convention at Ansonia, leaving here Monday afternoon.

Mrs. G. H. Wyman will be in charge at Mansfield library Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5.

The auxiliary to Earl W. Green post, American Legion, has elected these officers: President, Madeline James; first vice president, Elizabeth King; second, Marguerite Hickey; secretary, Grace Homer; treasurer, Alma Barrows; sergeant at arms, Augusta Edwards; historian, Helen Macfarland; chaplain, Emily Linderson. Mrs. Macfarlane has also been installed as state vice president and district superintendent and Mrs. Walter Hickey as district secretary.

Cornell plant specialists warn that roses should be covered as much from winter sun as from cold, because a marked drop in temperature of the tissues in the stem is detrimental.

JEWETT CITY

READ-HERSKELL ASS'N. ELECTS A NEW TRUSTEE

At a meeting of the Read-Herskell Cemetery association held Monday, William R. Palmer was elected trustee for three years and Harry L. Hull clerk and treasurer. The board of directors now stands: H. L. Hull, J. H. Tracy and W. R. Palmer. As the result of a vote taken Monday, the cemetery entrance is to have new iron gates. The association has a working fund of $1,400. The beneficial results of maintaining an active organization of this kind are seen in an orderly and well kept yard.

Not many years ago, with the whole ground showing evidence of neglect, its leaning stones, grass grown graves and falling walls, were taken into consideration by the late George A. Herskell. Today, few country cemeteries will be found where those who come to visit the graves of relatives, may note such marked evidence of perpetual care.

REV. ALBERT CLEMENT PATIENT AT HOSPITAL

Rev. Albert Clement, who lives at the Malek hotel, was found to have fallen in his room Monday morning. Mr. Remick is looking after Mr. Clement who is 85, during the absence of his son, F. H. P. Clement, former superintendent of the schools of Griswold. Under Mr. Remick's direction the aged pastor was taken to the Backus hospital, Norwich. Deacon Daniel L. Phillips and Mrs. Arthur M. Brown were at the hospital Tuesday morning. The patient was found to be in fine spirits, with no unfavorable results following what was evidently nothing more serious than an accidental fall. It is probable his many local friends may see him home again later this week.

Guests Came In Costume

Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Caron gave a halloween party Saturday evening, entertaining seventeen, all in costume. Prizes were given for the funniest looking getup and Mrs. Allen House received the woman's and William Perry the man's prize. Games were played and there were three tables of whist at which Mrs. House and Alex DesJardines, Mrs. Perry and Mr. Caron got the awards. The house was elaborately decorated with halloween festoons, pumpkin moonshines, owls, black cats and witches. Mrs. Caron, assisted by Mrs. Perry, served refreshments. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Alex DesJardines and daughter Marian, Mr. and Mrs. Allen House, Mr. and Mrs. William Perry and son LeRoy, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sheehan, Florence Bliven and Glen Bishop.

REV. FATHER SCULLY ON VISIT FROM SARATOGA

Rev. Patrick F. Scully, pastor of St. Peter's parish in Saratoga, N. Y., is visiting Rev. John J. McCabe, pastor of St. Mary's. Father Scully was for many years a resident of Jewett City and his home was in the family of the late Timothy Driscoll. The Reverend Father has a large number of boyhood friends here, who will be delighted to meet him.

Not much short of 50 years ago Evie Hiscox and Patsey Scully sat together in the same form when they went to school in No. 6, on the upper floor of what is now the town building. The late E. M. Swift was the principal, and these two lads offered a discipline problem that was sure one man's job.

At a meeting of the Knights of Columbus Monday evening the following committee was appointed to arrange for and manage the annual local show: James Morey, John Tracy, Ed. Dudkowski, William (Terry) McGovern.

MASS OF THANKSGIVING FOR GOLDEN WEDDING

Monday morning at 7:30 o'clock, a high mass was celebrated at St. Mary's church by Rev. John J. McCabe for Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Lucier in honor of their golden anniversary. Following the ceremony lunch was served at their home by their daughter, Miss Emma Lucier, assisted by Mrs. H. Baliou and Mrs. Samuel Marsan. Guests were present from Baltic, Occum, Providence and Jewett City. Many pieces of gold were received by the bride and groom of 50 years ago who were much pleased with the visit of their 20 grandchildren.

Shower For Stella Dobrowolsky

At the home of Mrs. Frank Nugro, a shower was given for Miss Stella Dobrowolsky, to become the bride of Stephen Golas. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Nugro, Stella Golas, Minnie Grobolski and Frances Kolbus. Games were played. Guests present from Norwich were: Mrs. Louis Pingulore and Mrs. Frank Rita; from Westerly, Miss Theo Halland, Margarette and Ann Spellman and Mrs. Blivan; from Jewett City were Stasska Grobolski, Stella Golas, Bertha Dobrowolski, Bessie Dobrowolsky, Mary and Ann Machonicki, Nellie and Grace Burda, Josephine Glivenski, Minnie Grobolski, Mary Tenzer, Frances Kolbus, Julia and Alice Dombkowski, Gertrude Kasper, Mary and Sophie Zajance, Lucy Benzik, Stella Grabolski, Diana Bellie, Pauline Patur, Stella Rudyk, Isabelle Doctrine, Wander and Mary Senlinsky, Helen Bush, Alice Bullion, Helen Wojtcun, Anita Withkowski, Mrs. Teofil Pliska, Mrs. Bill Grobofski, Mrs. Nugro, Anna Ruzenas, Mrs. Alex Golas, Mrs. George Osga, Mrs. Anna Golas, Mrs. C. Dobrowolsky, Angeline Marinello, Viola Frida, Helen Vozniak, Mary Campbell and Julia Karpiuck.

A tap dance was done by Bertha Dobrowolsky and Stella Golas, Mary Macknicki was hypnotized by Frances Kollens as one feature of the evening.

GURDON TRACY, OF YANTIC, GOING TO SOLDIERS' HOME

Gurdon Tracy, who has been making his home in Yantic the past year and was employed in Fitchville, has been visiting his sister, Miss Mary Tracy. Mr. Tracy was a veteran of the Spanish war and this week will go to the soldiers' home at Noroton.

Miss Emma Greenhalgh has returned home after several weeks' stay in Moosup at the home of Miss Belle Cray.

Mrs. Everett Dawson has returned from a week's stay with her parents in Pawtucket, R. I.

Committee Chairmen

The vice president of the Ladies' Aid society, Mrs. Stuart Ellsworth, has appointed the following chairmen of the committees to arrange for the annual Congregational church bazaar: Apron booth, Mrs. Edwin Kennedy, and Miss Lucy Broadhead; five and ten cent booth, Mrs. L. Howard Cross and Mrs. James L. Gardner; gift booth, Mrs. Willis Rouse; card and flower booth, Mrs. Levi Baker; sweet shop, Mrs. George Loring; mystery packages, Mrs. Homer Dean; entertainment, Miss Ruth Potvin; supper, Mrs. Edward Cutler.

Mrs. Albert Brome of Danielson has been the guest of her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Faucher.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harrington and son, Esec Smith, of Manton, R. I., were guests Sunday of friends here where they formerly lived for several years.

At a meeting of the King's Daughters Monday afternoon at the church, a quilt was tied. It was pieced by members. Supper followed.

Elaine Wood, of Danielson, was a visitor with he rrelatives, Dr. and Mrs. James L. Gardner Monday.

Mrs. Fred Brewster, Mrs. Michael Conneally, Mrs. Amedee Bourque, Mrs. Edward Bourque, Mrs. Charles Barber, Mrs. Frank H. Tillinghast, Priscilla Ellsworth, Miss Mary Tracy and Mrs. Ida Pegrune were in Moosup to attend the concert given by the Jubilee Singers of Boston.

Mrs. Alfred Hill is ill.

PURE SEED

It is only a fair proposition that those who buy seed should have a reasonable assurance that what they are purchasing measures up to a standard of purity. They place dependence upon the quality of the seed to produce future crops. If the seed is no good their loss is a heavy one. If it is partly good and partly bad their loss is reduced, but they nevertheless do not get what their money called for. Other conditions than the purity of the seed may be at fault at times, but that doesn't overcome the fact that good seed should be what is claimed for it.

According to notification which has been given by the state department of agriculture, Connecticut now has in operation an agricultural seed law, a law dealing with grasses and grains for the most part and which requires that such seed shall be inspected and certified and that the label placed thereon shall contain complete information relative to the contents of the package. This means that there must be disclosed the common name, the per cent of purity, the per cent of weed seeds, the amount of noxious weed seed in each ounce, the per cent of germination and the date of the test, along with the name and address of the seller.

Those who buy seed and those who sell seed will of necessity be interested in this attempt to protect the buyer. We can imagine a vociferous chorus declaring it is time, and it is to be hoped that the expectations will be no greater than the realization.

Pure seeds are in accord with a square deal. If there are those who make a point of giving the real thing there should certainly be an advantage in their favor over those who put out anything in the way of a mixture of weed and grain seed and indicate that it is first-class seed. The effort in behalf of pure seeds is in keeping with the step long since taken in behalf of pure foods and drugs, and there should be the heartiest cooperation on the part of the seed sellers to conform to the requirements. It is for their interest to do so. Only those who have been making a business of bad seed have anything to worry about.

Naturally the farmers are going to get all the advantage that can be expected from tested and approved seed.

STUDYING THE AIR MAIL

When the air mail service was started there was doubt as to whether it would be a paying proposition. It was desired, nevertheless, to give encouragement to such service and to speed up the movement of mail matter.

The air mail service has undergone much expansion. It has been used more and more each year and reaches now to all corners of the country and makes it possible for much faster delivery of important letters to be obtained. This service is of course duly appreciated by those sending and receiving mail, but it is to be realized that it is a service that is being rendered at a much larger expense to the government than those using it pay in postage.

It is this difference that the government has been making up for the purpose of encouraging the service, but it is that difference which it now believes can be whittled down, and it is with that purpose in mind that plans are being made to effect a saving of about $3,000,000 next year. This will mean the cutting in two of the excess for that service, now figuring in the postoffice department's deficit.

This doesn't mean that the government is changing its policy in doing its part to promote commercial aviation, but rather is it a move to get the whole air mail service down to a better business basis. It is quite as desirable that this branch of the service should be self-sustaining quite the same as others. The belief prevails that there can be a reduction in the cost to the transporting companies. These companies share that belief to a certain degree and it is believed that, through the cooperation that can be expected to develop, reduced payments by the government will be balanced by increased business which the air carriers will handle.

This is, of course, not the only opportunity that exists in the postoffice department for reducing annual deficits. Service is rendered in other directions for which the government is not fully compensated but the expectation is that the study being made will result in an improvement. The burdens which the department has to carry and for which it is not responsible ought not to be overlooked.

PACKED BY THE COALITION

Packing the committee was one thing to which objection was made by Senator Bingham in connection with the recent investigation. He was able to point out that it was not made up in accordance with the customary practice. The committee, when proposed, was to be named by the vice-president. Then action was taken that turned the matter over to the judiciary committee and Chairman Norris was responsible for the picking of four anti-administration members and one who votes most often with the administration. It was so contrary to the general practice that it invited criticism. It was apparently done for the purpose of putting the coalition in control of the situation, and that was apparently the purpose also of sending it to the judiciary committee.

This same sort of a move is now being brought to attention in the resolution that has been presented by Senator Nye, asking for an investigation of speculation on stock exchanges. Instead of providing that the vice-president shall name a committee, to be made up under general practice with the majority party in control but with full minority representation, the resolution itself indicates by titles four of the committee members that shall be named, leaving the vice-president to select but one. This selection by the senator presenting the resolution takes care that the committee members are packed in the same way that the Bingham committee was constituted, with the coalition in control four to one, the one being the member which the vice-president will be permitted to name and he will presumably be the one regular republican to be named thereon.

This is not in accord with the rules of the senate, but it is action which is being put through, nevertheless, by those who have demonstrated that they are in control of the senate and propose to carry out their desires. Some time ago it was hinted that any senate conferences that might confer with house representatives would be chosen in such a manner instead of by the usual practice of being named by the presiding officer of the senate under fixed rules. What that may result in is not clear at this time but it is characteristic of the tactics that have been employed during much of the special session and particularly in connection with the obstruction of tariff legislation.

NEW YORK'S ELECTION

The outcome of the election in New York city plainly indicates that New York has had what it wanted in the way of city government, that it is satisfied with it and has taken the proper steps to see that it is continued. In spite of all that has been said of the four years of Walkerism, it calls for four years more and the mayor has the right to claim it the best kind of an endorsement of the manner in which he has conducted the city, the methods he has used and his intentions to be completely under the domination of Tammany for the next four years.

Throughout the campaign it was apparent that a divided opposition was not likely to accomplish much. The fusion candidate, Congressman LaGuardia, was not able to command the support of the Walker opposition. Much of it turned to Thomas, the socialist candidate, and yet the figures show that had the opposition been concentrated on one man it would not have been sufficient to have turned the tables.

What might have been the effect of the casting of the complimentary votes for Thomas, inasmuch as it was recognized that he would have no chance to win, can be easily seen had the contest been closer. The LaGuardia, Thomas and Enright vote combined falls far short of the Walker vote, but had LaGuardia come within 150,000 of the Walker vote those non-socialists who voted for Thomas would have been sufficient to have swung the election to the fusion candidate.

The early returns from the election in the big city indicated the trend, but the speed and accuracy with which they were furnished must have convinced the voters of the value of the voting machines.

FEDERAL PRISONS

According to Attorney-General Mitchell, there are conditions in the federal prison system which call for changes. These conditions are overcrowding and lack of work, and the suggestion that he makes is that additional penitentiary facilities be provided and attention be devoted to the employment situation.

When it gets to the point where institutions are overcrowded, where there are more inmates than can be accommodated even by crowding, it is time that thought was given to the obvious remedy, and the suggestion that has been made that this be met by building a new federal prison in the North Atlantic states appears to be a sensible one. That a part of the country which furnishes so much business for the federal penitentiaries should be without a prison makes it apparent that it is in this region that a new prison should be located.

It might be thought that work would be the last thing that would be demanded by the prisoners, or that they would display dissatisfaction because there was no work, but it is of the greatest importance from a mental and physical standpoint that something in the way of employment, something to take up the mind, should be provided. It is for the good of the men themselves that they should be employed. The states give recognition to it in most instances but it is only at Atlanta that federal prisoners are engaged in industrial activity.

It is always obvious that prison conditions over which there is objection can easily be avoided by keeping out of prison. That doesn't, of course, deal with those who have failed to use the ounce of prevention. They must expect something beside a bed of roses, but there is always a limit.

EDITORIAL NOTES

There is always plenty of business at the wailing wall on the morning following elections.

Only those who overdo it by their rowdyism are responsible for the demand that Halloween celebrations be abandoned.

The man on the corner says: If elections could be conceded two weeks in advance, what a lot of campaigning might be saved.

That foreign diplomat who was struck by an auto in Washington probably realizes now that there's no such thing as immunity from auto accidents.

There is always keen rivalry for new government institutions but we haven't heard any clamor for that new federal penitentiary which Attorney-General Mitchell says should be in the north Atlantic states.

CLASHING COLORS

Claire was greatly perplexed. What dress should she wear to the country club party? She turned away from the wardrobe to ask John, her husband, who was struggling with a none too entertaining shirt stud.

"Why don't you wear your blue?" he said finally.

"I'm sick of my blue," Claire said with a pout and smoothed the thick locks of her auburn bob. "I think I'll wear my red."

"Please don't!" John pleaded. "You bought that dress out of spite. With your hair, you should have known better in the first place."

That settled it. Claire slipped the gorgeous red gown over her head and pranced before the long mirror. And she fastened silver loops in her ears to be companions to silver flowers on her shoulder.

Claire lost her huffiness with John as soon as she entered the club's low white doorway. Women—her friends—were circling the dance floor in gay evening clothes and their husbands were slim and handsome in conventional black. Claire straightway became an irresistible young matron. She danced. She flirted. And then, as she danced for the first time that evening with her husband, Claire's good friend, Trudie Everson, whispered that Wilfred Lance, the celebrated portrait painter from the nearby metropolis, was on the country club terrace.

"I told him you had red hair and he wants to meet you," Trudie announced. "He specializes in painting red-haired women, you know."

Claire said, "I'm tired, John. Let's go out doors." And John, his eye on Tom Langard, said he'd meet her after a smoke. Trudie already was on the terrace and introduced Claire to a tall man who arose from the shadowed corner. The painter!

"Isn't the night wonderful," Claire breathed and sunk into a chair, also in shadow, beside him. Soon the others drifted back to the lights. Claire was alone with the great Lance. Perhaps—

Claire brought herself to earth abruptly. Lance had been talking at great length about art, which was vague, but now what was he saying?

"It's such a pity," droned the painter, "that so many women with lovely red hair spoil the effect completely by wearing, oh, the most distressing colors—red, rose, pink. An appalling lack of taste, it seems to me."

Claire was blushing hotly in the darkness. She would have to go home immediately. Not once more would she step upon the dance floor. Then a familiar figure blackened the doorway.

"John," she called faintly, "I want you to meet some one." The men gripped hands.

"You're the artist, aren't you, who paints red-haired women?" John asked. "Well, my wife here," and he gave her a husbandly push which landed her squarely in the flood of light from the doorway, "has red hair, but she insists on wearing red dresses. Pretty, isn't she?" he added.

"Very," said the artist and Claire gave a little audible groan as she thought she fathomed amusement in his voice.

The silence of Claire and John was unbroken on the way home, but in the hallway Claire, with all the fire of her hair reflected in her haste, tore off the dress.

"I'll never wear it again," she stormed. "You spoiled my chances with that artist; he might have wanted to paint me," she ended with a choke.

"What did I do now?" began John, surprised at her outburst. "He acted all right."

"Yes?" sighed Claire. "You shoved me right into the light and Lance hates red clothes on red-haired women. Why didn't you insist on my wearing blue?"—Chicago News.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—In the death of Senator Theodore E. Burton at 77, an elder statesman of the republic has passed on.

Virtually from 1888 until 1929 he was a figure in national political life. Save for a wavering moment when he decided not to run to succeed himself in the senate in 1915, the first popular election of senators, there seems little doubt that he would have served continuously in congress from his first election to the fifty-first congress.

And but for that hesitancy of the distinguished Ohioan to face an election contest in what he believed was earmarked for a democratic year, the political history of the United States well might have been vastly changed.

It was the vacancy his retirement left that brought Warren G. Harding to the senate and ultimately to the white house.

Had there been no Harding to play the role of dark horse compromise candidate at the republican convention in 1920, in all likelihood there would have been no turn to Calvin Coolidge for the vice presidency; no selection of Herbert Hoover to the Harding cabinet of "best brains."

Three Men Up.

What might have happened, save for Burton's discouragement with the political outlook of Ohio back there in what was to prove little more than the halfway mark in his political career, no man can say. But it seems clear that his retirement was the fulcrum of events that led three men to the white house.

Tall, scholarly, dignified in address and bearing, Theodore Burton was a man marked for distinction from the start.

Honors were showered on him by many presidents. There is no parallel in congressional history for his experience in having twice climbed from house to senate. Usually retirement from the political firing line in the face of what seems impending defeat means permanent return to private life. Neither party captains nor voters appear to enjoy re-offering their favor in such circumstances.

That did not hold good with Burton, however, for he withdraw from the senate only to find himself in a few short years back in the house again elevated, if it is political elevation, to the senate.

Not only that, for Burton was a power in the Hoover ranks in Ohio in the primary fight that some keen observers believe marked the turning point in the former commerce secretary's effort to attain the presidency. That Ohio primary victory paved the way to nomination.

A Conference Expert.

Theodore Burton probably was the most experienced American in international conferences at the time of his death. As a member of the executive council of the interparliamentary union, he was known in many capitals of the world and will be mourned.

From his earliest days of political activity, his bent toward promotion of world peace was apparent. And it was an additional bond in these later years between himself and Herbert Hoover.

But for his poor health and advanced age, it seems certain that he would have figured on the American delegation to the new naval conference in London next January.

And to Burton, too, in one sense father of the vast plans now shaping for development of inland waterways, goes credit for the first successful assault on the old time "pork barrel" river and harbor appropriation bill.

It was his lone-handed filibuster in 1915 that led to the first lump-sum measure, now the accepted practice of the government.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

How The Taxpayers Feel About A $50,000 Schoolhouse Near Storrs

Mr. Editor:—I have been asked for the past week why I did not stand for the $50,000 schoolhouse at Storrs. Here is my answer.

The town of Mansfield, in my opinion, has not the means to maintain such a building as a large majority belongs to the working class and the farms today are growing more bushes than money. I have traveled all roads in Mansfield and know what the average farmer's income is and most of them have to work out part of the year to make both ends meet. The farmers in the back roads feel it is asking too much of them as they all have to pay the same tax. We are all ready to build a schoolhouse within the means of each and every taxpayer, for the people in other parts of the town feel it is too much money to put in one end of the town.

I have been told by several people I advocated a 40 mill tax if the schoolhouse was built. This statement was never made by me. It was voted in the past meeting that the town lay a tax of 2 mills for ten years to pay their share of the building which is $25,000 and the state is to pay $25,000. The present tax rate of the town is 21 mills which would make the tax rate for the 1929 list 23 mills, but 23 mills will not pay the expense of the town as it takes 17 mills to carry the schools at present, and with a $25,000 debt any one knows the town can not run on a 4 mill tax. The 2 mills tax voted for in the meeting is just to pay for the building, with nothing mentioned for the upkeep, including janitor and other expenses.

I believe it is right to let the taxpayers know what is ahead of them and if they vote for this $50,000 school they must expect to meet the bills and lay a tax to cover the expenses. With a 23 mill tax it can not be done.

To carry the town on a level it will take at least a 27 or 28 mill tax if not more, and if the tax payers don't know it now they will next March when the town fixes the rate for 1929.

If the schoolhouse and the tax rate were explained to the voters they would have felt differ ent, instead of asking them to vote on something they knew nothing about. The taxpayers feel the only way to vote is by ballot and, win or lose, it makes no hard feeling among friends. Every man has a right to vote which way he thinks is right.

It was stated in the meeting that if the town of Mansfield did not accept the $25,000 from the state, the state would build a $40,000 or $50,000 schoolhouse and make the town pay the complete cost. This is not so for the townspeople are willing to build a suitable building to accommodate the children and not spend $50,000. No other part of the town has a building like this.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

Crafty Reddy Fox.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Some things most difficult to gain,
By craft and guile we may obtain.
—Reddy Fox.

Reddy Fox had discovered Peter Rabbit in a bramble tangle in the Old Pasture and he knew that Peter had not discovered him. Those sharp eyes of Reddy's told him the instant he looked at Peter that something was wrong with him. Remembering the bang of the terrible gun which he had heard some time before, Reddy suspected that Peter had been hurt by that terrible gun.

"He looks sick" thought Reddy. "Yes, sir, he looks sick. I guess at last my chance has come to catch Peter Rabbit. He has been smart enough to keep away from my teeth for a long time, but it looks as if my chance has come now. If Peter was hit by that terrible gun, he isn't likely to be quite himself for some time, even thought he is not badly hurt. I'll just make myself comfortable and watch."

So Reddy lay down behind a thick bush, through which he could peek and keep an eye on Peter Rabbit. For a long time Peter didn't move. At last he did move and Reddy was quick to see that Peter limped. "Aha!" thought Reddy. "There is something wrong with that left front leg. If Peter can run on only three legs he'll be mine. Yes, sir, he'll be mine the minute he gets outside that bramble tangle."

Now, Reddy Fox is nothing if not patient. He has patience without end. If there is something worth waiting for, Reddy can wait a very long time. He felt that there was something worth waiting for now and so he settled himself for a long watchful wait. Nothing happened. Peter had settled down again and looked to be half asleep. But Reddy was smart enough to know that it was because he felt so miserable that Peter seemed to be half asleep. He had seen Peter's eyes when they did open and those eyes were dull. Reddy knew that had Peter been himself those eyes would have been bright.

Now, there was one thing that Reddy didn't forget. He was too crafty to forget it. This was that a Merry Little Breeze idly wandering about might carry his scent to Peter Rabbit and thus give Peter warning. So, when Reddy noticed that the wind was gradually getting around back of him, so that it would blow from him to Peter, Reddy carefully worked his way around to the other side of that bramble tangle and once more settled himself to watch and wait.

"That bramble tangle is a small one," thought Reddy. "I don't think there is much for Peter to eat in there. When he gets hungry—and he will get hungry even though he is hurt—he'll leave that bramble tangle to look for something to eat somewhere else. I hope he'll get hungry soon. For myself, I'm getting hungrier every minute. Just looking at Peter makes me hungry. Yes sir, it does so!"

But time went on and Peter apparently didn't become hungry. He showed no signs of moving. Reddy began to wonder if he couldn't make him move somehow. "I wish Shadow the Weasel would come along," thought Reddy. "Shadow could slip into that bramble tangle with the greatest ease and drive Peter out. I wish that hunter would come back this way. He might drive Peter out. I suppose I could crawl in a little way myself and frighten Peter out. But if I did that, by the time I could get out again, Peter would be in another bramble tangle and I would be no better off than before. I believe I'll call Mrs. Reddy. Between us we probably can get Peter. I should have thought of that before. I do hope she hasn't gone off to the Green Forest hunting, or down on the Green Meadows where she cannot hear me. That's what I'll do. I'll call Mrs. Reddy. Then I'll crawl in and drive Peter out for her to catch."

"I wish Shadow the Weasel would come along," thought Reddy.

YOUR HEALTH

Good Citizenship and Good Sense

By Homer D. Junkin, M. D.
Idaho Falls, Idaho.
(From Gorgas Memorial Institute)

Cerebro spinal meningitis is one of the diseases which are taking a goodly toll of lives all over the world. When it comes communities are horrified, for little is known as yet of how it travels. Yet there are definite hygienic measures which will aid in the prevention and assist in diminishing the incident of it, while heroic and saintful scientists are searching for more light on its prevention and cure.

Personal hygiene may first be considered. The cleanliness of the body by the proverbial bath; clean clothing; mouth hygiene, which certainly includes brushing the teeth carefully and thoroughly after each meal; attention to discharges from the nasal passage, ventilation of the sleeping rooms and placing bedding in open air and sunlight at least once a week; eating regularly and avoiding foods difficult to digest; avoiding people with "colds". Decay of the teeth and infected teeth should be cared for and nasal obstruction and infected tonsils remedied, often by removal of tonsils and adenoids. These simple rules of personal hygiene are elementary, yet it is a constant surprise to find how generally some of them are neglected, even by those of us who know better, but get careless. They apply to every member of every family in every community and will help in the prevention of meningitis and a host of other diseases.

In your home organize a careful, systematic program of cleaning. Wash the woodwork and floors; boil all things boilable; clean the walls and ceilings of your rooms; eliminate all trash and unnecessary accumulations about the house, of whatever nature it may be. Make provision for the disposal of slops and see that the containers of the same are fly proof. Clean all refuge from the yard, alley and about your premises. Be sure of good ventilation. Sickness follows in the wake of congested living conditions, the lack of good air, and the pressure of anything that attracts or breeds flies, mosquitoes and other disease carriers.

Take an active part in securing and keeping a pure water supply in your community. If in doubt about water, no matter where you are, boil it before drinking.

Cooperate in every possible way with the health department and officials, remembering that epidemics will not originate in your home, if you follow the above suggestions; but that in order to protect your home from disease your responsibility extends to the homes and alleys and disposal of waste in the entire community. That is good citizenship and good sense.

NAMED FOR PLATT OF CONNECTICUT.

Recognition of Platt National park by the government and the public should be very gratifying to all Oklahomans. Senator Thomas announces the allowance for the park is more than doubled, which means several needed improvements to fit in the general scheme of Oklahoma progress. Platt is a small park, not spectacular but beautiful. It is in the path of travel, and in the last year it was fourth in the number of visitors, and that means a lot. It ranked in numbers alone with Yellowstone and Rocky Mountain park. Incidentally, we wish writers and printers would quit spelling it "Platte." It was not named for the sandy river but for a far-seeing United States senator, Orville H. Platt of Connecticut, who was largely responsible for setting aside the area. —Tulsa Okla. World.

Stories That Recall Others

Low-Down Variety.

Grandmother's flock of Rhode Island reds had been highly praised during a recent visit to the farm.

When four-year-old Marcia returned to her home she said: "Mother, why don't you get some Low-Down red hens?"

Poor Butterfly.

The class at school was having a test in observation, which consisted in taking a brief look at a table full of varied objects, and then writing down as many as they could remember. The lazy boy of the class could demember only one, which chanced to be a butterfly made of a clothespin and crepe paper, and this is what he wrote: "Tishy paper on a stick."

IN DAY'S NEWS

Four Similar Place Names.

Elsinore, Helsingor, Halsingborg and Helsingfors.

"It sounds like a poem, but it isn't," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society, which points out the various locations of these towns whose similarity in spelling is confusing.

"Elsinore and Helsingor are identical," the bulletin continues. "Helsingor is famous as Elsinore, the locale of Shakespeare's play 'Hamlet.' It is a small trading town on the northern coast of the Danish island of Sjaelland and is a mecca for tourists who come to see the castle of Kronborg where it is said the melancholy Dane of Shakespeare's invention soliloquized. Without the tradition of Hamlet, the town would be but a little known trading station of the south shore of the Oresund, a tiny neck of water connecting the strait of Kattegat with the Baltic Sea.

"Halsingborg lies in Sweden almost directly across the Oresund from Helsingor. Its location is on the narrowest part of the neck, only two and three-quarters miles wide, and one may glimpse the towers of Kronborg in Helsingor across its waters. Halsinborg is a busy seaport and with its population of over 53,000 ranks as Sweden's fifth city.

"Helsingfors is familiar to foreigners as Finland's capital. But the name given it by the Finns is Helsinki. It lies on the southwestern coast on the Gulf of Finland, an arm of the Baltic Sea. Helsinki is a city of wide streets, spacious parks and squares and impressive buildings. Flowers and foliage abound during the periods of warm weather. It is about four times as large as Halsingborg."

STUDY AND HUNCHES GUIDE STREET PLAY

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stock market prophets are of two genera—economic-minded or stock list-minded.

The first base their forecasts of movements in security prices on studies of economic conditions, marketing outlook, distribution, executive personnel and the fundamental conditions affecting a given industry.

The second learn the ups and downs of the market by the touch system. Through long experience in watching quotation boards and tickers they acquire a special ability to judge a rise or fall, like a sailor measures the roll of a deck, without bothering to find out what it is all about.

Government scientists are studying ways of making cotton goods more resistant to fire, water and weather.

"They work while you sleep"

Do you have days when you feel sluggish—when everything seems an effort—and you have no appetite? Take a candy Cascaret before you go to bed! This gentle, harmless aid to the bowels is often all that is needed to clear up a sick headache and cause any other symptom of sluggishness to vanish.

Cascarets can't harm you for cascara is a favored laxative with medical authorities. It does a perfect job of cleansing without violence and without forming the laxative habit. Cascarets are pleasant to take, for they are sweetened with pure cane sugar and flavored with real licorice—children love them.

A candy Cascaret or two will usually clear up a bilious, constipated condition between night and morning. Their action is so gentle there is no discomfort from them or danger in their frequent use. They are a pure vegetable product. They do not weaken the system. In fact, the cascara actually strengthens bowel muscles. Remember this when you have a coated tongue, bad breath, when the head feels dull or there is any sign of poor elimination.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys if Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often become and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

STRIKERS' OFFER REJECTED AT ASHLAND MILL

According to a statement made at The Bulletin office Tuesday night by representatives of the striking warper tenders at Ashland mill at Jewett City, they dispute the claim that the workers were making $50 a week in wages, saying that this was the figure in only a few instances. With most of the workers, the weekly wage, they say, was from $30 to $38. The strikers have offered to go back to work on a schedule that will give them from $33 to $35 a week, but the company has refused this, according to the strikers' representatives. At the present time, employes from other departments of the mill are being instructed on the warps by experienced workers from New Market, N. H.

COMMITTEES MAKE REPORTS AT MERCIER ASSEMBLY MEETING

The regular meeting of Mercier Assembly, No. 12, C. L. of C., was held in the rooms in the T. A. B. building, Tuesday evening, with the president, Miss Loretta Gadle presiding. Various committee reports were presented and accepted with votes of thanks from the large number present. The date was announced as Nov. 11, for the annual mass for deceased members to be celebrated at St. Patrick's church at 8 o'clock. Every member has been urged to attend. Mrs. Margaret Dutton, past state president, talked at some length urging a spirit of memorial among the members. Another matter taking much attention is the coming 10th anniversary banquet to be attended by the members at the Wauregan hotel Nov. 14. Cards have been sent to all members and Miss Margaret Sullivan, chairman, expects that all cards shall be returned as soon as possible so that the reservations may be made. Guests are to be present from out of town including state officers and clergy and a very fine program and eentertainment has been arranged by the committee in charge. The affair is to be informal and is to be followed by dancing.

There is a long list of candidates awaiting initiation which will take place at the next meeting.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Louis Gero

At 9:15 o'clock, Tuesday morning, funeral services for Mrs. Celina Gero, widow of Louis Gero, were held at her residence in Uncasville, followed by a requiem mass in St. John's church, which was celebrated by Rev. James J. O'Meara. Miss Helen B. Ganey, church organist, was in charge of the music and was assisted in the singing by the church choir and Mrs. George Chagnon. The choir rendered Dominie Jesu Christe at the offertory, and Mrs. Chagnon sang Lead Kindly Light as a waiting hymn.

Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, Montville, and the committal service was read by Rev. Fr. O'Meara at the grave. The bearers were Lewis, Wilfred, Raymond, Ernest, Alfred and Robert Gero, nephews of Mrs. Gero. Included in the large attendance of relatives and friends were people from New London, New York, Norwich, Taftville and other places. There was a large display of beautiful floral tributes. Undertakers Cummings & Ring were in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Henry C. Zimmerman

Many relatives and friends were present at the funeral of Henry C. Zimmerman of No. 12 Penobscot street that was held at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the funeral parlors of Undertakers Shea & Burke. The services were conducted by Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, pastor of the United Congregational church, and the floral tributes were beautiful. Burial was in the family lot in Yantic cemetery, where a committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Abbott at the grave. The bearers were O. J. Brockway, John Bennett, Charles Lawton and Maxime Brokowski.

WEDDING

Ulrich-Martin

Miss Helen E. Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Martin of Uncasville, and Joseph F. Ulrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ulrich of No. 28 Dunham street, this city, were united in marriage at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. John's church, Montville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. James J. O'Meara, the rector, in the presence of a large number of guests from New Bedford, Boston, New London and other places.

The couple was attended by Miss Mary Ulrich, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor, and Harold A. Martin, brother of the bride as best man. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in white satin trimmed with Spanish lace and carried a bouquet of calla lilies. Her maid of honor was attactively attired in pale green crepe de chine with picture hat to match. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and a dinner served at the home of the bride's parents, covers being laid for 75 guests. Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich left by motor for a wedding trip to points of interest in Canada. Upon their return in two weeks they will be at home to their many friends in a newly furnished apartment in Boston. The bride, who wore a cranberry colored ensemble for traveling, received many pretty and useful gifts.

The bridegroom has been employed at the Monte Cristo garage in New London as a mechanic. He was recently transferred to the Buick station in Boston. His bride was employed at the Montgomery and Ward company store in New London. Both Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich have many friends in their respective places of residence who extend them best wishes for a prosperous married life.

MIGNEAULT, CHADWICK AND BEAN RETURNED TO OFFICE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Nov. 5.— As the result of republican ward caucuses held at every ward in the city tonight, Alderman Robert Chadwick, representing ward 1, John M. Bean, ward 2, and Eugene Migneault, ward 4, will be returned to office next year. Following a rather hectic meeting during which much controversy developed, the republicans of ward 3 nominated David Breault of Church street to serve them as alderman in the 1930-31 city administration. Breault obtained 126 votes and defeated his nearest opponent, Alderman Leo J. Delisle, by a margin of 60 votes. Alderman Delisle received 66 votes. Rosario J. Beausoliel, a third candidate, secured but 41 ballots. The total vote cast was 243. The three cornered fight in ward 3 proved to be the only contest in the republican ranks tonight.

City Pinochle League.

The Duwells are to entertain the city pinochle league players for the regular weekly meeting this (Wednesday) evening at the club house on the East Side. Last week the Eagles had high individual score with Sam Swatzburg, $855, and David Farrell, $909.

The schedule for this week is as follows:

First half—American Legion vs. Thermos, Foresters vs. Icy Hot, Eagles vs. Duwells.

Second half—Foresters vs. Thermos, Eagles vs. Icy Hot, American Legion vs. Duwells.

On Reckless Driving Charge

Nathan A. Knasin of Central avenue will be before the city court this (Wednesday) morning to answer to a charge of reckless driving. He was arrested by Motor Patrolman Clifford Crary after a collision at Fowler avenue and Main street with a machine driven by Mr. Crary.

PROGRAMME ARRANGED HERE FOR OBSERVANCE OF ARMISTICE DAY

At a recent meeting of the citizens' committee composed of representatives of the American Legion, Chamber of Commerce, Merchants' bureau, Manufacturers' association, superintendent of schools and others interested, a proposed program for the suitable observance of Armistice day was adopted.

It has been realized by the majority of citizens for a long time that a patriotic and reverent observance should be made of the day which meant so much to the peace of the world and happiness of mankind. The desire was also prevalent that Norwich keep in step with the recognitions being made by other cities throughout the country, particularly throughout Connecticut. This resulted in the calling into conference several groups which should be especially interested, and the adoption of the following proposed program:

At 11:03 a. m., the American Legion will have appropriate exercises at Union square, following the three-minute period of quiet throughout the city, at which a patriotic speaker will address the meeting on Armistice day.

Being a legal holiday, the banks will remain closed all day.

The Merchants' bureau has voted to close all the stores for one hour from 10:45 to 11:45 and to urge all their employes to attend the exercises at Union square en masse. Every merchant is asked to co-operate in strictly observing this schedule.

The manufacturers have been requested to cease operations entirely from 11 to 11:03, asking all employes to stand quietly in silent tribute.

All citizens everywhere throughout the city and town are requested to stop whatever they may be doing at 11 and remain quiet for three minutes.

The manufacturers and the churches have been asked to blow their whistles and ring their bells continuously from 10:45 to 11, when all noise will stop for the three minutes.

The police department has been asked to stop all vehicle traffic and trolley car traffic throughout the city for the three-minute period.

All schools in the city of Norwich will close to enable the children to attend the exercises in Union square.

This plan naturally requires the participation of every citizen in the city. The committee strongly urges that everyone co-operate, especially in the three-minute period of silence as a tribute to the men who sacrificed for us all during the recent World war.

The committee asks each citizen to read the program carefully and to do his part in its observance.

There is to be another meeting of the committee on Friday afternoon.

DUMAS TO SEEK OFFICE OF ALDERMAN-AT-LARGE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, Nov. 5.—Shortly before the close of business at the third ward caucus tonight, former Alderman Eugene Dumas of Mill street, in an address to the voters, formally announced that he will seek the republican nomination for the office of alderman-at-large at the general caucus to take place Thursday evening. Mr. Dumas stated that his decision to run for office came after a careful consideration of his chances of being elected at the city election in December. He asserted that he had not interviewed any voter for the purpose of securing his or her vote and added that he did not intend to do so. He asked the support of the third ward voters, promising them efficient representation in the event of his election. His remarks brought forth a rising ovation from those in the assembly hall.

BLINKERS ROUSE PROTEST FROM RADIO ENTHUSIASTS

Radio enthusiasts in the Chelsea parade section of the city have complained to Frederick J. Ortmann, chairman of the police commission, because of poor reception in that neighborhood caused by the erection of the traffic blinker signals on Williams avenue at the intersections of Washington street and Broadway, for purpose of warning motorists of the trolley crossing. In making the complaints the residents ask that the commissioners take action on the matter. They claim that the reception has been poor since the installation of the lights about ten days ago.

It is probable that the lights will be removed, according to Mr. Ortmann, who said that they may be placed in another location or that they will be so remedied that they will not interfere with the reception in that district. The lights, which go on and off intermittently, are said to cause a periodical noise.

WILL APPEAR BEFORE U. S. DISTRICT COURT

When Louis Chesson of 43 North Main street was presented Tuesday morning before U. S. Commissioner Earl Mathewson on the charge of violation of the liquor law, the commissioner found probale cause and bound him over for trial at the next term of the U. S. district court. This will be at Hartford, on December 3. Chesson furnished bonds of $500.

The accused man was arrested in raids last week by federal officers who found at his place 16 cases of alleged home brew, 20 gallons of beer mash, five gallons of alcohol, and a capping machine.

Emanuel Kaplan Visiting Here

Emanuel Kaplan, of New York, who was a resident of this city during the war years while the company which he headed operated the woolen mill at Yantic, is a visitor in this city for several days.

PRIZE AWARDS ANNOUNCED IN YARD-GARDEN CONTEST

The prize winners in the various classes of the yard and garden contest, conducted by the Norwich chamber of commerce from April 4 to Oct. 1 inclusive, have been announced by Arthur L. Peale, chairman of the committee of judges. The awards were made on the basis of improvements made in the yards and gardens during the period of the contest, rather than on the basis of their beauty. There were 73 entries in the contest, covering the entire city and surrounding country.

The prize awards were made as follows:

Class 1.

1st prize, M. J. McCarthy, 56 Oak street; 2nd prize, Earl B. Whitehead, 122 Fourth street; 3rd prize, Yolanda Costentino, 18 Mulberry street; 4th prize, Mrs. Thomas B. Kean, 25 Oneco street; 5th prize, Mrs. Harriet M. Steere, Fairmount street; 6th prize, J. Manning, 35 Spring street.

Class 2.

1st prize, Mrs. Albert H. Chase, 1 Sachem terrace; 2nd prize, Mrs. E. D. Fuller, Broadway.

Class 3

1st prize, Philip A. Johnson, 407 Washington street.

In Class 1, first prize was $25; second was $15; third, $10; fourth, $7.50; fifth, $5, and sixth, $2.50. Awards of merit certificates will accompany all cash prizes. In the other classes, the prize winners were awarded merit certificates only, there being no cash prizes. The awards are to be given out soon.

The improvements made by Mr. McCarthy, who was entered in class 1 (those who do their own work) included a bird house, a summer house and a rockery. He also had a large variety of flowers and constructed several terraces. He started with an ordinary garden.

Mr. Whitehead beautified a large ledge in his yard, Mrs. Chase made her garden attractive with a new sidewalk and by filling in considerably in the rear of her residence, and Mrs. Fuller, who had one of the most beautiful gardens of the city, had a large variety of old-fashioned flowers. These last two mentioned were in class 2 (those who hire some of their work done).

Mr. Johnson also had a very beautiful garden arranged in terraces. He was entered in class 3 (those who employ an expert gardener to do the work).

The contest, which was held for the purpose of beautification of the city, was under direction of this committee, Max Hanover, chairman; Fred C. Crowell, Aaron Hardy, Otto F. Ernst, Robert Montgomery, Arthur L. Peale, Louis Hawkins and George Leven.

CONTACT CLUB PLANNING TO EXPAND MEMBERSHIP

Definite plans are underway for the expansion of the Contact club, it was announced Tuesday by President Ernest O. Rodier.

Francis T. Diggins has been appointed captain of the division to be known as the "Blues" and John P. Lyston is captain of a team to be known as the "Reds." These two teams will enter into friendly contest between now and January 1st. The losing team will have to provide a dinner for the winners in January.

Under the plan adopted, a credit of 50 points will be allowed for each new member secured and 5 points for the weekly attendance of each team member.

At a meeting of the captains held Tuesday afternoon, the team workers were selected as follows:

Blues: Francis T. Diggins, captain; John H. Bell, Louis M. Crandall, J. Fred Fleming, Max Hanover, Wilbur S. Williams, Abner Schwartz, Alex Pasnik, W. P. Hauch, E. A. Rich, Charles J. Twist, Charles W. Cassidy, Richard Davis, C. D. McKinnon.

Reds: John P. Lyston, captain; James L. Case, Charles S. Eaton, E. O. Rodier, F. Russell Smith, Earl Taggart, Roy Smith, J. B. Caron, Joseph Lahn, Edward Van Tassell, Fred C. Geer, J. C. Worth, James Crawford, Frank R. Murdy.

The Contact club was organized in January, being the result of a feeling on the part of the directors that there were a large number of business men in the city who were not connected with either of the other service clubs that would enjoy the fellowship of weekly meetings, at which subjects of interest to business men and salesmen would be discussed. Accordingly, it was decided to make a trial of the plan and the first meeting was held on January 14 with an attendance of 31. The officers were elected as follows: Ernest O. Rodier, president; F. Russell Smith, first vice president; Abner Schwartz, second vice president and J. Fred Fleming, treasurer, Walter H. Pilcher, secretary.

From that time on the organization has grown in popularity and interest up to the present time and has approximately 45 members. One of the features which proves attractive to many of the members is that the club adheres to the 60-minute schedule, starting promptly at 12:15 and closing at 1:15. The meetings are attended by a live-wire group of business men who appreciate the value of making contacts with their fellow members. The club has no other objective than that of fellowship and the education that comes from the information given by the speakers each week. It has no definite program of work and there are no dues.

Any business man who is interested in attending the meetings always receives a most cordial welcome and it is not even necessary that he belong to the chamber. Several who attend do not. It is with a view to increasing interest and attendance that this campaign has been planned and according to all indications there is going to be a real battle on between the opposing divisions headed by Francis Diggins and John Lyston.

TO CONTINUE TRAINING COURSE FOR SCOUTS

The fourth session of the scoutleaders' training course will be held this (Wednesday) evening at 7.30 in the Thayer building. A program has been carefully planned including three different methods of signalling. Arthur Adams, recently returned from Africa, where he was engaged in scout work, will be on the program together with two scout patrol leaders who will give short talks on the work of a patrol leader.

Scout Commissioner A. L. Peale, Scoutmaster Lloyd Rathbun and Assistant Scoutmaster Robert Burke, patrol leaders for this meeting, will hold a preliminary meeting for final arrangements at the scout office at 7.30 o'clock.

According to the outline of procedure in use nationally, this meeting calls for an exhibit of knot boards, signalling equipment, opening ceremony, roll check, scout signalling, methods of teaching same, patrol and troop practice in signalling, games and contests, and the patrol unit in scouting.

It is anticipated there will be a large attendance at the meeting. The men now enrolled are: C. B. Gilbert, H. Downer Johnson, John W. Hill, Howard Ludlow, H. Lloyd Rathbun, William Wyman, Walter P. Weidman, Cecil Wetherbee, Jean Kieffer, Franklin Robinson, Theodore A. Swanson, John P. Boldrizhini, Carl W. Brend, Robert P. Burke, William Burns, William A. Collins, Alexander Ruelke, Carl Benker.

Following the meeting there will be a social gathering with refreshments.

SODALITAS SUPPER WITH ENTERTAINMENT FOLLOWING

The Sodalitas, one of the busiest and largest departments of the Woman's Guild of the United Congregational church, composed of the younger women, met at the Community house Monday evening for a supper and a general good time. About forty young women were present. Mrs. C. Eugene Saunders, the president, spoke a few words of welcome and Mrs. F. W. Lester president of the Woman's guild, commended highly the work of the Sodalitas throughout the year.

The table decorations were very lovely, Miss Jane Dearing being in charge, Bittersweet and laurel, with colored milk weed pods, made the table most attractive, and place cards of maple leaves were very unique.

The entertainment that followed was in charge of Mrs. Herbert E. Lawrence and Mrs. Warren W. Church, and all entered into the fun with good spirit.

The supper was planned and carried out by Mrs. Joseph N. French and a competent committee.

This department of the guild is a very active one. They carry much sunshine to the shut-ins, meet their quota for the salary of Miss Gertrude Avery, send a box to Ellis Island and accomplish much that is interesting and worthwhile throughout the year.

MOVE TOWARD DEVELOPMENT OF INDUSTRIAL BUILDING

The possibility for action along the line of industrial building development for Norwich was developed by a meeting held Monday evening by the members of the Norwich Industrial Improvement Co., Inc., the industrial commission of the chamber of commerce, of which Joseph C. Worth is chairman, with Flint Brayton and C. W. Taggart members of a sub-committee to co-operate with the industrial commission. The members of the industrial improvement company are James L. Case, president; Martin E. Jensen, secretary; William F. Hill, Judge Allyn L. Brown and Shepard B. Palmer.

The inquiry was made whether the industrial improvement company was disposed to listen to a proposition from the chamber of commerce towards the possible construction of a building or buildings for the housing of new industries.

The answer of the officers of the company was that it was ready to act within the scope of its by-laws, which were read by Secretary Jensen, and were found to have a broad application. As a result of the discussion, the officers of the company stated that if the chamber of commerce would bring in a definite proposition, they would be glad to take it into consideration and return an answer as to what action they would be prepared to take.

WHITE CROSS COUNCIL GAINING IN MEMBERSHIP

At a large and enthusiastic meeting of White Cross council, K. of C., Grand Knight James F. Sheridan presiding, 15 applicants were elected to membership and five new applications were read for the first time. A communication was read from State Secretary J. M. Phillips congratulating the council on the number of applications for membership since the election of new officers.

Plans were discussed for enlarging the meeting room to take care of the large increase in attendance at meetings.

The board of trustees made its quarterly report, showing the financial condition of the council to be the best it has been in several years. Dep. Grand Knight Coleman, chairman of the sick committee, reported the health of the council membership is very good, only three members being on the sick list. The house committee reported the various activities of the home during the past two weeks, commenting especially on the very large attendance at the Monday nights' pinochle tournaments.

After the business meeting Grand Knight Sheridan handed over the gavel to Lecturer George H. Dolan who introduced Henry F. Powers, president of the Uncas-Merchants National bank, who gave a very interesting and instructive address.

The members then adjourned to the dining room where a light lunch was served.

Withdrawal Without Costs

A suit for $2,000 damages brought by Joseph Norman of this city and Niantic against Edwin B. Stevens of Springfield, Mass., has been withdrawn without costs from the docket of the superior court, according to papers filed with Clerk John H. Walker. The complaint in the suit was that Norman bought property from Stevens at Crescent Beach on May 6, 1926, and that the deed given by Stevens was not as represented.

Will Arrange For Meeting.

Arrangements for the annual meeting of the New London county farm bureau are to be made at a committee meeting to be held Friday evening. Those on the committee are: A. N. Lillibridge, Norwich; Mrs. F. L. Kanahan of Lisbon; E. W. Jones, Lebanon; Mrs. Charles Woodmansee, Preston; Linwood Crary, Preston; Miss Julia Rodman, Franklin; Donald McKenzie, Waterford, and Charles H. Cottrell of North Stonington.

They NEUTRALIZE All Acid; Here is your proof FREE

Scientists have learned much about the stomach in the past few years. Most so-called "indigestion" is caused by excess acids; neutralize the acids and relief follows.

The makers of Pape's Diapepsin were among the first to realize this. These pleasant little tablets have brought relief to millions. And permanent correction of minor stomach ills which, if left unchecked, usually develop into serious disorders.

Don't go on suffering from heartburn, gas, belching, sour stomach; nor give up the things you like. You can eat your way to perfect digestion if you let Pape's Diapepsin take care of excessive acidity. Mail the coupon for a box to try, FREE. ROPE PULL LEADER IS STORRS FRESHMAN PRESIDENT

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Nov. 5.—Ralph Chilton, of Burnside, who led the freshmen to unexpected victory in the rope pull Saturday, has been chosen by his classmates as president of the freshman class of Connecticut Agricultural college. The vice-presidency went to Lester P. Stevens, of Meriden, who is the regular halfback on the freshman football team. Carl M. Wissinger, of Hartford, who is considered one of the best swimmers at the State college, was chosen treasurer, and Miss Sylvia Holcomb, of Washington, R. I., was elected secretary.

MANY TELEPHONE INQUIRIES OVER ELECTION RESULTS

A flood of telephone calls was received at the editorial rooms of The Norwich Bulletin Tuesday evening for results on the various elections held in this state and elsewhere. There was especial interest in the outcome of the election in New York city, as to the number of votes polled by the socialist candidate. The calls started to come in as early as six o'clock and increased as the night wore on.

Eastern Connecticut Health

According to the weekly morbidity report issued by the state department of health for the week ending Nov. 4 the following cases of communicable diseases were reported from this section of the state: Scarlet fever, New London 2; diphtheria, Stonington 1, Danielson 1, Pomfret 1; whooping cough, Groton (T) 1, Windham 2. One carrier of diphtheria bacilli was reported from New London.

Allison Durkee has been appointed by the Connecticut college cabinet to be chairman of the drive this year to raise money for the Student Friendship fund.

WEST VIRGINIA HOLDS FORDHAM TO SCORELESS TIE IN ELECTION DAY GAME

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Fordham and West Virginia university played a scoreless tie today, the New Yorkers driving 12 yards in the closing minutes but falling 12 inches short of a touchdown as the game ended. The gallant fighting Mountain band from West Virginia gave the Maroon every chance but all overtures of old man opportunity were steadfastly rejected by the home team. Fordham remained undefeated but had its record marred by the second tie of the season, the first also was of West Virginia origin, a six to six deadlock with Davis and Elkins.

West Virginia had two great chances in the first few minutes of play when a Fordham fumble caused apprehension in the Cavanaugh camp but when Fordham stopped this drive, its time of stress was over from a defensive standpoint. The Maroon offensive did not start to function until it was too late. The one sustained drive was under way when the game ended.

Eight times Fordham was inside West Virginia's 30 yard line in first downs and eight times the ball was lost.

With a first down on the visitors' five yard line in the first half, Fordham lost five yards.

The big thrill came at the close when Fordham practically talked itself out of a chance to win the game. After the players left a huddle with the ball only two yards from the goal, they ran back to talk it over again. But for this second thought they might have had time to make the 12 inches they were short when the time ran out.

The lineup:

Fordham		West Virginia
Elcewicz	L. E.	Benhnke
Cannella	L. T.	Scott
Tracey	L. G.	Gordon
Siano	C.	Carrico
Wianieweki	R. G.	Lewis
Miskinni	R. T.	Beall
Hurley	R. E.	Lang
Fisher	Q. B.	M. Glenn
Murphy	L. H. B.	Larue
McMahon	R. H. B.	Bartrug
Pieculewicz	F. B.	F. Glenn

Score by periods:

Fordham	0	0	0	0	0

RED LEE KAYOES CIVALLI IN FIRST ROUND

MERIDEN, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Red Lee, local light heavyweight, continued his winning streak by scoring a one-round technical knockout victory over Ralph Civalli, also of Meriden, in the feature bout of an amateur card at the City Hall auditorium tonight. Other results:

Johnny Bolino, Waterbury, defeated Johnny Baker, Meriden.

Mickey Laconche, Hartford, knocked out Al Davis, Meriden, first round.

Sebastian Gullo, Meriden, defeated Benny Dante, Hartford.

Al Dreher, Hartford, outpointed Teddy Krasky, Meriden.

Joe Vignali, Waterbury, defeated Al Pinta, Hartford.

Steve Suroki, Meriden, knocked out Cyclone Johnny Brown, Meriden, first round.

Tommy Mack, Waterbury, defeated Art Hilton, Waterbury.

Billy Prince, Waterbury, knocked out Eddie Daley, Hartford, first round.

STAPLETON AND PROVIDENCE BATTLE TO 7 TO 7 TIE

STAPLETON, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Stapleton and Providence battled to a 7 to 7 tie in a hotly contested National Professional Football league game here today.

Providence scored in the first period, Jack Williams taking the ball over for a touchdown. Jack McBride kicked the extra point. Ken Strong, former New York university star, picked up a blocked kick and ran 50 yards for Stapleton's touchdown in the third period and then kicked the extra point to tie the score. Later he made two attempts at field goals but both failed.

Doug Wykoff, one time Georgia Tech player, was stricken with appendicitis just before the game leaving Stapleton with only five backfield men available for use.

EASTERN COLLEGE TEAMS CAREFUL OF THEIR STARS

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Announcement that Al Marsters had played his last intercollegiate football game overshadowed all other developments on eastern gridirons today.

The Dartmouth quarterback, highest scoring player in the country, suffered a back injury in the Yale game that will keep him out of football for the rest of the year. Since he is a senior the Yale game marked his final collegiate appearance.

Despite this crushing blow, the Dartmouth team went to work with a will today as hard work been for the contest with Brown this Saturday. Apparently the Indians have but the Yale defeat behind them and are facing future games, even without Marsters, with confidence. Tommy Longnecker, who relieved Marsters when he was injured, will start at quarterback against Brown.

Meanwhile Brown took things easy as Coach Tuss McLaughry is taking no chances of further injuries among his first string players.

Columbia, battered and bruised in the Cornell battle, also had a light day but Colgate, the Lions' next opponent, had a prolonged practice on defensive formations.

Work on forward passing occupied Pitt's unbeaten Panthers, while Washington and Jefferson worked on a defense for Pitt plays. Penn State went through a scrimmage in preparation for Pennsylvania, but the Penn squad took a drill of barely an hour, Coach Lou Young thinks the Quakers will do better if they conserve their energies for actual combat.

Harvard, which meets Michigan at Ann Arbor, heard Billie Murray, captain of the 1919 team, lecture on Michigan plays. After this the squad was given individual instruction.

Michigan may throw its real team against Harvard Saturday. Dahlm and Simrall, backfield stars, reported for practice tonight and participated in a signal drill. Steinke worked at guard for the first time since his injury in the Illinois game.

Army, which tackles Illinois at Chicago, scrimmaged with the Plebes and Coach Biff Jones found the varsity line very weak. The Plebes bored through for long gains in midfield but ran into a sturdy defense down around the 15 yard varsity line.

While Head Coach Joe McKenny spent the day scouting Fordham which played a scoreless tie with West Virginia, Boston college's squad went through long individual drills in preparation for the battle with the New Yorkers on Saturday. Neither Fordham nor Boston college has been beaten but both have been tied.

Princeton's regulars enjoyed another day of rest but Lehigh, next opponents of the Tigers, put in a strenuous day at Bethlehem, Pa. Rutgers had a sturdy defense for Lafayette plays put on by the junior varsity and Lafayette went through a lively scrimmage with Eiter filling the injured Woodfin's place at fullback. Both Bucknell and Villanova had long practice sessions in preparation for their meeting this week end and Yale, after a day of rest, returned to the practice field for a light workout in preparation for Maryland.

Gil Dobie, dissatisfied with his Cornell team's tackling gave the varsity a long drill on fundamentals. After the game with Western Reserve, Cornell must face Dartmouth and Penn and Dobie wants his team on its toes.

Chick Meehan spent the day at New York university trying to find a substitute for Charlie Marshall, end and best kicker on the Violet squad. Meehan announced no definite selection but hopes to find a satisfactory solution to his problem before the game with Georgia. Georgetown and Navy both had long workouts.

YALE SQUADS HAVE ONLY A LIGHT DRILL

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Having rested one school day after the hard fought game with Dartmouth, the Yale squads were back on the gridiron for practice today. The coaches put them through light and short work. The first two teams had signal drill, preceded by forward and lateral passing practice.

The varsity was the same as that which started the Dartmouth game, Bob Hall, starting quarterback, who was thought seriously injured, was back. And Albie Booth was back as quarter with the second team.

Bob Wilson, regular quarterback until he was injured two weeks ago, returned to the squads today, but as quarter on the third team.

The coaches announced scrimmages for tomorrow.

Polo Starts At Pinehurst.

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Polo got under way here today, with an inaugural contest between teams representing Ox Ridge, of Darien, Conn., against a squad from the Sand Hills club of Pinehurst. Ox Ridge was victorious in a six chukker engagement, 8 goals to 7.

When you're traveling and you hit the outskirts of a town, what is the first question that pops into your mind?

How many times have you turned to other occupants in the car and said: "What town is this and how big is it?"

Perhaps you knew and perhaps you didn't. You may have had some hazy idea of how big it was and then again maybe you didn't. You might know if it was a town within a coupla hundred miles of Norwich, but how about it if you was a 1,000 miles from home?

If you knew the population of the town you was entering you could almost tell just what you would find there. You'd know whether to expect large hotels, large department stores, theatres, etc.

You could tell whether there would be traffic cops and traffic lights to watch out for, whether there was one main street or several. If you knew these things it would be a great help to you in making your decision about stopping or going right through. Wouldn't it?

Many towns in the middle west have realized these facts and are putting the population of the town on the greeting signs that are posted in the outskirts of the town. And believe me, it helps the tourist.

If he is appoaching a town and sees that the sign tells him it has a population of 40,000 he knows that he will probably find a good hotel, a modern theatre, an Elks club, a Masonic club, Rotary and Lions clubs.

So he stops and looks the city over. The chances are he spends a few hours there unless he is in a great hurry to get to some town he knows about. And when tourists stop they spend money.

Now, how many out of town people know that Norwich has a population of 35,000? We take our figures from the recent estimate of the state board of education which has always proved pretty accurate.

Wouldn't people entering Norwich like to know how big it was? Wouldn't some of the neighboring towns be surprised to see that we were the largest town in population in eastern Connecticut?

Now that the chamber of commerce has completed the Yard and Garden contest and announced the winners, for which we are thankful, why couldn't they consider this as a suggestion.

The U. S. census is due very shortly and accurate figures will be available. We cannot advertise our city too much.

DARTMOUTH PREPARES FOR BATTLE WITH BROWN

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 5.—(AP)—With Al Marsters lost for the rest of the season, a star-less Dartmouth football team today opened its preparation for Saturday's game with Brown. Coach Jackson Cannell revised his plans, which called for a holiday today, and put every member of his reserve corps through a long workout. He excused 15 players, all of the regulars and several first string substitutes, who played against Yale last Saturday.

Cannell said that Tommy Longnecker, who relieved Marsters when he was injured in the bowl, would act as varsity quarterback against Brown this week.

The reserves went to work on several new plays this afternoon, while Frank Brady drilled the fourth eleven on Brown plays. These will be demonstrated in defensive drills tomorrow and Thursday. The Green players displayed great snap and spirit today, indicating that they had shaken off much of the disappointment caused by the Yale defeat.

TALLMAN WINS MEDAL IN PINEHURST TOURNEY

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 5.—(AP)—David N. Tallman, of Minneapolis, 1928 senior western golf champion, today won the medal in the qualifying round of the 26th autumn tournament, turning in 82. Tallman went out in 43, and came back in 39.

E. L. Schofield, of New York, finished second with 84, made up of an outward nine of 45 and an inward 39.

Three tied for last place in the championship division with 92. These were Henry G. Frost, of Cincinnati, William Sutherland, of Glencoe, Ill., and Winthrop Williams, of New York. Williams saved the necessity of a play-off by electing to go to the second division.

Results of play in the championship division:

D. N. Tallman, Minneapolis, 33-39—82, E. L. Scofield, New York, 45-39—84, M. M. Lord, Jackson Heights, L. I., 43-45—88 E. A. Guggenheim, New York, 44-44—88, W. C. Banta, Ridgewood, N. AL MARSTERS LOST TO DARTMOUTH BECAUSE OF FRACTURED VERTEBRAE

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 5—(AP)—Al Marsters, Dartmouth backfield star and high scorer of the east, has played his last inter-collegiate football game, it was announced here today by Dr. John S. F. Gile, who has been treating him for the back injury received in last week's Yale game.

Dr. Gile x-rayed Marsters and disclosed that the Dartmouth quarterback was suffering from a fractured vertebrae when he limped off the Yale bowl last Saturday. This injury, Dr. Gile said, would keep Marsters confined to the college infirmary for the next four weeks while his teammates carry on against Brown, Cornell and the Navy.

The physician described the trouble as a fracture of the right transverse process at the third and fourth lumbar vertebrae but predicted it would not have any permanent effect on the player.

The injury, however, will bring to a close the career of one of Dartmouth's greatest football heroes in the midst of his greatest season. "Special Delivery" Al has scored 108 points in the six games Dartmouth has played this season, a total higher than that of any other eastern player. He was well on his way to all-American honors for his performances against Harvard and Yale on successive Saturdays merited such consideration.

Marsters started his varsity gridiron career two years ago, making a sensational debut at a halfback. He was kept out of most of last season's games by an injured ankle and his absence from the lineup was Dartmouth's chief reason for its unsuccessful 1928 record. This year Coach Jackson Cannell shifted his star to quarterback and built his entire team about him. Football experts have declared that Marsters has provided three-quarters of the Green's offensive power in each of its games.

Dr. Giles said that his patient was keenly disappointed but was resting so comfortably that he would be allowed to resume his classwork soon. Special radio arrangements have been made to follow the Dartmouth team from his bedside next Saturday when it plays Brown at Providence, R. I., and if his condition warrants, he will be permitted to view the Cornell game here the week following.

Marsters has been a letterman in track for the past two seasons, running the hurdle and relay events. Dr. Gile has not decided whether his football injury will force him to give up his track activities, although it is probable that he will be lost for the Green's indoor season.

PLAINFIELD PROS PLAY BROOKLYN DODGERS FRIDAY

The basketball attraction at the Plainfield Community house for Friday evening will be the Brooklyn Dodgers against the Plainfield Pros. The Brooklyn club is one of the fast teams of the Metropolitan district and ranks with the Renaissance, Celtics and other professional clubs. Many talented basketball stars are included in the lineup.

Manager Salisbury has at last signed Jerry Conway of Holyoke to hold down the pivot position for the Pros this season and is to be complimented on his achievement. Conway played formerly with the Washington, D. C. team of the American Basketball league, and is a center of rare ability. He is rangy and fast standing over six feet in his gym shoes.

For the preliminary game The Buddies clash with the Willimantic All Stars.

SEWANEE-MEXICO FOOTBALL GAME IS CANCELLED

SEWANEE, Tenn., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Sewanee authorities today confirmed reports that the game scheduled between the university of the south and the University of Mexico at Mexico City, November 20, had been cancelled.

Dr. M. S. Bennett, director of athletics, said today he had received a letter October 31 from Reginald Root, coach of the Mexican team, cancelling the game. He said Root explained that the game was "off" because of the lack of enthusiasm on the part of the Mexican students and a scarcity of equipment for the Mexican team.

HARVARD VARSITY HAS NLY LIGHT WORKOUT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 5.—(AP)—The Harvard varsity football team engaged in a light workout here today after listening to Billie Murray, 1919 Harvard captain and quarterback, lecture on Michigan plays. The former Crimson star has been scouting the Maize and Blue elevens all season.

Head Coach Arnold Horween refrained from all contact work and the coaches spent the afternoon giving individual instruction to the players. Before the team took the field, each Harvard player was given a new uniform for Saturday's game with Michigan at Ann Arbor.

TIRRELL WILL START GAME AGAINST WILLIAMS

MIDDLETOWN, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The Wesleyan football team's prospects for the "little three" game with Williams on Saturday was considerably brightened today by the announcement that all of the recent casualties have recovered sufficiently to get into the game. A scrimmage was held with the freshmen today and the varsity showed up well. Coach Wood has given his team two new plays which it is believed will somewhat bewilder the Williams aggregation. Wilcox, the New Bedford find is expected to play against the Royal Purple along with Tirrell, Stribenger and Blakeslee. It is doubtful whether or not Captain Bagg will be able to play.

FRIEDMAN STARS AS GIANTS BEAT BISONS

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Benny Friedman's passing and the powerful New York Giant line spelled defeat for the Buffalo professional football team at Bison stadium today, the visitors piling up a score of 45 points to 6 for the Bisons.

Flaherty and Plansky scored twice, each for the visitors while other touhcdowns were made by Feather, Sedbrook and Hagerty. Ryan scored Buffalo's lone touchdown.

SKIERKOWSKI FEATURES VICTORY OF ST. BONAVENTURE

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Butch Skierkowski, from the Pennsylvania coal mines, was the particular bright star of the St. Bonaventure's college eleven here this afternoon in the traditional election day game with Canisius.

The "Bonnies" 26 to 7 victory was due largely to Mr. Skierkowski's work.

Attention, Westerly All Stars!

The Jewett City Speed Boys would like to arrange for a football game with the Westerly All Stars. Game to be played Sunday, Nov. 10, at 2.30. Kindly answer as soon as possible in the sporting columns of The Bulletin.

AMERICAN GOLFERS OFF FOR HAWAIIAN TOURNEY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—(AP)—A dozen nationally known golfers will sail for Honolulu tomorrow, on the liner Maui to participate in the second Hawaiian open golf tournament next week over the course of the Waialae Country club.

Those booked to sail include Tommie Armour, Horton Smith, Gene Sarazen, Craig Wood, Ed Dudley, Billy Burke, Ben Troltorin, Dan Williams, Olin Dutra, Mortie Dutra, Bill McEwan and Phil Taylor.

GATE OF $88,697.19 AT MANDELL-McLARNIN BOUT

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The ten round bout between Sammy Mandell and Jimmy McLarnin at the Chicago stadium last night attracted 19,534 cash customers who paid $88,697.19 gross, the state boxing commission reported today.

Wins Dartmouth Title

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 5—(AP)—Ted McDonald, intercollegiate tennis finalist, today won the Dartmouth singles championship by defeating John Sheldon, 6-2, 6-1, 6-1, in the final match on the annual college tournament. McDonald out-steadied his opponent, keeping the upper hand throughout with accurate placements and hard driving.

Attention, Baltic Boy Scouts!

The Holy Name team of Jewett City would like to challenge the Baltic Boy Scouts for a football game to be played either in Jewett City or Baltic. Or any team averaging 135 to 140 pounds in weight. If challenge is accepted, please answer through this paper.

King Tut Gets Verdict

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 5.—(AP)—King Tut, Milwaukee lightweight, won the referee's decision over Lope Tenorio, New York city, in a ten round bout here tonight. Tut weighed 139 1-2, Tenorio 138.

HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS

The football schedule for the next seven days:

Saturday.

West Hartford at N. F. A. Bristol at Windham. Putnam at Chapman Tech.

Monday (Armistice Day).

Stonington at Westerly. Tourtellotte at Killingly.

The only Conference game in the above group is the Armistice day tilt, at Westerly, the first of the annual two-game series between these two old rivals. The second game, which will be played at Stonington Thanksgiving day, will not count in the conference standing, but is the inter-town championship game.

The Academy's new band held another rehearsal Tuesday after school. Under the direction of John M. Swahn, veteran band leader, this outfit is progressing rapidly.

Chapman Tech will get a chance to avenge a 1928 defeat at the hands of Putnam High Saturday at Morgan park. From the looks of the two records, the Techmen will probably succeed as Putnam, which was undefeated last fall, has won only one game this year.

Plans are being furthered at Putnam high for a school band.

N. F. A. should beat West Hartford. Windham-Bristol a toss-up. Chapman Tech to beat Putnam. Bulkeley to beat Manchester. Killingly to beat Tourtellotte and Westerly-Stonington a toss-up are the predictions.

Little Plainfield has quite a football team and her recent victory over Putnam may rate the Orange and Black higher than the Noyesmen at the end of the season.

Friday at the campus will come the Academy's next cross-country run with Chapman Tech. As both trimmed Stonington with perfect scores this looks like an even bet.

The work of Eastern Connecticut's seven largest schools to date:

	W	L	T	Pct	Pts	Op Pts
Westerly	5	1	0	.833	73	24
Stonington	4	1	1	.700	84	24

Special Bowling Match.

A special match has been arranged between "Roots" Greene, the pride of the Texaco A. C., and George Gifford, the hope of the boys on the hill. Much interest has been shown over the matching of these two and some money wagers have been posted. The match will be rolled on Friday evening and is to be a ten string affair, total pinfall to count. The Aetna alleys is the scene of the battle and if previous enthusiasm is any indication much action can be promised.

New Incorporations

ON THE SIDELINES by BRIAN BELL

IF LEFTY O'DOUL is awarded the Most Valuable Player award by the National league, which does not seem improbable, the glory that will be San Francisco's in a baseball way will be great.

Lew Fonseca was awarded the honor for the American league in an unofficial election held by a committee of baseball writers at the request of the Associated Press.

Both O'Doul and Fonseca, leaders in hitting of the National and American leagues, live in San Francisco and O'Doul is a product of Pacific Coast baseball. Fonseca did most of his earlier playing with Cincinnati in the National league before he was sent away to Newark and was brought back to fast company by Cleveland.

The two leaders have another thing in common. O'Doul started out as a pitcher, to be converted later into an outfielder. Fonseca was a second baseman and a good one until his arm went lame, and then he moved to first base where the throwing demands are not so great.

Both the great hitters were more or less humiliated by having waivers granted on their services by major league clubs, but they know now that no waivers are being sought and could not be obtained even if they were.

FRANK CAVANAUGH, the football coach who wears an iron hat, has announced that he will leave Fordham university after this season when his three year contract expires. The oratorical Cavanaugh gives as his reason the explanation that he does not want to die there. A number of other coaches will leave institutions all over the country by request at the end of the season, whether or not they are willing to die on the campus. Coach Cavanaugh, who was a major in the United States army during the World war, seems certain to have a good season with the Maroon eleven so he will not take a chance of wearing out his welcome.

WHEN the football season is being put away in moth balls in the East, it will be getting into its stride in the South. Ten of the Southern Conference teams will not ring down the football curtain until December 7. With the last month of the year a week old, Georgia and Georgia Tech, South Carolina and Tennessee, North Carolina State and Mississippi A & M., North Carolina and Duke, Florida and Oregon and Maryland and Western Maryland will be just getting around to a meeting.

December is a better month for football in the South than November and October will not do at all under normal weather conditions. If the Christmas holidays did not call for examinations the resultant heavy studying in the middle of December, the Southern season would run even longer, with a corresponding later opening.

WESTERLY

REPUBLICANS CARRY ELECTION BY BIG VOTE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., Nov. 5.—The republican ticket won today, when voting for Westerly town officers for a two-year term proceeded at a very slow rate throughout the morning. There seemed to be a lack of party workers about the polls, although the Republican Town committee with the assistance of members of the Westerly Women's Republican club and helpers maintained a check list outside the voting district railings, with headquarters at the old Buck room in the Welch block.

At the noon hour, following the opening of the polls at 9 a. m., there had been only 85 ballots cast in the first voting district and 121 in the second.

Following were the election officials:

First Voting District— Moderator, Everett A. Kingsley. On the absence of Clerk John J. Dunn, Carl E. Burdick was elected clerk pro tem. Supervisors, republican, James H. Hodgson, White Rock; Charles D. Maxson, Spruce street. Democratic, Bernard Welch, White Rock; Angelo Rizzo, Central park. Gate tender, James Naccarato; republican checkers, outside rail, Mrs. Howard C. Taylor, Miss John Datson.

Second Voting District—Moderator, Lewis Stanton; clerk, Miss Mabel A. Saunders; supervisors, republican, Charles M. Lamb, Andrew Fisher.

Democratic, Michael A. Fuscano, Cottage court. Charles M. Dowd, School street; gate tender, George E. Broughton. Republican checkers, outside railing, Mrs. C. Palmer Chapman, Miss M. Isabelle Chapman. In the First Voting district the first two ballots were cast by Edward H. Blackler and Mrs. Connie P. Hall and in the second district by Farquhar Smith and John Pickering.

Following was the vote:

First Voting District—Straight tickets, 271, republican; straight tickets, 158, democrat. Scratched, 86; defective, 1; total 516.

Republican — Moderator, Lewis Stanton, 329; town clerk, Everett E. Whipple, 326; first councilman, Horace E. Burdick, 307; second councilman, George E. Social For Class Members

Miss Betty Pendleton gave her Sunday school class a Halloween social in the Congregational parish house, Monday evening. In one corner of the room was a graveyard with a ghost in the middle and it was some time before the children would go near it. The room was attractively decorated. Many games were played, and the refreshments were cakes and cocoa. Those attending were the pastor's wife, Mrs. W. G. Fagan, Miss Mildred Pendleton, and the following children: Clarissa Coogan, Violet Meyer, Lena Simon, Sibyl Bindloss, Rachael Taggert, Nonie and Anna Swallow and Marian Moulton.

Remembered Secretary

The Women's Bible class of the Union Baptist church held a business meeting and social in the vestry, Monday evening, with 28 members present. During the business hour, $100 of the money received from the rummage sale held recently was voted over to the church. Following the business, Mrs. Fannie Travena sang two solos and Mrs. Leota Wilcox read three selections, which were all enjoyed. At the close of the evening, refreshments were served. Three members of the class then went to the home of the secretary, who is ill, and took her a beautiful basket of chrysanthemums and a box of cookies and candies.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Whittemore Bros.

In a striking series of advertisements going in all the leading New England newspapers, Whittemore Bros. again demonstrate their leadership as the world's largest manufacturers of shoe polish and shoe dressings. Because of the vogue for suede shoes, a tremendous amount of Whittemore's Chic Suede Dressing, which comes in all the wanted colors, is being sold.

Advertising Chic is the advertisement printed here which appears in the Bulletin this morning.

Chic is a companion package to Whittemore's famous Bostonian Cream, which is having tremendous vogue in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cleveland and other leading American cities. This vogue is due to the fact that it is a clean product to use. The Neutral cream can be used on shoes of any color of kid or calf leathers. It also cleans ladies' handbags of glazed leather. Chic, which is a liquid dressing, can be used on suede handbags in perfect safety. It is waterproof, and therefore will not come off on the hands or clothing.

WALL STREET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP) — New construction contracted for in the Metropolitan district of New York during October had a total value of $78,001,800, compared with $58,086,000 in the previous month, F. W. Dodge corporation reports.

The National Family Stores company has opened its 75th unit at San Antonio, Texas.

Net profits of the Paramount-Famous-Lasky corporation for October will show an increase of 68 per cent over the profits for the corresponding month last year, it has been estimated by Ralph A. Kohn, treasurer of the company.

During the past four years and nine months, cash dividends totaling $129,000,000, or a yearly average of $27,000,000, have been distributed by the Singer Manufacturing company.

New securities offered for public subscription tomorrow include an offering of $10,000,000 City of Chicago 6 per cent tax anticipation warrant notes priced to yield about 5.375 per cent. One half of the amount will mature Nov. 15, 1930, and the remainder on Dec. 15, 1930.

Sales of raw sugar for future delivery on the New York coffee and sugar exchange during October amounted to 678,750 tons, as compared with 848,250 tons in September and 842,750 tons in October, 1928.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Abrupt new breaks in wheat values tore the market down 3 1-2c a bushel today, making a maximum drop of 9 1-2c from last week's top level. Huge immediate supplies on hand both in the United States and Canada as well as at the principal European ports, appeared to be largely responsible. Notwithstanding late estimates that the fresh collapse of prices had brought about trans-Atlantic purchasing of 1,500,000 bushels of North American wheat today, the market here closed at within half a cent of the lowest point reached.

Latest Chicago quotations on wheat were nervous, 2 3-4 to 3 3-8c under yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1 to 1 3-8c down, oats 7-8@1 to 1 1-8@1 1-4c off and provisions unchanged to a set back of 17 cents.

With Liverpool, Hamburg and Rotterdam prices for wheat today showing much greater downturns than had been looked for, the market here displayed weakness from the outset. In particular, Chicago traders were uneasy over reports of increasing stocks of wheat in Europe and because of widespread notice being taken of further enlargement of the immense visible supply in the United States. Despatches at hand put special emphasis on lack of sufficient storage facilities for new arrivals of wheat at Liverpool, and meanwhile hundreds of wheat-laden cars were reported as waiting under demurrage charges at Galveston, with Kansas City and St. Louis offering No. 2 wheat available immediately at a big discount under future deliveries.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theatre.

"Quick Watson, the needle!" Sounds familiar, don't it? Well, it should, for it's none other than our old friend Sherlock Holmes, dean of detectives, and founder of the modern school of criminal science, Clive Brook, ideal in personality, disposition and appearance for the role of the keen, cold-blooded sleuth, has the enviable role of Sherlock Holmes, and as usual puts across a wonderful characterization. The old familiar characters of Dr. Watson, the faithful but somewhat dumb assistant to Holmes, and of Doctor Moriarty, the assassin and arch fiend of the underworld, are in capable hands, and the untiring efforts of Dr. Holmes to trace the murderer of his closest friend, and to break up an international radio tapping ring, furnish a series of exciting and thrilling incidents that surpass anything in the more modern detective stories. Holmes' activities bring him to the United States, and many of the thrilling scenes take place on the huge steamship "Aquitania." In addition to the latest Fox Movietone News, the talking featurettes include Douglas Stanbury and his "buddies' chorus" of 50 veterans in "Marching Home", an Armistice day incident "over there." Eli Brendel and Flo Bert in "Beau Night" and Laurel and Hardy in "Men of War". Next Saturday will bring the premiere of Harold Lloyd's first talking picture "Welcome Danger," which even the sternest critics have termed a "wow" and is now "packing them" in on Broadway, New York.

Bazaar at Germania Hall

Germania hall, at 32 Market street, has been elaborately decorated for the third annual bazaar, which is to be given at the hall on the evenings of Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week by Junior branch, No. 11, O. D. H. S. Attractively decorated booths, along with varied colored streamers add to the beauty of the hall.

The bazaar is the result of months of working and planning by the Junior branch, which has put forth its efforts and finances so that this affair might be a success. Free dancing is also included on the program, while door awards will be made nightly.

The auxiliary of the lodge are to have a special booth at the bazaar where hand-embroidered articles and other hand-made articles will be displayed.

THE RIGHT COAL LETS YOU STAY UPSTAIRS

One of the most frequent testimonials to Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite is a statement to the effect that "It requires less attention to the heater."

Certainly the cellar stairs in homes that burn Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite get less wear—because this pure, dense, long-burning coal has a happy habit of taking care of itself for long periods.

The elements that nature has put into Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite are ideally balanced to meet modern home-heating requirements; it holds fire incredibly long when a mild spell dictates little draft—and leaps into quick activity when draft is increased. Always, it burns long, evenly and thoroughly.

Order Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite by its full brand name, and learn how easy it is to manage a fire burning this fine old brand of anthracite coal.

FARMERS ARE JOINING CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE

ORANGEVILLE, Pa.—(AP)—A farmers' chamber of commerce is in operation here and not far away a business men's association has changed its name to "Community association" to admit farmers as members.

Orangeville's chamber of commerce has a majority of its membership among the farmers and offers them lower annual dues than town members pay. The community association at Benton has more farmers than town residents among its members since it changed its name and broadened its scope.

PENNSYLVANIA FARMERS CHEER "THE MANLY ART"

BLOOMSBURG Pa.—(AP)—Local rural families, enamored of boxing bouts through radio reports, help swell the attendance at matches in their own communities.

Interest is about equally divided between the sexes. Amateur and professional, known and unknown boxers—all get "a hand" from the farmers, many of whom are enjoying their first opportunity to see "leather pushers" in action.

RACIAL DIFFERENCES LAID TO ENDOCRINES

NEW YORK—(AP)—There is much reason to believe that endocrine organs are responsible for the different races of mankind, says Prof. R. R. Renshaw of New York university in a report to the American Chemical society.

These organs are ductless glands, the secretions of which scientists recently have been discovering.

CAMEL AND ARCTIC OX ONCE INHABITED IDAHO

WASHINGTON— (AP) —The camel plies the sun-baked desert and the musk ox lives in the frozen Arctic, but 100,000 years ago their ancestral relatives lived in Idaho.

Fossil bones of the creatures have been found by Dr. J. W. Gidley, Smithsonian paleontologist, in the Snake river valley where they were probably deposited during the great ice age.

The ox, belonging to the same group as the present-day Arctic animal, was a monster creature, more than twice the bulk of the living species.

That the creature was a common animal in the region was established in finding bones of half a dozen individuals, although not enough to reconstruct a complete skeleton.

"The camel bones indicate that the climate must have been mild," Dr. Gidley said, "although the remains of the extinct ox point to the reverse.

"We must secure a better knowledge of Idaho fauna to solve the interesting question whether the climate was colder than we have thought or whether the ox ranged farther south than the living species."

776 FOUND PARTLY DEAF OUT OF 6,137 CHILDREN

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—(AP)—Revelations of widespread deafness among school children are reported to the American Federation of Organizations for the Hard of Hearing.

Tests with an audiometer on 6,137 Richmond, Va., children showed that 776 suffered from 9 per cent. or more loss of hearing in one or both ears.

As a result, Dr N. Thomas Ennett, medical director of the Richmond schools, reports to the league that lip reading classes probably will be organized soon.

JAPANESE TURN EYES TO BRAZIL FOR COTTON

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil —(AP)— Japanese enterprise is entering the cotton manufacturing industry in the Amazon valley, according to Irige Guchino, official of one of the largest cotton manufacturers.

The cotton of Ceara is used extensively by European mills. The Japanese plan, instead, to both raise cotton and manufacture it into cloth in Brazil, Guchino said.

His company also will raise and manufacture silk. The industry started several years ago in Sao Paulo with worms and mulberry shoots from Japan, and has prospered.

FLORIDA MARKETS MOSS FOR USE IN UPHOLSTERY

INVERNESS, Fla.— (AP) —Tropical moss, abundant in this region of west Florida, is going to add to the income of Citrus county residents in the vicinity of Lake Isala Apappa. A moss packing plant will open soon in this little tow of 1,200 population.

The cured moss is ginned, baled and shipped north for use in upholstery.

ROCKING OF CHAIR OPERATES A CHURN

BAGDAD, Fla.—(AP)—Bagdad housewives may do their chores simply by rocking in a chair if a device made by Jim Brasher and Maxwell Aates, Bagdad citizens, is perfected.

In preliminary experiments, power furnished by the rocking of a chair operated a fan, a churn and a sewing machine. They are seeking a patent.

OKLAHOMA U. FAVORS STUDENTS WHO WORK

NORMAN, Okla. — (AP) — The working student gets first consideration at the University of Oklahoma, where crowded conditions necessitated longer school days and classes scattered throughout the day.

To avoid burdensome handicaps to employed students, they were given a choice of all class hours available.

EXPLODING FUNGUS GETS BACK ON TREE LEAVES

NEW YORK—(AP)—The "ink spot" fungus falls to the ground from leaves of trees, and the New York botanical garden has discovered how it gets back to the leaves again.

On the ground it matures, grows into a puff ball, and explodes in a cloud resembling smoke.

New Process for Rubber.

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Latex, the milky juice of a number of tropical plants, is transformed into sheet rubber by a special coagulant developed by a British Malaya inventor, according to the department of commerce. The process is claimed to produce exceptional keeping qualities.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre.

They were just a couple of sailors, on shore leave, and they meant no harm to anybody, but before they got through they had socked several people and busted a lot of furniture. Still, their intentions were good. All they wanted to do was to go home. That is the situation in "Sailors' Holiday," the rollicking comedy now playing at the Palace theatre, with Alan Hale in the featured role.

Even before Big Alan and his boy friend, Shorty, leave the ship, you can tell there is likely to be trouble. The last thing they hear is a warning from their superior officer not to start a roughhouse when they reach shore. They promise faithfully—but just the same.

From the moment they land, they are under the eagle eye of their old enemy, "Jimmylegs," who is just aching for a chance to send them back to the "brig." Alan is carrying a parrot which he bought in some God-forsaken South American port as a present for his mother. All he desires is to get the bird safely home. Shorty, on the other hand, is not averse to a word or two with the numerous girls who stop to talk with them, but Alan, knowing the little fellows weakness for women, keeps him in the narrow path. Beauty after beauty catch their eye but they hurry righteously homeward—That is until one certain beauty appears on the scene.

The funny part of it is that when this comely young lady arrives, both of the sailor lads aren't in the least interested in her. She, too, is looking for a "lost brother," which gives them a hearty laugh. But somehow or other her destinies become linked with theirs and the first thing we know there is a knock down and drag out fight going on, with our sailor boys eventually scattering far and wide. Jimmylegs is frantic to get his hands on the pair. But wait and see who Jimmylegs actually turns out to be. There's the surprise!

Starting Saturday at the Palace is one of the truly superb dramas of the year—"Evidence," starring Pauline Frederick, in a brilliant heart idyll which shows clearly the peril of conviction on circumstantial evidence.

BRITISH URGE GERMAN BE TAUGHT IN SCHOOLS

LONDON — (AP) — Not enough German is being taught in England, warns the British board of education in a report pointing out that Germany is once more one of the leading commercial countries of the world.

The board's survey of secondary schools reveals that comparatively few schools offer German, while nearly all teach French.

In addition to urging "a substantial increase" in teaching German, the board states Spanish, too, is lagging far behind French in the schools, but not in the world for which school is supposed to be a preparation.

SUSTAINING NEW LONDON COURT DECISION MEANS DROPPING WHITE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 4—The sustaining of the decision of the New London police court against Supernumerary Police Officer Charles White, who appealed from the $50 fine imposed, when the officer was penalized that amount, and Tax Collector Hibbard N. Alexander was fined $15 on a charge of breach of the peace in attacking Soi Ockooneff, State street merchant in the municipal building four months ago during an altercation between the merchant and the tax collector over the payment of taxes, by the court of common pleas at Norwich today, will result in Captain Charles A. Pinney making recommendation to City Manager William A. Holt that White be dismissed from the service, as soon as Captain Pinney has been officially notified of the decision of the court. White has been under suspension since the episode, having been employed in New York. The court today ordered Tax Col. Alexander to pay the costs of the court when that official pleaded nolle, he being compelled to pay about $27. The tax collector will also be compelled to defend a suit brought by Ockooneff in the superior court the latter part of the week, for the merchant is seeking damages of $25,000 as a result of the city hall fracas. The row that resulted in the arrest of Alexander and White was precipitated when the merchant argued with Alexander relative to the payment of taxes. During the heated debate, Alexander ordered White to eject Ockooneff from the tax collector's office and in the melee Ockooneff fell violently to the tile floor and was injured.

Ignored Traffic Signal

Patsy Vitro of Groton, was arrested last night by Captain Andrew McCarthy, Groton police department, charged with passing an automatic traffic signal set at danger, corner of Poquonoc road and Mitchell street. He will be tried in the Groton town court Monday next. Patrolman Fay Chapman, Groton department, also arrested Cyril V. Moore, Westerly, charged with speeding on Poquonoc road. The Westerly driver will also be in court Monday.

Crowley Club's Banquet

At the Mohican hotel ballroom last night more than 100 members of the Crowley club gathered for the annual banquet. Rev. Father James L. Travis of Hartford was the speaker of the evening. Other guests of honor were Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley, pastor of St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, and the Rev. Alexander C. Wollschlager of East Portchester, formerly a curate of St. Mary's church here. Mrs. John C. Geary, Mrs. Sarah Kennedy and Miss Delia Moroney, all of whom take a friendly interest in the club and its activities. Miss Eleanor Dray, president, was toastmistress. During the banquet Miss Isabelle Small played the piano.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Charles Makin

Mrs. Sarah Makin, widow of Charles Makin, died yesterday at her home, 10 Bulkeley place. She is survived by no one near of kin, Mrs. Makin formerly resided on Bayonet street. Her husband, a baker, died nine years ago.

A certificate filed for record in the probate court today discloses that Alice C. Fenger is the sole heir to the estate of her mother, Alice E. Clay, who died several months ago. The heir-at-law becomes the owner of a residence and building lot on Fremont street.

WEDDINGS

Jones-Wesley

Samuel Jones, of South Manchester and Mrs. Hazel Wesley, daughter of Mrs. Lucy Doornbos, of Groton, were married Saturday night at the parsonage of the Groton Baptist church by Rev. George R. Atha. Jerry Donovan, of this city, was best man and Miss Margaret Doornbos, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Upon the conclusion of their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Jones will reside at 148 Poquonoc road, Groton.

Greenes-Freeman

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Freeman, 372 Williams street, of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Frances Freeman, and Jesse Greenes, of New Haven. The marriage ceremony was performed Sunday, Nov. 3, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Feinmark, New Haven, by Rabbi Greenberg in the presence of relatives from New York, Hartford and New Haven. Mr. Greenes is a practicing attorney at New Haven and a graduate from Bulkeley school of this city. His bride is a graduate from Williams Memorial Institute and for the last three years had been engaged in social service work at the Henry Meinnard Memorial, New York.

Hadassah Officers

At the meeting of New London chapter of Hadassah, held last night in the Hebrew institute building, Blackhall street, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Benjamin Kaplan; vice president, Miss Jennie Greenblatt; recording secretary, Mrs. Joseph Epstein; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Martin Greenblatt; treasurer, Mrs. Joseph Eisenstein. Miss Jennie Greenblatt was appointed a delegate to the annual Southern New England Zionist conference, to be held at New Haven, Nov. 10 and at which Dr. Schmayra Levin will be the principal speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. William Robare have returned to their home on West Coit street, after a motor trip to Canada.

Charles L. Marsdale, 18 Coit street, is a surgical patient at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, having been operated upon yesterday. Today Mr. Marsdale was resting comfortably, the operation not being of a serious nature.

Mrs. Margaret Williams, and daughter, Ruth, are spending a few days in New York.

At the meeting of the Companions of the Forest, held last night in Moose hall, Mrs. Blanche Craddock, delegate from the New London circle at the annual convention of the order, held in Atlantic City last month, presented her report, which proved highly interesting.

To Entertain Conference

The November meeting of the board of the Methodist Episcopal church was held last night and announcement was made that the invitation of the New London church to entertain the New England Southern conference here had been accepted. The conference will be held in April. An executive committee, Rev. Charles E. Smaulding, chairman; Alton T. Miner, Robert L. Smith, Mrs. Robert A. T. Bitgood, Mrs. William D. Harris and Mrs. Marvin A. Smith was appointed for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for the event.

Tramp Room Crowded

The cool weather tonight with the mercury about the 30 mark caused numerous applications at police headquarters for lodgings. For many weeks there have been but a comparatively few unfortunates to seek shelter, but last night and again tonight the tramp room was filled with unemployed and others, who desired to save money for room hire for either food or transportation.

Look For Two Deserters

Two deserters are being sought by the military authorities and the New London police. Virgil Lee Givens, seaman second class, deserted from the submarine base, the latter part of last month. He enlisted in 1928. Givens' home is in Cincinnati. The other is Edward L. Jones, fireman third class, who also deserted from the base last month. He enlisted in September, 1927, and his home is in Portland Ore. A reward for the arrest and delivery of either of the deserters at a military base, has been offered.

QUINN, OLD OFFENDER, IS SENT TO HOSPITAL

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 5—Harry H. White was arrested this afternoon charged with breach of the peace and John Quinn, residing at 11 Truman street, where, it is alleged he is the proprietor of a drinking resort, was arrested charged with intoxication.

The police received a telephone call from Arthur Holmes, proprietor of a fish market at 685 Bank street shortly after 3 o'clock that a fight had taken place in the Quinn residence and that a frequenter of the place had left, cut and bleeding. Patrolmen Carlos Stone and Frank Linehan arrived at the Quinn house to find it unoccupied. White, who is alleged to have precipitated the fight, was found in the vicinity by Patrolman Louis Wheeler and when taken to police headquarters was locked up and will be in court tomorrow. A short time afterwards, Quinn was arrested on Truman street by Officers Stone and Linehan and after being taken to police headquarters, he was transferred to Lawrence-Memorial hospital for he was suffering from bad lacerations of the head and face, which injuries were said to have been inflicted by Whitell It is doubtful if Quinn will be presented in court tomorrow. Quinn is an old offender in violation of the liquor law and has not only served sentences in the county jail and paid fines for such violation, but he has served one term of imprisonment at Wethersfield state prison. He was liberated about two years ago and immediately resumed the conduct of the liquor business.

Roy Connor, U. S. Coast Guard; Miss Rowena Harwood, 226 Ocean avenue; Mrs. Alphonso McCullough, 155 Vauxhall street; Shirley and Mary Crane, 3 Harrison street, Daniel Brennan, 36 Bell avenue, patients at Lawrence Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

FUNERALS

Mrs. David Quinn

Private funeral services for Mrs. Julia E. Quinn, wife of David Quinn, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at her residence, 154 Green street. Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, pastor of the First Church of Christ, officiating. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Frederick Batch

The funeral of Frederick Batch was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at his residence 141 Thames street, Groton, the services being conducted by Rev. George R. Atha, pastor of Groton Heights Baptist church. Burial was in Groton cemetery.

OBITUARY

Miss A. G. Serafin

Miss Augusta G. Serafin, 66, died early today at the residence of her sister, Mrs. George M. Chapin, 48 Perry street, after a lingering illness. Besides her sister Miss Serafin is survived by another sister, Mrs. Clark B. Whaley, of Groton, and a brother, Charles Sera in this city. Miss Serafind was born in New London Feb. 28, 1863, and had always resided here.

Julia A. Marsh has sold a house and lot on Bellevue place, to Mary N. Fresher.

Dr. E. Oliver Winship has sold to John Wilbur land with buildings thereon, on the easterly side of Ocean avenue.

Bentley Heirs Sell Land

David D. Bentley, Peekskill, N. Y.; Andrew J. Bentley, Rockville Center, N. Y.; Abbie Bentley, New Haven; Ruth B. O'Neil, Willimantic and Mary B. Keeney, New York, have sold two building lots between Georgiana street and Dow court, to Leon E. McLaughlin.

Benjamin L. Armstrong, John P. T. Armstrong and William H. Reeves, trustees of the estate of Benjamin A. Armstrong, have sold a building lot on Fitch avenue to Stephen J. Crouch.

Gianetti Case Goes Over

Two cases of violation of the liquor law were tried in the police court today, but neither was disposed of. Eugene Gianetti, 18 East street, was charged with possession and the case was continued to Saturday next. Gianetti was the driver of a truck which was found on the extension of Railway avenue yesterday by Patrolman Dennis Murphy. When six cases of home brew beer were found a short distance from where the truck was parked Gianetti was ordered to placed the cases on the truck and convey them to police headquarters, where the driver was formally charged with the specific charge. Gianetti denied knowledge of the ownership of the beer or how it came to be found by Murphy, while the officer contends that the beer was deposited where it was found by the truck driver.

Perry Case Continued

Frank Perry, 38 Denison avenue, was charged with possession and keeping with intent to sell. His case was also continued until next Saturday. Eight men charged with frequenting Perry's home, were given their freedom by the cases being nolled. Perry's home was raided by a squad of police a week ago last Saturday night and there Perry and the men were arrested when a quantity of home-brew beer and alcohol was found by the searchers.

Barton Stewart, of Stonington, was charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law in failing to grant right of way. The charge was nolled.

William R. Thomas, Willetts avenue, a sailor at the submarine base, was charged with driving without registration. The charge was nolled upon payment of the costs of the court.

WOMAN LEFT 2 CHILDREN TO GO WITH PARAMOUR

Lawrence Flake and Mrs. Lucille J. Litwon, wife of John Litwon, 9 Press street, were charged with lascivious carriage. Flake was sentenced to 60 days in jail, but execution of the sentence was suspended. Mrs. Litwon's case was ordered continued a month. Mrs. Litwon left home last Friday and yesterday when she had not returned her husband instituted a search and obtained information that his wife and Flake were at the rooming house, 100 Green street. Litwon went to police headquarters and made complaint against his wife and Flake. Sergeant John Courtney, Automobile Patrol Officer Clarence Martin and Patrolman William Riordan went to the rooming house and finding the man and woman there arrested them. Litwon said that in his wife's departure from her home she left two children, who had been neglected by her absence.

Sent To Norwich State Hospital

Jessie Whegals, colored, of New Haven, was charged with vagrancy, but because of his apparent defective mentality, the man was committed to Norwich State hospital for observation. Whegals was arrested by Automobile Patrol Officer Augustus Ray and Patrolman Louis Tooker at the Union station yesterday when he annoyed passengers by soliciting alms.

Two men were charged with intoxication. One was arrested on North Bank street and was sentenced to 60 days in jail, but the execution of the sentence was suspended. The other did not appear in court so his bond of $10 was declared forfeited.

Mrs. Levole, 49 Willets avenue, made complaint to the police today that during last night a thief entered the yard of her home and stole articles of infants' apparel from a clothesline.

POETRY

Sweet Memories.

Through all the world be dark to me,
There lives a dear, sweet memory.
And e'en my heart shall learn to sing
From happy thoughts, the memories bring.

Of carefree days and joyousness,
Of love and sympathy complete,
My heart is not left comfortless,
For lives a memory, pure and sweet.
Nor years of sorrow shall efface
The past, and all it means to me,
There's naught on earth can fill the place
Of you in my loved memory.

Though misty clouds obscure the sun,
I'll smile in all serenity,
And count my blessings, one by one,
My dreams of you, and memory.

Though waking thoughts be filled with pain,
And through the mists I scarce can see,
Sweet memories I still retain,
And live again those days, with thee.

And I shall smile through unshed tears,
Though countless years, my portion be.
For what to me are passing years,
When each day, brings sweet memories?

The Harvest of Time.

Time winnows beauty with a fiery wind,
Driving the dead chaff from the living grain,
Some day there will be golden sheaves to bind:
There will be wonder in the world again,
There will be lonely phrases born to power,
There will be words immortal and profound:
Though no man knows the coming of the hour,
And no man knows the sower or the ground,
It may be even now the ranging earth
Lifting to glory some forgotten land
Feels there deep beauty quickening to birth,
Spung from the sowing of a hidden hand.
Beauty endures though towering empires die,
Oh, speed the blown chaff down the smoking sky!

—Harold Trowbridge Pulsifer.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Teacher—Early to bed and early to rise. Who said that?

Bright Pupil—Musta been Willie, I saw him talking.—Boston Transcript.

First Cannibal (running into camp)—Is I late fo' dinna'?

Second Cannibal—You is; everybody's eaten.—Exchange.

Buggs—Where, in Chicago, do you live?

Muggs—Only a bomb's throw from the station.—The Pathfinder.

Judge—What brought you here?

Accused—Two policemen.

Judge—I don't mean them—drunk, I presume.

Accused—Both of them.—Lustige Blaetter, Berlin.

Mrs. Hiram Browser—Why won't you join the wives' union? Husband object?

Mrs. Cuddleton—Not at all. Only he says he intends to run the house as an open shop.—Detroit News.

"John, it's positively shameful the way Junior talks. I just heard him say: 'I ain't never went nowhere.'"

"Shameful? Why, he has traveled twice as much as most boys his age!"—Capper's Weekly.

"Here is my bill," said the lawyer. "Wish you would pay $100 down and then $25 a week."

"Sounds like buying an automobile," said the client.

"I am," said the lawyer.—Brooklyn Standard-Union.

"When I was a little child," the top sergeant sweetly addressed his men at the end of an exhaustive hour of drill, "I had a set of wooden soldiers. There was a poor boy in the neighborhood, and one day after I had been to Sunday school and listened to a stirring talk on the beauties of charity, I softened enough to give them to him. Then I wanted them back. Mother heard me crying and said:

"'Don't cry, Bertie, some day you'll get your wooden soldiers back.'

"And believe me, you lop-sided, mutton-headed, goofus-brained set of certified rolling pins, that day has come."—New York Central Lines Magazine.

The enamel of a tooth is practically the same composition as a crystaline phosphate rock.

The population of the Roman empire at the time of Christ has been estimated to be 70,000,000.

The cony is the farmer of the animal world, stacking his haystacks of plant food so that it may dry out then be stored in his burrow for use in winter.

Monroe Jones, 89, is still at home on horseback. He rode 70 miles over the Salmon mountains, most of the way on a rude trail, to go to Weaverville, Calif., from his home in Siskiyou county. He went to visit his daughter, Mrs. S. A. Steele. After passing a few days with her, Jones trotted off on the return trip over the mountains to his home.

"Just because my name is Jessie James Outlaw, don't get the idea that I am dangerous and don't think my parents were trying to play a joke on me when I was christened. My father's name is Jesse and I was the first child. James is another family name. Say anything about me you care to, but don't write my name 'Jessie James, Outlaw.'" So spoke Miss Jessie James Outlaw, explaining her curious name to the registar while enrolling as a student in Texas Christian university.

Because Judge William M. Northrup of Los Angeles couldn't find anything in the law that permitted him to make the innocent half of a Siamese twin combination suffer with the guilty half, the judge dismissed charges against Lucio Golino. Lucino was arrested for making a left turn and other traffic violations. The astonished cop took Lucino to jail in spite of the protest of Simplicio Godino, the other half of the combination. In court the innocent brother told Judge Northrup that he wasn't guilty and didn't think that he should be jailed or fined because his brother was driving the car.

ELECTRIC LOCOMOTIVE 6 PRODUCTION DECLINES

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The proportion of electric to steam locomotives manufactured for domestic and foreign railroads shows a sharp decline during the first eight months this year compared with last.

Department of commerce records indicate that there have been no foreign purchases of American made electric locomotives thus far this year.

Domestic shipments of steam locomotives have increased from 285 during the first eight months in 1928 to 480 for the same period this year.

At the same time, shipments of electric locomotives dropped from 92 to 37.

GREENEVILLE

C. O. MURPHY, FORMER RESIDENT, A VISITOR

Charles O. Murphy, of Palmer, Mass., was calling on his many friends in Greeneville Monday. Mr. Murphy conducted a plumbing business for many years on Central avenue.

At St. Andrew's Guild room a very successful entertainment was given recently by the members of the parish and their friends. The seating capacity was taxed to the limit for the play, which was entitled "Aunt Sally's Farmyard."

Mrs. Bolton, who has been living in New York for nearly seven years, returns to her home in the country, having acquired some culture and a little money. She is very proud of her position among the people she used to know but unfortunately in her haste the first time she goes to church she puts her hat on backwards. Since it is Mrs. Bolton who is wearing it, it is mistaken for a new style and everyone in the neighborhood follows her example. The confusion which results is the theme of the play. The scene is in Aunt Sally Maria's sitting room. The characters of the play are: Aunt Maria, rather elderly and very kind, Mrs. John Hall; Mrs. Bolton, inclined to tears, Mrs. William Mabrey; Laurina Payton, a devotee of fashion, Mrs. Amiel Brosofske; Susan Gibbs, plump and good natured, Miss Maude E. Woolley; Lena Gibbs, her sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles Perry; Minnie Mingows, a neighborly woman, Mrs. Howard Gordon; Nancy Vreeland, burdened with a cow, a child and a husband, Miss Ruth McKinley; Maudie Vreeland, Mrs. James Johnson; Sarah Simmons, who likes to know the reason why, Miss Iola B. Shaw.

During the evening several pleasing numbers were rendered by a quartet consisting of Miss Mary Gray, soprano; Mrs. Leonard Prentice, contralto; Robert Gray, tenor, and Frank Steinke, bass, which were well received by the large audience. Miss Gray and Mr. Gray also rendered soprano and tenor solos during the evening. Mrs. William Manning entertained the audience with readings. Alex Finlayson, who is well known for his impersonation of Harry Lauder, with his Scotch comedy stories and songs, made a big hit. The affair was under the direction of Mrs. E. J. Norris. The proceeds of the affair will be added to the church treasury.

Mr. and Mrs. William McClafferty and family, of New York, spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Michael Leonard, on Hickory street.

A Halloween party was held at the home of Mrs. William A. Taft, at 560 Boswell avenue, recently with 15 of her friends attending. During the evening many games were played and enjoyed, also dancing, with selections on the radio providing music for the dancing. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Anthony J. Bernard. The dining room was very prettily decorated for the occasion with the color scheme of orange and black being used. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. William Prescott, Mr. and Mrs. William Winterbottom, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bernard, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Young, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Kramer, Mr. and Mrs. John Atterbury, Mrs. George Chappell and Raymond Boynton. The party broke up at a reasonable hour, all present voting Mrs. Taft an ideal hostess.

Sergeant John Casey, of Prospect street, is spending a few days with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Webber, at New York city.

On Monday, at 7:30, Troop 21, Boy Scouts, met in the hall of the Third Baptist church. The evening's program included signalling and the passing of tests. Millard Mulkin and Earle Christiansen passed in signalling; Lee Quinley passed thrift; Arthur Abell, compass; Millard Mulkin, Leo Quinley, Russell Rydholme, Teddy Donovan, safety rules; Harold Gates, Edward Daley, Stanley Danilowicz, John Cimikoski, John Kissel, passed tenderfoot tests and received applications for membership. The troop intends to have a hike Saturday at 9 a. m.

SIX MONTHS JAIL SENTENCE FOR OPERATING AUTO UNDER INFLUENCE

Howard Brooks of Clinton was on trial in the criminal common pleas court here Tuesday before Judge C. B. Waller and a jury and was found guilty, as charged, of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Before Judge Waller pronounced sentence it was disclosed, in response to an inquiry from the judge, that the day of the trial was the Clinton young man's 24th birthday.

The jury brought in a verdict of guilty after being out about half an hour. Brooks was then called upon to plead to a count as a second offender and when he pleaded "guilty," Judge Waller imposed upon him the minimum penalty of six months in jail and costs which is the obligatory sentence under the statute for second offenders.

While Judge Waller was giving his charge Mrs. William Brooks, mother of the young man, fainted in the court room and had to be assisted to the outside by her two daughters, all having been witnesses in the trial of the case.

Brooks was on trial following his arrest on the night of July 13 when an automobile driven by him ran into two other cars which were parked alongside the road in the town of Old Lyme at the country club there. The evidence for the state was given by Lawrence D Carter, owner of one of the cars hit, James B. Appleby, who was in the machine, and John B. Treiber, who was a state policeman at the time, attached to the Centerbrook barracks. The evidence went to show that the Brooks car hit the Carter machine, which was on the right hand side of the road, and then hit another car that was also parked there. The Brooks car had its right forward wheel smashed, but Brooks backed his car away from the smash and then drove off on three wheels till he turned into a side road about two-thirds of a mile away. Here the state policeman found the car standing with Brooks asleep in it. The officer left the man there while he went back to continue his investigations and when he returned to take Brooks to the lockup, the young man was still asleep in the car. There was a strong odor of alcohol about the man, who had to be practically carried into another car to transport him to the lockup.

The defense made by Brooks was that he had not been drinking, that he had been at home all the evening until he went out to go to his brother's and that he was blinded by the lights of another machine at the time of the collision with the parked car. He claimed he struck his head and didn't know anything after that until he woke up in the lockup the next morning.

Witnesses who were called for him were Cecil Brooks, Mrs. William Brooks, Dorothy and Helen Brooks, his sisters, Milton A. Hilliard and Shirley A. Saunders.

When the case was concluded, Judge Waller excused the jury until Thursday, Nov. 19.

JUDGE WALLER DECIDES COMMON PLEAS CASES

In the session of the criminal common pleas court in this city Tuesday morning with Judge C. B. Waller presiding, Julia Ruszenas of this city, charged with breach of the peace, had her case nolled as did her husband, John Ruszenas, charged with the same offense.

Gust Sanderjuist of New London, charged with reckless driving, was fined $20.

A nolle on payment of costs was entered in the case of Ernest C. Alcott, of Massachusetts, who was charged with a violation of the motor vehicle law in Stonington. He had been fined $25 in the Stonington court.

The case of Rose Marshall of Stonington, charged with violating the motor vehicle law, was continued.

Daniel F. Spencer of Old Saybrook, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor in Old Lyme was given 10 days in jail.

The case of John McCall, charged with non-support was continued to the next term of court.

John Roderick of Stonington, charged with violation of the liquor law, obtained a nolle in his case.

Peter Ballaro of this city, who was charged with violation of the motor vehicle laws, obtained a nolle upon payment of $25 flat. He was fined $75 and costs in police court here.

ALEXANDER PAYS COSTS; WHITE IS FINED $50

Following a lengthy conference at the session of the criminal common pleas court here Tuesday morning between counsel for the state and the defendant, the case against Tax Collector Hibbard N. Alexander, of New London, charging him with breach of the peace in connection with the assault upon Sol Ockooneff, crippled State street jeweler of that city, July 29 in the lobby of the tax office, was nolled on payment of costs, which amounted to $26.61.

Supernumerary Charles White was presented at 11:55 o'clock and he pleaded nolo contendre. Judge Charles B. Waller overruled the plea and fined White $50 and costs, the same fine as was imposed by Judge Daniel M. Cronin in the New London police court.

All the morning, Prosecuting Attorney Charles B. Whittlesey and Prosecuting Attorney Max Boyer, of the New London police court, associated with the former in the conduct of the state's case, conferred with Attorneys J. James Floyd and Herbert W. Rathbun, counsel for Alexander and White.

The defense attorneys pleaded for an absolute nolle for Tax Collector Alexander, but the state attorney would not consider this. After the conference, Prosecuting Attorney Whittlesey told the court that in the case of Alexander, witnesses would differ as to whether the tax collector used vile and abusive language to Ockooneff.

The prosecuting attorney said that he did not believe that Alexander went into the city hall lobby during the actual assault upon Ockooneff and so if the case was tried it would be for the jury to decide whether or not Alexander used vile and abusive language. Therefore, he recommended that Alexander's case be nolled on the payment of costs.

In the case of White, the prosecuting attorney asked that he be put to plea. White threw himself on the mercy of the court by pleading nolo contendre.

Attorney Rathbun, in speaking for White, said that Ockooneff used force with the officer. He said that this would be proved in a trial. Yet, in view of the fact that a $10,000 civil case was pending in the near future, it was thought advisable at this time for White to plead as he did. Attorney Rathbun asked that the court reduce the fine which was imposed by Judge Cronin.

Judge Waller spoke from the bench, saying that there was nothing to justify any change in Judge Cronin's decision, and imposed the same fine.

The affair grew out of a visit by Ockooneff to the tax office July 29. He paid a part of his tax bill. According to testimony in the police court, the crippled jeweler was asked when he would pay the balance, although the payment he had made was in advance. It was alleged that Ockooneff remonstrated with Alexander, saying that he couldn't tell him when he could pay it and also expressing himself as believing that it was not a necessary question. Alexander then ordered White to eject the jeweler.

In the New London police court White was fined $50 and costs and Alexander $15 and costs. Both appealed and both had elected to be tried by a jury in the common pleas court.

SAILING TO RETURN TO HIS WORK IN MONROVIA

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F. Maynard, who have been spending a few days with Mr. Maynard's parents at their home on West Thames street, sail from New York today (Wednesday) on the President Roosevelt for Cherbourg, en route to Monrovia, where Mr. Maynard continues his work as topographer for the Firestone Plantations Co.

Driving Licenses Suspended

In a list of 31 motor vehicle operators who have had their licenses suspended for a year for driving under the influence of liquor are included Avid Bedard, Danielson; Leo White, Glasgow, and Alois Mitterholzer, South Coventry.

Backus Hospital Dismissals.

The following were patients discharged Tuesday at the Backus hospital: Edward McCaffery, 37 Cedar st., Nellie Burda, 5 Mechanic st., Jewett City.

The first exhibition of colored films was given in 1895, with the production of a Kinetoscope film called "Annabelle, the Dancer."

PRIZES ARE AWARDED FOR BIG FISH CATCHES

Eight valuable prizes were awarded to local fishermen who registered their catches at the Hanover-Curland Co. during 1929 fishing season. The prizes were awarded by the Shakespeare fishing tackle manufacturing company in conjunction with the Hanover-Curland Co. The total value of the prizes amounted to $32.50. The Hanover-Curland Co. also has a large number of registrations of catches which came very close to the prize winners. The sizes of the prize catches as well as the average catches this season were larger than the usual run of other seasons. The fishermen who are interested in fishing sport are of the unanimous opinion that the waters in and around Norwich, for their size, are as good fishing grounds as can be found anywhere in the country.

The following is a list of the prize winning catches for the lucky winners who registered their catches with the Hanover-Curland Co.

Steve Duffy, R. F. D. No. 4, Norwich, Conn., first trout prize, two pounds, 12 ounces, Rod.

Henry Wallace, Jewett City, Conn., second trout prize, two pounds, 3 ounces, Rod.

Charles Frink, Lincoln avenue, city, third trout prize, two pounds, 2 ounces, Reel.

Albert Lamphere, Main street, city, first small mouth bass, four pounds, 5 ounces, Reel.

D. J. Bowen, 39 Hobart avenue, city, second small mouth bass, four pounds, one-half ounce, Rod.

John A. Volkman, Taftville, large mouth bass, six pounds, Rod.

Frank Pieper, Orchard street, city, pickerel, two pounds, 15 ounces, Rod.

William Wrigley, care J. B. Martin Co., city, perch, one pound, five ounces, Reel.

Abraham Curland who is greatly interested in fishing as a sport was present and witnessed a number of the prize catches of the season. He has also been a willing listener to a number of fish stories, and he is of the opinion that as long as people are interested in fishing sport there will also be fishermen who might have caught a great big fish.

POSTOFFICE EMPLOYES ENJOY ROAST PIG SUPPER

Postoffice employes of the Norwich office with a few friends, to the number of 48, went to Ledyard Saturday night for a roast pig supper, an annual affair, which was served in the Grange hall of that community. The merry party left the office by auto at 8 o'clock and sat down to the feast about 9. The roast pig with all the "fixin's" was prepared by a committee of women and served in faultless style under the direction of Mr. Doolittle.

Seated at the head table were Postmaster Casper K. Bailey, Assistant Postmaster William A. Wells and Superintendent of City Delivery Maurice F. Kelly. Just previous to the closing of the feast, Postmaster Bailey arose and in well-chosen words, in behalf of the assemblage, thanked the ladies for the excellent supper and the hospitality which the evening provided. Spencer's orchestra rendered an excellent musical program during the serving of the feast.

The following was the menu: Roast stuffed pig, mashed potato, celery, turnip, pickles, rolls and buns, cranberry sauce, apple pie, ice cream, coffee, sweet cider, smokes.

The party dispersed about 11 o'clock, voting the evening one of rare enjoyment. The following was the committee in charge: Frederick B. Doolittle, chairman; Patrick J. McNerney, Michael J. Murphy, Joseph A. Donnelly.

UNION CHURCH SERVICE FOR ARMISTICE SUNDAY

A union service will be held under the auspices of the Norwich Ministers' association in the Central Baptist church on the eve of Armistice day, Sunday, Nov. 10, at 7.30 o'clock. The general theme of the service will be "Progress Towards Peace." A representative of the American Legion, Post No. 4, of Norwich, will be one of the speakers. The second address will be given by Principal H. A. Tirrell of the Norwich Free Academy. Mr. Tirrell will speak on "Patriotism and Peace." The musical features of the evening will be in harmony with the general theme. Louis H. Maples will render Kipling's Recessional in a tenor solo. Pastors of some of the co-operating churches will assist in the order of worship. Boy Scouts will act as ushers.

The purpose of the meeting is to stir up in the minds of the citizens a grateful remembrance for the sacrifices of the past, and to stimulate loyal efforts toward the establishment of peace.

NEW OFFICER APPOINTED AT WOLF CUB MEETING

At the meeting of the Wolf Cub Pack of Scouts connected with the Methodist Episcopal church, held Monday afternoon at the parsonage, the cub master Rev. George Warren Potter appointed a new assistant, Donald Olsen being named assistant cubmaster, to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Arthur Bennett. Following the opening ritual four scouts who were visitors at the meeting helped in a drill period, Clayton Rose, Edward Gallager, Frederick Ross and Donald Olsen. Cub Scout John Gibbs led in a song period. Other cubs who had special assignments during the meeting were Willard Wilbur, Woodruff Sullivan, Ellis Bentley, Frank Jordan and Walter Kelley. William Armstrong passed his tenderpad test at the close of the meeting. The attendance was 22.

TAFTVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Proulx of Hunters avenue, Joseph Gauvin and Philisa Gauvin of Merchants avenue and John B. Gauvin of School street motored to Worcester, Mass., on Sunday.

The members of Ladies Auxiliary, Ancient Order of Hibernians held their monthly business meeting Tuesday evening at their rooms on Merchants avenue, with the president, Mrs. William J. Malone presiding.

The annual business meeting and election of officers of the Taftville Social and Football club was held Monday evening at the clubrooms in the Ponemah house. Fred Knowles was elected to fill the office of president for 1930, succeeding Fred Ince, who was elected treasurer. George Kinder was named as vice president and George Muddeman as secretary. The membership committee consists of Christopher Troeger, George Kinder and Archibald Torrance. All the executive officers will constitute the house committee. Reports showed the club to be in a flourishing condition, both financially and socially. After the business had been concluded there was a social session and an appetizing supper was served by a committee consisting of Fred Ince, Albert Bardsley, John W. Seddon, Christopher Troeger, George Kinder, George Muddeman, David Livingstone, Louis Wohlleben and Henry Leupold. Sauerkraut, frankfurters, rye bread, rolls, coffee, cigars and cigarettes were served. After supper there was an entertaining program of songs and recitations by a number of the club members.

Mr. and Mrs. Desire J. Dufresne of Norwich; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Dion of Hunters avenue and David Lambert of South A street made up a motor party which went to Worcester, Mass., on Sunday, and on the return trip were guests of Dr. Arthur Chartier of Webster, Mass.

There was a large attendance at the monthly business meeting of the Ponemah Wheel club held Tuesday evening at the clubhouse on Norwich avenue.

An orchestra has been organized among the scholars at the Wequonnoc school, and rehearsals are to begin this week.

Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Troie and children William and Jane of Honolulu, H. T., who have been visiting at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexis Troie and family of Providence street, left Monday for Piercefield, N. Y., where they will visit Dr. Troie's brother, Rev. J. A. Troie, later continuing their trip to Detroit, Mich., and Akron, Ohio.

The Artisans met Monday evening.

FUNERAL
Pierre Poirier

Funeral services for Pierre Poirier were held from his late home on upper Merchants avenue Tuesday morning at 8:30, with a solemn high mass of requiem sung by Rev. Donat Jette at Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock. Rev. Frederick R. DesSureault was deacon at the mass and Rev. Omer T. Mandler was sub-deacon. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends of the deceased and the floral tributes were numerous. Miss Alice Frechette, organist at the church, had charge of the music of the mass. The bearers were George Authier, Frank Ducharme, F. Desmarais, Francois Beique, John Nolan and Charles Chamberlain. Interment was in Sacred Heart cemetery on the Old Canterbury turnpike where Rev. Fathers DesSureault and Mandler read the committal prayers. Undertakers Dougherty Brothers were in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Harold E. Linderson of Centerville, R. I., is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Yerrington and family of South Second avenue.

STONINGTON PROBATE APPEAL SETTLED BY STIPULATION

Judge Earnest C. Simpson, in the superior court at New London Tuesday, entered judgment in accordance with a stipulation in which the plaintiffs in the appeal from probate of Joseph Monahan of Providence and others, against Loretta C. Ryan, executrix of the will of the late Mary Anna McKeon of Stonington, have withdrawn their appeal and agree to allowing the will to stand as admitted to probate.

The case was slated to be tried before Judge Simpson and a jury Tuesday morning. Attorney Herbert N. Rathbun appeared for the plaintiff and Geary, Davis & Keefe and Attorney George R. McKenna for the executrix.

The appeal was from the probate court at Stonington. The heirs to the estate are John Monahan of Fall River, Mass.; Joseph Monahan of Providence, Mary A. Clark of Tiverton, R. I., whose father, now deceased, was a brother of the late Mary Anna McKeon; Edith McGuigan of Amesbury, Mass., whose mother, now deceased, was a sister of Mary Anna McKeon; Sarah Hughes of Briston, Prince Edward Island, and Annie Clarkin, of Emyvale, Prince Edward Island, both sisters of Mary Anna McKeon.

The heirs were aggrieved because the will, executed May 5, 1928, was admitted to probate July 16, 1929.

ONLY ONE IN CONNECTICUT WITH MILLION INCOME

Only one individual in Connecticut reported a net income of over a million dollars for the year of 1927, according to income tax returns filed last year and made public by the treasury department at Washington.

The report does not reveal the exact amount of the one million dollar income, nor does it give the exact figures of any of the incomes during the year, but only the general distribution of income classes.

Of the individual income returns in Connecticut over $100,000, three were classified between $750,000 and $1,000,000; six between $500,000 and $750,000; three between $400,000 and $500,000; 15 from $300,000 to $400,000; 17 from $250,000 to $300,000; 21 from $200,000 to $250,000; 47 from $150,000 to $200,000; and 153 from $100,000 to $150,000.

The greatest number of Connecticut taxable incomes during the year fell between $1,000 and $2,000, there being 11,221 individuals whose incomes were in that class. The second largest group, comprising 8,294 individuals, reported incomes between $2,000 and $3,000, according to the treasury department statement.

HEBRON DOCTOR TELLS OF LORENZO DOW AS MASON

An article on Lorenzo Dow, from the standpoint of his connection with Free Masonry, appears in the September number of a Masonic paper published in Boston. The article is written by Dr. C. E. Pendleton, formerly of Hebron. It shows that Dow had attained to all the degrees of Free Masonry possible, as shown from his autobiography. His wanderings, however, in this and other countries, make it an exceedingly difficult matter to check up on when and where the different degrees were received. He everywhere defended the organization and was buried with Masonic honors. The society bore the expense of the slab which covers his remains at the Oak Hill cemetery, in Georgetown, D. C.

SUES NEW HAVEN ROAD FOR DAMAGES OF $10,000

Anthony J. Silva, of New London, has brought suit against the New Haven railroad for $10,000 damages, according to papers filed with Court Clerk John H. Walker.

Silva claims that on Oct. 27, 1928, while driving his automobile over the Maple avenue railroad crossing at New London the car was struck by a train. The car was demolished and Silva claims to have received internal and external injuries.

According to the papers, Silva maintains that the accident was caused by failure of the railroad to post a flagman to give warning of approaching trains.

Will Be Convention Guest.

Mrs. Frank P. Hixon of Lake City, Florida, treasurer of the National League of Women Voters, will be the guest of the Connecticut league at its annual convention in Hartford next week. Mrs. Hixon will be the speaker at the "Gala Fiance Luncheon" at the Hotel Bond on November 14.

NORWICH TOWN

MRS. WM. M. ZUMBRO TO GIVE A LECTURE ON INDIA

For the mid-week service of conference and prayer Thursday evening in the First Congregational chapel, a special program has been arranged under the direction of the Woman's Department of the League of Service, instead of the usual order of worship. This also will suffice for the November meeting of the program committee of the League of Service, of which Miss Susan C. Hyde is chairman. Mrs. Ronald Nelson is to preside at the meeting which will have as a special feature, an illustrated lecture by Mrs. Harriet Hyde Zumbro, of Norwich. Mrs. Zumbro who spent several years in India, is to show post cards of that country on the screen by the aid of a baloptic on. A cordial invitation to attend was extended the public by Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey, during Sunday morning worship at the Congregational church. A social hour will follow the lecture.

LYME PROBATE APPEAL ON TRIAL IN SUPERIOR COURT

Trial in the appeal from probate case of Frederick Haynes and others of Lyme against Elisha J. Ashley, executor of the will of the late Chester C. Haynes was begun before Judge Earnest C. Simpson and a jury in the superior court in New London Tuesday.

The appeal is from the probate court of Old Lyme. Frederick Haynes and others claim that the will was not signed and executed in accordance with the law, that the deceased was not of sound and disposing mind and that undue influence was brought to bear.

The following jury is hearing the case:

New London—Walter D. Beckwith, Lawrence S. Farnen, Reginald M. Rowland; Groton—Philip J. Blackert, Walter E. Burdick and Percy H. Morgan; Stonington—James Cooper; Montville—Frank J. Martin; John Adams, Waterman F. Brown; Waterford—Alfred G. Chappell, Vine W. Starr.

METHODIST C. E. MAKES PLANS FOR AN ACTIVE WINTER

The November business meeting of the C. E. society of the Methodist Episcopal church was held Monday evening in the vestry. The president, Lewis E. Aldrich, presided. The society voted to give an entertainment in November, to hold a Christmas sale in December and give another entertainment in January to raise the amount they pledged to the church. Florence Gember was elected secretary pro tem, in the absence of the secretary Ruth Lathrop. Following the business session a telegram social was held, in charge of the pastor, Rev. George Warren Potter. The games were all carried out with the use of telegraph blanks and proved very amusing to the group of young people present.

CENTRAL VERMONT FREIGHT CONDUCTOR MAKES RECORD

F. L. Whitcomb, a conductor on a Central Vermont railway through freight train, established a record during the month of October that railway officials at St. Albans, Vt., believe has never before been equalled in New England.

Mr. Whitcomb, who lives in St. Albans, worked 23 days during the month, a total of 168 hours and 40 minutes. In this time he covered a total of 3,007 miles, averaging 130 miles per day. His average day's work was seven hours and 20 minutes and he covered his territory at an average rate of 15.65 miles per hour.

He handled during this period 2,381 cars, with an average of 103 cars per train. Total tonnage handled amounted to 70,456 or 3,064 tons per train. The average ton miles per train hour was 45,000, while the total length of all cars handled was 20 miles. It is also asserted that during the month of October, Conductor Whitcomb walked 60 miles, averaging 2.6 miles per day.

Scouts at Methodist Church

The weekly meeting of Troop No. 6, Boy Scouts, was held Tuesday evening at Trinity Methodist church, Scoutmaster Brown presided. One new member was initiated into the troop. The meeting closed with Bugler Helle sounding Taps.

PRICE DECLINES THROW MARKET INTO TURMOIL

Unexpected Break Sends Many Leading Stock Issues Down $10 to $30 a Share—First National Bank Stock Dropped $1000 a Share—Despite Three Hour Session Total Sales Were 5,914,760 Shares—Blocks of 5,000 to 25,000 Shares Dumped at Initial Declines of $1 to $6 a Share.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—(AP)—An unexpected and somewhat mysterious break in stock prices, rivalling in extent any heretofore recorded but lacking much of the hysteria of recent reactions, threw Wall street into turmoil again today as it was struggling to get back on its feet after the wild sessions of the previous fortnight.

Prices of many leading issues on the New York stock exchange dropped $10 to $30 a share, several of them falling below the low levels established in the spectacular decline of October 29, with a sprinkling of inactive specialties losing $31 to $100 a share. Similar declines took place on the New York curb exchange. First National bank stock dropped $1,000 a share being quoted at $5,000 bid, and most of the other New York bank and trust company shares fell $10 to $120 a share.

In accordance with the ruling announced before the opening of Monday's market, the stock exchange closed at 1 o'clock today instead of 3 p. m. but the final quotation was not printed until one hour and 45 minutes after the closing gong had sounded. Total sales for the three hour session were 5,914,760 shares, which contrasts with 6,202,930 shares in the full five hour session Monday. The stock exchange was closed yesterday, election day, a legal holiday in New York state.

The market opened heavy as blocks of 5,000 to 25,000 shares were dumped at initial declines of $1 to $6 a share. Losses were gradually extended as the session progressed with trading orderly until the last few minutes of trading when prices of several issues broke $1 to $5 between sales in a mad rush of selling. At no time was there any indication of a general rally, although a few stocks made moderate recovery on final sales.

Wall street was puzzled by the fresh influx of selling although numerous explanations were forthcoming during the day. The New York banking group, headed by J. P. Morgan and Company, which was organized to assure an orderly market when the first bad break occurred October 24, held no meetings today and issued no statement. In many quarters the bulk of today's selling was believed to represent the liquidation of weakened speculative accounts which had been carried through the first break. Considerable selling also was attributed to disappointed traders who bought stocks on the rally last week or at the opening Monday in anticipation of a further rebound in prices.

Two unfavorable business developments, the sharp decrease on freight car loadings and the falling off in steel demand, which some observers construed as an indication that the recession in security prices had extended to general business, also tended to weaken confidence, and influence liquidation by nervous investors and speculators.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

BERLIN, Nov. 6—(AP)—Dr. Julius Curtius, who has been acting foreign minister since the death of Dr. Gustav Stresemann, probably will be officially appointed to the foreign ministry portfolio tomorrow.

LONDON, Nov. 6—(AP)—Anxious to encourage yacht racing between the United States and England, Britain is prepared to adopt the universal rule of the New York Yacht club for measurement of big class boats, it was announced today by Sir William P. Burton, presiding officer of the permanent committee of the International Yacht Racing union.

DESSAU, Germany, Nov. 6—(AP)—The G-38, a giant new 2200 horsepower Junkers monoplane, believed to be the largest land plane yet constructed, today completed its final trial flight successfully.

Its wings measure 150 feet from tip to tip and have a tapering "arrow shape."

The height of the airship is more than 16 feet and its length is about 75 feet. It is equipped with Junkers motors, two central ones of 700 horsepower each and two outer ones of 400 horsepower each.

HAMILTON ACQUITTED ON MURDER CHARGE

WEATHERFORD, Tex., Nov. 6—(AP)—R.H. Hamilton tonight was acquitted of murder for slaying his 21-year old son-in-law, Tom Walton, Jr., in Hamilton's Amarillo law office last May 4.

The jury returned to the court room one hour and 49 minutes after leaving and the verdict was read one hour and 46 minutes after consideration of the case was begun.

The verdict was reached on the third ballot, the first being eight to four for acquittal, the second eleven to one, J. E. Whitsett, the only juror not a farmer was the foreman.

Hamilton was not in the courtroom when the verdict was read. District Judge J. E. Carter did not demand his presence since the verdict was one of acquittal.

After Judge Carter read the verdict, Robert H. Hamilton, Jr., a student in the University of Minnesota, walked to the jury box and said to the foreman:

"I really don't know how to thank you," and then shook Whitsett's hand. Dexter Hamilton, the accused man's brother, did the same. The jury then disbanded, Robert and Dexter rushing to the hotel where Hamilton awaited the decision.

At the hotel, Hamilton dressed and came down into the hotel lobby to talk with friends. A newspaperman asked: "That gives you a clear conscience?"

"Certainly it does, certainly it does," Hamilton replied. "My conscience was clear."

He added to newspapermen: "I'm going home tomorrow."

Then his friends encircled him and the former member of the Texas supreme court commission of appeals could not be reached for an additional statement.

Pauline, whose husband her father killed in self-defense, met her father in the hotel lobby.

"Oh, daddy," she cried, throwing her arms around his neck. She did not cry, but blinked her eyes rapidly, and then backed away and watched while friends continued to congratulate her father.

GOV.-ELECT POLLARD'S MAJORITY NEARLY 70,000

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 6—(AP)—Dr. John Garland Pollard's majority had reached nearly 70,000 votes tonight with nearly all the state's precincts having reported the result of the election which yesterday brought an avalanche of democratic ballots. The governor-elect, on the face of unofficial returns from 1,640 of the old dominion's 1,683 precincts, had registered 167,315 votes as compared with 97,570 for Dr. William Moseley Brown, gubernatorial standard-bearer of the coalition ticket of the republican and the anti-Smith democratic party.

The democratic landslide proved disastrous virtually all down the line for the coalition opposition. James H. Price, lieutenant governor-elect, and John R. Saunders, attorney general, overwhelmingly defeated Callom Jones.

In the elections for the general assembly, the democrats captured 92 of the 100 seats. They were unopposed for 21 of them. The coalition ticket won 5 contested seats, and were unopposed in 3 others. All 4 contested senatorial posts went to the democrats.

REICHSTAG TO DISCUSS NATIONAL PLEBISCITE BILL

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The Reichstag today was convoked for November 27 to discuss, among other things, the bill for protection of the republic and the national plebiscite bill "against enslavement of the German nation."

A joint meeting of leaders of the government parties and the ministers announced that the referendum on the nationalist bill, which repudiates all post-war treaties and agreements, would be held this year. This referendum had been forced on the government by the recent plebiscite started by the nationalists which obtained the necessary support of ten per cent of the electorate.

The fact that the referendum will be held this year will not delay dispatch of business in connection with decisions of the Hague conference on reparations, which includes the Young plan whose fate the nationalists would seal.

CAPONE'S COUNSEL ASKS LEAVE TO APPEAL

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6—(AP)—Counsel for Alphonse (Scarface) Capone and his bodyguard, Frank Cline, Chicago gangsters, now serving a year in the Eastern penitentiary here for carrying concealed weapons, today filed a petition in the state supreme court asking leave to take an appeal from the decision of the superior court refusing their petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

FLAMES CAUSES $150,000 LOSS AT SHIPYARD

QUINCY, Mass., Nov. 6—(AP)—A steel frame building belonging to the shipbuilding plant of Lamb and O'Connell, at Squantum, and housing four finished boats valued at $150,000, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin here late today. The flaming ruins threatened other buildings of the Old Victory Cruiser yards.

QUARREL OVER RING CAUSED DOUBLE TRAGEDY

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 6—(AP)—Delving into what was first believed a double murder, Dr. R. L. Moberly, Johnson county, Kansas coroner, today said investigation indicated that Jesse J. Barnwell, 55, shot Mrs. Minnie Hare, 45, during a quarrel over a $265 engagement ring, and then took his own life after a 2-day vigil over the body.

Announcement by the coroner followed an inquest which Dr. Moberly said determined that Mrs. Hare died from 24 to 48 hours before the man did. The woman had been dead about four days when the tragedy was discovered late yesterday by a mail carrier who called at the Hare home in Merriam, Kas., a suburb, to deliver a special delivery letter.

Officers in constructing a hypothetical story of the affair were aided by W. D. Dandy, a city marshal, and J. A. Keck, a justice of the peace. Both said Barnwell visited them about a month ago and complained he had given Mrs. Hare a diamond ring but that she refused to either return the ring or marry him.

Barnwell said he intended to get the ring back by force or make Mrs. Hare marry him. "If I don't succeed I'll kill her," the men quoted him as saying.

The ring was found tied to the woman's leg in a handkerchief. A financial statement showing Mrs. Hare once possessed resources totaling $10,000, and a deed to two lots in Kansas City, Kas., were in the packet.

STATE PRISON SENTENCE FOR BANK EMBEZZLER

AUBURN, Me., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Stepping from a life-long friendship and close personal relations with him, Justice Harry Manser, in the superior court, today, sentenced Wilbur H. Davis, former treasurer of the People's Savings bank, Lewiston, to three to five years at hard labor in state prison for larceny by embezzlement of $85,000 of the bank's funds.

Davis, who is 46 years old, had just pleaded guilty to taking $70,000 of the $85,000 charged in the indictment, and the court accepted this as a plea of guilty to the charge.

A statement from the bank revealed the gross shortage to be $128,000, but Davis told his attorney and friend, Dana S. Williams, that all he ever took was two blocks of Liberty bonds, amounting to $40,000, and again $30,000. It was stated that $65,000 of the funds had been recovered in Liberty bonds, placed as security with a brokerage house for stock market operations, and that the remaining $60,000 would be made good by the bank.

In response to a plea from counsel for leniency, and sentence to Androscoggin jail here, Justice Manser said his friendship for Davis could not be allowed to affect the sentence.

KENTUCKY DEMOCRATS GAIN TWO HOUSE MEMBERS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 6.—(AP)—A democratic gain of two members in the lower branch of the 1930 general assembly was indicated today by unofficial returns of yesterday's election. The 1930 state senate, half of whose members were elected yesterday, will be composed of 24 democrats and 14 republicans, the same as in 1928, the returns indicate.

Based on complete unofficial returns from virtually all of the 100 legislative districts, 64 democrats and 34 republicans were elected to the house. In two districts, the 52nd and 53rd, both in Jefferson county, the outcome is undecided, but the republican candidates hold the lead over their democratic opponents on the face of incomplete returns. Even though these two districts elect republicans, the democratic gain in the house will remain at two members.

TWO MEN CONVICTED ON MURDER CHARGES

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Arthur Cort and Joseph Calabrese, both 21, today were convicted of murder in the first degree for the death of Morris Grossman, druggist, who was slain resisting robbery. The jury made no recommendation for mercy which means that both youths will be sentenced to death, by electrocution. The jury deliberated one hour.

SEN. JOHNSON'S INVITATION OVERLOOKED THROUGH ERROR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—(AP)—In a letter expressing "deep pain," President Hoover explained today to Senator Johnson, of California, that his failure to receive an invitation to a white house dinner last night along with other members of the senate foreign relations committee, was "due entirely to a mistake."

While the capital seethed with gossip over the incident, Mr. Hoover prepared his letter to his fellow Californian and dispatched it early this morning to him by Lawrence Richey, his personal secretary, instead of through the usual medium of a white house messenger.

"Under no circumstances would I have commented upon or discussed the incident," Senator Johnson said upon receipt of the president's letter. "In the present situation of course, it is wholly ended."

Things moved quickly as the morning papers displayed the failure of Senator Johnson to be invited to the dinner given to Ambassadors Dawes and Guggenheim. Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, one of the white house dinner guests, was an early caller at the executive offices. He conveyed to Senator Johnson the personal regrets of the president. The letter quickly followed.

PANTAGES JURORS CLAIM THEY WERE COERCED

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 6—(AP)—Three women members of the jury which convicted Alexander Pantages on a statutory charge today swore to affidavits charging that they were influenced and coerced into returning a verdict of guilty against the vaudeville magnate.

The jurors were, Mrs. Christina D. Ulrich, Mrs. William Ingles and Mrs. Lotta C. Steiner, whose affidavits were included in seven filed by Pantages' attorneys in his plea for a new trial.

The women swore they were influced in switching their votes to guilty by the inclusion of the words "with clemency" in the verdict, believing such a direction would make it mandatory that Superior Judge Charles Fricke pronounce a light sentence.

The affidavits also charged that fear of caustic radio utterances against them by the Rev. R. P. Shuler also influenced their voting. Mrs. Ulrich and Mrs. Ingles said one of the men on the jury used the alleged threat of Dr. Shulers radio talks to coerce them.

FIVE PERSONS WERE SHOT AT CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, Nov. 6—(AP)—Five persons, two of them women, were shot here late today by one of three men who were seated in an automobile in front of the Crosley radio plant, and had been making remarks to women employes leaving the building.

The victims: Claude Hughes, 36, wounded in neck, condition critical; Miss Loarine Wagner, 19, shot in left leg; James Crowe, 24, flesh wound in back; Edward Mappes, 18, shot in right hip, and Flora Gory, 49, also shot in right hip.

Hughes had driven to the plant for his wife, Mrs. Mattie Hughes, an employe. He protested when the men directed several remarks at his wife, he said. They became abusive and an argument ensued.

Hughes picked up a brick, he said, but Crowe, also waiting for his wife, prevailed on him to put it down. Hughes said the gun user fired before he could drop the brick and then turned the weapon on the crowd.

During the excitement that followed the three men escaped.

SOCIALIST COAL STRIKE ONLY PARTIALLY SUCCESSFUL

WARSAW, Nov. 6—(AP)—A strike called by socialists today in all coal districts of Poland was successful only in Silesia. Elsewhere only 20 percent of the workers went out.

Although the strike was to protest against a grant of only a four per cent increase in wages instead of the 17 per cent sought, it came at a time when the country was much agitated by the political differences of the socialists and the government.

Bandit Captured In Payroll Robbery

Two Others Escaped With Loot After Robbing New York Firm—Man Under Arrest Attempted to Flee in Taxi.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—(AP)—A $5,000 payroll was stolen from the office of the American Felt Slipper company, on the third floor at 622 Broadway today by three men, one of whom was captured as he attempted to escape in a passing taxicab.

The three robbers separated when they emerged from the building to find 100 employes of the firm shouting an alarm from third story windows. The two men who escaped took the loot with them.

The third man jumped to the running board of a taxicab and ordered the driver to speed away. Stopped a short distance away by a traffic light, the taxi driver called a policeman who arrested the man. He gave his name as Linoria de Angelo, 20.

The three men went to the third-floor offices in an elevator. One of them held a revolver against the side of the elevator operator, while the two others went into the offices and held up four women employes, who had just finished making up a $5,000 payroll. The four women and four men who entered from an inner office, were lined up against the wall. The robbers took the $5,000 payroll, hurried to the street and separated.

PRESIDENT HOOVER ISSUES THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Thanksgiving will be observed Thursday, Nov. 28, in conformity with the traditional proclamation issued by President Hoover today for the American people to gather in their places of worship on that day and render thanks for the blessings bestowed upon them during the past year. The proclamation said the harvests have been abundant, the fruits of industry give "heed of unexampled quantity and value," and both labor and capital have enjoyed "an exceptional prosperity." At home and abroad, the president said, assurances of peace have been strengthened and enlarged and he pointed out that enlightenment "has grown apace in new revelations of scientific truth and in diffusion of knowledge."

The proclamation was the first of its kind issued by Mr. Hoover. It has been customary for many years for the president to set aside a Thanksgiving day and to recount his conception of the blessings that have come to the American people.

The plans of President Hoover himself for Thanksgiving day are quite simple. He will worship in one of the Quaker meeting houses and then have a quiet family dinner at the White House.

TEACHER AWARDED DAMAGES FROM WATERBURY DENTIST

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 6.—(AP)—A jury in civil superior court here late today returned a verdict of $400 damages for Edward D. Chubb, teacher in the Roxbury school, Cheshire, against Dr. Arthur Holmes, Waterbury dentist.

Chubb, who charged the dentist with malpractice, had sued for $10,000. He said he had been obliged to give up teaching for a long period of time and had spent a considerable sum of money on medical treatment as a result of work done on his teeth by Dr. Holmes. The allegations of malpractice were denied by the dentist.

Judge Frederick M. Peasley, of Cheshire, presided at the trial.

FIGHT TO SAVE CONVICTED MAN FROM ELECTRIC CHAIR

EASTLAND, Tex., Nov. 6—(AP)—A fight today between state and defense attorneys indicated the defense will seek to save Clyde Thompson, alleged murderer of Lucian and Leon Shook, from the electric chair by pleading his youth when the crime was committed.

Woodrow Davis, 18, testified that Thompson induced the brothers to leave their cabin to go hunting with him and then shot them both down as they walked single file down a path. He quoted the boy as saying he killed the two oil field workers "just to see them kick."

Thompson was once sentenced to be executed but saved by a reversal.

STUDENT FLIER FELL OUT OF AIRPLANE

HASBROUCK HEIGHTS, N. J., Nov. 6—(AP)—Henry Forgeits, a student pilot, plunged 50 feet to his death at Teteboro airport today when the plane in which he was flying with an instructor hit a downward current of air while banking.

Lieut. G. W. West, official of a new standard flying service, who was flying with Forgeits, said his student, a Hudson county policeman, stood up on the cockpit to ask questions pertaining to the operation of the plane and was thrown out of his seat when the craft banked and rocked as it struck the air bump.

West piloted the plane to the ground.

NAMED WARDEN AT THE WETHERSFIELD STATE PRISON

HARTFORD, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Charles S. Reed, former warden of the state of Washington state prison, and former superintendent of the Minnesota state prison, was chosen warden of the state prison at Wethersfield this afternoon. There was a vacancy due to recent death of Warden Henry K. W. Scott.

Mr. Reed also was a former chief of the Seattle police, but since 1924, he has been a fruit grower.

Three Small Children Burned To Death

Victims Thought to Have Set Farm House on Fire While Playing With Matches—Were Alone at Time Flames Broke Out.

THOMPSONVILLE, Mich., Nov. 6—(AP)—Three children, the oldest a girl of four, were burned to death today in a fire which destroyed the farm home of Frank Eddy near here today while both Eddy and his wife were away.

The dead are: Lulu, 4; Lenna, 3, and Walter Melvin, a one-year old infant.

The cause of the fire was not determined, but it was believed that the children, themselves may have set it by playing with matches, since the parents said there was small liklihood of the flames having started from fires in stoves in the house.

The father was at work in a field some distance from his home and Mrs. Eddy had gone to the home of a neighbor for milk for the children when the fire was discovered by neighbors. The house already was enveloped in flames when the farmer reached his home. The group around the house restrained Eddy from dashing into the flames from which he could not have escaped alive.

The children were burned beyond recognition.

A similar tragedy befell George Peters, an uncle of Mrs. Eddy several years ago. Three of Peters' children were burned to death in a fire which destroyed his home, the site of which was not far from the Eddy farm.

Eddy took up farming several years ago in an effort to regain his health impaired by shell shock and gas in the World war.

GIRL BANDIT WOUNDED IN REVOLVER DUEL

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 6—(AP)—A revolver duel in which a girl bandit was a central figure excited the Seneca street pawn shop district tonight. The girl and her companion, both wounded, escaped in an automobile taking with them a tray of jewels valued at several thousand dollars.

The couple, all smiles, entered the store of Max Kantowitz and asked to be shown engagement rings. While the proprietor was taking the rings from the safe, the pair covered him with automatics and after he had thrown up his hands, the girl kept him covered while her male companion took from the safe a tray of jewelry.

A passerby witnessed the holdup through the window and notified Herman Cheiffetz a pawnbroker next door. The latter, revolver in hand, came upon the pair as they hurried to their waiting automobile. In the exchange of shots which followed, the robbers succeeded in gaining their car where the girl continued to shoot at Cheiffetz while her companion tried to start the machine, in doing which he had difficulty. The girl was shot apparently in the face, and slumped forward, and as the car started away the driver was hit in the shoulder. He was able however, to drive into a busy street and the car was lost in heavy traffic.

FULL MILITARY HONORS TO AMERICAN SOLDIER DEAD

HAVRE, France, Nov. 6.—(AP)— The homeward bound bodies of 86 American soldiers, who died in Russia, tonight were lying in state here after their arrival from Leningrand.

The bodies reached Havre this afternoon aboard the soviet warship, Lieutenant Schmidt and were transferred solemnly to a closed pier while a company of the 129th regiment of the French army presented arms, a band played a funeral march and full military honors were rendered.

The troops formed a square while the bodies were disembarked, the band playing the "Star Spangled Banner." This was followed by the "Marseillaise" in honor of the body of a lone French soldier who had died in Russia and had come home at last with his American comrades. The officers saluted with their drawn sabres.

The bodies will leave for the United States on regular passenger ships which will be escorted outside of French territorial waters by warships. They will be transferred to American warships which will proceed out to sea to meet them on entering American waters. The date of the departures has not been fixed definitely.

TWO YALE STUDENTS HURT IN AUTO CRASH

MILFORD, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Two upper classmen of Yale university were injured, one seriously, tonight when their expensive roadster, sideswiped by another car, overturned on the Milford turnpike, near here. The driver of the other car, a woman, escaped serious injury. Her machine was hurled about in such a way as to face, after the accident, a direction opposite to that in which she had been going.

Jason Bacon, driver of the roadster, suffered concussion of the brain and lacerations of the scalp. His roommate, Duncan Hooper, 21, received abrasions of the head and right leg. Bacon is at Milford hospital, where Hooper was treated.

Miss Helen Marek, 24, of West Haven, driver of the other car, was slightly cut on the knee.

WILL NOT SUPERVISE DELIVERIES IN KIND

BADEN-BADEN, Germany, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The conference for establishment of an international settlements bank tonight after long debate decided that it should have nothing to do with supervision of deliveries in kind in German reparations payments. They informed the deliveries in kind committee that any supervisory function is incompatible with the spirit of the international bank.
